DEAR MISS DIX: We are a middle-aged couple, both widowed. My friend is a fine man in every way and, though he has asked me to marry him, he hasn't said he loves me. He gave me a nice ring and has a fine home waiting for me. However, another thing that troubles me is that his first wife's picture is in the living room and I don't know whether he will remove it when we are married or not.

C. C.

ANSWER: Please don't lose sight of the fact that your fiance was probably very devoted to his wife and married to her for many years. Even a second marriage will not put her completely out of his life and thoughts. You cannot expect him to bring to a second marriage the same ardor he had in the first.

It is quite possible that he is marrying you more for companionship than because he is deeply in love with you. There is nothing wrong with this feeling at all, and many fine later-life marriages have resulted from it. Trouble will come only if you demand too much of him. It is not too often that a woman in middle life has a chance to marry a fine man. Be grateful for your opportunity and don't expect your husband to be a gay Lochinvar.

DEAR MISS DIX: My first husband left me and my child and married another woman. In desperation, I remarried, but now regret it. Our property is community property and will have to be divided if I obtain a divorce. After all the work I have done to buy our home, I hate to give up so much of it. What can I do?

DISILLUSIONED

ANSWER: First, consult a lawyer to make sure of your legal status. If it is as you assume, you must make your choice between remaining the wife of a man you don't love and giving up the property.

10,000 Attend Lindsay Fair Opening Day

LINDSAY (ENS).—Lindsay exhibition officially opened yesterday, and despite a few signs of first day jitters, everything went smoothly, as the fair played to a total crowd of over 10,000.

The grandstand was packed for the first performance of the acts scheduled for the entire exhibition, and also for the first harness races of the week's card, the feature being the $1,000 added Dufferin Park purse.

Livestock judging did not start until today with carriage and work horse classes also commencing at this time. School and household exhibits have already been judged.

The crowds who thronged to the grounds for the first day found plenty to look at—and most of them headed straight for the midway, operating at full tilt with rides, games and attractions vying for the interest of the crowds.

In front of the grandstand, the first performance of the several acts gathered for this year's show displayed some signs of nervousness, although things generally ran smoothly. The interruptions for the harness races broke up the program slightly but the crowd seemed to enjoy it in any case.

The Dufferin Park purse, for $1,000 donated by Fred Orpen, Toronto sportsman, was won in two straight heats by Country Lad, driven and owned by Garnet Kirkpatrick of Kingston. His times were 2.21.2 and 2.22.3. Second in both heats was the chestnut gelding, Past Time Vern, owned by Mr. Montgomery of Barrie and driven by Jim McIntyre. Third in the first heat was Elgin Winger, owned by S. Blewett of Indian River.

SUBSTITUTES

A mule sulky race, which was to have been driven by Lindsay business men, attracted a good deal of attention. Although replacements had to be found for the businessmen when they decided their driving ability wasn't up to scratch.

Entries in all classes are slightly down this year over last, according to officials of the exhibition. The livestock entries are more markedly declined than others, due mainly, say officials, to the high costs of boarding and hiring help at present. A good entry list in all classes is expected however, and the cattle class, especially is expected to provide keen competition.

Total attendance for the exhibition this year is expected to run to almost 70,000.

Mission Circle Given Leaders' School Report

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The Golden Links Mission Circle of St. Andrew's United Church met at the home of Mrs. David Lunn and Miss Bety Lunn on Tuesday evening.

Miss Edith Thorn, treasurer, reported that $72 had been sent in to presbyterial headquarters and that $122 remained in the expense fund.

An invitation was read to attend the Centreville W.M.S. thankoffering to be held on October 1.

Mrs. Hobbs showed book reviews of the work "Labrador Nurse," by Miss Bessie Banfill. Miss Banfill has addressed the circle and other missionary groups of St. Andrew's a number of times.

Mrs. David Lunn, who had been sent as presbyterial delegate to the 19th session of the School for Leaders, held in Whitby Ladies' College the last week of August, gave a most interesting report. Mrs. Lunn also introduced the new study book, "Along African Trails." Miss Jean Burnham thanked Mrs. Lunn.

Refreshments were served by Miss Edith Clarke, Miss Edith Sheppard and Mrs. Robert Paige, supper hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobbs, of Detroit, Mich., visited his brother, Dr. M. E. Hobbs, and Mrs. Hobbs, over the weekend.

Man Pleads Guilty To Intent To Steal

SARNIA (CP) — Harold Maitland of Petrolia pleaded guilty today to a charge of demanding money with intent to steal.

Maitland was arrested following a complaint from Mrs. Lillian Henderson, who told police a man approached her while she was seated on the running-board of her husband's truck.

Mrs. Henderson said the man kept his hand inside his pocket as if he held a gun and said: "Give me your money or I'll shoot."

and wisdom? Whom has he offended or wronged? Has he been faithful to his duties? What has the New Year in store for him, sunshine or clouds, health or sickness, joy or sorrow, happiness or misfortune? These are the thoughts that permeate the soul of the Jew when he sits in the synagogue during these days. Such thought, of course, should lead the individual Jew to a self-examination, and to the improvement of his life.

Following the two days of Rosh Hashanah, begin the eight days of penitence and which culminate with Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) which will be celebrated this year on Monday, Sept. 29th.

No other holiday has such influence upon the Jew as the High Holidays of this month. During these days the Jew prays not for Israel alone, but for the glory and splendor of the entire human race.

To Face Trial On Morals Count

Leonard Newnham, 51-year-old Dummer township farmer was committed for trial at the next general sessions today on a morals charge involving a 13-year-old girl.

Bail was fixed at $1,500 and Newnham's counsel, John Currelly, said he would be electing speedy trial before Judge John deNavarre Kennedy.

The preliminary hearing was held Monday, but Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved his decision on committing Newnham until today.

He reserved judgment in order to rule on the admissability of a complaint the girl made to her mother, three days after the alleged offence took place on August 31.

The girl was not sworn, after Magistrate W. R. Philp questioned her carefully concerning the meaning of telling the truth under oath. She said she had not told her mother sooner, because the man had told her not to tell her parents and she was afraid of him.

"The complaint is admissable in view of the age of the girl, the reason given and her apparent educational standard," the Magistrate ruled. The Magistrate said there was sufficient evidence produced by the crown at the preliminary hearing to warrant sending Newnham on for trial before a higher court.

Westwood Institute Holds Kitchen Shower

WESTWOOD (ENS)—The Women's Institute met on Tuesday afternoon in the community hall. Home economics and health featured the program, convened by Mrs. Aubrey Wood. Each member answered the roll call by naming a vitamin, giving its source and benefits. Mrs. Wood gave two readings entitled "Cook Books" and "Life's Evils."

A kitchen shower gift for the community hall kitchen was given by each member, and included tea towels, basin, water pitcher, soaps, cream and sugar set, etc.

Letters of thanks will be sent to Buckhorn W.I. and to Trent River W.I. for entertaining this branch during September.

Mrs. Thomas Cardwell and Mrs. Fred Neilson, with Mrs. R. Walsh and Mrs. W. Renwick as alternates, were chosen as delegates to the Central Area convention.

A list of resolutions to be submitted to the convention were discussed at length.

The motto, "What we make of our homes is more important than what our homes are made of," was dealt with by Mrs. F. Neilson, and current events were interesting as told by Mrs. Wood.

The oratorical contest for this area will be held in Westwood community hall on October 17, and is open to any age pupil. Prizes of $3 for first and $1 to all contestants will be given.

A weight and measure contest was won by Mrs. Wilbert Graham. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. Wilson, Mrs. Birdsall and Mrs. F. Neilson.

Warkworth Minister Moving To Shawville

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Rev. H. G. Lester, St. Paul's United Church, presided at his final meeting of the official board of the complete pastoral charge Monday prior to leaving for his new charge at Shawville, Quebec.

Dates and speakers of the charge's churches were anounced. Dartford anniversary to be held this Sunday will have the Rev. A. C. Luffman of Baltimore as guest speaker. On Oct. 19 and 26 the St. Paul's appointment will hold their centennial services with Dr. H. G. Tuttle of Toronto and Dr. J. H. Arnott of Toronto, former moderator of the United Church, as the speakers.

Oak Heights appointment will celebrate its anniversary on Nov. 2 when the Rev. G. J. A. Whitehorn of Seymour pastoral charge, also chairman of the Cobourg Presbytery, will be guest speaker.

The appointments agreed to cancel services on each other's anniversaries to permit church members to attend the celebrations.

Arrangements were made for the induction service for the incoming minister, the Rev. A. L. Sisco of Tweed. It will be held Oct. 3 in St. Paul's Church under Mr. Whitehorn, with the Rev. Dr. A. W. Smith of St. John's United Church, Campbellford, and the Rev. J. E. Griffith of Castleton, assisting.

At the close of the induction service a social hour will be held and there the committee consisting of William Bowne of St. Paul's, Fred Denike or Dartford, and A. P. Sayles of Oak Heights will introduce church members to Mr. and Mrs. Sisco.

Mr. Lester thanked the board for the support given him during the past eight years and asked that the same support be given the new pastor.

Rail Ferries To Sail Again

WINDSOR (CP)—Wabash railroad ferries, idle between Windsor and Detroit for the past 76 days, will be sailing again before the week-end is over with the acceptance of an agreement to arbitrate disputes between the carriers and the Great Lakes Licenced Officers organization.

Ships' captains asked a boost of $12 a day in their present $28 daily wages.

According to an announcement from Detroit today, union leaders said a formal agreement to arbitrate the wage dispute would be signed today. A tentative agreement was signed last night.

Chesapeake and Ohio and Grand Trunk Western ferries, manned by members of another organization—the independent officers' union—would not be affected by the agreement. These men walked off the job as the fourth of July weekend began.

The Wabash operates three ferries across the Detroit River. Also included in the arbitration agreement are ferries of the Ann Arbor Railroad which operates ships on Lake Michigan between Michigan and Wisconsin ports.

RCAF Plane Chases Escaped Balloon

NORTH BAY (CP) — A swiftly-moving barrage balloon, pursued by an Expediter aircraft from the R. C. A. F. station here and a Cub flown by Lynton Blow of North Bay, had residents craning their necks today.

The balloon, believed by Department of Transport officials to have broken loose from Sault Ste. Marie Ont., was moving northeast trailing a long hawser with a yellow flag.

Car Hits Tree One Killed, 3 Hurt

SEAFORTH (CP) — Lawrence Bruce Thurlow, 22, of Goderich, was killed and two companions injured today in an accident on No. 8 highway near here.

Police said the three men, lake sailors who docked at Goderich last night, were travelling east when the car swerved, hit a tree, a culvert and another tree.

Clarence Kerr of Wiarton was one of the injured. The other was unidentified.

Seaforth is about 25 miles west of Stratford.

Italian Police Watching Orphanage Now

ROME (AP) — Italian police turned their attention today to the little Frascati orphanage of the American-led Church of Christ, which has been ordered to stop its Sunday religious services in 22 cities.

Cline R. Baden, head of the Church of Christ in Italy, said he went to police headquarters this morning in answer to a summons.

"They questioned me about our property at Frascati," he said afterward, "although I have no idea why our orphanage there should be a concern for the police."

The police gave no indication what they planned to do about the home for 20 or 25 children, mostly war orphans, financed largely by the Brownsville, Tex., church of Christ.

The orphanage has been under fire from government authorities, the Communist press and groups of youths in the Frascati area since it began operating 3½ years ago.

STONED BY YOUTHS

Biggest flare-up in the Frascati dispute was in January, 1950. Three United States evangelists of the denomination said groups of youths stoned them out of Castel Gandolfo, where the Pope has his summer home, and three other cities near Frascati.

Police stood guard at the doors of Paden's church last Sunday and drove away the little handful of Italian members who showed up for services. A week earlier the church at Alessandria, in northern Italy, had been closed.

Police said all the other churches operated by the denomination in Italy would be closed until and unless the ministry of interior recognizes the Church and grants it permission.

The Church of Christ is the only Protestant church to come into Italy since the war. Methodists, Baptist and other Protestant denominations have operated here for years. There has been no interference with their services.

Dangerous Driving Jailed 15 Months

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —David Stoneypoint, 38, of Massey, was sentenced to 15 months yesterday for dangerous driving. A Supreme Court jury acquitted him of manslaughter but found him guilty on the lesser count.

Stoneypoint was charged following a traffic death near Blind River three months ago.

Maple Leaf Club Opened

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark opened the Canadian Maple Leaf Club in downtown Tokyo yesterday by praising Canadian forces for their "magnificent contributions" to the Korean conflict.

The United Nations Far East commander used a small Japanese knife to cut a ribbon stretched across the entrance to the club.

With Clark at the ceremony were Lt.-Gen. William Bridgeford, commander-in-chief of Commonwealth forces in Japan and Korea, Brig. R.E.A. Morton, chief of the Canadian military mission in Tokyo, and Brig. Ian R. Campbell, commander of the Australian army component in Japan.

About 200 soldiers from Canada, Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand attended the ceremony. All United Nations enlisted personnel are welcomed at the club, but it originated with the idea of affording Canadian troops a place for rest and relaxation while in Tokyo.

Send Full Report On Passport Racket

MONTREAL (CP)—A full report by R. C. M. P., investigating an alleged passport swindle that is reported to have allowed more than 100 Italians to enter Canada illegally, has been sent to authorities in Ottawa and several arrests are expected within a fortnight, it was learned today.

There was no official disclosure of the number of arrests expected but thus far the probe is known to have involved an Immigration Department employee in Italy, a Montreal lawyer and notary and a travel agency, now closed.

Warrants have been issued and documents seized from the defunct agency.

Wrong Knob

LONDON (CP)—Listeners to the BBC network received an apology from announcer Richard Baker after he said "hell." He had turned the wrong knob and didn't know his microphone was open.

SOFTNESS OF LINE and silhouette characterize the fall handbag. Creamy fleece with a quarter-inch silky nap makes this fold-over envelope shoulder bag (left). Tab and large buckle closing are smooth leather. Another fuzzy bag (upper left centre) is in natural camel's hair mixed with cashmere. This career bag has base, tab closing and handle in blonde calf. Significant for its elongated shape is this envelope bag (upper right centre). It's sandalwood calf, is a full 17 inches in length, has a single handle attached by curved, gold-toned squares. The important box bag in black (lower left centre) appears in this design. It's soft and frameless with "cummerbund" tucking and double top handles. The handsome rust aligator bag (lower right centre) has the new elongated silhouette, is fully leather-lined. Sleek, flat pouch (right) for wear with dressy clothes is in brown suede. This design has a complete border of passementerie braid and fringe. There's an outside mirror under the flap of the bag. Black registers as most important color, followed by blonde shades.

Handbags Unusual, Smart Softness Of Line Top News

The old saw that opposites attract is fully and persuasively demonstrated in handbags for fall and winter.

New silhouettes in smooth leathers and fabrics provide contrast for rough-textured, fabrics. And handbags in fuzzy, furry or loopy materials are for wear with all the smooth fabrics in ready-to-wear fashions.

Just as softness of silhouette keynotes this year's ready-to-wear, so is it important to the new handbags. This softness is achieved through adroit manipulation of fabrics or leather.

Even the box bag, which gets new emphasis, often has no frame at all and attains a soft look through the sculpture of leather or fabric over sponge rubber.

BIGGER AND ROOMIER

In shape, the box bag comes first but is bigger and roomier than in the past. It is even long and narrow in some designs. The pouch, rated second, is sleek and wafer-thin. Huge satchels or shoulder bags are the biggest ever, have many pockets and compartments, are no longer just for travel wear.

At the other extreme, but very sound fashion, is the clutch, in a larger size. Related to this is the envelope or underarm bag for wear with coats that wrap.

For the first time, handbags are appearing in such unorthodox but interesting materials as furred alpaca with a silky nap a half-inch long; cream-colored fleece; polished, marcelled zibeline with mohair; looped boucle tweed in black with contrasting color; pebbly-effect wool; camel's hair mixed with cashmere and jewel-colored corduroys.

Black leads off the color list, followed by the blonde to brown shades. Both ruby and carmine red register strongly.

In dressy bags, materials are elegant and rich, eliminating need for trim of any kind. Velvet, cashmere, dull satin, suede or calf may have tiny gold or enamel touches in the way of trim.

Corduroy is notable in the fall handbag collections because it's important in ready-to-wear. Since they're used for really elegant dresses and coats as well as for casual and sports wear, some of these bags are elaborately done in pinwale corduroy and in jewel tones.

Pope Some Better Receives Prelates

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope, who has been ill, was sufficiently recovered today to receive the two highest prelates of the Vatican's secretariat of state.

These were Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini, secretary for ordinary affairs, and Msgr. Domenico Tardini, secretary for extra-ordinary affairs.

The Pope, 76, stayed in his private suite in the summer palace at Castel Gandolfo. Wednesday he cancelled all audiences because of gastric trouble accompanied by fever.

Lead production in Canada amounted to 55,727 tons from January to April in 1952 as compared to 50,795 tons in the same period of 1951.

Library Juniors Hold Fish Fry

Approximately 70 children attended a fish fry held by the Boys' and Girls' Department of the Public Library at Jackson Park Wednesday afternoon.

The fish fry was the climax of a fishing club which has been operating at the library during the summer. The children who belong to the library were given a fish for every three books they read, a different color of fish for different types of books. In order to attend the fish fry a youngster had to read at least three books.

Prizes were awarded Wednesday to the children who had read the most books, and also for the greatest variety of fish. William Graff, librarian, presented the prizes.

Melvyn Petersiel, 10, 556 Homewood Ave., won the prize for having read the greatest number of books, 55. Susan Eastwood, 10, RR 2 Peterborough, was second with 54 books. The prize for the greatest variety of fish went to Paul Holloway, 8, 660 Gilchrist St.

The first prize at the Branch Library went to Jack Fallis, 9, 716 Herman St., and second prize to Joan Whitfield, 11, RR 5 Peterborough.

Can't Take Passengers

LONDON (Reuters)—A British Comet jetliner flew empty from Colombo, Ceylon, to Bombay, India yesterday because Ceylon authorities refused to permit it to pick up passengers. The same thing happened last Wednesday. A British Overseas Airways Corporation spokesman here explained that Ceylon has its own airline which operates out of Colombo on Wednesdays.

BBC Television Expert Hails From Quebec Town

By JACK GOLDING

LONDON (CP)—The village of Lotbiniere, Que., between Montreal and Quebec city, has a direct connection with one of the top executives of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

S. J. de Lotbiniere, the BBC's chief of outside broadcasting in the television field, looks on it as his original home and his 85-year-old father, Brig.-Gen. H. J. de Lotbiniere was born there.

Erudite "Loby" of the BBC, as he is sometimes called, was chief of outside broadcasting in radio during the war. He modestly shrugs off the fact that he has been credited with brilliant organizing in this effort—and that he has been put in command of the new baby, television.

His potential TV customers in Britain number nearly 40,000,000 at the moment.

De Lotbiniere does not think sponsored television would be good for Britain. He feels the people should be entertained for entertainment's sake, not to advertise a product. But he does not deny sponsored TV provides the quick money to develop better programs.

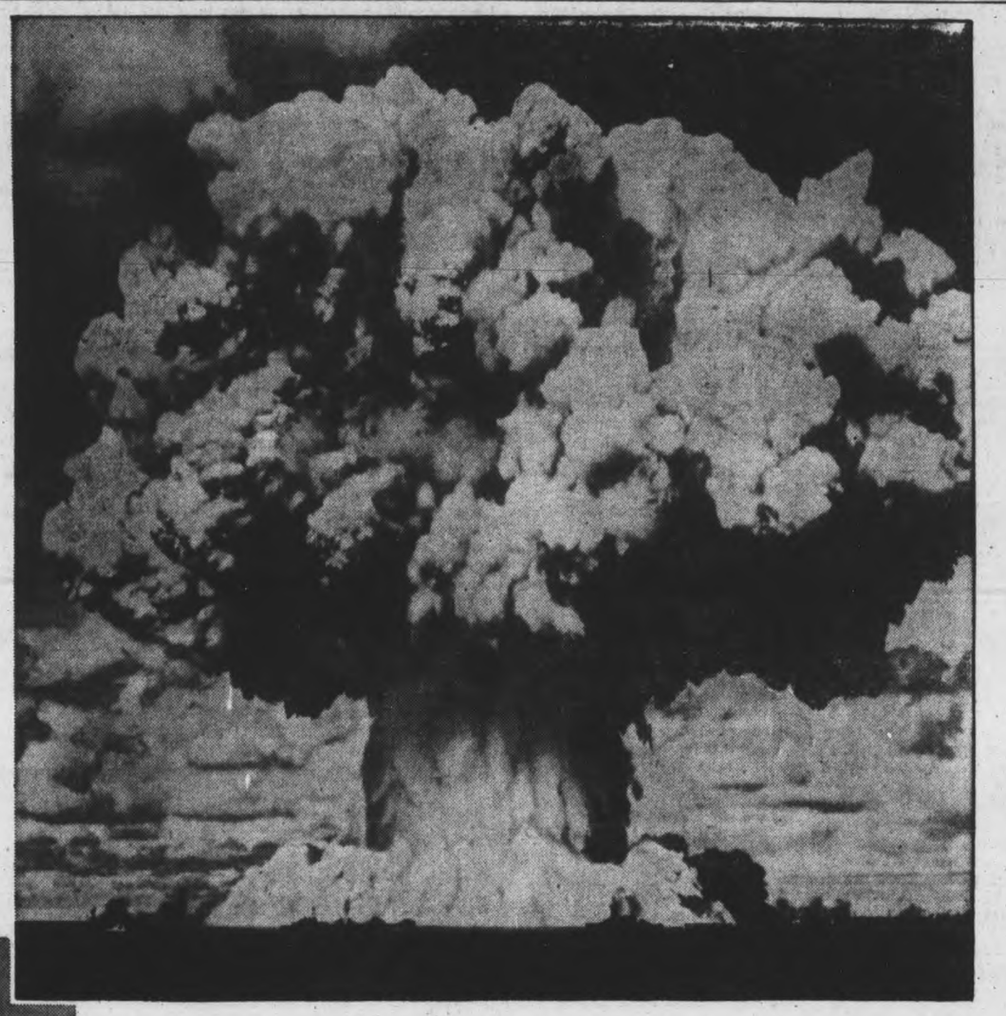
COLOR COMING

Asked about TV in Canada, where he represented the BBC at one time, he said Canadian television is bound to be greatly influenced by United States television, particularly in regard to hours of operation and style of program.

He also thinks engineers concerned with Canadian TV problems have many headaches—". . .that strip from coast to coast . . .the Rockies. . .the time factor from east to west. . .phew!"

The six-foot-seven executive sparkled with excitement as he talked of piping TV into schools, of its use underwater by the Royal Navy, of its power in developing amateur sport. This quiet "know-how" man of television said: "Why I continue to be amazed as I sit in my home watching a program in Edinburgh 400 miles away."

Color TV, he thought, is still in the "crucible process."



"When it does come to pass, it will probably be available to present TV owners by means of an economical adapter. There will probably be no need for buying a new machine."

De Lotbiniere says as soon as the BBC irons out the wrinkles in British reception, it plans to point its transmission in the direction of Europe.

C.G.I.T. Elect Officers

NORWOOD (ENS)—Norwood C.G.I.T. met on Monday evening in the United Church under the leadership of Mrs. Donald Audas. An election of officers took place. The new officers are: president, Rhoda Coleman; vice-president-Sandra Flett; secretary, Gail Baker; treasurer, Patricia Atkinson; reporter, Margaret Duncanson. Mrs. Arthur Bitten talked on "Health and Nursing."

PAINT A ROOM WITH Kem-Tone FOR THE PRICE OF TWO PAIRS OF NYLONS

In a small power station in the Idaho sagebrush last December, men made electricity for the first time from the atom. Lights burned, heaters glowed, machinery pumped — all on atomic energy. Soon, the atom commissioners tell us, we may have a new unending source of heat, light and power.

Soon—the atom will bake a cake!

ANY DAY NOW, there'll be news of some revolutionary civilian use of atomic power.

Heating? . . . Already the British are heating houses from an atomic pile. Transportation? . . . We'll soon have atom-driven submarines — how about cars and planes? Housekeeping? . . . Will we get new foods, textiles, dishes and labor-saving devices in unheard-of abundance?

When the first big story about peacetime atomic power breaks, you'll want to know how it all began and how it works . . . but most of all, who has it — and where can you get it?

You'll want the whole story . . . from your point of view, as only your local paper's news columns or ads can tell it to you every day.

That's how it is with every important news or product story. You want all the story. You want to know where you fit in.

So does everybody else.

And just as you read the newspaper every day, so does everybody else. Because there's something for everybody every day.

•

Why do advertisers invest more of their money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising?

Simply because everybody reads the paper, for its advertising as well as for fun or news.

The Newspaper talks to everybody in town. It's created fresh every day to appeal to everybody.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers!

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

This message prepared by BUREAU OF ADVERTISING, and published in the interests of fuller understanding of newspapers by THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER.

Boat Firms Prepare Change Cargo

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's major inland shipping companies prepared Wednesday to move their inland grain carriers into the iron ore trade because of the threatened strike of grain handlers at the Head of the Lakes.

Thousands of grain handlers threatened to walk out at Port Arthur and Fort William tomorrow unless wage demands were met.

Shipping company officials here said firms with freighters adaptable to movement of ore can easily switch their ships and will be able to keep them busy even if no grain is moved down the lakes before the end of the season.

However, shipowners with grain carriers exclusively faced the prospect of idle ships at a time when the grain-shipping business is at its peak.

Most elevators here already are plugged with grain, with only a trickle of wheat going overseas, and the walkout would have little immediate effect.

Meantime, owners of smaller canal-type lake ships faced a headache in the possibility of a strike in the United States coal fields. Operators said a coal strike will leave more than 200 lake and river coal-carrying ves idle. They could not convert t other commodities.

RADAR ON SPEEDSTERS—Parkway police in Westchester County, N.Y., try out a new radar camera in clocking speeding autos. A case is being prepared to test the device's legality in court cases.

New Remand For Former Red

OTTAWA (CP)—Raymond Arthur Davies, former Communist party executive officer, Wednesday was remanded a fourth time on a charge of passport fraud.

The crown and defence agreed to set Oct. 8 as a mandatory date for Davies' preliminary hearing on the Crown's claim that Davies made false or misleading statements when he applied for a passport in 1936.

Davies, irked at the four postponements since his arrest early in July, told reporters later that he considers the frequent delays "equivalent to torture, grossly unfair and contrary to all judicial practice."

He was arrested in Whitby and brought here for arraignment. The 44-year-old Montreal writer was released without plea on $1,000 bail. He last appeared before Magistrate Glenn Strike July 22.

Will Compensate Land Owners In Power Deal

MORRISBURG (CP)—R.H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, said last night the commission "will have proper regard for the rights of individuals, corporations or municipalities whose land or property is taken or injured" in developing power resources of the St. Lawrence River.

In an address to the Canadian Club of this St. Lawrence River town 20 miles west of Cornwall, Mr. Saunders said the commission has no right to commit itself on compensation until it gets authority from the International Joint Commission on waterways to proceed with the development.

Speaking in a community where compensation is a live topic because of damages likely in the area, Mr. Saunders said that in developments since 1945 totalling 1,800,000 horsepower, the Ontario commission had completed 82,065 transactions involving acquisition of property for rights of way and other purposes. In 81,954 cases, the settlements suggested by the commission were accepted and only 111 referred to the official valuator.

Only 14 cases were referred to the Ontario Municipal Board. None was carried to the Court of Appeal.

Arrested in Galt last week in connection with the theft of an automobile from Daymond Motors used car lot they requested the used car lot they requested the adjournment when they appeared in court.

A police officer who had come from Cochrane to give evidence will remain in Guelph until Friday, the Crown objecting to a longer adjournment than the next court day.

When application was made for bail Magistrate F. Watt ruled that the brothers would remain in custody.

HER ART BELONGS TO DADDY—Six-year-old Angela Lewsley, of Hanwell, England, smiles proudly as she points to her father, who holds up her painting of him for comparison. Mystery Of Kim Finally Solved Parents Run Mass. Saloon

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The veil of mystery surrounding Kim, the "white Indian," was stripped away yesterday.

She is Yvonne Marie Hanks, 16, who ran away from her Massachusetts home, she said, to escape tending bar in her father's saloon.

Her imagination led to her undoing.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Hanks, of Fitchburg, Mass., read of Kim's escapade in Texas. They recognized their missing daughter by the physical description and photos in newspapers.

CLAIMED INDIAN ANCESTRY

The girl said when found that she was a member of a tribe of Albino Iroquois Indians, who lived on an island in the St. Regis River between the United States and Canada. She claimed she had hitchhiked to Texas and for food on the trip had killed chickens and squirrels.

"Kim" or Yvonne had been to a beauty shop yesterday to have her hair washed and bangs straightened when she was confronted by police. She lost her monosyllabic speech and told all.

She said her father operates Hank's Spa, a saloon at Fitchburg.

"All they wanted me to do was wait on tables," she said. "How would you like to spend most of yout time in a bar with a bunch of drunks?"

There are Indians around Fjtchburg, she added, and she took the name of "Yalamulankastidanamutson" because there was an Indian by that name there.

BLAMES IMAGINATION

At Fitchburg, her mother blamed her daughter's vivid imagination for the confusion.

Mrs. Hanks said a three-day visit at the St. Regis River Indian reservation in Ogdensburg, N.Y., set off the chain of events.

Mrs. Hanks, her husband and Yvonne three weeks ago visited the reservation where another daughter is a nun.

An older sister, Claire, said Yvonne—youngest of three sons and six daughters—was not asked to wait on table.

"My mother asked her to help out in the kitchen of the restaurant one Sunday afternoon peeling potatoes when one of the waitresses was sick," she said.

Cancel Production

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — M-G-M has cancelled production of "The Student Prince," starring Mario Lanza, and says it will sue the singer for $700,000 it claims to have invested in the venture.

Spokesmen said Tuesday that Lanza failed to appear for the start of the film Sept. 3 and that the production was dropped the next day.

Man Killed Near Bancroft As Car Upsets On Highway

Mosher Announces CBRE Resignation In Surprise Move

OTTAWA (CP)—A. R. Mosher announced today he will not be a candidate for re-election to the presidency of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, the focus of the hot battle at the C.B.R.E. convention here this week. Just 1½ days after winning a major victory on the convention floor, the 72-year-old president jolted the delegates with his announcement at the opening of today's sitting. He said he is quitting the presidency "not because I am too old or incapable of carrying on, but because I believe it to be in the best interests of the brotherhood, always my sole concern."

"I have no intention of seeking or accepting another term of office as national president," Mosher told the 375 delegates.

ALSO HEADS C. C. L.

He also is president of the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, but he made no immediate statement on his future in that organization, whose annual convention opens in Toronto on Monday.

Mosher's surprise anouncement followed a victory by his supporters Wednesday night over the issue of reinstating James E. McGuire, expelled as C. B. R. E. national secretary-treasurer last March by the union's executive board.

McGuire carried on a stiff three-day fight before the convention to have himself restored to office and to unseat Mosher. Today the president said he regarded the Wednesday victory as a vote of confidence in himself. Had it not been for that, he said, it would have been difficult and probably impossible for him to make today's announcement.

McGUIRE COMMENTS

McGuire quickly commented that his long-time foe was leaving because he had "lost the confidence" of the dominant railway-labor section of the 32,000-member C.B.R.E. Mosher carried the convention by a vote of 190 to 162 Wednesday, but McGuire supporters later said their man got 143 railmen's votes against 96 for Mosher.

"He realizes that an analysis of the vote discloses that the railway employees, who are the hard core of the C. B. R. E., were solidly behind me," the expelled official said. "He realizes he has lost the confidence of the people who really built the brotherhood.

"His actions this week show that he was merely perpetuating his attitude of complete antagonism towards me, and it now is proven that this was a conspiracy to get rid of me. No sincere person would put hundreds of people to all this trouble over his retirement."

"There is not a single candidate on the executive now who could stand an election with me," the 54-year-old McGuire added.

While no candidatures developed openly immediately, the three most likely appeared to be Harry Chappell of Winnipeg, C. B. R. E. general representative in the west; William J. Smith of Montreal, secretary of the union's joint protective board, and Stanley Eighteen of Montreal, general chairman for the central region.

Boyd, 3 Others Arraigned On 23 Charges

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd and three others were arraigned in county court yesterday on 23 charges of armed robbery and other offences. This set the stage for their trial opening next Monday before County Judge Robert Forsyth.

Appearing with Boyd were his brother, Norman, Joseph Jackson and Allister Gibson. The charges are of armed robbery, receiving stolen money, harboring escaped persons and escaping custody. They pleaded innocent.

JAIL INDICTMENT

In addition Boyd and the three men who escaped from Don Jail with him Sept. 8—Leonard Jackson, Steve Suchan and William Jackson—have been indicted on charges of breaking jail and with escaping custody.

Hon. John Foote, minister of reform institutions, took newspaper men on a conducted tour of Don Jail to show steps taken to guard against another successful escape.

New locks, triple steel and chrome bars on windows, floodlights and double-duty guards on an around-the-clock basis are some of the new steps to prevent escapes.

GANG MASTERMIND?

A Toronto paper says police are investigating underworld talk that a prominent suburban resident is pulling the strings in big-time crime in the Toronto area.

The newspage story says "talk in the underworld" is that one man directed the escape of Edwin Alonzo Boyd and three other prisoners from Don Jail last week.

"One source says 'Mr. Big' has furnished hideouts, information, weapons and clothes to gangsters in return for a large cut of the (bank holdup) hauls," the story adds.

Blame Blast On Supervision

LONDON (Reuters) — The management of Easington colliery in the north of England, where 83 miners died in an explosion last May, was accused of "lack of effective supervision and control" in the official report on the disaster inquiry published in London today.

The chief inspector of mines said in the report that the explosion was due to the friction of coal-cutting picks on pyrites detonating "firedamp" gas. Proper consideration had not been given to the risk of firedamp accumulation and on roof weight when deciding on the method of work.

3 Bank Robbers Get By Roadblocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Three convicts who escaped from Lewisburg federal penitentiary and rampaged through Pennsylvania roadblocks were identified today as the men who held up a Bronx bank and escaped with $12,600 last Tuesday.

The three are Joseph Wayne Nolan, 26, and his brother Ballard, 22; and Elmer Schuer, 21.

Jailed 15 Years For Slaying

WINDSOR (CP)—Gordon Addyman, 37, convicted last week of manslaughter in the slaying of his wife, Mildred, 33, April 15, today was sentenced to 15 years in penitentiary.

Supreme Court Justice A. M. Lebel, in pronouncing the sentence, told Addyman that the judge is bound to accept the verdict of the jury "that you didn't intend to kill your poor wife."

Before he was sentenced, Addyman told the court "I know in my own heart that I didn't murder Millie. I never in any circumstances did anything deliberately or intentionally to make harm come to her."

Violate Human Rights

Russia Using Millions Of Captives As Slaves

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department spread on the record today a mass of evidence that the Soviet Union and its satellites have millions of captives in slave labor camps.

The department made public a 69-page report rounding up official documents, testimony of refugees and other evidence in support of this conclusion:

"The number of slave laborers in the Soviet Union and its satellites runs into the millions and represents the most extreme violation of human rights on the face of the earth today."

SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE

It was a detailed summary of evidence prepared for a special fact-finding committee of the United Nations and the International Labor Organization.

The State Department said in part that the evidence showed:

1. Forced labor has been continuous throughout the existence of the Soviet system and has grown into a vast institution.

2. Although the exact number of prisoners is a Soviet state secret, calculations range from 2,000,000 to 20,000,000, and are far above what the prison population should be by non-Communists, and even Czarist Russia standards.

3. The prisoners are largely political offenders or persons guilty of minor derelictions.

4. Many are given sentences of up to five years by he secret police without court trials.

5. Forced labor is a significant feature of the Soviet economy. A Soviet economic plan for 1941, pages of which hte department reproduced, assigned 14 per cent of work like timbering, mining, and railway, highway and canal construction to slave laborers—a higher percentage than to any other agency.

Car Careens 260 Feet, Overturns

Dangerous Driving Charge Laid Against Driver

BANCROFT (ENS)—Thrown from his car as it careened 260 feet along the highway, 39-year-old Garnet Boyd of Toronto was killed Thursday, shortly after noon.

His companion, Thomas Mitchell, 41, also of Toronto, was driving the car. Provincial police have charged Mitchell with dangerous and careless driving. Mitchell suffered only minor injuries.

The accident happened on a straight stretch of Highway 62 about eight miles south of Bancroft. Police say they do not know the reason for the crash.

Boyd, a former major in the commandos and a paratroop instructor with the 48th Highlanders was a used car dealer in Toronto. He was married, with two children. He suffered a fractured skull, a broken leg and severe cuts.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Mitchell's injuries were to his back and legs, and he suffered cuts, bruises and shock as well. He was treated at Bancroft Red Cross Hospital by Dr. M. Mader of Bancroft, who had pronounced Boyd dead at the accident scene.

The car was northbound when it left the road, landed on its side, skidded across a ditch and climbed a rock cut two feet wide and seven feet high. It broke a telephone pole at the top of the cut, flipped over in the air and landed on its roof, seven feet below road level.

After the crash, passersby found Boyd's body lying across the broken telephone pole 20 feet from the car. Mitchell was pinned in the auto, and was released by other motorists.

Total distance the car travelled was estimated by police at 260 feet. Investigation is underway by O.P.P. Corporal Archie Grayling and Constable John Hutchinson.

SECOND FATAL ACCIDENT

It was the second fatal accident in the Bancroft district within three weeks. In the first week of September, two cars crashed nearly head-on north of Maynooth on the road to Lake St. Peter.

In that accident, Gordon O'Brien of Toronto was killed and his uncle, John Alphonse Shevlin, Frederick Ave., Peterborough, suffered fairly serious injuries. Driver of the other car, Clarence Thompson of St. Ola, has been charged with careless driving.

OAC Girl Dies Of Gas Poisoning

GUELPH (CP)—A coroner's jury decided last night that Erica Mary Szemzo, 26-year-old graduate student whose charred body was found Sept. 4 after a laboratory fire, died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The girl died in laboratory A of the nutrition building on the Ontario Agricultural College campus. It was swept by an $50,000 early-morning fire.

David Arthur, a lecturer, told the jury that two bunsen burners evidently had been burning during the night, though the experiment that the girl was apparently working on did not require their use.

Another graduate student, Hedda Main, testified that Miss Szemzo seemed to be depressed the night before she died.

The jury, attaching no blame and giving no verdict other than the cause of death, recommended that no one be allowed to work alone in laboratories after hours and that those using them after hours be thoroughly checked and investigated by college authorities.

Tumbles 18 Feet Small Baby Unhurt

TORONTO (CP) — An eight-month-old baby, bouncing happily in his baby carriage last night, flipped himself right out of a second floor window and fell 18 feet to the ground. The youngster, Vincent Letke, lay on the ground gurgling and laughing, neighbors said.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Letke of Toronto, said the carriage was in the middle of the room, but the baby's bouncing must have moved it to the open window.

Some Coal Mines Consider Lewis' Bid

All Pressure Now Being Brought To Bear On Northern Producers

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some major commercial coal operators in central Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana, today were reported considering bids from John L. Lewis to exempt them from a threatened strike Monday in northern mines.

Lewis already has arranged with most western producers to let them continue operating, with the understanding that they will accept whatever pay boosts and other concessions he eventually may negotiate for his United Mine Workers' Union.

The same deal is being held out to mine owners in the three big coal-producing states of Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

The Chicago Tribune says it has learned that some Illinois and Indiana companies already have made agreements which will exempt them from the strike.

Lewis has won an interim arrangement with the Pennsylvania anthracite hard-coal industry, giving him a 20-cent tonnage royalty boost for the mines' welfare fund, and has delayed strike action against southern soft-coal mines until Oct. 1.

This brings all the pressure to bear now against the northern producers, who face a shutdown Monday. Their organization is the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association which employs about 200,000 soft-coal miners.

Lewis is reported demanding a $1.80 boost in the present $16.35 basic daily wage, a hike in the present 30-cents-a-ton welfare royalty to 40 cents, and shorter working hours.

Aircraft Explodes, Crashes

ST. PIERRE DE BROUGHTON, Que. (CP) —An aircraft exploded and crashed in a field near here today and it was believed possible it might be an R.C.A.F. Sabre jet flying to Toronto from Bagotville, Que. The R.C.A.F. station at Bagotville, north of Quebec, confirmed that a jet was overdue on a flight to Toronto. It was not known whether there were any survivors of the crash, which occurred shortly after 9 a.m. Residents of St. Pierre de Broughton said the plane was a two-engined craft, but it was thought possible they might have mistaken two torpedo-shaped wing tanks carried by jets for engines.

The R.C.A.F. could not confirm immediately that any of its aircraft had crashed.

FIND BODIES

J. A. Gagnon of this small village, about 50 miles south of Quebec, said all aboard were presumed dead. Parts of bodies were reported found in the wreckage, he said.

He said the explosion was reported to him by villagers who heard it.

U.S. Takes Wraps Off Fantastic Arctic Base

THULE, Greenland (AP)—The United States took official secrecy wraps off its fantastic Arctic air base yesterday. A brood of jet interceptors already is using the still unfinished Thule airdrome, perched almost at the frozen top of the world. The project's estimated cost is $263,000,000.

Thule air force base and its operations installations cover 90,000 acres in a great amphitheatre walled in at the back by the rim of the Greenland Ice Cap, fronted by a fjord opening on Baffin Bay. It can handle the biggest strategic bombers or swiftest landing jet fighters existent or planned.

Beating the problem of eternal polar cold and flint-hard ground, constructors have put down miles of paving for runways and built hangars, machine shops and housing. A 1,200-foot radio tower keeps the strategic forward air base in touch with Washington and other lines in the chain of U. S. defences.

COULD BOMB EURASIA

Heavy bombers like the B-36 or the all-jet B-52 now in production could use this base as a stepping stone for long strides deep into Eurasia.

Huge tonnages of material have been shipped into Thule. The Military Sea Transport Service has brought in about 260,000 tons of supplies, equipment, food and other material. A big airlift has brought in 12,500 tons more during the 10 months of the year when ice closes the sea route.

GOOSE BAY EXPANDED

A group of reporters en route to Thule also inspected the base at Goose Bay, Labrador, used in the Second World War but greatly expanded since.

The military reservation there is 120 square miles.

Goose Bay is a staging point for the bombers and fighters which would have to move through from bases in the U. S. to the outer positions like Thule in event of war.

Two heavy maintenance hangars were finished during the urgent first year of construction. Four more are going up with workmen racing against the oncoming winter.

The buildings are "inside out refrigerators" — heavily insulated fabrications of aluminum and wallboard to keep out the Arctic cold.

The maximum rate for skilled workers like power shovel and crane operators is $4.20 an hour, with time and a half for overtime beyond 40 hours a week. These men work 10-hour daily shifts seven days a week.

All the workmen are from the U.S.

Foreign Office Heads Attacked

TOKYO (CP)—An enraged crowd of Japanese leftists, denied passports to attend the Red China "peace" conference Sept. 26, today manhandled Japan's vice-foreign minister, Shinichi Shibusawa, and other Foreign Office officials, the newspaper Nippon Times reported.

Earlier, the leftists themselves were kicked and beaten by a band of black-shirted youths who objected to the grou-'s sitdown strike at the foreign office.

The attack on Shibusawa, a diminutive man, came after he reported the government refused to issue passports to the 97 persons who want to attend the Peiping meeting.

Thinks Wife Burglar Policeman Kills Her

NEW YORK (AP) — A policeman shot his 25-year-old wife to death in their darkened bedroom early today, mistaking her for a burglar who had been seen in their apartment building.

Police gave this account:

While patrolman John Milo, 27, was asleep, his wife, Mary, got up from their bed. When she returned to the bedroom, her husband was wakened by her footsteps.

Believing she was the burglar, he seized his service revolver from a bureau near the bed and fired two shots, killing her instantly.

Think Soviet Planes Scouting Arctic Line

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (AP)—Mysterious, whispy vapor trails which may indicate that Soviet planes are scouting the region have been seen along the northeastern perimeter of Canada's and the United States' Arctic defence line.

Reporters who visited this huge air base in the Labrador wilderness asked Col. Charles R. Bond, operations chief of the Northeast Air Command, if his men had seen any tell-tale sky signs like the contrails of vapor observed several months ago in Alaska, at the northwest corner of the Arctic defence system.

"We think from time to time we perhaps have seen them, too," he said.

Cupid Has Had Busy Time With Arrows Cuts Spinster, Bachelor Lists In 50 Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Cupid's busy arrow has cut the proportion of spinsters and bachelors sharply during the last half-century.

The Bureau of Statistics estimated yesterday that the proportion of single males in Canada declined to 52.9 per cent in 1951, down from 63.5 per cent in 1901. Single females dropped to 48 per cent from 59.7.

In that 50-year period, marriage was on the upswing, with the proportion of male population taking the plunge jumping to 44.3 per cent from 33.8 and the proportion of females climbing to 45.1 per cent from 34.5.

In the half-century, Canada's population more than doubled to 14,000,000 from 5,371,300.

Divorces, too, had their innings, but the proportion to the total population was so infinitesimal that they barely caused a ripple on the marital scene. The proportion of divorced males increased to 0.2 per cent from 0.1 per cent and that of divorced females to 0.3 per cent from 0.1. Divorces increased substantially in the 1941-51 period.

Locate Child, 4 Condition Critical

BELLEVILLE (CP)—After a six-hour search by Provincial Police and farmers Bernard Foshay, 4, a ward of the Children's Aid Society staying at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, was found early today a few hundred yards from the Scott home.

BELLEVILLE (CP)—William Lockyer, Children's Aid Society superintendent here, said today Bernard Foshay, 4, found lying in a swamp early today, had been beaten and stoned.

He is in hospital here in critical condition from exposure.

The child was found by Gordon McInroy, 19, a neighbor of the Scotts, in a low-lying swamp two fields distant from the house.

Father Drops Dead After Daughter Born

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—James Lyons fell dead today, 24 hours after a baby girl was born to his wife in the same hospital where her first baby—a son—disappeared last Oct. 13.

Lyons, 42, a filling station attendant, died of a heart ailment while eating breakfast at a restaurant.

He had been telling friends about the couple's new baby, and how the little girl was being kept in the same room with Mrs. Lyons instead of the St. Anthony hospital nursery from which her infant son, Lawrence, vanished nearly a year ago.

The daughter was reported doing well. The mother also was reported "doing fine"—before tragedy struck the family again today.

CRAWFORD NOTCH, N.H. (AP) A bear attacked a group of men at a state recreation department park today, killing one and injuring three before being slain by a state trooper.

Police said the animal got loose from its cage in some undetermined manner and attacked the group.

Full Investigation Ordered In Penicillin Death

TORONTO (CP)—A full investigation of a report a Toronto resident has died as a result of the use of penicillin was ordered today by Dr. Smirle Lawson, Ontario's chief coroner. No details of the death are available. The Canadian Medical Association this year passed a resolution asking that penicillin in all its forms and dosages be put on the prescription list. Some druggists have been selling it over the counter without prescriptions, usually in lozenge form.

The investigation arises from the death of a Toronto woman Wednesday. Hers was the second Toronto penicillin death in two years, authorities said.

The woman, whose name has not been released, is reported to have received an injection in her hip at her home.

Dr. Lawson consulted with Clifford Magone, deputy attorney-general, before announcing the death. It is reported no inquest will be held but a statement of warning will be issued.

The first known penicillin death occurred in December, 1950, in McKeesport, Pa., with the victim a hospital nurse. Experts on the drug said the nurse apparently was allergic to penicillin.

Malik Vetoes Japan In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia's Jacob A. Malik yesterday vetoed Japan's application for membership in the United Nations.

It was the Soviet Union's 52nd veto.

Malik is expected to end his four-year stay in a blaze of vetoes today by barring the French-sponsored associated states of Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam from the U.N. He has been recalled to Moscow for a new job.

The other 10 members of the Security Council, including Britain, all voted to admit ex-enemy Japan to the U.N. but were stymied by Malik. He said Japan is an American colony, a war base, a threat to peace in the Pacific and the U.S. is pursuing a course leading to catastrophe.

Cobb Fails To Break Speedboat Record

LOCH NESS, Scotland (Reuters) John Cobb, British speed king, today failed in an attempt to wrest the world water speed record from the United States.

In his jet-propelled speedboat Crusader, he hurtled across Loch Ness at 173 miles an hour—below the record of 178.4 set by Stanley Syres of Seattle last July

Cobb's speed on his first run was 185 miles an hour, but a gusty wind on the return run caused him to throttle back and his speed for this was 161. The speed is figured on the average over two runs.

Officials said Cobb will try again when conditions permit.

Gets His V.C. Back

BELFAST —(Reuters) — James Magennis, 31, who sold his Victoria Cross for £70 so he could buy new clothes for his three children, got it back yesterday—for nothing. The dealer to whom he sold it decided to return it. Magennis, a wartime "frog man," won the V.C. for helping to sink a Japanese cruiser in 1945.

Sentence Kelsey To Death For Old Slaying

WELLAND (CP)—James Alfred Kelsey yesterday was sentenced to be hanged for a slaying that was more than two years old when he was arrested last February

The 29-year-old native of Welland was convicted by an assize court jury of murder in the bludgeon-slaying of Frank Delibasich, 47-year-old taxi driver, in December of 1949.

Kelsey's brother, Lloyd Frank Cross, 33, is accused of murder in the same slaying and his case is slated to come before the present sitting of the assizes.

The jury in the Kelsey trial retired at 12:45 p.m. and brought in its verdict six hours later. Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven sentenced Kelsey to be hanged next Jan. 6.

Delibasich, a former resident of the Northern Ontario gold mining towns of Kirkland Lake and Timmins, disappeared in December, 1949. On Dec. 17, his battered and frozen body was found in a field by rabbit hunters.

BLOWS TO HEAD

Medical evidence was that death was due to blows on the head although there was an ice-pick wound in his back. His cab was found in Toronto.

The police investigation went on for more than two years until Cross was arrested early last February at Brookville, N.B. A day or so later Kelsey was arrested in Buffalo, N.Y., on a charge of entering the United States illegally. He was deported to Canada and arrested here on the murder charge.

An important part of the evidence in the Kelsey trial was a statement the accused gave to police after his arrest. It was admitted in evidence, but Mr Justice Treleaven ruled that its contents could not be published since it might be prejudicial to the Cross trial.

King Forgets Pick Up Cheque

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—King Faisal and his entourage dined well during his recent visit here, but the restaurateurs who served them one meal find their pride tinged with embarrassment.

Nobody remembered to pick up the cheque.

Joe and George Hatton said about 30 persons showed up for luncheon with the 17-year-old King of Iraq, and the bill amounted to $232.88.

"The King himself," said Joe, "is welcome to lunch anytime, on the house. But, as the saying goes, we are not in business for our health."

"when they finished, nobody said anything about the bill. It was rather embarrassing, so I didn't say anything either," said brother George.

"But today I sent the bill to the State Department. I think they'll take care of it."

Reds Change Tactics

Decide Give Relief Funds With No Strings Attached

NEW DELHI (AP)—Following Russia's lead, Communist China bowed today to India's insistence that no strings be attached to relief funds.

A source close to the foreign ministry said the same Chinese envoy who huffily took back the $84,000 cheque India bounced to him two weeks ago because of Communist - attached conditions, quietly re-offered the donation today—this time minus strings.

Earlier, Red China had insisted the funds be distributed through the Communist-sponsored "famine relief committee" in Andhra region of Madras state, a Communist stronghold. The Indians resented this propaganda effort as an interference in their internal affairs and insisted all foreign funds must be distributed through the Indian Red Cross.

The Soviet Union, too, had earlier earmarked its gifts in wheat and rice and $525,000 in cash for the Red Andhra group, but when the storm was raised over the political strings and the Indian government returned the Chinese cheque, the Russians switched signals.

Canadian Jets Eventually Use Guided Missile

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada plans to arm the CF-100 Canuck jet fighter with a guided missile eventually but the missile still is years from being ready, it was indicated reliably yesterday. The air-to-air missile being developed by the Defence Research Board and the R.C.A.F. is the one earmarked to team up with the Canuck as the key factor in defence of Canadian soil. First tests of the weapon in one of the jets is likely to take place early in 1953 but that is said authoritatively to be no sign that it is anywhere near ready to go into general use.

There apparently will be a missile fired from the Canuck but it's not likely to be guided. The tests will be mainly to study the problem of mating a new plane and an embryo weapon for guidance in further design and development.

Officials of the Defence Research Board say the missile program is going well and that Canada has been saved a lot of time and effort by development done by the United States and United Kingdom.

There are various types of guided missiles. Canada has gone into the air-to-air field, that is missiles fired by one plane against another.

MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States navy today sees in its "pilotless suicide planes" a possible $300 answer to low-level bombing, a special problem that has been costly in lives in Korea.

That $300 is the approximate cost given by a navy representative for converting a $60,000 obsolete plane—of which the navy has thousands in mothballs—into a needed weapon in the mountainous terrain of Korea.

This, several navy representatives said in interviews, is the reason for navy enthusiasm over the latest news in air warfare—navy robot planes, equipped with television eyes and a 2,000-pound bomb, which dive on to North Korean targets.

But the navy was cautious about making any claims. Rear-Admiral John H. Sides, director of guided missiles, cautioned against talk about "the push-button age in warfare" being here.

And the air force said in reply to a query that expendable "war-weary" B-17s and B24s, loaded with 18,500 pounds of high explovles, were used as pilotless guided missiles on five combat missions during the Second World War.

Navy representatives explained that the type of fighting in the mountains of Korea means that planes have to fly low to find and strike enemy targets in the valleys. That brings the planes within close range of enemy anti-aircraft fire.

An air force representative said its "war-wearies" did not score high in pin-point bombing but that their performance could be considered effective since they were used in the early stage of such an experiment.

Navy spokesmen now describe the navy's converted Grumman "Hellcat" fighter, such as was catapulted Sept. 1 from the aircraft carrier boxer, as so efficient that it can be directed into a railway tunnel.

LOSES EYE

John Plumtree, of Janetville, about 40 miles south of Lindsay, lost an eye Monday afternoon when a bolt struck him in the right eye. He and his brother were repairing Plumtree's granary when the accident happened. The injured man is reported to be in satisfactory condition in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

Salvage Yard Reason For Cuts In Assessment

Chief Constable John Thompson on Thursday was instructed to enforce the regulations on salvage yards.

By this move the police commission are aiming directly at Tommy Hughes who operates an auto wrecking business on Bell Ave., south of Lansdowne St.

On Thursday, the police commission read a letter from Assessment Commissioner Ed Davis that stated, in his opinion, the sprawling junkyard is depreciating property in that district. And because of this Mr. Davis is cutting the assessment of nearby property owners.

REQUIRE FENCE

Mr. Davis said that the wrecking business is spread over a large area. The hulks of old cars are visible to passing motor traffic on Lansdowne St. and to nearby property owners. Regulations on salvage yards require that a high board fence be built around the premises and this has not been done.

The recommendation of Mr. Davis was that the Hughes wrecking business should be relocated in a non-residential area.

After hearing the assessment commissioner's letter Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q. C., said: "That makes it more important than ever that we do something."

"Yes," agreed Mayor Hugh Waddell. "The residents in that area are complaining."

Kyanite Deposit In Frontenac Value Grows

Large deposits of kyanite—a non-metallic metal that is valuable in jet aircraft construction—have been discovered along a section of the Trans-Canada Highway near Sudbury. This makes it the third possible source of the metal in Ontario.

Another rich source is in the Fernleigh district, 80 miles northeast of Peterborough, in Frontenac County. Bruce C. Robson, Belleville prospector and geologist staked out two claims there last fall.

The latest find near Sudbury, was by three mining men—Fred Chubb, James Cryderman and Jack McVittie—who have staked out 58 claims on deposits along the highway.

Kyanite is becoming increasingly valuable because it can withstand high temperatures. The big demand at present is for the lining of exhaust pipes in jet aircraft. It is also used in brick for blast furnaces.

Mr. Robson has had several United States firms interested in his two claims in Clarendon township but as yet they are not being mined.

Mattawa, in Ontario, and British Columbia are the only other two sources of kyanite that have been reported in Canada. Officials from the Department of Mines say that the value of kyanite is only just beginning to be recognized.

Fail To Meet NATO Time Table

PARIS (AP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's Minister of External Affairs, ended a year's chairmanship of the North Atlantic Council last night with the report that "we are not meeting in all respects the time table laid down at Lisbon but the progress has been substantial and encouraging."

Pearson spoke at a press conference. Seated beside him were his successor as chairman of the N.A.T.O. council of permanent representatives, Danish Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft, and the N.A.T.O. secretary-general, Lord Ismay.

"What I have seen and heard during this visit," Pearson said, "confirms my view that our defences are growing in strength and effectiveness, but have not yet reached the minimum to give all—and especially Free Europe—that security to which we are entitled in the face of the menace to peace which still exists.

"There is no cause of complacency or any reason for relaxation."

Finland Pays Off War Debts To Russia

HELSINKI (Reuters) — Finland has run true to form.

Just as it paid off First World War debts to the United States, it has met the Second World War reparations exacted by Russia. The time for payment expired last night.

Admiral Svanta Sundman, chief of the Finnish Reparations Organization, said deliveries of the last eight barges and two trawlers have been completed.

Since Finland signed the armistice agreement Sept. 19, 1944, 343,700 freight cars have rolled over the eastern frontier into the Soviet Union.

Sundman said it had cost Finland about $570,000,000.

Canada's Export Drive Slumps In August

OTTAWA (CP)—For the second consecutive month, Canada's export drive, which made major gains during the first half of the year, lost ground during August, hit by a $15,000,000 cut in exports to the United States.

Total August shipments to all countries slipped to $350,300,000 from $353,500,000 in August last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday in a preliminary statement.

The August drop followed a decline during July when exports totalled $375,700,000, down from $378,600,000 a year ago.

Seeking Relatives Of Julia H. Nixon

The department of law in Buffalo, N.Y., is seeking the heirs of Julia Hanley Nixon, or Wickson, who lived for several years in Peterborough.

In a letter to the police department here, they said that a niece of Julia Nixon had died in Buffalo, leaving an estate of several thousand dollars. As there are no known relatives in the New York state city, they were asking for information from Peterborough.

Forgery Case Starts In Lindsay Court

LINDSAY — (ENS). — The trial began here this morning of cheque for $389, on the account charge of forging and uttering a cheque for $389, on the account of a Reaboro woman.

Miller was arrested a month ago in Vancouver by Vancouver police and brought back to Lindsay by Police Chief A. Webster, who made a flying trip to pick up the accused. He had been remanded with Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan prosecuting. Magistrate Gee presided.

In opening, the Crown called Albert Babcock, presently serving a one year sentence in Mimico Reformatory for forging a cheque on the account of Lindsay automobile and refrigeration dealer Vern Wilson. Babcock testified that he had made out a cheque for the amount mentioned, in anticipation of making a sale to the Reaboro woman and had kept it after he did not close the deal.

Later he said he had been approached by Miller, whom he knew, for a loan. He had refused but later had given Miller the cheque dated December 4 in the hope that Miller might be able to use it. He also allegedly loaned $10 on the same occasion which took place in Toronto. The next day he said he saw Miller in Lindsay.

The teller of the Dominion Bank in Lindsay on which the cheque was drawn testified that Miller presented the cheque made out to himself and endorsed for payment that day. She asked him for identification, and since the accountant and manager of the bank were both out at the time she had cashed the cheque.

The cheque had gone through and was filed until the woman on whose account it was drawn came back to the bank. Donald G. Smith, accountant at the bank, described the discovery of the fact that the cheque was false and how the bank had reimbursed the victim of the forgery, putting the debt on its own books.

Defence Counsel Allan asked whether or not any of the money had been repaid, and the court was told that $89 had been refunded by Allen himself. The trial was adjourned at noon until later today.

Superforts Make Heavy Bombing Raid

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—B-29 Superforts today seared Communist targets on Korea's east coast with 300 tons of fire bombs in their first daylight raid in nearly a year.

Thirty-three B-29s from Japan and Okinawa made the blazing attack on Red installations near the port of Hungnam.

Along he battle front, United Nations soldiers fought grimly to break a new Chinese foothold on Old Baldy Hill in one of four bloody flare-ups.

U.N. fighter-bombers hammered at the Reds in support of ground troops in furious western-front battles.

The United States Eighth Army said a battalion of Reds —about 800 men—stormed the crest of Old Baldy last night, signalling a long-expected Communist attempt to recapture the western-front hill.

"Nobody can claim all of Baldy," a front-line officer said after Allied and Chinese troops grappled through the night and morning. The crest, he said, was a "scene of confusion".

U.N. tanks hugging the south slope raked the crest with shells as Allied soldiers inched up the east and west slopes against withering artillery fire. The remnants of the attacking battalion clung to the north face. Allied planes lashed at the surrounding area to keep back Red reinforcements.

The hill, west of Chorwon, changed hands four times in July and was captured Aug. 1 by U.S. troops.

To the west, northwest of Yonchon, two Chinese companies "attacked from all sides" and overran an Allied outpost hill, the Eighth Army said.

On the central front, the Reds made two fierce but futile attempts to recapture South Korean positions on Finger Ridge.

Two-engined B-26 bombers pounded Communist supply routes in North Korea. The air force said they destroyed 105 Red trucks last night.

Sees Hamilton Getting Harbor

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Dr. E.G. Pleva, professor of geography at the University of Western Ontario, says Hamilton, not Toronto, is going to have the principal harbor at the western end of Lake Ontario when the St. Lawrence seaway is completed.

He said today in an interview the whole extent of Hamilton Bay, forming the head of the lake behind the bridge over which highway 2 passes can be turned into docks and warehouses. He said Toronto harbor is already fully built up with docks and wharves and cannot be much extended.

"If money is to be allocated by the Dominion government for developing harbors, it should be given in preference to Hamilton harbor. There the Canadian taxpayer would get more back for his money."

Stock Prices Slip On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued to slip in early afternoon stock market trading today although western oils improved slightly.

Industrials, golds and base metals drifted steadily downward from a weak opening while western oils gained slightly in early afternoon, remaining below Thursday's closing prices.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,224,000 shares.

Papers, constructions, steels and miscellaneous industrials led the industrial decline while utilities and manufacturing companies held firm.

Western oils recorded a majority of losses and a few issues dropped between 25 and 55 cents. Among the losers were Canadian Southern, Central Exploration, and General Pete A.

Egypt Wants To Buy Arms From Britain

LONDON (AP)—Egypt has formally applied to Britain to buy armaments, including scarce jet propelled aircraft and Centurion tanks.

A Foreign Office spokesman said today Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib's government submitted the request to British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson Wednesday.

Sale of armaments to Egypt has been embargoed by Britain since November, 1951, when the Cairo government of the day tore up the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of defence. The spokesman said the British government is studying Egypt's new request.

Approve Recognizing Red China

HAMILTON (CP) — A recommendation that the Communist Chinese government be recognized after the Korean War and when it has met the requirements for United Nations membership was approved today by the general council of the United Church of Canada.

This section of the report of the committee on international affairs was regarded as the most contentious issue in that report.

The recommendation approved by the council followed a heated debate yesterday in which an amendment was proposed and the matter was referred to a five-man committee for rewording.

Rev. Melville Aitken of Hamilton moved that the matter be referred back to the committee on international relations for further study. He said the council was not sufficiently informed to make any such recommendation at this time. He also said there must be good and just reasons why Canada has not recognized the Communist Chinese regime. He was supported by Dr. G. W. Mason of Toronto, who suggested the council was going beyond its field.

Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, committee secretary, spoke for the resolution. He said he felt the church should say something on the matter.

Mosher Announces

Chappell is on the executive committee of the Canadian Congress of labor.

In a later press conference, Mosher told reporters he is quitting because it is in the best interests of the C. B. R. E. that there be no factions in it.

NEW START

"My getting out will remove that," he said. "It will give the C. B. R. E. a new start on a progressive basis without any lingering thoughts of old animosities and suggestions that all the officers of the organization want is their jobs."

He said, too, it will show employers — particularly the railways — with whom the union is in negotiations that the most important business of the convention was not a personal feud between two top officers.

Asked if he would permit himself to be "drafted" as president by the delegates, the union head said firmly he would not.

He declined to say anything about what he would do in the Canadian Congress of Labor.

DROPS SLANDER SUIT

The president also said he is dropping a $50,000 slander suit he brought against McGuire as the result of charges against him made public by the former secretary-treasurer last March.

"There is no animosity or resentment in my heart," he added.

ONE OF FOUNDERS

Mosher was one of the original founders of the C.B.R.E. at Moncton, N.B., in 1908 and has been its president ever since. In those 44 years, he has been opposed only once for office—apart from this year's bid by McGuire to unseat him.

The president, a native of Halifax county in Nova Scotia, also was the chief founder of the Canadian Congress of Labor in 1940. He also has been president of that body since its inception.

Today, he said he has no particular plans for the future, except that he plans to take a rest after the C.C.L. convention next week.

"I'll try to find something useful to occupy myself," he added.

Hold Out Hope Britons Get More Meat

LONDON (Reuters)—The Conservative Party held out hopes yesterday of more meat and lower living costs for rationed Britain in a progress report to the voter.

Reviewing the work of Prime Minister Churchill's government after nearly a year of office, the report said steps had been taken to raise home food production during the next four years to at least 60 per cent above pre-war figures.

Emphasis was placed on obtaining more meat.

"We aim at providing about 250,000 tons more by 1956, with further increases to follow," the party added.

MORE PRODUCTION

Outlining steps taken by the government to encourage more home production, the report, entitled "We Shall Win Through," said there should be more pork in the immediate future, and more beef, veal, mutton and lamb later on.

The present meat ration is two shillings worth a head a week. This can buy one fairly hearty meal with something left over to eat cold.

The cost of living, hottest political issue in the country, has been climbing steadily for years. Since 1939, it is estimated, the over-all living cost has risen 122 per cent.

The report prefaced a list of the government's actions with the statement: "A year ago Britain faced bankruptcy."

But, as a result of the measures taken by the Churchill government —including a series of economies— Britain had been saved from that fate, it said, adding:

"We are back on the right road —now there is a long uphill climb ahead."

W.A. Goodfellow Speaks To Graduates

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — The Hon. Wm. A. Goodfellow was guest speaker on Wednesday evening, when 32 students of the Public School graduating class of 1952 were given a banquet in their honor by the Home and School Association. Each graduate was presented with his High School colors, and a toast to the Queen was proposed by Mrs. J. Thompson.

Mr. Goodfellow addressed the graduates, outlining for them the administration of the democratic form of government.

He described the process required in the making of a law from the time it was thought to be in the best interest of the general public until it was finally passed. He told of the screening it was given by a critical census by the members of parliament, read, re-read, debated and finally passed or turned down. He pointed out that team play was an essential in party politics without which no government could long survive. He told the students that such team work was essential in all walks of life.

SHOULD HELP OTHERS

The minister said that one of the greatest satisfactions to be found in life was from helping others. "One cannot live alone", he said, "but must work in the community to help carry along those who haven't the same ability or opportunities".

The speaker, who was introduced by Ross Jewell, president of the Home and School Association, was thanked by Mr. R. D. McDonald.

Earlier in the meeting, Principal C. H. Haig addressed his former class, telling them that their life could be compared to a game of baseball, in which they had reached first base. The result of the game, he told them, was dependent on their own efforts.

A Home and School meeting followed the banquet, at which parents and friends of the graduates were present. The musical portion of the program included a vocal duet by Olga Hedley and June Eason, a solo by Barbara Hazell and a piano duet by Ruth Owens and Dianne Rutherford. Olga Hedley also gave the Valedictorian address.

Calf Clubbers Learn How To Judge Cattle

CAMPBELLFORD— (ENS) — Members of the Campbellford Calf Club held their final meeting for the season at the farm of Alex Merrill, four miles west of Campbellford on Thursday evening .

Guest judge for the evening was William A. Hume of Campbellford, who, with Sid MacDonald, assistant Agricultural Representative of Brighton, conducted the meeting

There are about 20 members of the local club, and Thursday night they wrote their examinations. Total score for the season is made up from the monthly reports each member must turn in, stating the amount of feed their calf has consumed, the amount it now weighs, etc. Marks are also given in the judging competition and each member looks forward to fair day when the competition takes place and the awards are made.

GOVERNMENT AWARDS

Both the federal and provincial departments of agriculture make awards, as well as a local award made by the Seymour Agricultural Society. Marks are also obtained by members for their attendance and interest at meetings

On Thursday night, William A. Hume was guest judge He conducted the class and gave the official placing after calf club members had completed their judging

At the close of the meeting, the members took part in the calf club quizz, after which Mrs. Merrill provided a lunch.

Blank Ballot Registers Vote

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswick's unique ballot—a blank sheet of paper on which voters write their choices—may have an additional marking in the Sept. 22 provincial election. For the first time the voter will be allowed to use an "X" if he wishes. In previous elections such a marking nullified the vote.

Actually there is no official ballot as the term is known in federal and other elections. A voter may use the blank sheet of paper and write his own ballot or he may use ballots printed by the opposing parties and carrying only the names of their own candidates.

Thus the voter has three choices of procedure:

1. Cast the printed ballot of one party.

2. Strike out one or more names on the ballot and substitute one or more other names, making a "split" ballot. (All the constituencies are multiple-seat ridings.)

3. Ignore the party-printed ballots and write his choices on the blank ballot.

Revision of the province's Election Act permits the use of the "X" marking. The change was made because of the large number of spoiled ballots from voters confused over the different voting system in other elections.

However, the New Brunswick ballot will be acceptable either with or without the "X" marking, and, if used, the "X" may be placed either before or after the names. Any marking other than the candidates' names and the optional "X" would spoil the ballot.

Mr. Gemmell said the company, which will have its headquarters at the Lakehead, hopes to service both pulp and paper operators and sawmill operators.

Dispute Bill

COBOURG (ENS)—Bill from an achitectural firm for work done in connection with the park lavatories is being disputed by the parks board. The original understanding, the board points out, is that the architects were to get 6% of the total cost of $6,189 but the building is not finished yet and there is a travelling expense item by the architects for $133 incurred during the periods in which building operations were rather sporadic. The first contractor did $4,000 worth of construction and the balance of $2,000 was done by another contractor.

30 Japanese Beaten Applying For Visas

TOKYO (CP)—Thirty applicants for passports to the Communist peace conference in Peiping Sept. 26 were beaten and kicked by about 20 young black-shirted Japanese, the newspaper Asahi reported today.

Asahi said the youths wore "Patriotic Martyrs Corps" arm bands.

The applicants were staging a sit-down strike at the Foreign Office, which rejected applications of 97 to go to Peiping.

Peiping radio accused the United States, Australia and Japan of being "afraid" to allow delegates to attend the conference.

Australia has said passports will not be given to delegates. Japan today confirmed that passports will not be issued.

U.K. Sends Note To Chinese Reds

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has sent a new note to the Chinese Communist government requesting details of British, Canadian and United States subjects held in Chinese prisons, the Foreign Office announced today.

The note was handed over last Wednesday by Leo Lamb, British charge d'affaires in Peiping.

The note was the latest of many attempts to obtain information about Commonwealth and American subjects imprisoned in China. The last was the note of April 21 this year.

Regulating Hours Of Gasoline Sale

It appears that the City Council has no choice but to pass a by-law regulating the hours of gasoline sale within Peterborough, as it is the wish of 84 per cent. of the local dealers to have such a law. We think it is wrong, however, to ask the association of dealers to submit the type of by-law they want; this is, in effect, asking them to make a local law, and it is the task and privilege of the Council to make such laws without interference or suggestion from outside. Whatever fine words may surround it, the purpose of the law is to prevent a gasoline dealer from working at a time when the other gasoline dealers do not want to work; it is a law to prevent a man from running his business as he sees fit, and as he thinks it will best serve the public. All such laws are bad and unjust and we are opposed to them. The backing of the Ontario government does not change the essentially bad nature of this law, which is simply a trade restriction which gasoline dealers ask to have supported by municipal power because they have not the strength to enforce it among themselves.

* * *

There is a great deal of talk in Canada about personal initiative and private enterprise, but in retail trade there are many attempts to make every merchant do what other merchants in the same line of business want him to do. If he wants to work longer hours than the others, or give special service to the public, in order to build up his business, he is that most hated of all creatures, a nonconformist. He must be industrious when the majority are industrious, and he must loaf when they loaf. Somehow the gasoline dealers have persuaded the government to give countenance to this foolish and illiberal doctrine, and the City Council has no course open to it but to conform to the provincial law.

A Great Day For Finland

Today Finland paid the last instalment of her war debt to Russia. The reparations demanded by the Soviet at the conclusion of the war were heavy, and a total of 343,700 freight-cars loaded with goods have travelled from Finland to Russia during the last eight years. Today the last shipment—a dozen small fishing vessels—was sent on its journey, and Finland is out of debt.

In judging Finland's part in the war, we must remember that the enmity between Finland and Russia is of many centuries duration. When Finland sided with Germany against the Russians, the Finns knew that they were taking sides against the Allies, and regretted it; but in their eyes their struggle was for liberation. They live constantly under Russian inspection; their situation is what ours would be if the U.S.A. were a hostile and ideologically opposed country, of which Canada had once been a colonial possession. The Allies have recognized this, have never asked Finland for reparations, and have continued friendly relations with that country.

The Russians did not attempt a complete invasion of Finland, for that country is well suited to guerrilla fighting. Instead, Russia seized Karelia in the south, and Petsamo in the north, and cut the chief railway to the west by seizing Porkkala; then they made their arrangements for heavy reparations in raw materials and a variety of manufactured goods. The total value of these reparations is estimated at $570,000,000; fines, at a heavy rate, were assessed for every failure to deliver goods on time, even when failure to deliver was caused by Communist strikes in Finnish industry.

Payment of these reparations has greatly disorganized Finland's own economy, for great numbers of men had to be put to work in manufacturing who would ordinarily be working in the lumber trades. In consequence, Finland is left with a huge heavy industry—much of it ship-building—the produce of which she cannot absorb. It was Finland's hope that Russia would continue to buy goods which she had previously acquired as reparations; Russia will do so—but the payment will be in grain and coal from Poland and Eastern Germany. Thus Finland is condemned to a hand-to-mouth existence, tied to Russian plans which may change at any time without reference to Finnish needs. With her railway lines and her Arctic ports under Russian control, Finland is sewed up.

Nevertheless, by paying her debts on time, Finland has gained a moral victory which will raise her national spirit. By political outlook, Finland is a progressive country, allied to the spirit of the Western World. By force of circumstance she is chained to Russian wants and Russian schemes, and she will not easily gain her freedom. Our very real sympathy goes out to a nation in such a predicament.

Nuisance At Narvik

From the little war-scarred port in the north of Norway comes a complaint over the behaviour of Canadian seamen during a recent visit in the course of Operation Mainbrace. According to the local newspaper they went on noisy sprees, took ashtrays, table lamps and shades from restaurants as souvenirs and "borrowed" bicycles, which they left all over the town. One bicycle was even dropped into the harbour after use. Women of all ages were "accosted and insulted," it is alleged.

Nobody expects sailors to behave like Little Lord Fauntleroys or even exactly as they would in their own home town when on shore leave in a foreign port. It is understood that they should be given some latitude. They are cooped up for days or even weeks on end, and when they are granted shore leave they react against the strict discipline of life on board ship, just as young and healthy animals might be expected to do. Doubtless many of these Canadian seamen went to the movies or did a little quiet shopping, but some of them evidently craved for more excitement.

It is unfortunate that they appear to have overstepped the customary limit in their high spirits, as it is this type of thing that gives Canadians a bad name and is fuel for the Communist propaganda machine, which is adept at "interpreting" and distorting petty local incidents of this nature. Narvik is a small town of about 7,000 inhabitants, and a visit from a foreign vessel of the size of the Quebec in peacetime is something of an event. Under the circumstances it might have been wise to make special arrangements with the local authorities for policing the town during the manoeuvres if it were felt that the local police were inadequate to deal with the situation.

Getting Started On New Federal Building

Several months ago the decision of the government to construct a new federal building in Peterborough was hailed with delight. It was obvious that such a move was long overdue. We were especially gratified to note that the new building is designed by a Peterborough firm of architects; its graceful proportions and sleek lines will, as it appears from the design, lend it an air of distinction shared by few other buildings in this city.

It now appears likely that construction will start in a few days' time on the Charlotte Street site, and owners who park their cars there will have to find some other place for their vehicles. A more important question is what will become of the present Post Office and Customs House when the new building is completed. Neither of these buildings are suited for stores, though they could be turned into offices. They are both very solidly constructed and would take a good deal of time and money to demolish. Architecturally considered they are undistinguished, but a good paint job could transform their present rather dingy appearance, as has been done in the case of the Public Library. We do not seek to anticipate how the Federal Government will dispose of the property, but on sentimental grounds hope that these buildings will be preserved. Peterborough is expanding fairly rapidly and the face of the city is altering. In our love of progress let us not tear down everything that might remind us of former and less hectic times.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A biologist says that the human chin is becoming smaller. Wind erosion, probably.

Russia now claims that baseball is copied from a game of theirs called lapta. What impudence! Everybody knows that it is simply the old English game of rounders, played as noisily as possible.

The suggestion is made that a Canadian stamp be produced with the face of Mr. Douglas Abbott, the Finance Minister, on it. Well, it would be a way of getting him under the taxpayer's thumb, for a change.

Official figures from Washington show that last year the Average American Family spent $400 more than it earned. How's this for an election slogan —"A Little Wonder Home Printing Set for Every Cellar"?

In the six years up to December 31, 1945, Canada admitted 534,694 immigrants, and lost 206,500 emigrants. But the day seems to have come when Canada is a terminus, rather than just a stop-over, for the ambitious.

Modern shoes are turning women's feet into hooves, says a physician, and only last week another one complained that women's feet are growing bigger. The outcome, we presume, will be something like that found on a prize Clydesdale.

Notes From The Foreign Press

Assembled By "MONITOR"

A WARNING (not the first of its kind) against over-optimism as to the prospects for West German exports is given in a well-reasoned article in the "Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung".

"There is reason for some scepticism," the paper says, "about the future development of West German exports. Exports had reached their peak in the third quarter of 1951 ever since then they have remained stagnant on that comparatively high level. Moreover, one has to consider that prices were still increasing during the period, so that, in face, the volume of exports has actually been shrinking: the export index, which stood at 151 for the first half of 1951, has fallen to 146 for the corresponding period of 1952.

"The full extent of this decline will be clear only in the coming months when the very favourable orders still obtained during the 'Korea boom' will be executed. New export orders will be at lower prices and will lead, therefore, to lower export figures, not to mention the fact that orders are now more and more difficult to obtain on account of increasing international competition and import restrictions in buyer countries."

UNDER THE headline "The Road to power passes more and more often through the war college", the French newspaper "Le Monde" compiles a catalogue of the world's national leaders who are known by their officer's rank or title.

The headline is somewhat misleading as not all these men have had a formal military education, nor are they all holding absolute power. Still, the list is interesting, if only for the great number of statesmen who now use a military title.

There are two generalissimos: Stalin and Franco. There marshals: Tito, Chiang Kai Shek and Pibul Songgram (of Siam). Eleven generals: Hodja (Albania); Peron (Argentine); Ibanez (Chile); Lopes (Portugal); Koerner (Austria); Neguib (Egypt); Somoza (Nicaragua); Batista (Cuba); Plastiras (Greece); Rawzi Selo (Syria); Kim-Ir Sen (North Korea). One brigadier: Odria (Peru). Two colonels: Guzman (Guatemala) and Magloire (Haiti). And one Lieutenant-Colonel: Osorio (Salvador).

THE HEALERS of France are organising themselves in a National Federation, reports "Le Monde". Its purpose is the protection of the "true" healers and its first job, therefore, a purge. This was decided at a recent congress in Valence where it was asserted that out of a total of thirty-four thousand persons exercising the profession only seven hundred are endowed with the "authentic power" of helping the sufferers and relieving them of their maladies.

The Federation is to exercise control over the "gift" of its members and ruthlessly expel from its ranks those who are exploiting patients' suffering for "all too lucrative ends".

Yet the healers, it seems, have to reckon with even more dangerous enemies outside their own circle: the professional doctors. The Federation will make it its business to protect its adherents against all attacks from the medical profession.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE WORLD motor-racing champion, Alberto Ascari, is afraid of driving a car in the streets of a city, according to an article published by the Italian weekly "Europeo". The explanation is simple: the other motorists are too careless.

"It is much more dangerous to drive from Milan to Turin", Ascari is reported to have said, "than to race in Indianapolis." The roads today are insufficient for the traffic they have to bear, motorscooters are a threat at every corner. On the race track one has to cope only with the road; elsewhere one has to take into account the multitude of other road users.

In fact, says Ascari, a lesser degree of attention and concentration is necessary during a race than on an ordinary road because in the latter case one has continuously to reckon with the possibility that drivers coming up from side-streets may make a mistake.

So the fastest driver on earth, if he has to drive his car through ordinary traffic, goes slowly and is usually overtaken by other cars.

A SMART piece of detective work by an eleven-year-old boy is reported from Wilhelmshaven, Germany.

A refugee from Estonia was arrested there by United States Military Police; the man had posed as an American soldier, carried false papers and worn a United States' corporal's uniform. He had been brought to the attention of the police by the boy whose suspicion had been aroused after he had watched the man for several days and noticed that he never chewed gum—for German children, it seems, the unmistakeable sign of American citizenship.

Unconsidered Trifles

Filling in one of the government forms covering the death of one of his cows, the old farmer came to the query, "Disposition of carcass."

Shaking his head, he wrote. "Kind and Gentle."

✧ ✧ ✧

A young man, seated in the railway compartment, sat opposite an old lady. For some minutes he chewed gum, in silence, then the lady leaned forward. "It's so nice of you to try and make conversation with me, young man, but, to tell the truth I'm quite deaf."

A class of small girls has to draw a flower. As a preliminary to the lesson, questions were asked about it and the national emblems of the other countries of the British Isles.

"And now what is the national flower of England?" inquired the teacher.

"Please, teacher," replied a little girl, "the aspidistra!"

An athlete who had won many running races was boasting of his achievements when a man sitting near interrupted him.

"I'll race you," said the stranger, "and you'll never pass me if you give me a 3 ft. start and let me choose the course."

The athlete looked at challenger, a short and rather stout man, and laughed, "I bet you twenty to one I will," he returned, "where's the course?"

"Up a ladder," answered his opponent.

FREEDOM OF RELIGION

Sir: I wonder what has happened to the Four Freedoms advocated so strongly by the late President Roosevelt and accepted so enthusiastically by the world at large?

We read daily of persecution and sometimes execution of church heads, particularly of the Catholic Church, in Poland, China and other countries. This arouses sympathy among many people not belonging to this or any other church. I think this is brutal treatment even to a faith that isn't my own! People who must go to church should be able to attend their own without coercion from any quarter. But why this right is denied people of other faiths in Catholic countries is beyond my comprehension.

In a March issue of the Examiner appeared a report from Seville, Spain, quoting a Cardinal Saenz as saying, "he wouldn't tolerate any secret political negotiations that would weaken his church's position." The implication was that he had a religious monopoly there and intended retaining it. He probably promoted the legislation prohibiting printing of all religious material of other faiths, which sewed things up thoroughly! Such high-handed work and big talk is hard to stomach.

Now to-night I see where the Church of Christ in Italy, with is 99 per cent. Catholic, has been barred from holding services. The only legitimate reason for this action was 1,000 converts they were alleged to have gained since the war.

My opinion is that people wishing to worship or change their place or way of worship should be able to do so without being molested or bullied by any organization.

This would be Freedom of Religion.

Yours for

RACE HORSES FLOGGED

Sir: "—A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel." Proverbs 12: 10. Such is King Solomon's condemnation of the citizens of the city of Peterborough, who sit idly by as brutal men lash their horses around the racetrack at the Peterborough Exhibition.

We consider ourselves too civilized to allow cock-fights and bull-fights but our citizenry can thrill to the spectacle of public horse-flogging on the race-course and call is sport.

If a farmer were to beat his horse, the Humane Society would deal with him promptly but these innocent race horses must suffer severe pain because the race horse owners are too powerful financially for the laws of the land to be administered.

Apart from this brutality I enjoyed the Peterborough Exhibition very much.

Yours sincerely,
A LOVER OF HORSES

WHY NO NATIONAL ANTHEM?

Sir: Can anyone tell us why "The Queen" was not sung at the closing of the Exhibition Grandstand performance last Friday evening? Are we slipping?

CURIOUS

A DULL AFFAIR OUR FAIR

Sir:—
O' dull and wretched was our Fair
The joy! The sparkle was not there.
I saw instead the horses trotting
Little else to choose! Instead of being
At the fair I thought I'd found the "Mews".

The fair board could have tried to hire
The pipe band lassies from Ohio
Instead of horses. What a dish!
With skirl of pipe and kilted swish
These maidens for a little hire our
Turgid blood they could have fired

So give us the finest in our land—
Sparkle, colour, drums and band.
O let us live! It was not there.
Perhaps next year a better fair.

FRED HORN

WE NEED GENIUSES

Sir: Yesterday in an editorial you say, "The ideal jury is not composed of geniuses," etc. —if not, why not? Do you really think a genius is 'beyond' us here, or incompatible? We think, or some of us, that genius is extraordinary, a being in close touch with the supernatural—that is God or His opposite—and so it is—and that is not beyond anyone here. Certainly the opposite proves it has he not? And so has the neutral, the so-called intelligent, or the educated proven its inadequacy. We must have the geniuses, or those in contact or in possession of a holy spirit, which certainly could not be impossible or incompatible here for anyone. But before God, each one of us proves or disproves himself.

E. G. S.

RACES AT THE EXHIBITION

Sir: In answer to your article of Tuesday Sept. 16, regarding trotting races, I would first like to suggest it is a poor way to try and cover up for poor management and timing of activities in front of the grandstand.

It is also obvious that all mention of judging in front of the stand has been omitted.

With proper managing it takes ONLY 10 to 15 minutes to run off a heat in a race, but with two men in charge, one on the platform running the stage acts, and another in the judges' stand running the horse races without set times for events, complications do occur.

It is my sincere belief that these delays in getting the races started is the reason for discontent in the audience. No fair or exhibition is complete without horse racing.

In future a programme should be made up for each day and followed. If a race is called e.g. for 4:10 p.m. the horses should be on the track and ready to go at 4:10 with a penalty for failure. On the other hand the track should be cleared at that time of bulls, soldiers, jeeps, and fancy ropers.

Yours truly,
RUSSELL FAIR

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

And Jesus saith unto him, I will come and heal him. The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servants shall be healed. For I am a man under authority having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel . . . And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour. (Matt. 8: 5-10, 13.)

And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. (Matt. 9: 35.)

Dublin Fashions

(Ottawa Fashions)

Those who look on the Irish as producers only of policemen and potatoes will no doubt be mildly astonished by an Irish News Agency report that describes a resounding success of Dublin's fashion designers. It seems 44 "high-powered American fashion executives" en route to London and Paris fashion shows touched down at Dublin to see the Horse Show. They stayed to see the Irish fashion shows which were a "sensation" to them, especially the gowns in red flannel, "the traditional petticoat material of the West of Ireland". In addition to the stimulus given fashion designing in Dublin, the Americans' excitement is expected to revive the ancient Irish lace, tweed, flannel and woven-belt making industries.

If the Irish put down their shillelaghs to take up haute couture, the consequences may be felt far beyond the Emerald Isle. For a large part of the human race presently blames its bellicosity on Irish ancestors. The knowledge that the men of Erin were in the bustle business might restrain Irishmen all over the world from lowering the boom.

New Problem For Education

TORONTO (CP)—A research committee of the Canadian Education Association reported to its annual convention yesterday that the problem of meshing high school and university courses could be solved if more money were diverted to education.

The problem was not known 50 years ago when the few students who went to high school were prospective university students, the report said. Now high school education was the right of every child but only a small percentage went to university.

Dr. M. E. Lazerte, former dean of the faculty of education at the University of Alberta, headed the study and presented the report. The project was sponsored by a joint committee of the national conference of Canadian universities and the Education Association.

Dr. C. C. Goldring, Toronto's director of education, was elected association president succeeding Dr. H. P. Moffatt, deputy minister of education for Nova Scotia.

Tony, Known To Hundreds At Baltimore Docks, Dies

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pietro Antonio Cataneo, businessman, died yesterday. He was 64.

His death won't cause any particular stir in Chamber of Commerce circles, nor will an appraisal of his holdings be necessary. But the news will be lamented around the world.

Cataneo, Tony to everyone, was in the ship-tying business—tying up ships when they docked on the Baltimore waterfront. But he was known well by steamship agents on both coasts and by skippers and crews that frequented this port.

Tony came from Italy in 1906. He opened a tiny lunch shack in the early '20s opposite pier 8 in the lower Canton section.

NEARLY BROKE

By 1927 he was all but bankrupt. He owed $750 in ground rent for the land where his shack stood.

Then came the break. He was standing in front of his shack when he heard a ship's officer yell: "Will somebody please take a line?"

Tony grabbed the heaving line when it was thrown over and pulled the hawser to the pier. He got $3 for the helping hand. The officer promised $2 more if he would throw off the line when the ship sailed.

That started him thinking. One ship, $5. Lots of ships, lots of dollars.

GIVES UP SHACK

He started making calls to the steamship lines and found his services were welcomed. Soon he and his son were busy enough meeting ships to give up the lunch shack.

For years Tony had no office other than a public telephone booth. He called steamship agents again and again to learn what ships were docking and when.

Finally he received permission to tie and untie vessels at all the major public piers in the port. He was made.

A few years ago he opened an office in a small hut only a few blocks from the old lunchroom.

Mike takes over the business with 20-odd employees.

Believe China Accepted As Junior Partner Of Soviet

By LEON DENNEN

PARIS (NEA.)—There are increasing signs that Russia's rulers, deeply distrusting both U.S. presidential candidates, seem to have concluded that time is no longer working on their side in the silent struggle for world power.

The much-predicted "American economic crisis" has not materialized. Though there is dissention in the West, N.A.T.O., backed by the U.S., is nevertheless forging a defensive alliance which is gaining in efficiency and strength.

The current Soviet-Chinese negotiations in Moscow therefore overshadow all the "reforms" the Stalinists ostensibly hope to inaugurate at their October congress, according to underground sources behind the Iron Curtain.

It is no accident that the visit to Moscow of the massive Red Chinese mission—headed by Premier Chou En-lai and loaded with high ranking military figures — coincides with the calling of the Russian congress.

* * *

THREE MILLION ARMED

Red China is estimated to have 3,000,000 men under arms, organized into 70 infantry divisions. Many of these troops received or are receiving their training in Korea under Russian officers. The Chinese are reported also to possess four armored and 10 artillery divisions.

The transformation of China's Army is believed to be one of the major projects at present under discussion in Moscow.

Only meager reports on the Soviet-Chinese talks have as yet reached the West. However incomplete, they shed additional light on Moscow's war strategy which seems to shape up as follows:

1. A strengthened and re-equipped Red China will take over the defence of Asia. This will enable the Russians to transfer some of their hard-hitting Far Eastern divisions to European Russia to offset the growing N.A.T.O. power.

2. The entire Eurasian war machine is to be co-ordinated by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, who represents the Red Army forces in the Politburo. Marshal Gregori Zhukov is to be in charge in the Far East while Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Stalin's proconsul in Poland, will head the East European Army.

WAR GAMES

The total strength of Russia's forces in East Germany and those of the satellite nations is at the present—according to British intelligence—more than 1,000,000 men. Simultaneous war games in Czechoslovakia, Poland and East Germany will be staged by these forces this autumn under the command of Rokossovsky.

Though there have been widespread rumors in the western capitals about Soviet-Chinese friction and disagreement, competent observers dismiss them as wishful thinking.

Stalin seems to be ready to acknowledge Red China as a junior, if not equal, partner in the "world revolution" to avoid the error he made with Tito. This is expected to be made clear at the October congress.

Mao Tse-tung's conquest of power in China will be recognized as a "separate" and "distinct" revolution, almost equal in historic significance to the Russian revolution.

As the party best able to stimulate "Asian nationalism" the Chinese Communists will be entrusted with the co-ordination of the Red organizations in Indo-China, Korea, Siam, Malaya, Burma, India and Japan.

It is considered significant that the Asian and Pacific "Peace Conference," scheduled to be held in Peking this month, has been sponsored jointly by Red China and Soviet Russia.

Representatives of all Far Eastern nations, including large delegations from India and Japan, will take part in this "Asian Congress."

ROKOSSOVSKY: He'll head the East European Army.

Ask Criminal Code Change On Blood Test

HAMILTON (CP)—The General Council of the United Church of Canada last night requested the federal government to amend the Criminal Code so persons may no longer refuse to have a blood test to determine whether they are intoxicated.

A memorial from the Peterborough presbytery, contained in the report of the sessional committee on evangelism and social service, asked that the section allowing persons to refuse to submit to such a test be deleted from the code.

A memorial, presented by Grey presbytery, urging the CBC to stop reporting Irish sweepstake winners also was passed.

Arn Dugan, blond right-fielder and switch hitter for the Peterborough Petes in the Central Ontario Baseball League, led the club at bat during the final playoff series with Kingston in the C.O.B.L. REAL GRID DIGGERS—Two good ground-gainers who are back with the grid Orfuns here again this autumn are plunging Bill Huntley, at left, and speedy Jim Conlin, right. They are just two important cogs in a strong squad playing this season in O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" ranks. The team faces stiff opposition here tonight with Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts on deck.

Fans As Confused As Coaches Over Football

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Things are developing into such a tizzy in senior football circles—East and West—that fans are becoming just as confused as the coaches.

About 100,000 citizens will watch the nine games on tap this weekend, including double-headers in the Western Canada Conference, and the outcome of at least seven belong in the doubtful category. The pickings are particularly tough in the West where those murderous Saturday - Monday home-and-home series are scheduled.

The two almost-certain winning clubs are McGill Redmen in the Intercollegiate Union and the undefeated Sarnia Imperials in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The Redmen go to Hamilton to meet McMaster Marauders who were given a provisional membership into the union this year. Marauder games will not be counted in the official standings and their entry into the league as a full-fledged member in 1952 depends on the team's showing against the college clubs this year.

The Imps shouldn't have too much trouble at Windsor which hasn't won a game since 1950.

BIG WEEK-END LINEUP

From there in, the experts are operating strictly from hunger.

Here's the week-end line-up:

Big Four—Saturday: Hamilton Tiger-Cats at Toronto Argonauts, Montreal Alouettes at Ottawa Rough Riders.

O.R.F.U.—Saturday: Sarnia at Windsor. Sunday: Brantford Redskins at Toronto Balmy Beach.

Western Canada—Saturday: Winnipeg Blue Bombers at Saskatchewan Roughriders, Calgary Stampeders at Edmonton Eskimos; Monday: Saskatchewan at Winnipeg, Edmonton at Calgary.

The coaches refuse to go out on a limb concerning their chances. They're as doubtful as the next guy and it isn't surprising when miscues and injuries can decide a game.

The Edmonton-Calgary double-header has all the earmarks of a dog-eat-dog series. Ill-feeling was created when they met at Edmonton earlier this month and the feuding is expected to continue this week.

Playing-coach Frankie Filchock of the Eskimos missed practices during the week owing to an attack of influenza but he is expected to be ready Saturday. Flying wing Bob Paffrath, injured in the season opener and inside Romeo Jacobucci from Sarnia, out all season, are likely to see action.

Calgary reports no serious injuries.

Halfback Tom Casey of the Bombers is slated to start after being on the sidelines with rib injuries and Gerry Palmer, who replaced the speedy Negro, probably will play outside in the series with the Roughriders.

Word from the Regina camp is that backfielders Nellie Greene and Art Stewart and outside Mike Cassidy—all out with ankle injuries—may play. Roughriders are in last place, but playing-coach Glenn Dobbs isn't conceding a play-off spot to any club and is confident the Riders will make it.

OTTAWA SHAKE-UP

Coach Clem Crowe of the Ottawa Rough Riders says that "until further notice" Bob Simpson, who starred as offensive outside last year, will be used on the defensive platoon. He announced also that outside Bill Stanton, who missed last week's game against Argonauts, will play against the Als.

The Hamilton-Toronto game probably will lure a 25,000-crowd to Toronto's Varsity Stadium. The Argonauts, riding high on a three-game winning streak, including a 33-13 victory over the Tiger-Cats, need a win or tie to prevent Hamilton from moving into a tie for first place with them.

Brantford Redskins, newcomers to the O.R.F.U. this season, have been beaten twice by Balmy Beach but they've shown remarkable improvement each time out since the season's opener and the Beaches will have to be "up" to take this one.

Quackenbush, Peirson Sign Boston Contracts

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League announced last night that Bill Quackenbush and Johnny Peirson have signed their 1952-53 contracts.

Quackenbush, star defenceman, will start his third year with the club. Peirson scored 50 points in 68 games last year to tie with veteran Milt Schmidt in team scoring. He starts his fifth season with Boston.

Millbrook Erased

MILLBROOK (ENS). — Millbrook baseball team is still playing the "always a bridesmaid, never a bride" role. After steamrollering Port Perry all season, the locals folded in the final North Durham League series against the Ports. Playing sensationally improved ball the aggressive young team from the shores of the Scugog showed the locals under with a 12-2 score in the final game played on neutral grounds at Bethany. Shaky pitching and wobbly support accounted for the disastrous score chalked up against the usually steady Millbrook team.

Port Perry: Gibson, Lawrence, Hayes, Reader, Griffin, Wallace, Owen, Redmond, McLean.

Millbrook: Wright, Brackenridge, McGill, Dawson, Armstrong, Lunn, Skitch, McDowell, Lord.

OWNER DIES, HORSE WINS

AYR, Scotland (AP)—Ned Bonsall, 58, a Sheffield contractor and racehorse owner, collapsed and died as he walked on to the Ayr race track yesterday. An hour later his horse, Munton Brumn, a 100-to-8 outsider, won the opening race.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With television becoming more common in Canada — and in our city — one wonders more and more how it will affect sports. In time a lot of fans will prefer to sit in an easy chair at home and view the Grey Cup final, Stanley Cup playoffs, the World Series, etc., on a screen. So what will sports do? Just what they're doing with big fights now in the States. They will sell TV rights to a chain of theatres. Al Rose discusses this and says: "That brings up the telemeter man. Suppose you want the Walcott-Marciano fight. It will be televised only to a chain of theatres. You make your request in your centre to see the fight on television.

* * * * * *

"The telemeter man comes to your house and inserts some peculiar mechanism in the set. The cameras are trained on the fight and it is sent out over channels but in a distorted way. Regular sets will not get anything but rain, snow or whatever gums up TV screens in your home. But the man who has paid 50 cents gets it clear. The scheme is workable. Surely it is worth 50 cents to see some big event like that and avoid traffic, parking problem, ticket, and so on, not to mention inclement weather. Just one thing. The promoters of the telemeter idea feel that 50 cents is only a starting point. It might finally go up to $2.00! Does that include singing commercials or that ding-ding-ding from the firm erasing whiskers?"

Ghosts Don't Scare 'Em

Mike Loucks remarked to use the other day — he's up this way on vacation from his job in Quebec — "I'm going to see that game with Cobourg here Friday. We used to beat them easily all the time, but I hear they lick Peterborough regularly now." We explained that football was Cobourg's big sport now and they packed their O.R.F.U. squad plenty with outstanding talent. But we added that Orfuns are much stronger this season, with some ace imports from Orillia, and scared the pants off 'em right in Cobourg last week. We said Orfuns should beat 'em here tonight, but it would be a stiff grid scrap all the way. One that rates a real football crowd at Morrow Park. First rugby match of the fall up this way.

Local lacrosse minor setup is sure starting to pay off, and a number of former P.M.L.A. players are either performing now with our senior Timbermen, or ready to step up next year. That'll save a lot of money in future imports and will add interest as Peterborough boys strut their stuff. The boys will be seen in action in two most important playoffs here Saturday night: St. Catharines supplying the bantam "A" and the juvenile "B" opposition in final games for Ontario titles. Our bantams are down on points but the juves are leading, so we should take at least one O.L.A. title in the big twin bill. The lads will go better if the fans are out in force to cheer 'em on.

Lacrosse Finals Resume

Pete's Timbermen are slated to play their second game of the best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals tonight with Yorks in Mimico, the third here Monday. The clubs have been ordered to run this series off on scheduled nights if at all possible, so the locals don't expect to hear word if tonight's tilt is washed out much before five p.m., when they're due to leave. The Mimico bowl is well drained and can stand quite a bit of rain before it becomes unplayable. Playoff rules call for a contest to be staged the following night, if rained out. September is slipping around and the Mann Cup finals are due to open in Toronto on Oct. 5.

While anguished screams emanate from Kingston after the K's defaulted to Petes in playoffs, Secretary George Carver of Belleville speaks for the C.O.B.L. and verbally spanks the Monarchs severely. He writes: "Kingston also deliberately defaulted a game previously with the Petes and hedged when asked to pay out-of-pocket money to that club. The Monarchs have yet to pay the league executive its five per cent from playoff games, and a cost of $10 charged them when they defaulted an executive meeting. Default of three games and two executive meetings by the Kingston club does not enhance its reputation as sportsmen. It seems the worst blunder the C.O.B.L. executive made was not tossing the Monarchs out of the league immediately following their default of the scheduled Peterborough game." Yeah, look what the O.H.A. did to the Eagles when Kingston was the injured party!

'Export Promotion' Becomes Charmed Phrase For Business

VANCOUVER (CP)—The talk is the same in London or Vancouver where exporters have a charmed phrase to overcome lack of markets.

Both British and Canadian exporters talk of "export promotion," and all groups are making every effort to make it effective.

Britain's overseas trade minister, Harry Mackeson, is coming to Canada to foster dollar trade. He will make an extensive tour of both Canada and the United States.

OPEN TRADE CENTRE

His aides in Vancouver have taken a forward step with the opening of a British "trade centre" here.

When Mr. Mackeson arrives Monday he will be given first-hand knowledge of the problems of B. C. markets.

They are many. Dollar-short Britain has quit buying B.C. salmon and apples—a trade that ran into millions of dollars—and has reduced purchase of lumber.

EXPORTERS INTERESTED

B. C. exporters are interested in plans Mr. Mackeson has for two-way trade. He said in a London interview that Britain will deliberately favor firms exporting to Canada and the United States.

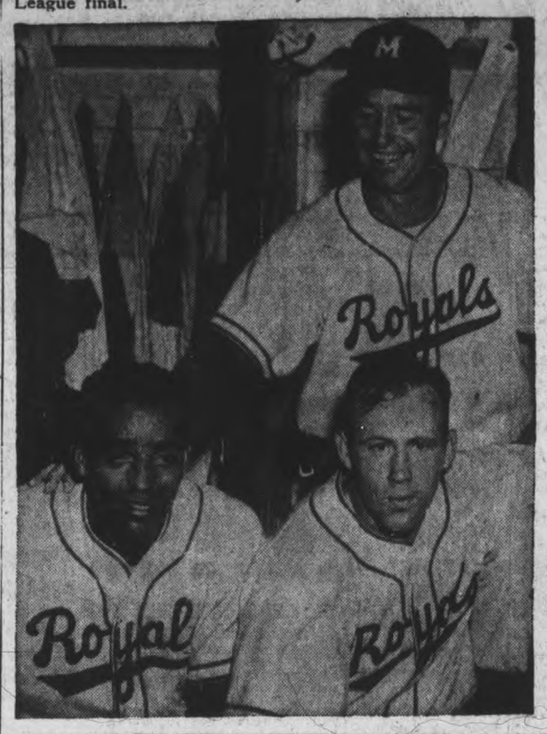
He also announced that Britain is willing to meet all reasonable requests for dollars needed for export promotion.

The centre will put out reports on market opportunities, offer guidance in selling products, provide background to supplement mercantile financial ratings, and the possibilities of setting up of British subsidiary companies in B.C.

Bethany Advances

MILLBROOK (ENS). — Millbrook girls' softball team took the skinny end of an 18-8 score in a game with Bethany on Wednesday evening in Millbrook. The victory moves Bethany into league finals against Yelverton. The score seesawed to an 8-8 tie at the end of four innings but from this point on G. Bristow, Bethany's young portside twirler, held the opposition off the score sheet while her teammates crossed the plate 10 times.

Mary McDowell slammed a four-bagger for Millbrook and C. Neals might have duplicated this for Bethany but was flagged down at third by the coach. Bethany, aided by some somnambulistic base-running by Millbrook, pulled off a double play, the fielding feature of the evening. Marie Carr, classy young Bethany catcher, turned in her usual good game.



Bethany: A. Mulligan, M. Carr, M. Edwards, H. Bigelow, C. Neals, R. Hudson, M. Finnie, Janet Bigelow, J. Morrow, G. Bristow.

Millbrook: D. Hutchison, L. Lowery, F. Dawson, M. Guthrie, M. McDowell, R. Richards, D. Todd, A. Powell, M. Richards, N. Richards.

Umpires: Ginn at plate; Wood on bases.

FOR POP—Geoffrey Poores, Johnny's pop, journeyed all the way from Witherbee, N.Y., to see the seventh and deciding game between Montreal Royals and the Toronto Leafs in the metropolis. He wasn't disappointed, as Johnny emerged as one of the stars of the night when he stemmed the Leafs' drive. The photo below shows Skipper Wally Alston giving a few words of praise to his other stars, Jim Pendleton (left) and Don Thompson after the 11-inning thriller. The Royals won the game 6-5, the series 4-3 and the right to meet the Rochester Red Wings in the International League final.

Belgian Pro Defeats Locke

LONDON (AP)—Flory van Donck, the tall, long-hitting Belgian golf pro, eliminated Bobby Locke, British Open Champion, in the third round of the British professional match play championship yesterday.

Van Donck beat the hot favorite for first money of $2,100 on the 20th green of the 6,845-yard gorse-and heather-strewn Walton Heath course.

Locke was three down after six holes had been played but won three in a row to square at the 16th. On the 20th green, the South African ace three-putted and went out of the tournament.

Fred Daly, the bluff Irish professional, had a mixed day. In his morning round, he had to play 30 holes before eliminating Alan Poulton, an assistant pro at the Burhill Club. The five hours 10 minutes marathon set a British record for extra holes on an 18-hole match.

Before this epic, the longest pro match ever played was over 27 holes by Willie Fernie and James Braid in 1904. There was once a match of 28 holes in the British amateur championship in 1908 between C. A. Palmer and Lionel Munn.

Daly made short work of Peter Alliss in his afternoon round, winning 6 and 5 in an hour and 50 minutes.

Rodden Peeved At C.O.B.L. After K's Out

Calmly ignoring the fact that Kingston Monarchs refused to abide by a league directive setting out C.O.B.L. final playoff dates between Monarchs and Petes — thereby defaulting, after earlier defaulting a loop contest and an executive meeting—Scribe Mike Rodden waxes indignant in the Kingston Whig-Standard. He had this to say in the Wednesday edition:

"Latest word from 'Carverville," otherwise known as Belleville, is that the Redmen, who were eliminated by the Kingston Monarchs in the Central Ontario Baseball League semi-finals, will campaign in the Ontario Baseball Association senior playoffs with, believe it or not, the Peterborough Petes as their first opponents. The end of the limit seems about to be achieved.

Even in 'exile' the Monarchs can claim equal status with the Petes whom they defeated in two of the four COBL finals. When another season rolls around the Monarchs, if they elect to operate, will probably find a happier berth in the St. Lawrence League or in some other organization where the expense would be lighter and the returns more gratifying."

Queen Refuses Track Invitation

LONDON (AP)—The Queen will not accept an invitation to run her colt, Gay Time, at Laurel Park Oct. 18, the manager of the royal racing stables said today.

Charles Moore said Gay Time, second to Aga Khan's Tulyar in this year's derby, probably will be retired for the winter without having another race.

Previously it had been announced that the Queen's colt and another British horse, Zucchero, might compete in the $50,000 invitation race.

Now Zucchero also is doubtful. This is a temperamental horse which runs best only when ridden by Lester Piggott, a 16-year-old jockey. Piggott has other commitments which may prevent his going to the United States.

Plan To Televise Walcott Fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Jersey Joe Walcott-Rocky Marciano heavyweight title bout in Municipal Stadium next Tuesday night will be televised in 49 theatres in 31 cities—the first coast-to-coast theatre showing of a fight.

There will be no home television or radio broadcast of the 15-round bout.

Shantz, Roberts Deciding Foes In World Series

By ORLO ROBERTSON, Associated Press Sports Writer

Two one-time doormats of the major leagues and two teams which are not going any place this year will play an important role in the selection of World Series opponents. It wasn't so many years ago that the Phillies and Athletics were considered easy pickings, but today they both are fighting for third-place berths and a slice of the World Series payoffs.

And only last year Detroit Tigers, current doghouse tenant of the American League, were far from a pushover. Boston Braves, fourth of the quartet, see sixth place as their best possible finish, but are in a spot to cause trouble.

The schedule for the remainder of the season calls for the potent Phillies to meet the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League three times and the challenging New York Giants on six occasions. Three games separate the Brooks and Giants. Each has nine to play.

BRAVES VS. DODGERS

It is just the reverse for the Braves. They meet the Dodgers six times and the Giants three.

At the same time in the American League, the world champion New York Yankees' chance for their fourth straight pennant depends largely on their ability to whip Jimmy Dykes' dangerous Athletics whom they meet six times. The Yanks' other three games are with the Red Sox, also hoping for a first-division berth, at Boston.

Cleveland Indians, trailing by 2½ games, tangle with the Tigers in a six-game set and meet Chicago White Sox in the other two of their eight remaining games.

In today's Phillies-Giants tilt it will be Sal Maglie, top winner for the National League champions, against young Curt Simmons, southpaw ace of the Phillies. Maglie has a 17-7 record while Simmons is 12-8.

Brooks' manager Chuck Dressen has nominated Preacher Roe (11-2) to oppose Max Surkont (12-12) at Boston.

An important role in the season's wind-up is expected to be played by Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, baseball's winningest pitcher with 25 victories. He figures to face the Dodgers at least once and the Giants twice.

The Yankees' jinx could well be Bobby Shantz. The Athletics' little southpaw, who has won 23 games, will be on the mound against Vic Raschi (16-5) when the lights are turned on at the Yankee Stadium tonight. And he figures to get one and perhaps two more chances at the champs.

At Cleveland, also at night, the Indians will turn their pennant hopes over to Early Wynn, one of their 20-game winners with a 21-12 record. Against him will be Ted Gray, 12-15.

Other games in the National League send St. Louis Cards, battling to ward off the Phils' third-place drive, against the Cubs at Chicago, and Cincinnati Reds against the Pirates at Pittsburgh.

Boston will play the Senators in a night game at Washington in the only other American League contest.

Hornets Take Lacrosse Lead

DUNDAS (CP)—Gerry Johnson's Dundas Hornets edged Burlington 6-4 to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five Ontario Lacrosse Association intermediate A group finals here last night.

Following last Tuesday's fistic fiasco in Burlington which came to an abrupt ending in the third quarter when Dundas refused to continue, last night's game generally was cleanly played. Only 12 penalties were issued by referees Joe Murphy and Jack Williams with the locals drawing seven. Big Buck Walsh of the Hornets and Jimmy Taylor put on the only serious show of fist slinging with a final-period display which netted them majors.

Bumper Crop Rolling Again To Market

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western Canada's bumper grain crop is rolling to market again following settlement of a strike threat at the Lakehead.

All grain shipments by rail to the grain ports of Fort William and Port Arthur were ordered stopped Tuesday as the deadline neared for strike action by 1,500 grain handlers. The railways lifted the embargo yesterday when the grain handlers and operators of 15 terminals reached agreement.

Had the strike gone through it would have tied up a record 1952 grain crop at the most crucial moment.

TWO WORRIES REMAIN

The agreement, reached only three hours before deadline, meant the former now has only two major worries—weather and storage.

Wet weather last year resulted in damp, tough grades which cut down earnings and resulted in two harvests for the 1951 crop year. There are indications this year that even auditoriums may have to be used for storing western grain.

The western farmer's grain crop this year is expected to smash all records.

Estimates for combined production of all grains have ranged as high as 1,310,468,000 bushels, about 3,500,000 greater than the 1942 record. Production estimates of wheat—grain's major dollar earner—are as high as 654,000,000 bushels compared with a 1928 record of 545,000,000. Milling grades are expected to be high.

Last year the prairies produced 531,000,000 bushels of wheat. The 10-year average—from 1942-51—was 386,000,000.

The strike threat put a momentary crimp in plans for a better grain haul this year. Railways had placed an extra 4,500 cars in the grain service.

Settlement ended eight days of negotiations at the Lakehead and here. The new agreement calls for a basic hourly wage of $1.35, a 40-hour week and other concessions.

Lip Gets In Last Word With Ump For Change

This item appeared in the Windsor Star a few days ago: "Speaking of baseball spies, the Associated Press's Gayle Talbot passes along about the best of the current crop that we have heard.

It seems that Ford Frick, baseball's high commissioner, was sitting in the office of Horace Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, the other day watching a game being played in the Polo Grounds which stretched out below him. He was employing field glasses to bring the action closer.

A vigilant umpire caught the glint of the sun on the glasses and immediately sensed a major sign-stealing plot.

"Have that guy thrown out of there in a hurry," barked the ump to Leo Durocher, adding an ominous "or else."

The manager of the Giants obligingly took down the dugout phone and held a short conversation, after which he turned innocently to the arbiter:

"I told 'em what you said," he announced. "That's the Commissioner."

It was one time Leo had the last word with an umpire.

Non-Official Expense Account Casts Pall On Republican Train

WASHINGTON (AP) — The disclosure of the Republican vice-presidential candidate's non-official California expense account cast a pall today over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign train as it rolled south through Nebraska.

The general, who has been blasting away at what he charges is corruption in government, maintained a grim silence.

Senator Richard Nixon said the democratic charge that he was "morally wrong" in accepting $16,000 for expenses from wealthy supporters is just a "typical left-wing smear."

Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, had no immediate comment as he campaigned in New England, replying to Republican criticism of his political gibes with a new barrage of quips and taunts.

SERIOUS SET-BACK

There was no doubt that many of Eisenhower's advisers considered the Nixon matter a serious political set-back.

But there was brighter news for Republican headquarters elsewhere:

Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, a former secretary of state and associate justice of the Supreme Court, jolted the Democratic party he has supported for a lifetime and came out for Eisenhower. He said he prefers to "place loyalty to my country above loyalty to a political party."

Existence of Nixon's non-political expense fund was reported yesterday by a wealthy California lawyer who said he helped raise the money because Nixon's legal expense fund was not enough for a senator representing California.

Nixon receives a $12,500 annual salary, a $2,500 expense account, and more than $50,000 a year to run his office.

SAYS GAVE NO FAVORS

Nixon said he used the money—and gave no favors in return—to finance certain things he did not believe should be charged up to the taxpayers. These included postage for mail for which he preferred not to use his free mailing privileges, for necessary travel expense and to print and distribute speeches and documents.

The new Democratic charges came as he launched an extensive western whistle-stop campaign northward from his Pomona, Cal., home.

Eisenhower continued his mid-western tour, scheduling four Nebraska and one Missouri appearances today, plus a major speech in Kansas City, Mo. tonight. Despite the Nixon incident, he is expected to continue his corruption-in-government attack.

Stevenson, moving through New England, said at Springfield yesterday that the Republicans have not one affirmative campaign issue, so they finally decided that the "central issue of our time is humor." Eisenhower recently said the presidential campaign is no laughing matter implied Stevenson is making light of serious matters.

REACTION TO SHIFT

Reaction to Byrnes' dramatic shift to Eisenhower brought sharp criticism from many southern leaders, elation on the part of some Republicans, including Governor Earl Warren of California.

Jonathan Daniels and Averell Harriman—both top-ranking Democrats—blamed his desertion on what they called personal bitterness against President Truman.

Polio Epidemic In U.S. Reaches Peak

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Polio is grimly marching toward its worst year in United States history. The expectation is for at least 50,000 cases this year — far above 1949's record 42,366.

Twenty-one states have epidemic rates — 200 more cases per 100,000 Associated Press survey and last flare in towns and counties elsewhere.

Some schools in at least nine states have delayed openings. One or two others cancelled football practice. In Lock Haven, Pa., all churches, movies and bars were closed for a time.

Tragedies were compounded in dozens of families. Polio struck 11 of 14 youngsters in one family, all eight in another with one boy dying, six children in another.

YOUNG HARD HIT

Polio is claiming more 'teenagers and young adults, but the bulk of victims still are the five-to-12 age group.

March of Dimes aid is flowing out by the millions of dollars to pay bills and supply iron lungs and special nurses.

These are highlights of a national picture of polio, as gathered by an Associated Press survey and late-minute reports from the National Foundation for Infatile Paralysis and U. S. Public Health service.

By Sept. 13, the country had 31,391 cases of polio, as against 28,060 at the same time in the "worst year" of 1949.

PEAK NOT REACHED

The big worry is yet unanswered: Has polio yet reached its peak this year? The total of new cases has risen to new highs for four straight weeks, with 4,032 cases in the week ended Sept. 13.

In 1949, polio reached a peak in mid-August, with a decline in new cases each week thereafter.

Unless something happens to dampen down the spread, the U.S. could even have 60,000 cases this year.

It looks as though the U.S must anticipate more than 50,000 cases for 1952, says Dr. Hart E. an Riper, foundation medical director.

Manager Wally Alston and the rest of the team also hated to see him go.

"I'll have to play Wally Fiala or Walter Moryn at first base now," Alston said. "It certainly upsets my plans."

Royals are slated to play the opening game of the Governors' Cup final against Rochester tonight. The game was rained out last night.

Leafs To Carry 4 Or 5 Players Above Quota

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League will carry four or five players above the regular quota this season because of the American Hockey League's ban on mid-season callups to the major loop, Managing Director Conn Smythe said yesterday.

The extra players will bring the Leaf squad to 20 or 21. An N.H.L. team can dress 16 players at home and 15 on the road.

Bitter over the A.H.L.'s new ruling, Smythe has asked President Clarence Campbell to call a meeting of the N.H.L. Board of Governors to discuss the situation.

In previous seasons, the Leafs sent their extra players to their A.H.L. farm club, Pittsburgh Hornets, where they could be recalled for use with the big team. Now, a player can be called up only when the parent N.H.L. team's strength drops below one goalie, or four defencemen or nine forwards.

Smythe said there is some doubt whether the Hornets will operate this season. If they do it is expected they will get some help from the Leafs. Forwards Ray Timgren and Danny Lewicki of the Leafs have been in the Pittsburgh camp at Niagara Falls, Ont., where training started last Monday.

Pamper Dangerous Virus In Surrey Countryside

By ALVIN STEINKOFF

LONDON (AP)—In the Surrey countryside, 20 miles from London, scientists cultivate and pamper a dangerous virus which, should it get outside the walls, could cause great economic loss in the land.

The virus is permitted to thrive at the British Agricultural Council's research institute at Pirbright, where scientists for 12 years have been studying the foot-and-mouth disease, deadly to livestock.

They have prepared many vaccines, and have determined why some work sometimes, and fail under other circumstances.

They have helped many nations in a fight to control the disease which can become a scourge to a whole continent.

The scientists are only now feeling fairly sure they have developed a technique to keep the virus safely within the walls and fences of the institute.

The United States has authorized construction of its first laboratory for a similar purpose. But Americans insisted on building their $10,000,000 laboratory on an island in Long Island Sound, seven miles off shore from New London, Conn.

The British decided to take their chance with the virus on land. Now swine, guinea pigs, mice and several dozen cows live within the walls of the institute in greatest isolation.

Sturdy fences, of fine mesh and dug deep, keep out rodens. The finest of screens keep out insects and birds. Experimental cattle are kept in screened boxes, their fed passed in through hoppers so that materials may go in, but not even dust comes out. Boxes are sprayed with disinfectants.

Liquid wastes of the whole establishment are sterilized, refuse is burned. Scientists and workers entering the institute wear rubberized clothing and boots, and they stand up against a wall to be sprayed before they leave. Clothing is changed on the premises and laundering is done on the spot.

The precautions appear to have been completely successful, said Ian A. Galloway, director of the institute.

As the work proceeded it was established that for some study purposes an unweaned mouse, weighing a fraction of an ounce and costing just about nothing, could serve science as well as a cow. Pigs could be used in some cases, and in others guinea pigs were all right.

Kerries Clip Excelsiors In 13-10 Triumph

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Vancouver Kerries strafed Brampton Excelsiors 13-10 last night in a rough-and-tumble comeback effort which tied the east-west series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship.

Until last night, Excelsiors were favored to take the best-of-five series in three straight games after their smashing 27-9 win in the opening contest Tuesday night. The third game is scheduled for Saturday.

The Vancouver team, bewildered and disorganized in the opener, took the second game with a mauling, aggressive attack which kept Brampton off balance most of the distance.

It was give and take in the first quarter with the score tied at 3-3 at the breather. Kerries spurted ahead 7-5 in the second and from that time on managed to keep a couple of jumps ahead of their opponents. The third-quarter score was 10-7.

Cultural World Pays Tribute To Laval On 100th Birthday

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC (CP) — Ambassadors from the world's institutions of learning gathered today in this French-speaking harbor town on the St. Lawrence River where a small college founded nearly 300 years ago became a widely-known university.

Delegates from 42 countries, representing governments and 199 universities and institutions of learning from the world's continents, are here for the four-day ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the formal organization into a university of the school founded by Monseigneur de Laval, first Bishop of New France

Largest delegation is from France with 22 representatives headed by Hubert Guerin, French Ambassador to Canada, scheduled to arrive today. Official delegate from Vatican City, Msgr. Pietro Parente, dean of the faculty of theology of the Pontifical College for the Propagation of the Faith, arrived last night.

ELABORATE CEREMONIES

The priests of Quebec Seminary, successors of those who guided the fate of the college through French colonial days and the British conquest, have prepared elaborate ceremonies.

They point up Quebec's cultural development in the field of the arts and sciences as well as its deep-rooted attachment to the Roman Catholic Church.

Distinguished persons from various fields of human endeavor as well as church dignitaries will be honored in a convocation Monday that will climax the celebrations.

Among those to receive honorary degrees are Governor General Vincent Massey; Rt. Hon. F. M. Forde, Australian High Commissioner to Canada; Production Minister Howe; Health Minister Martin; Harold Dodds, president of Princeton University, Princeton, N.J.; Norman McKenzie, president of University of British Columbia; Andrew Stewart, president of Alberta University; Rev. L. J. Bondy, former rector of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and Msgr. P. J. Nicholson, president of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N. S

Among figures from the field of learning and science who will be honored is Sir Robert Watson-Watt, British scientist who is credited with the invention of radar.

LONE WOMAN

Mrs. D. B. Sinclair, Deputy Health Minister in Ottawa, is the only woman to appear on a list of 50 names.

Religious and academic ceremonies form the bulk of the program. An open-air pontifical high mass will be celebrated by Msgr. Parente, delegate from the Vatican on an altar erected against the stone facade of the Quebec Legislature.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, Paolo Dore, president of the University of Bologna, and Finance Minister Gagnon of Quebec will be the speakers at a formal dinner closing the celebrations Monday night.

P.M. To Announce Form Of Memorial

LONDON — (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill will tell Britain in a broadcast October 4 what form the planned national memorial to King George VI. is to take.

An announcement on Thursday said the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Leslie Boyce, will simultaneously launch a country-wide appeal for contributions to the memorial fund.

Local authorities throughout the country have been invited to open "supporting funds," the announcement added.

Preparations for the memorial started with a meeting last May, of representatives from all over Britain.

A resolution was carried saying that a statue should be erected in "some noble setting" in London, and a philanthropic project would "benefit the entire country," organized.

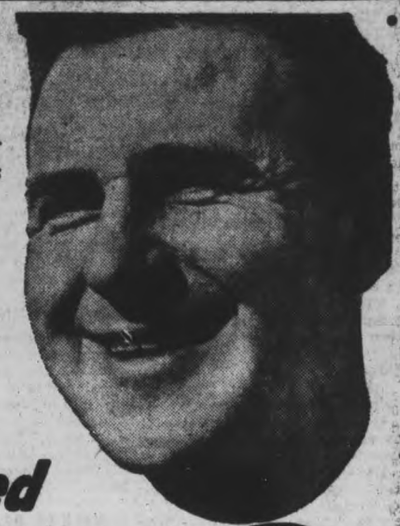
Turkey Strong Odlum Declares

LONDON (CP)—Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum, retiring Canadian diplomat and soldier in three wars, said yesterday Turkey's streamlined, modern army now is about four times as strong as when he first saw it five years ago



Pausing briefly in London on his way home to West Vancouver, where he plans to write his memoirs of an "unusual and most active" life, the 72-year-old former ambassador at Ankara said in an interview:

"Turkey is solid. The Turkish people are probably the West's most determined allies. They are proud, they are confident, and there seems to be no fear of Russia. It is a delight to me to have such a country on our team."

United Church Repudiates Endicott, Congress

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

HAMILTON (CP)—The United Church of Canada has officially gone on record as having nothing to do with the leftist Canadian Peace Congress or its chairman, James. G. Endicott.

The church's General Council, highest court of the faith, last night unanimously approved a resolution declaring that Dr. Endicott "does not speak for, or in any way officially represent" the church. It also resolved that it has never been in any way associated with the Canadian Peace Congress.

During Council debates the name of Dr. Endicott has come up many times. He was a United Church missionary in China for more than 20 years and resigned from the ministry six years ago.

RED SYMPATHIZER

At one time he was an advisory to the Nationalist Chinese regime, but later split with them and became sympathetic with the new Communist regime. Recently he has attracted attention because of charges he made following a trip to China that the United Nations is using germ warfare in Korea against the Reds.

The resolution, adopted without discussion and greeted with applause, was the work of a seven-man committee appointed Wednesday night after Rev. Norman Rawson of Hamilton introduced a motion that such a committee be set up to make a "specific statement" on the question.

REPUDIATES ENDICOTT

The resolution, after saying that the church believes in the right of free speech subject to the rights of other persons accord to them by law, states:

"That no individual member of the United Church of Canada ever speaks for the church at large. With specific reference to James C. Endicott, we would call attention to the fact that he ceased to be a minister of the United Church of Canada when on May 5, 1946, he voluntarily, on his own initiative, resigned his ministry in our church. Since that time he has had no official relationship with the United Church of Canada other than that of a private member. He therefore does not speak for, or in any way officially represent, the United Church.

"That the United Church of Canada sincerely believes in and ardently advocates world peace, but unequivocally declares that the United Church of Canada has not been and is not now in any way associated with the Canadian Peace Congress and does not lend its sanction or support to the said Congress."

INDEPENDENT ACT

A few minutes after the Council had passed the resolution, Dr. Endicott issued a prepared statement in which he said that it is "quite natural that the organized peace effort of any large religious body should wish to make clear its individual and completely independent nature."

Earlier the report of the committee on international affairs bogged down on the question of recognition of the Communist Chinese regime.

Dr. Endicott watched that debate from the gallery, but was not present for the night session which passed the resolution concerning him and the organization of which he is chairman.

REDS IN CONTROL

The committee's report brought in by its chairman, Henry Longeford of Toronto, and its secretary, Rev. J. R. Mutchmor of Toronto, said Red China should be recognized after the end of the Korean War.

It gave as its reason that the Red regime was in effect in control of the Chinese mainland. If it was not for the Korean War, it should be recognized now, the report said.

Rev. T. T. Faichney of Galt, introduced the amendment which in effect said Red China should be recognized after the end of the Korean War and when it was admitted to United Nations membership.

The Western Ontario clergyman, who has taken a prominent part in the council proceedings, said Council was dealing with a "political situation and we cannot dismiss the moral implications."

MP's Urge Taxes Be Reduced

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Progressive Conservative members of the Commons last night urged the federal government to reduce taxes.

George Hees, member for Toronto Broadview, and J. W. Murphy, member for Lambton West, said that when Parliament meets Nov. 20 the government should present a new budget to reduce "excessive and unwarranted taxation."

Mr. Hees' speech was to a nominating convention in Brantford, Mr. Murphy's to an organizational meeting of the Young Progressive Conservative Association in Sarnia. The speeches were released through their offices here.

Talented Pastor

GLASGOW (CP)—Rev. Adrian Stephen, who gave up Shakespearian acting for the ministry, is leaving to take over the pulpit of Knox Presbyterian Church at Halifax, N.S. He is the author of several plays and his hobby is staging Shakespeare in the open air.

LESTER B. PEARSON, Canadian Minister of External Affairs (left), is greeted on his arrival in Paris this week by Lord Ismay, British secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Mr. Pearson flew to Paris to meet with N.A.T.O. officials and turn over the post of president of the organization's Council to Ole Bjorn Kraft, Danish Foreign Minister.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Achievement Day of Peterborough 4-H Clubs at Morrow Park Saturday, Sept. 27 . . . County Plowing Match Wednesday, Oct. 1, near Brealey's School, North Monaghan . . . Ken Best Appointed Leader of Western Ontario Junior Farmers' Tour . . .

Achievement Day for 4-H Clubs at Morow Park is the last Saturday of September, the 27th.

Notices have been mailed to all the boys and girls who entered into club work last spring by F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative. They are asked to report at the drill hall at 9 a.m. Judging begins at 9:30. Harold Snyder, Toronto, of the Federal Department of Agriculture, will conduct the judging.

Classes are: Dairy and beef cattle, swine, grain, plus forestry identification and tractor defects tests. The members of the first four clubs are required to give reasons for their placings.

Lunch is at noon, and incidentally Junior Farmers will have a booth. The afternoon program is as follows:

1:00—West Dairy Calf Club: calves to be shown; showmanship to follow.

1:15—Tractor Club: driving competitions and tests. Grain club exhibits to be judged. Forestry club collections to be judged.

1:30—Swine Club: Members' pairs of gilts to be shown.

1:45—Beef Calf Club: Calves to be shown; showmanship following.

2:15—East Peterborough Dairy Calf Club: Showing of calves; showmanship.

2:30—Lakehurst Forestry Club: Members complete forestry questions.

All reports on feeding of stock, tractor club manuals and grain club costs, etc., are to be returned to Mr. Paterson and his assistant, Ken Best, before September 25.

Junior Farmers have sponsored the clubs to a large extent, and have provided essential leadership. They are also supplying the prize money for the judging competition which begins at $5 for first place and drops down to $1 in the 8th, 9th and 10th places.

There are two sets of prizes, one for girls and boys completing their first or second year; the other for those completing two or more years' work.

Keith McIntyre, president of the Juniors, is reminding the club leaders of a meeting Friday, September 26 at 2 p.m. at the drill hall. They are also asked to report with the club members at 9 a.m. on Achievement Day.

The public is invited to attend the Day's events as a final evidence of interest and encouragement of the 4-H members. Parents especially should try to be with the young folks for the afternoon program.

It will be the first appearance for some of them in a juidging ring, and the presence of parents and other adults is evidence of interest the boys and girls will notice.

Overgrazing Pastures

At this time of year, legumes, especially alfalfa, are storing food reserves in their roots in order to withstand winter conditions. The food of the plant is manufactured in the green leaves, and if the plants are overgrazed, they have no means of manufacturing food for storage. Thus a weak plant results, and the chances of winter killing are increased.

To prevent overgrazing of pastures, feed supplements or other pastures should be used, advises W. H. Tossel, Department of Field Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College. Pastures or hay fields which are to be plowed down may be heavily grazed, and pastures to be used the next year grazed lightly.

Since grazing removes soil nutrients when the pasture grass is consumed, these nutrients must be restored in some form to maintain fertility levels. Fertilizer may be applied now or in early spring, and fertilizer recommendations are contained in Ontario Department of Agriculture Bulletin 463, "Soil Management and Fertilizer Use," obtainable at the office of the agricultural representative.

MOUNT OF BARLEY

After filling all storage capacity on his farm, F. W. Kuschel of Hussar, Alberta, dumped more than 70,000 bushels of barley alongside the town's elevators. He had more than 4,000 acres in barley this season.

✦ ✦ ✦

DID THOROUGH JOB

Of the directors who were appointed in charge of the cattle show at the Ex. some may be mentioned as having done a diligent job in the extreme heat of Thursday and Friday. Among them were: Charlie Moore, Lorne Reynolds, Milton Clark, Archie Clysdale, Howard Clark, William Mood.

✦ ✦ ✦

INVITE H. BEATTY

Northumberland Junior Farmers are inviting Harold Beatty of Dunsford to their meeting next week at Brighton. He was one of the Juniors representing the province on a trip to Europe this year. His talk will be illustrated with slides of pictures he took in Europe.

500 SPECTATORS

Leeds County Black and White Day at Delta Fair attracted a ringside crowd of close to 500 spectators. Principal A. M. Barr of Kemptville Agricultural School judged the 111 animals shown by 17 exhibitors. There were 23 exhibitors at the Dundas County B. and W. show at Milton Fair. Mr. Barr was judge there also. He had 109 Holsteins to place.

✦ ✦ ✦

WHAT NO MUSIC

A mother of two children tells this story about the "midway" at the fair. When they were getting off the merry-go-round, she said to an attendant: "This is the first time I was ever on a merry-go-round that had no music." The man replied with a smile: "Lady this is the first merry-go-round," the emphasis on the verb and the numeral adjective.

PLOWING MATCH OCT. 1

Peterborough county plowing match Wednesday, October 1, will be at Fred Campbell's farm in North Monaghan. That property is on the west side of the road extending north from Brealey's School. It is only a mile or more out Sherbrooke St., or by way of Parkhill Road and the boundary past Jackson Park and turn south toward the school.

Premier Breeder Awards in the cattle show at the Exhibition were distributed as follows: Holsteins—N. W. McConkey, Peterborough; Ayrshires—W. Clarence Mann, Smith; Jerseys—Garnet Kerr, Campbellford; Guernseys—Mrs. (Dr.) R. S. Robertson, Cobourg; Dual Purpose Shorthorns—Trotter Brothers, Madoc; Shorthorns—M. H. Pimmett & Sons, Indian River; Herefords—Alan Linton, Cobourg; Aberdeen-Angus—Ronald Marquis, Sunderland.

✦ ✦ ✦

TO DIRECT TOUR

Ken E. Best, assistant to F. C. Paterson, has been assigned by the Department, as leader of a bus tour of 43 Junior Farmers from 13 western Ontario counties beginning Sunday, Sept. 28.

The party of 18 girls and 25 boys leave Galt at 8 a.m. Sunday. They will be at Kingston overnight, visit Macdonald College, Montreal, on Monday tour Montreal Tuesday as guests of the Family Herald and Weekly Star; Wednesday they will be in Quebec City; Thursday back to Montreal through south shore counties; Friday in Ottawa and that night at Kemptville Agricultural school; arriving back in Galt in the evening of Sat., Oct. 4.

Chaperone will be Miss Florence Arnold of the Home Economics branch of the Women's Institute.

Mr. Best will leave for Galt Saturday evening, Sept. 27, after Achievement Day at Morrow Park.

✦ ✦ ✦

FLOOR PRICES

"Heavy cattle will be taken at the floor price of 25c for good cattle in Toronto," Robert McCubbin, M.P., said the other day in London, Ont.

"Hog producers would like to hear as definite a statement about their main commodity," says a western Ontario farmer. "That 26c support is due to expire Sept. 30. Then, what? . . . We can expect a statement about Sunday, Sept. 30, in our opinion. When we realize that the price has rested on the 26c support since last February, and when, in spite of that, we note that the numberr of carcasses graded this year shows an increase of 34% over the same period last year . . . we can't see anything particularly cheerful in the picture."

HOLSTEINS AT LONDON

Harvey Swartz, of Waukesha, Wis., was judge of the Western Ontario Holstein championship show at the London Exhibition. Seventy-eight exhibitors turned out 284 head.

Twice judge at the Peterborough Black and White Championships in the Central Ontario area, Mr. Swartz said the classes for two years and over were "the greatest array of prize winners from which I have ever been privileged to choose a pair of champions." For the senior championships the first and second prize winners of the various classes of two years old and over were eligible.

John Powell's general observation in his report from Holstein Association headquarters, Brantford, was: "Down-the-line quality was the outstanding characteristic of this year's show. In the opinion of veteran observers other years have produced as good tops, but never before has the general quality been so high. The show was also notably well balanced with good classes in the bull sections as well as in both the junior and senior female divisions."

"The senior female championship class extolled by Mr. Swartz lined up fourteen high class animals. The senior and grand finally went to the Hardy Shore entry, Fran-Lee-Lass, heading the dry four-year-olds. The reserve was taken by Regal Sylvia Diana, winner in the aged dry cow class for C. L. Mitchell and Son, of Simcoe.

Fran-Lee Lass was All-Canadian three-year-old for 1951, and winner in the best udder class at the Royal. Regal Sylvia Diana was All-Canadian four-year-old in 1951. Mr. Powell says the decision for this championship was exceedingly close.

All the herds were from Western Ontario except the Rosafe Farm entries of Dr. Hector I. Astengo, of Brampton, who earned for him the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor banners. Hardy Shore, of Glanworth, was runner-up for both awards.

Rosafe took the senior and grand championships for bulls on winning aged bull, A.B.C. Reglection Sovereign. His progeny won both the junior and senior get-of-sire classes. County herd honors were won by Middlesex breeders, with Oxford second and Elgin third.

VALUABLE HARVEST

Canadian farmers collected $12,175,000 from the sale of maple syrup and sugar in 1952, or 42 per cent more than last year.

OVER THE HILLS AND INTO THE SKY, these Hydro wires of Ontario dissolve beyond the horizon like filaments of gossamer across the fields of autumn. Here are symbols of the swaths of industry and the nation's production, the mower in the foreground of a field of second growth hay beneath the towers whose burden of electric energy turns out such implements of agriculture.

They are more interdependent than they appear disparately and aloof in this Otonabee scene looking across the river to the gentle slopes of North Monaghan, and, far beyond vision, to the huge transformer assemblies of power distribution.

Rural Ontario is extensively electrified, and the combination of implement and forage crop of farm labor and investment helps to pay for remote generating plants, and the factories that produce their equipment. The swath of steel props across the country represents the energy manufacture consumes, just as the field of clover suggests the energy of sustained food supply essential to the legions manufacture employs. The mower and the nearest tower are figures of a kinship in the economy of this industrial and manufacturing province.

Morrow Trust Decision On Community Centre May Affect Farm Events

Peterborough's Exhibition last week emphasize again the potential advantages of the building that is still only an airy conception, something immaterially between a dream and a hope.

Possibilities loom more definitely during those days of activity and climax when needs sharpen desires. Then, when the exhibits and the crowds are gone, all that bright aspect fades again into the mist of doubts and realities.

Directors readily imagine how they could use to advantage the proposed Memorial Community Centre at the northeast corner of Morrow Park, and how it could substantially solve persistent problems of the show.

Site for the Centre remains in public thinking where it last rested in proposals, — at the corner of Lansdowne and Lock Sts. But, the considered opinion of the Morrow Park trustees, endorsed by independent legal advice, has so far discouraged that prospect.

TRUSTEES APPOINTED

Recently, the Trust has been returned to full membership, with the likelihood that an early agenda will include reference to the Centre site. It will be recalled that previous sessions of the Trust found serious objection in the seeming conflict of the Park and the Centre in their memorial purpose.

The R. A. Morrow Memorial Park was the late Harold A. Morrow's gift to the public in honor of his father. Erection of another memorial on the property would tend to be a distraction from the original, it was said, would diminish its purpose and tribute. The trustees affirmed that the conditions of the deed precluded their approval to the placing of the Memorial Community Centre on part of the grounds of the R. A. Morrow Memorial Park.

If the public imagined the ends of the Centre fund as being adequately served by a memorial tablet in the rotunda of that proposed building, that suggestion evidently did not convince the Trustees, if it did occur to them.

The public of Peterborough city and county is interested in both these memorials, and many persons have stated that they are unable to discern any palpable element of conflict.

However, that is a diversion from another phase of the proposals that is annually dusted off at Exhibition time.

GIFT TO AGRICULTURE

Mr. Harold Morrow gave the park to the public primarily for agricultural purposes, principally in the continuation of an agricultural fair on the property. And, directors of the Exhibition believe that Mr. Morrow's objective would be greatly realized by the erection of the Centre for general community purposes including agricultural.

Some opinion expressed recently even sees the proposed Centre as becoming essential to the survival of the fair by providing facilities of exhibition that are found at Kingston fair, grounds and also in the plant of the Western Fair at London. These are mentioned by way of example.

GOVERNMENT FUNDS

In either instance, and both, federal and provincial contributions matched by those of the two municipalities, provided for the erection of buildings broadly similar to the plans for the Peterborough Centre. The promotion of agriculture was prominent in the purposes of the buildings at Kingston and London. And, as announced more than once it was paramount in the design of the late Harold A. Morrow.

If the exclusive memorial feature as stressed by the Trust prevents its members from acceding to public hope, perhaps nothing can be gained by underlining the gains to agriculture by the various exhibitions which the Centre building would house at Morrow Park. Peterborough Exhibition is only in degree more important to the farming community than the Central Ontario Spring Show which began permanent location last March in Peterborough. In that list of events is the East-Central Ontario Holstein championships show in October.

IMPORTANT SHOWS

It may be said, that if Peterborough Exhibition were to fold up, the two other shows would be left without premises. There is the possibility that all three would disappear from Peterborough, instead of reinforcing this city's position as the agricultural centre of approximately ten counties.

If such matters, and they are not the complete account of agricultural interest in Morrow Park, could be weighed against the letter of the trust deed, it is likely that Mr. Morrow himself would have given his approval to the changing values of his gift property in the changing conditions of agricultural practice as it may be helped by exhibitions and other rural activities.

The livestock show at the Exhibition last week, pushed off again into the southeast corner of the Park, pleased directors, judges and the farmers who attended it. Because of its location, it was largely overlooked. In a building such as the Centre has been planned, that show would have the benefit of a modern enclosed ring, enhancing it as an arena of purebred stock and with increased prestige for the ribbons of the Peterborough Exhibition.

TO PROMOTE FARMING

The late Harold Morrow intended to make a contribution to the well being of farming in this area in the name of his father, R. A. Morrow. Since he drew the deed of Trust, agricultural interests have been altering, and will continue to do so. Neither he nor his father imagined that hay would be the object of the largest prizes offered in the Exhibition. It is altogether likely that the hay show is here to stay, and to receive more attention from directors and farmers, both of whom are concerned about the "Ex" enlarging its sphere of usefulness to the agricultural industry of Central Ontario.

The potential uses of the R. A. Morrow Memorial Park have expanded since the Morrow Trust was set up, and they are fluid, not static. For that reason alone, it is impossible to believe that Mr. Morrow would have written into that instrument any clause that would defeat his main purpose in giving the land to the public.

FINANCIAL SOLUTION

As to the financing of the Community Centre, a site at Morrow Park for uses inclusively rural surely would appeal to the support of the federal and provincial departments of agriculture. With that assistance as a dependable prospect, sufficient funds would be available for construction.

Peterborough would not have to apologize to either government for contributions commensurate with their appropriations to London and Kingston. The intelligence of David Fife provided Canada with hard spring wheat, before pioneers of the western provinces were on the ground and ready to use it. A generation or more of prairie farmers sowed Fife wheat before research departments were operating.

Proposals of a Fife memorial have surged and lapsed without any recognition from the nation. Edwin Fife, living on the homestead for years, died the other day, the latest of the early descendants disappearing from the old Fife neighborhood in Otonabee. However, that is aside from the present concern of Exhibition directors, who are probably more anxious than ever for its future.

Ontario Farmers Big Corn Crop Going To Silos

Ontario farmers are still working full time. Their schedule of the season has come to the cutting of a big crop of corn and filling silos, following after-harvest cultivation and sowing of wheat.

In the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Durham says: "Our corn crop is the best in years." Northumberland: "Fall work is in excellent shape . . . Springer cows are selling at little over one-half the prices of a year ago . . . The acreage of winter wheat is increased considerably."

In York: seed cleaning plants have been running nights to keep up with the demand for seed cleaning and treating. The corn crop is one of the best in years.

Harvesting of buckwheat is under way, last of the Ontario grains. In Grey county: "Heavy crops of the finest second-cut alfalfa have been saved in excellent condition."

Middlesex reports: "Shipments of finished beef cattle are going to market each week, and there is some movement of feeder cattle" . . . And Norfolk: "All livestock are in good condition on lush pastures."

In Victoria: "A few men have already bought stockers for the winter. The supply of feeds is quite good, and most farmers will be carrying a normal number of young cattle."

Storm Hits Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Winds that reached 35 miles an hour at the height of a brief thunderstorm late yesterday caused power failures in every section of Montreal and suburbs. Residents in the city's northend were without power for two hours.

BLACK & WHITE DAYS

Jerry Nelson, Holstein fieldman left Peterborough Exhibition late in the afternoon of Thursday, September 11, for the Temiskaming district Black and White Day at New Liskeard Fair on the 12th. George McLaughlin of Oshawa was judge. Six exhibitors showed 51 head.

Mr. Nelson reports that most of the exhibitors were comparative newcomers to the Holstein breed: "They have shown good judgment in selecting foundation females and sires, as reflected in the junior females."

Stormont County B. and W. Day at Newington Fair listed 19 exhibitors and 124 head. Ray Wilson of Kenmore, who was judge of the Holsteins at Peterborough Ex., had the same assignment at Newington.

At Merickville on September 10 N. W. McConkey judged 104 head shown by 16 exhibitors at the Grenville County Black and White Day.

Buys Danish Bacon

British and Danish negotiators have concluded a two-year bacon agreement. Britain undertakes to buy not less than 90 per cent of Denmark's exportable surplus. The starting price is $35.35 per 112 pounds, a reduction of about 8 per cent on this year's average price. In 1951, Britain imported 34 per cent of her total bacon supplies from the Danes.

THE FIRST CANADIAN CATTLE shipped to South America since the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease last February left Malton on September 8. They included the C.N.E. Junior Champion, Pomona Sovereign Papoose (exhibited by Hays Ltd., Oakville, Ont.), shown here with Dr. Guillermo Gomez (left), head of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Chilean Ministry of Agriculture, and Dr. Ismael Jordan, of Santiago, representing the Inter-American Institute of Public Relations for whom the bulls were bought. Crew members are in the background. This is the first time that a Chilean has ever visited Canada and the first time for several years that a South American commercial plane has picked up a cargo at Malton.

Fatten Steers In Stockyards

More than 2,000 steers are being fattened at the Union Stockyards in Chicago as a finishing experiment. The effect is to introduce a rural atmosphere around the stockyards in the heart of the big city's teeming south side.

One hundreds test steers comprised the first contingent more than a year ago. They fattened on rich by-products of malt, corn, and rice residue from the production of beer. The herd is now 16 feeder lots of 125 head each.

Wm. F. Prince, president of the Chicago stockyards, had pondered the question why cattle could not be fed just as well in the shadow of skyscrapers as down on the farm. He looked out over many blocks of relatively open land in the heart of the city around "Packingtown," and visualized the fattening steers on the brewery products. When the cattle are "finished," they go right up the chutes to the packing house, eliminating harzards of long transportation such as bruising and loss of weight.

Loans To Indo-China Prove $ Billion Headache To U.S.

By BILL BOSS

SAIGON, Indo-China (CP)—Uncle Sam is developing a multi-billion-dollar headache in Indo-China.

He is spending more than $3,000,000,000 in three years on military aid to France and the three associated states of Indo-China in their war against the Communist-led Vietminh.

When he committed himself, Uncle Sam thought he was helping France and Indo-China to fight a Communist attempt to make Indo-China a Red satellite. Now, his diplomats in Indo-China say, he is beginning to realize the money is going to authorities who do not truly represent the people of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

CONDITIONAL AID

When the conflict here started soon after the Second World War ended, it seemed to be a French colonial war, aimed at keeping control of lands and peoples that wanted to be free. United States aid was sent to France only on condition that it not be diverted to Indo-China.

But France announced establishment of a federal union of independent states in this gateway to southeast Asia. And Communist control of China was extended to the Indo-China border.

The United States found Franco-Viet Namese arguments for help consistent with its own policy of erecting bulwarks everywhere against the Communist bloc of nations.

American equipment and ammunition flowed into Indo-China, and the stream continues. So far Indo-China has not fallen to the Reds.

"If the United States were not pouring in help, the Vietminh would have the upper hand by now," said one U.S. diplomat.

MASSES APATHETIC

But he expressed concern that the smaller Vietminh forces, with only a trickle of supplies from the Red Chinese—French sources place this help at 1,000 tons a month—can hold the French and Viet Namese at bay.

"The reason seems to be that the government has no appeal," he said. "There is no rallying of the masses against the Vietminh."

The states of Indo-China have no constitution, no elected assembly and no political parties. France retains advisers in key government posts, holds the essential strings of finance and police, has a vote in affairs of Indo-China's shaky three-state federal union.

The majority of Indo-Chinese, especially the educated group who could direct public opinion, reject the idea that the states are free.

U. S. representatives here try to persuade the French and Viet Namese that progressive policies in government would help arouse public sentiment against the Vietminh.

SMALL CONCESSIONS

"But when the French make concessions it always has the air of being too little and too late," said one U.S. diplomat.

"Politically, they have a hand-to-mouth policy," said another. "They don't know where they're going, and they hope to stave off the decision indefinitely."

There is growing belief the U.S. aid policy in Indo-China carries long-term risks:

1. The support may let the French and Viet Namese administration delay political reforms without which the Viet Namese generally will not rally against the Reds;

2. It may result in a long war of attrition which will be a drain on the U. S. economy for many years;

3. The U.S. help to a regime that lacks public support may cost America the friendship of some Asiatic countries which look on her as the champion of political freedom everywhere.

But for the moment the French are in the driver's seat.

Withdrawal of U.S. aid at this time would bring the very result the U.S. does not want: Extension for 900 miles southward of the Asian area controlled by the Reds.

ARMORED VEHICLES SUCH AS THESE are bought by French Indo-China with part of the more than $3,000,000,000 in loans made by the United States. The U.S. has serious doubts about the dividends it will get. American diplomats say that the Vietminh (Communists) would have the upper hand here were it not for U.S. help. With only a trickle of supplies and arms, the Vietminh are able to hold off the less well-organized government troops. In the left photo, two government soldiers are seen shortly after their capture of a Communist. Without aid from the west, Communist control of the Far East could extend into the Indo-Chinese peninsula.

Find Opposition Developing In Tariff Board Hearing

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition developed before the Tariff Board yesterday as a Montreal company argued in favor of a tariff practice which would, in effect, boost tolls on a wide range of imported goods.

Spokesmen for importers and distributors said price boosts would result, particularly on heavy imported machinery, if the board found in favor of the Dominion Hoist and Shovel Company of Montreal.

The opposing views were heard as a result of a reference to the board by the Revenue Department which wants the board to judge whether the department was correct in classifying certain power cranes and shovels as of a kind or class not made in Canada because of a difference in the size of dipper capacities.

In the case of power cranes and shovels, the department decided that those with a dipper capacity of less than one-half yard and greater than two yards were not of a kind or class made in Canada.

Andre Forget, counsel for Dominion Hoist and Shovel, argued that the department's classification went too far.

Hugh Plaxton of Toronto, counsel for G. H. Godsall Equipment Limited, one of a group of companies which opposed Dominion Hoist and Shovel, argued that if Dominion Hoist and Shovel won out, it would mean "substantial increases" in the price to Canadian crane and shovel users on items "which never have been or are not made in Canada."

Board Chairman H. B. McKinnon, calling for briefs from the more than two dozen companies represented, adjourned the hearing to allow Mr. Forget to prepare further legal argument.

Mrs. Walter Paskall Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Walter W. Paskall, a former resident of Stratford, died in hospital yesterday. She had lived in Toronto for 11 years.

Survivors include her husband and four daughters, Minnie and Gladys of Stratford, Mrs. Ben. F. Craig of Toronto and Winnifred, a Baptist missionary in India.

Man Killed In Crash

SIMCOE (CP)—Wilfred St. Amand, 27-year-old Windham Centre truck-driver, was killed last night when his car rolled over six miles northwest of here.

Advance Theory In Polio Deaths

EDMONTON (CP) — Theories were advanced today that sanitation and immigration may be two of the reasons why a high proportion of adults have been stricken by polio in the record outbreak in Western Canada.

Polio has hit three of the four western provinces this year with all-time highs for both cases and deaths and doctors admit they are baffled by the epidemic.

Dr. Norman Baster, Alberta's director of the department of communicable diseases, mentioned the sanitation and immigration theories.

Dr. Baster said that because sanitation is improving, it is possible the persons are not exposed to polio virus so early in life.

Immigration enters the picture on the theory that older people coming from countries where incidence is low become exposed to the virus for the first time later in life.

Young Starlet Not Wasting Any Chances

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Youth is a wonderful thing and Debbie Reynolds is not wasting it.

What other movie star spends a whole day on arduous dance routines for the movies and then spends her evenings jitterbugging? or averages three banana splits a week? Or munches popcorn at swank Hollywood premieres?

Jitterbugging was about the extent of Debbie's dancing until she scored in "Singing' in the Rain."

She recalls how the front office told her to learn to tap dance, that M-G-M was putting her in a picture with Donald O'Connor and Gene Kelly.

"See you later," said Debbie.

She studied and learned so well that she is now listed as one of the studio's most promising musical stars.

Her "Singin' in the Rain" success got her another job dancing with O'Connor in "I love Melvin."

RAGS TO PITCHAS

For two years, Margaret Barstow has been the cigarette girl at Ciro's night club, a place where every producer, star, agent or talent scout must have ogled her at least once. But that's not how she got into the movies.

A one-time swimming champ in Portland, Ore., she registered with central casting when she first came here. The other day she got a call—her first—for a movie swimming short subject.

She reported to Warners' studio, but at the wrong office. Dance director Leroy Prinz took one look at her and picked her out of a roomful for a showgirl part in "The Jazz Singer."

She's grateful to some unknown cop on the gate who apparently thought she looked more like a showgirl than a swimmer and directed her to Prinz' office.

THREE KILLED AS TRAIN HITS SCHOOL BUS — Three high school pupils were killed and at least 44 others injured, many of them seriously, when a 50-car Pittsburgh and Lake Erie freight train smashed into a loaded school bus at a fogbound, unguarded crossing in Connellsville, Pa. Above, townspeople examine the body of the bus (centre) which was torn from the chassis (lower right) by the impact and swung around in a semi-circle. Some of the pupils were thrown free of the wreck, but most were trapped inside the bus and had to be released by rescue workers.

Death Toll Set At 31

LYNTON, England (Reuters)—The final death toll of the floods which wrecked the seaside town of Lynmouth Aug. 16 was officially placed at 31 yesterday. Five persons included in the list have not been found. Their bodies are presumed beneath the thousands of tons of boulders and debris piled up by the floods.

Hospital Surplus $10,534 Hopes To Stay Out Of Red

With an operating surplus of $10,534.54 for the first eight months of the year and only four more months to go, Civic Hospital has a good chance of realizing its objective of ending the year without a deficit. Although expenditures exceeded revenue by $16,232.23 during August, the surplus accumulated during the first six months have kept the hospital's accounts solvent during July and August.

A drop in the number of patients as compared with previous months resulted in a deficit for the two summer months as expected.

July and August are both months in which fewer patients are treated in hospital than in any other months during the year. However, services must be maintained, and the same number of personnel employed as when considerably more beds are occupied. With hospital costs remaining constant, expenses naturally tend to exceed revenue, when the number of patients declines.

HAVE TO DO WELL

Commenting on the August financial statement at the monthly board of governors meeting Thursday night, treasurer T. T. Rodger said: "We have weathered the months of low business volume remarkably well, but we'll have to do particularly well in the remaining months to keep on an even keel."

Expenditures for August were $83,027.31. So far this year, expenses have amounted to $665,949.45, which is slightly more than $8,000 above two-thirds of the budget estimate of $657,896.27.

Revenue for the eight months, however, has topped the budget estimate by $32,849.50, amounting to $690,731.51 so far. For August, total revenue from patients and other sources amounted to $66,795.08.

Referring to the balance of $3,580,931.31 in the surplus account reported in the balance sheet, Mr. Rodger reminded the board that "while this statement reflects in so far as this board is concerned a fine picture, as citizens we must not overlook the debenture debt extant."

During August, 680 patients were treated, as compared with 705 the previous month, and the 1951 monthly average of 690.

Bear Seen, Lynx Heard Near City

Peterborough, a city of 38,000 people, is on the rim of the wilderness, after all. Since Labor Day, a large black bear has been seen in the 100-acre hardwood bush of Mark S. Burnham, a little more than a mile from the city's eastern limits.

On that holiday, a city factory worker strolled out in that direction with a young hunting dog and a .22 rifle to try out both beast and firearm hunting possibilities. They saw more than they had bargained for when a large bear loped into the woods a stone's throw from Highway 7. The hunter ran to nearby Brookside Pavilion to recruit aid of a small hunting party with larger calibre rifles but was unable to find any hunters. The bear was spotted again a few days later and reported to Mr. Burnham. The bear again disappeared in a hurry.

Since the first appearances about ten public school children who walk past the woods daily en route to S.S. No. 12, have got the wind up, although none of them have seen the animal.

CORN DAMAGED

To the north of the woodlot farmer Ross Larmer owns a cornfield; he reports that considerable damage has been done to his corn. Thinking it was racoons from the woods, he was surprised to hear that there was a bear in the vicinity and he is now on the alert.

Mr. Burnham took the precaution of removing some young calves on pasture near the woods and says he would be glad to see some crack shots, members of gun or fish and game clubs, organize a hunt as soon as possible to get rid of the bear.

South of the Burnham woods farmers have heard a lynx crying in a deep swamp on the Petrie farm but, as yet, no one has seen the animal.

No Polio Centre This Year Still Problems

Establishment of a polio treatment centre at Civic Hospital as requested by the Ontario Department of Health cannot be accomplished before next year, it was revealed at the hospital board of governors meeting Thursday night.

Dr. R. S. Chenoweth, commented that with the polio season practically over this year, the board and the special committee set up to study the matter will have ample time to look into several problems in connection with setting up such a centre. Then, if it is decided to go ahead with some provincial financial assistance, the centre would be ready in time for treatment of 1953 polio victims.

The board feels that several details concerning financial arrangements for treatment of polio victims between the province and the hospital require clarification.

Then too, there is the question of accommodation in the communicable disease division, and the availability of trained personnel and equipment.

TRAINED PERSONNEL

At a recent meeting of the special committee of the hospital medical staff and representatives of the board of governors appointed at the last board meeting, it was pointed out that a trained person should be required at the head of the communicable disease division. In addition, other trained personnel would be required during the polio season. However, all of them would not be required the year round, which would probably mean they would have to be absorbed into the regular staff when they were not needed in the polio centre.

Another question mark is the matter of payment when a patient is admitted as a polio suspect and later found to be suffering from some other illness, and consequently not eligible for government assistance.

Miss Evelyn Robson, nursing superintendent said her problem would be twofold. First, to acquire a sufficient number of nurses to staff such a centre and secondly, to obtain properly qualified staff, able to direct and carry out the work. There are only three married women on the nursing registry at present who would be willing to look after polio patients she said.

Four committees have been set up to look into the nursing, treatment, equipment and administration aspects of the department of health proposal and they will present their findings at a meeting the third week in November.

The committee of the medical staff and representatives of the board is also planning on visiting polio centres at London and the one recently established at Kitchener to learn how the various problems were dealt with. Then, Dr. D. S. Puffer of the department of health may be invited to Peterborough to discuss details of a polio centre here, with the members of the committee.

39 Students Enrolled For Nursing At Civic

Thirty-nine students enrolled in the September class of the Civic Hospital School of Nursing it was reported at the board of governors' meeting Thursday night.

This is nine more prospective nurses then enrolled in September 1951, at the Civic Ten are from the city, four from Lindsay and three from Bowmanville, and two from Lakefield.

The remaining students come from 16 centres ranging from Niagara Falls to Madoc and Frankford and Bancroft and Coe Hill to the north.

Soaking Rain Slows Big Lindsay Fair

Boasting increased exhibits in livestock and agriculture, a fine grandstand program, good harness races and the largest midway in Canada except for the Toronto C.N.E., Lindsay's 77th annual exhibition has everything but good weather in its drive for higher standing among Ontario's fairs.

Last year Lindsay exhibition was classed as fourth in Ontario, surpassed only by Toronto, London and Ottawa. The classification is based on attendance, prize money (estimated at $13,000) and worth as a livestock exhibition.

After an extra-large day, on Wednesday, opening day, Citiens' and Children's day, which drew thousands of people, the exhibition was hit hard Thursday by rain which continued until late afternoon. Again today rain was expected to keep down the attendance.

B. L. McLean, manager who has grown up with the exhibtion, reported that this year there is "more than ever, all the way through." Highlights of the exhibition, he said, were the livestock, agriculture, midway, grandstand and harness racing.

PETERBOROUGH SHOWING

This year, Mr. McLean said there is a heavy patronage in exhibits by Peterborough people with "many citizens, hundreds in fact, who patronize our show."

In the early poultry judging on Thursday Peterborough exhibitors, R. M. Brown and G. R. Schweir and Norwood exhibitor Frank Andrews, took many of the first and seconds. In the water fowl division, Mr. Brown and Mr. Andrews were the largest ex-

Taking Test Woman In Crash

A woman driver trying for her driver's licence Thursday, morning had an accident as she was pulling away from the curb on Water St., with licence examiner Albert Juby as a passenger.

Driving with a temporary 60-day permit, Mrs. Hazel Ross, 259 Caddy St., pulled out from the curb to go south on Water St., just as a truck driven by Murray Manley of Bewdley going north was approaching. As the two vehicles were passing, the car driven by Mrs. Ross was in collision with the left rear wheel of the truck.

The impact drove the truck driveshaft out of the transmission and swung the rear axle around. Damage to the car was confined to the left front fender, hood and wheel.

Patrol Sgt. Gordon Trennum investigated.

Arbitration Board Hears Differences Between Firemen, Council

Cost Of Living Bonus Stumbling Block To Agreement; Discussions Started In January, Had No Success

Salaries, pensions and other details of the working agreement betwen the city and Peterborough Fire Fighters' Association for this year was discussed at the City Hall this morning in arbitration. When the council was engaged on the 1952 budget, the main issue with the Association was their proposal that the cost of living bonus of last year should be incorporated in the basic salaries. The firemen finally suggested that part of the bonus be transferred to basic salary. City council objected on the ground, as they said, that the same consideration would probably have to be given to all other employees within the council's direction.

The members of the board were Judge W. S. Lane of Picton, chairman; C. L. Dubin, Toronto, nominee of the union; and Norman Matthews, who was nominated to the board by the city.

The union case was presented by Reg. Swanborough, Hamilton, international vice-president of the Fire Fighters' Association; and associated with him were Dave Forgie, vice-president of the provincial association; Henry Nokes, president of Peterborough local; and George Gimblett, secretary.

T. J. Carley, Q.C., represented the city before the board. With him from the council were Mayor Hugh Waddell, Aldermen Gillespie, Burrows, Rehill, Black, and City Clerk Outram.

OTHER INCREASES

In submitting the salary request, included in the firemen's brief, Mr. Swanborough quoted negotiated increases in other departments this year: Toronto $260, Windsor $300, London $306, Kitchener $350, Sarnia $475, Kingston $325, Niagara Falls $367, Guelph $250, Fort William $390, and others.

Mr. Matthews requested that this information be enlarged by showing the actual salaries before and after these increases were added.

Mr. Swanborough's statement included the fact that the first class fireman here received at present a salary of $2,800 plus cost of living bonus amounting to $3,332 as compared with $3,092 last year.

$400 BETWEEN RANKS

The salary clause in the union statement was: "Our requests are first, that there be a difference of $400 between each rank, that is between first class fireman and captain, and captain and assistant chief.

"Secondly, that the cost of living at its present level be absorbed into basic wages, and that the cost of living continue at the same rate of one per cent for every point rise in the cost of living index, retroactive to January 1st, 1952, to be adjusted quarterly.

Filtration Plant To Be Enlarged For $178,750

Utilities Commission accepted Thursday the $178,750.96 bid of Walter H. Mortlock, the lowest tender, for the enlargement of the filtration plant at the waterworks.

Decision was made by the Commission after receiving a report from R. L. Dobbin, general manager, and W. H. Powell, assistant general manager.

The rated capacity of the filter system will be increased 50 per cent from 6,000,000 gallons to 9,000,000 gallons, anticipating a normal change in population for 25 to 30 years.

Three new filter beds will be added to the plant and the sedimentation basin's capacity will be doubled.

Commission is hoping that the contract will be completed for next summer's peak demand on the water system.

CCF Predicts N.B. Gov't. To Be Defeated

FREDERICTON (CP)—The New Brunswick election campaign makes its farewell on air tonight—the last night for radio speeches which with newspaper advertising, have largely replaced personal speaking appearances.

Both Premier John B. McNair and H. J. Flemming, Progressive Conservative leader, plan final appeals for support at the polls Monday.

The C. C. F. party, contesting only 12 of the 52 seats at stake, made its keynote bid last night—also by radio. The spokesman was the newly-elected party leader in New Brunswick, Claude P. Milton, 55, Moncton salesman and a candidate in Westmorland.

Mr. Milton predicted defeat of the Liberal government.

BRIEF REFERENCE

The C. C. F. leader made only stand against recognition of international unionism in the public service — the chief campaign issue from the government point of view.

Mr. Milton said the C. C. F. refused to enter the controversy resulting from strike threats more than two months ago by New Brunswick Electric Power Commission employees.

Mr. Milton stressed that his party is the only one promising a low-cost provincial plan of hospital care, similar to that instituted by the C. C. F. government in Saskatchewan.

The C. C. F. program for New Brunswick includes compulsory low cost automobile insurance, electoral reform, tax reductions, lower road construction costs, increased government responsibility in education and enactment of a Bill of Rights.

F.B.I. CRACKS DOWN ON COMMUNISTS—These five Detroiters were rounded up by the F.B.I. as the government again cracked down on the Communist Party, arresting 18 leaders in the states of Michigan, Missouri and Washington. All were charged with conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government. From left to right are: Helen Mary Winter, wife of one of the 11 top Red leaders who were convicted in New York in 1949 of similar charges; Saul Laurence Wellman; Thomas DeWitt Dennis, Jr.; Philip Schatz, and Billy Allan, Detroit correspondent for the Daily Worker.

Editors Believe Eisenhower Could Win If U.S. Election Run Off Now

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Newspaper editors and political writers over the country consider Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower the probable winner over Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson—if the presidential election were run off today.

But many newspapermen who took part in a country-wide survey undertaken by the Associated Press believe large numbers of voters haven't made up their minds They say it is too soon to tell who may hit the wire first in November.

PERSONAL APPEAL

Where editors say they have spotted present trends toward the Republicans, the reasons they mention most frequently are currents of time-for-a-change sentiment and Eisenhower's personal popularity. In state after state, newspapermen believe the General will make a btter showing in his first bid for an elective office than Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey did four years ago.

The collective opinion of editors and correspondents, brought together from surveys that tapped political sentiment as the grass roots in a great majority of the country's counties, is that Eisenhower would be fairly sure of 15 states with 153 electoral votes if the vote were taken now.

The newspapermen believe an additional 12 states are doubtful, but would be inclined at present to go Republican. If Eisenhower collected all their 142 votes, his total would reach 295—29 more than the 266 required to clinch the election.

Newspapermen say that Stevenson, at this point, could be reasonably certain of 12 states with 121 electoral votes and that he might pick up three doubtful ones with 49 votes.

That adds up to 170 votes—96 short of the 266 mark.

Half-a-dozen states with 66 votes are regarded by newspapermen as on the fence at present. Even if Stevenson bagged all of those, he wouldn't have enough to win on newspaper scoreboards

So, as the editors see it, Stevenson will have to smash away in the few weeks remaining before the election at states that now look safe for Eisenhower and those that appear to be wavering toward the General.

TOUGH FIGHT

But the Illinois Governor knows what he is up against, for the survey estimates dovetail with Stevenson's statements soon after he was nominated that he faces an uphill fight, that a desire for a change in Washington is perhaps the biggest hurdle he will have to clear.

Estimates for New England complete the national picture in the AP survey. The composite view of "down east" editors is that the area will go about the same as in 1948.

Maine with five electoral votes and Vermont with three are considered sure for Eisenhower, New Hampshire with four and Connecticut with eight are leaning toward him. Massachusetts with 16 is appraised now as safely Democratic as it was four years ago, while normally Democratic Rhode Island with three is considered a question mark now.

Dr. Goldring President Of Education Association

TORONTO—Dr. C. C. Goldring, Toronto's director of educatin, was chosen to head the top education organization in Canada Thursday He was elected to the presidency of the Canadian Education Association for the coming year at the closing session of the group's annual convention.

For Dr. Goldring the choice was more than usually significant. He becomes the first president of the C.E.A. to come from the ranks of a municipal board of education. All others have been high officials in provincial departments of education or deans of university faculties of education.

Dr. Goldring succeeds Dr. H. P. Moffatt, deputy minister of education for Nova Scotia. The Toronto official was vice-president of the C.E.A. last year. Elected new vice-president Thursday was Dr. R. O. MacFarlane, deputy minister of education for Manitoba, and chairman of the national advisory council on school radio.

The new president will be able to do something none of his predecessors could accomplish. He'll be able to walk from the location of his office as Toronto director of education to his office as C.E.A. head, because the two are only about three blocks apart. In other years the two have been bridged only by telegraph or long distance telephone.

The C.E.A. national office is in a department of education building at College and Huron Sts. Dr. Goldring's own office is in the board of education building at 155 College St.

At its first session, the C.E.A. endorsed a resolution forwarded to it by its teacher training study group. The resolution draws attention to the urgent need of extending the general and professional education of elementary school teachers from one year to at least two years beyond high school graduation.

Selected as C.E.A. life members were Dr. M. E. LaZerte, retired dean of the University of Alberta's faculty of education and a past president of C.E.A., Dr. A. G. Hooper, Ontario's superintendent of secondary schools, and Dr. E. A. Corbett, director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

Firm Gets $140,000 Fee For Handling Of Estate

TORONTO—A fee of $140,000 was allowed Thursday for the handling of the $4,389,000 estate of the late Morden Neilson, candy manufacturer. Judge Barton said he was impressed by the "very efficient manner" in which the National Trust Co. Ltd. acted as executor.

The trust firm had asked for $147,000. Four children of the candy manufacturer, who were represented by Russell Starr, challenged this claim as being "far in excess of what is proper."

Judge Barton told the trust company, represented by David J. Walker, that the firm had acted "wisely and in the best interests of the estate."

His honor referred to a judgment of the Ontario Court of Appeal on the estate of the late Joseph E. Atiknson and said it was "unfortunate that all the facts were not before the court when this appeal was being considered."

It had been argued by Mr. Starr that compensation on a percentage basis is wrong and he had cited the Atkinson decision of the appeal court in support.

"I have read the reasons for judgment (in the appeal court decision) and it is quite apparent their lordships assumed I had fixed the compensation by allowing a percentage of the whole probate value.

NOT THE CASE

"This is not the case," said Judge Barton. "I followed the well-known principle of taking into consideration the magnitude of the estate, the care and responsibility springing therefrom, the time occupied, the skill and ability displayed and the success attending its administration."

When he had done this, Judge Barton said, he had allowed what he considered "a fair and reasonable lump sum for the executors' care, pains and trouble and the time expended in and about the estate."

In commending the executors for their care, Judge Barton referred to a statement showing that they had accomplished a saving to the estate of various items amounting to more than $1,000,000.

His honor said that in his opinion the executors had "made an excellent disposition" of 39,000 shares of capital stock in the William Neilson Ltd. business at a price of $45 a share thereby realizing $1,750,000 for the estate.

A bill of costs submitted by Mr. Walker as solicitor for the executors was not dealt with by Judge Barton because of a motion still pending before the Supreme Court for an order referring the bill for taxation.

FIVE ORPHANED PUPS are fed assembly-line style with this unpatented "puppy-teria." Nine days old when this picture was taken, the pups were orphaned when their English bulldog mother died last week shortly after their birth. Their Miami owner rigged up this feeding box for them. using baby bottles and nipples, and is feeding the same formula used by his six-year-old son as a baby.

Stalin Orchid Thrills Reds

— SLOUGH, England (Reuters)—Six Russians tramped stolidly around Peter Black's orchid nurseries here, until they saw "Stalin," the giant mauve orchid with red markings that has taken years to create.

All smiles, the Russians lavished praise on the bloom and ordered a plant to be flown to Moscow. It will cost them up to £50, plus the freight charge.

Five of the Russians were delegates to the International Horticultural Congress in London. The sixth was an interpreter.

"We have seen much that is useful, but of course in the Soviet Union we have much that is better," Prof. Kolesnikov of Moscow Agricultural Academy said.

But his praise for "Stalin" was unstinted.

"Wonderful colors," he exclaimed. "A very beautiful flower," one of his companions added.

Southerners Staff Ice Island Base

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A bleak and lonely island of ice, floating near the North Pole, is to be the winter-long home of a U.S. air force research party.

The desolate six-by-nine-mile chunk of ice has been occupied as a weather station since last March although the airmen have been rotated.

The floaters' strange life at the top of the world has become so work-a-day that the air force now refers to the operation as "purely routine." Weather reports are received every six hours from the party on "Fletcher's Island"—in a region where science thinks many of the northern hemisphere's storms may be brewed.

The airmen there now are, ironically, almost all from the Southern U.S. But there's never a complaint of a chilblain.

Air force officers say one factor that led to a decision for an all-weather station is the better condition of the ice in winter time. The slushiness that makes summer landings on the ice difficult is eliminated in the below-zero cold of winter darkness.

The island now is about 100 miles from the North Pole. It moves more than a mile a day, on the average.

Egypt supplies the oldest historical record on ships.

Spite Strike Ends In Wales

TRELEWIS, Wales (AP)—The "spite strike" of surface workers at the Taff-Merthyr colliery ended this morning and everyone—above and below the ground—started pitching coal.

Several dozen underground workers struck for higher pay Monday and Tuesday, without the approval of the crews who handle the coal after it gets to the surface.

Surface workers were irritated, and to make their underground mates know what it feels like to lose pay they struck Wednesday when the miners down below wanted to work.

"COOL CONTROL"

HINTS ON TABLE TENNIS

1 Control is essential for good results in this game. Ball must be watched every instant, otherwise shots will be missed or returns will not be effective. Concentrate keeping your eye on the ball.

2 Footwork must be right. Keep on your toes, changing position of feet with every stroke. Always "choke" your racket by keeping grip as close to hitting blade as is possible. This gives control and leverage.

3 Keep the ball low. Avoid tilting the hitting blade back or jabbing at ball. Follow-through on every shot keeps ball controlled. Return to position in centre of table after every shot — do not edge over to side.

Yes, it's control that counts in table tennis as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Mature Women Should Try New Hairdo For A Change

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

How many years has it been since you tried a new hair-do? Most women over 40, according to famous New York hair stylist Ingerid, cling to inappropriate coiffures as if they were the only ones in the world.

If you are in a quandary as to how to make up and wear your hair, this stylist has some suggestions which may prove helpful.

"First of all," she says, "approach your hairdresser with an open mind. Don't start off by telling him or her what to do. You'll only wind up with the same old style."

The older the woman is, the more important it becomes to have her hair complement the facial contours, rather than call attention to thel ines which invariably develop with age.

Of prime importance is a good, soft permanent. Nothing is more harsh and unbecoming, in the opinion of Ingerid, than a tight, crimpy permanent that so many demand because they think "it will last longer".

Proper cutting and shaping of the hair are absolutely necessary to create a good foundation for the styling.

Every face has certain imperfections that can be corrected by expert styling. For instance, a part is always an attention-getter. It draws the eyes to that side of the face. →

Generally speaking, hair swept up and away from the face gives a definite lift and is more youthful than dips over the cheeks and forehead.

This type of hair-do will also minimize the square jaw and facial lines. The entire effect is one of smoothness and grace. The sculptured waves add serenity and mature beauty.

Ingerid likes to think of make-up in conjunction with her hair styling, too. "A good base, lightly applied, gives smoothness, color and a more youthful contour," she explains. "Make-up may not erase, but it certainly can cover the blemishes of time."

Age tends to tighten and pinch the lines of the mouth. This stylist therefore suggests that you give it a generous outline with a light, rosy-toned lipstick. She recommends that you avoid the darker shades which tend to make your mouth look like a pencil-thin line.

The stylist feels that eye make-up is essential for the mature woman. But she does urge that you avoid over-tweezing your eye-brows. "Pencil them in, instead," she suggests, "using tiny, feathery strokes of the pencil to give warmth and expression."

Brown mascara is better than black, because it gives a much softer look to your facial expression. Learn to use a small amount of eye shadow, too. It will give your eyes more depth and feeling.

Give some thought to the hats you select. If your face is small and your hair sculptured, a hat that is too large, square or flat will ruin the most perfectly coiffured appearance. Here again your hairdresser can be of help. Ask her advice.

This is the perfect time of the year for change. Why don't you start the season right with a fresh approach to your hair and make-up?

A MATURE WOMAN must have her hair expertly styled by a skilled hairdresser if she wants to be assured a youthful, attractive appearance. And the hairdresser should be allowed a free hand. Don't get into the habit of insisting upon a certain hair cut and set year after year. Just as your make-up and wardrobe requirements change, so do your hair-styling needs. Too many women think because they have passed the 40-year mark that they must have their hair set around their faces (insert). Instead of softening and beautifying, this type of styling casts shadows and accentuates downward lines. How much lovelier you would look with your hair swept up and away from the temples and forehead (left). The entire effect is one of smoothness and grace (right).

Pastry, Cookies, Cake

QUESTION: I appreciate your food column in our paper every week. Please send me a recipe (a good rich one) for cream pie filling, also a calorie chart. Thank you in advance, Mrs. A. J. M.

ANSWER:

RICH CREAM PIE FILLING

Three tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1-3 to ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup cold cream, 2 cups scalded whole milk, 3 egg yolks, 3 tablespoons butter, 2-3 teaspoon vanilla. Mix together the flour, cornstarch, salt and sugar. Add the chilled cream and mix to a smooth past. Gradually stir into it the scalded milk and cook, stirring, over boiling water until the mixture is thick and all taste of raw starch disappears. Beat the yolks and pour a little of the hot mixture over them stirring. then return all to the filling in double boiler and cook 2 more minutes stirring. Remove from heat and add butter and vanilla and cool a little before pouring into pie shell. Cover with meringue made by beating the left-over whites until stiff then beating in 6 tablespoons sugar until meringue will stand in peaks. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Bake in slow oven until meringue is golden.

I have sent the calorie chart.

PERFECT PASTRY FOR APPLE PIE

(Some of my readers are young brides and have asked me to tell them exactly how much water to add to their pastry, instead of saying some such thing as "add just enough cold water to make dough hold together." This recipe gives exact amounts.)

Two and one-quarter cups sifted all-purpose fluoor, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup best quality shortening OR one-half lard and one-half butter or margarine, 5 tablespoons ice cold water.

Add the salt to the flour and rub the shortening into them with fingers and thumbs or use pastry blender, mxing until it resembles coarse oatmeal in appearance. Add exactly 5 level tablespoons ice cold water, sprinkling over top of flour mixture. Mix with a fork until the mass of dough will hold together. Break in half. Roll out one half on lightly floured board to one-eighth inch thickness. Fit into deep pie plate, and trim off rough edges with sharp knife

APPLES AND FILLING: Pare apples and slice, or pare and quarter and core and slice. My mother belonged to the school that sliced the apples off the core directly into the pie plate. As she had the pie plate about one-third full she would sprinkle on some sugar from ½ cup she had standing ready, also a light little sprinkle of nutmeg. She continued until pie plate was piled high with sliced apples sprinkled with the remainder of the ½ cup of sugar. I think she added about one-half teaspoon nutmeg altogether. She rolled out her top crust and made many more gashes than most bakers do these days in it, for she folded it over and slit it almost the full length of the fold, at half-inch intervals. She moistened the edge of her bottom crust and very carefully lifted the top crust to cover the apples evenly. Then she gave it a preliminary press-down with her thumbs and cut off the excess crust at the edge. Then she used a fork dipped into flour to crimp the edge tightly.

The top was brushed with 2 teaspoons each sugar and milk stirred together. Mother started her pies in a very hot oven of 475 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, and reduced the temperature to 275 deg. Fahr. for about 35 minutes to 40 minutes. Do you remember those little white glass jars of cream cheese you could buy about 25 years ago? One of these was always on the table when we had apple pie. Good old days.

DATE MOCHA CAKE

Makes a large two-layer cake from your best plain cake recipe. When cold, put together with

DATE FILLING: Cut up one-half pound dates, add ½ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice OR grated rind ½ lemon and ½ cup water and cook over low heat until very soft. If desired use 1 cup water, and it need not be watched so closely. Do not spread until cool. Put top layer on and spread with MOCHE FROSTING: Cream 4 tablespoons butter until dry, then beat in 2 cups sifted icing sugar, 3 tablespoons very strong coffee, 2 tablespoons cocoa, shake of salt and 1 beaten yolk (if desired use 1 teaspoon powdered instant coffee and 1 tablespoon cream instead of strong coffee).

RYE MUFFINS

Put sifter over mixing bowl and into it put ¾ cup rye flour and ¾ cup sifted white flour, 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, and sift all into bowl. Beat 1 egg well and to it add 3 tablespoons molasses, ¾ cup milk, and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine or shortening, melted. Stir into flour mixture, beating for 30 seconds. Turn into greased muffin tins, filling them two-thirds full. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 18 to 20 minutes.

If you do not have the recipes for cornmeal gems and bread, and want them, please write to me through this newspaper.

GRAPE PIE
(CONCORD GRAPES)

Wash and stem concord grapes and measure seven cups. Slip skin from pulp. Heat pulp to boiling and boil 5 minutes. Rub through sieve to remove seeds. Mix together 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1½ cups sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, grated ring 1 orange. Stir this into the grape pulp, and cook until thickened, stirring. Add the grape skins and cool. Line a pie plate with plain pastry. Turn the filling into it. Cover with ⅜-inch wide strips of pastry, moistening the ends of them to hold in place at edge. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer.

Housing For Older People To Be Urged Here By L.C.W.

A motion that the Local Council of Women foster a movement to urge that Peterborough build housing for older people similar to that in Belleville, Toronto or Owen Sound was heartily approved at the general meeting Thursday afternoon.

A united and spirited enthusiasm, such as has not been shown by the Council for some time, greeted this proposal put forth by convener of laws Mrs. F. Merrett. It was decided to call a meeting right away of representatives of all women's organizations in the city to discuss what can be done in this direction.

It is hoped that a meeting would follow which would be attended by members of the men's organizations and that this would result in a motion to the City Council. Mrs. Merrett had information to show that these housing projects, such as that just completed in six months' time at Toronto, are the united effort of the Federal, provincial and municipal governments.

A date for the women's meeting is to be set immediately and letters will then go to the organizations asking that the president or a representative arrange to attend.

Another matter of much concern again discussed by Council was the lack of of rest room accommodation for the people on the new outdoor market. It was felt that the health authorities of the city at least should be doing something about this. The women decided to send a letter to the president of the Federation of Agriculture to see if he might bring pressure on this.

The October meeting is to be on the evening of the 16th when Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt will speak on a United Nations subject. It is being held in the evening to accommodate the working members of affiliated organizations and it is also open to the public. The larger seating accommodation of the Y.W.C.A. recreation room has been secured.

This address will precede the observance of United Nations Week starting October 20, and a United Nations tea is to be held by the Council on October 24th in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room. Mrs. W. F. Connal was appointed convener, to be assisted by the Council's conveners of United Nations and of Immigration, and by the vice presidents.

Date of the children's spring fashion show was set as February 26th, at Brock Ballroom, with Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy as convener, assisted by Mrs. Allan B. Collis.

Mrs. J. M. Fanning was asked to take over the treasurer's work for the balance of the year, owing to the resignation of Mrs. J. W. Smillie who is now on the permanent teaching staff of the city.

Reports on the meeting of the Provincial Council of Women were read by the delegates Mrs. A. W. Nelson, who represented the president, and Mrs. K. Simpson.

President Mrs. W. Steinkraus presided for this meeting.

COUNCIL MEETING

Home and School Council fall activities started with a meeting Wednesday in the Y.W.C.A., president Mrs. C. G. Collins presiding.

Constable Donald Mackay of the city police force told the members of the efforts being made in the schools to train the children to be safety minded. He said that by talking to them in the familiar surroundings of the classroom a lot more has been accomplished.

After patrols are selected, the children are given extensive training before being taken to the less busy intersections he said. The training continues until they are able to handle a busy intersection. After training to thoroughness in dealing with street crossing, bicycle riding, etc., they are eligible to report offenders who are dealt with in the Court of Justice—a weekly meeting held to discuss problems, the constable explained.

Plans are under way for rural bus patrol, the officer advised.

Reports included one on the June 4th workshop at Mrs. Collins' summer home by Mrs. N. Gray, and one by Mrs. W. Higgins in connection with driving polio victims to the Y.W.C.A. pool.

Mrs. G. MacMillan led the devotional period with a reading from Psalms and prayer.

Refreshments were served by the Council executive at the close.

Tea And Coffee Luxuries For German Household

TORONTO (CP)—If Canadian housewives think they have budget problems, they should pity the poor German women, says Reta E Horner of Hamilton.

Miss Horner has just returned from a summer in Europe where she attended an international Y.W.C.A. camp at Burckhardthaus, West German Y.W.C.A. hesdquarters. "Y" members from 16 countries were at the two-week conference, first international meeting sponsored by Burckhardthaus since the war.

IN LUXURY CLASS

In a letter to Y.W.C.A. headquarters here, the Hamilton "Y" program director says:

"Tea and coffee are luxuries as the cost is four times what it is in Canada. And when we consider that the German salary is about one-quarter of ours we realize that tea and coffee cannot be a regular commodity in an average home."

Eggs are 86 cents a dozen, she said. An orange costs 15 cents.

Miss Horner found that many Germans wear national costume. Leather shorts, or "lederhosen," worn by men and boys were interesting.

"Even tiny boys wear them and we thought that here the German mother has it a little easier than the Canadian mother — because there is no washing."

No ironing, no mending either. "They need only be hung out to air," she wrote.

ECONOMICAL TOO

Lederhosen cost $8 to $10 for small sizes. One youth had had only four pairs in his 18 years and when he outgrew them they were handed down to his younger brothers.

Camp delegates discussed tensions in their home countries "not as learned politicians but as ordinary people see them and we saw how closely linked our problems are."

"Our theme was 'my contribution to peace' and in our workshops we discussed this in relation to poverty and wealth, the refugee, the worker, and the family."

Miss Horner described the German Y.W.C.A. as a church movement in many ways comparable to the organizations of women and girls in Canadian churches with a program centred on Bible study.

"Our 'Y' has the same Christian basis but our program is more extensive and more social and recreational," said Miss Horner.

She recalled that the German Y.W.C.A. was founded by a Pastor Burckhard of the Lutheran Church and it has continued as an organization of that church. The president is a man.

Reeds-Ashmore

Cambridge St. United Church, Lindsay, was scene of the wedding of Mary Ann Ashmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ashmore of Lindsay, to Donald Allan Reeds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reeds of Lindsay. Miss Ashmore is a 1951 graduate of the Peterborough Civic Hospital School of Nursing.

Tall baskets of gladioli formed an effective background for the double ring ceremony performed by Dr. W. B. Neal. Prof. W. E. Fletcher played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown in white nylon taffeta and chantilly lace. The bodice was of lace with long lily pointed sleeves buttoning at the wrist, the collar was Queen Anne style. The full skirt was of nylon net over taffeta and chantilly lace panelled the front. A Queen Anne headdress held her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of Sweetheart roses and baby white 'mums.

Maid of honor, Miss Ruth Ashmore, sister of the bride, was gowned in rust. Bridesmaid was Miss Wilma Deyell of Peterborough who was gowned in gold. The dresses were of chantilly lace over taffeta, with Queen Anne style collars and long lily point sleeves, with matching headdresses. They carried cascades of gold and rust 'mums.

Mr. Tony Reeds, brother of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers were Mervin Pass of Lindsay and Donald Kennedy of Dunsford.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Peterborough, Toronto, Oshawa and Toledo, Ohio. The reception was held in the church parlors.

For the wedding trip to Ottawa, the bride donned a beige popshan dress with brown accessories and a corsage of gold 'mums. Upon their return they will reside in Mount Forest.

DOROTHY DIX

When Father Is Provided With His Own Apartment

DEAR MISS DIX: Our 75-year-old father lives alone in a two-room, well furnished apartment with all conveniences for his comfort and pleasure. We are three married daughters, each with two children, and our husbands say they would rather contribute financially to keep him in a home of his own. Dad is in good health, is not the demanding type and assures us that he prefers to live as he does. We girls take turns visiting him daily. Are we doing the right thing? Our friends say we are selfish. J. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Do your friends treat their own parents as generously and devotedly as you do yours? I doubt it, as you three daughters have arrived at a most sensible and considerate treatment of a very difficult problem. Since your father prefers his own home —and a great many old people do —he is much better off in it. He certainly is not being neglected by his children, has no financial worries and can come and go as he pleases. Would that every aging parent had as pleasant an outlook.

✧ ✧ ✧

MEETING DATE IN TOWN

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 years old and for the past nine months have been going with a 27-year-old man. He had always picked me up at my home but lately, when we go out, I have been meeting him in town. I live in a suburb and he lives in the city, about half an hour's ride, by car, from my home. Do you think I should make him call for me, or is it all right to meet him as I do? T. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is no reason why you shouldn't meet the young man in town occasionally, particularly if your evening's entertainment happens to be in the city. However, don't let it become so fixed a habit that your friend discontinues calling for you altogether.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time ago you published a letter from a woman who has a rival in a television set. I, too, have the same trouble. My husband works part time and, from the moment he comes home until it is time to go back to work, or go to bed, he has television going. He even watches cooking lessons. He darkens the room so I have to go into the bedroom in order to read. M. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: As you mentioned yourself, there isn't much solution to this problem except to wait until it wears off—which it does in time. However, I would like to mention that your husband is doing the wrong thing by watching television in a darkened room. Experts maintain that it is easier on the eyes if a light is burning. If you can learn to read while television is on — a trick that many people have acquired—this will at least enable you to read in the living room.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a nice girl but my parents object to her as she was born out of wedlock. Y. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The mistakes of a girl's parents certainly shouldn't be visited on her. If, in other respects, she is a young lady of good character and personality, your parents' objections are unwarranted.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it all right for a girl to telephone a boy? He telephoned me, but mother says I shouldn't call him. I am very fond of him. JOAN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While it is not good policy for a girl to call a boy frequently, there is certainly no harm in an occasional phone call for a definite purpose. You would, however, be much better off following your mother's advice than in becoming a pest to the boy and his family.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: How can I convince a friend of mine to go to the college of her parents' choice? She wants to go to another part of the country. She would like to be a missionary, but her folks want her to learn a trade. How can we put some sense into her head? L. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If, by the time she is of college age, a girl is not able to form a sound judgement of what school she wishes to attend and what career she wishes to follow, there isn't much point in her going in for higher education at all. Your friend's ambition is certainly most laudable. No career could be finer than going into strange lands to help God's children. She should be permitted to follow her own conscience in this matter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently my boy friend with whom I had been going for five months, broke it off with me. He is 21, I am 18. Suddenly he stopped seeing me as frequently as before, and one night he came over to announce that he was going to marry another girl. I'm sure he doesn't love her and I'm nearly frantic over the whole thing. Do you think it would help matters if I wrote him a nice, newsey letter? BROKEN HEARTED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The only thing you can do, girl, is resign yourself to the situation, get over your broken heart and find another beau. A five-month friendship doesn't exactly give you a lien on a boy, and you have no reason to doubt his love for the other girl. Rest assured, you can and will get over the hurt, and will be able to face the future with confidence.

JEWELLERY is turned into conversation pieces in these gossamer designs for fall. Shimmering, silvery tendrils (left), sparkling with tiny rhinestones, form a spider pattern in this tiara, worn with matching earrings. The flexible wire can be twisted to form a crown, necklace or decoration for a belt. Miniature shells (right) are centred with minute mock pearls to form earrings and choker necklace. Shells and pearls are handset in flexible wire. The necklace can also be threaded through a chignon or worn as a single strap on a strapless evening gown.

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: Received my recipe for clover leaf buns. Many thanks for same. Tried some today and they are fine. Could you send me a recipe for whole wheat bread and also for tomato soup cake? I would like to try them for the fair. —Mrs. John C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am very glad the clover leaf buns were successful and wish you good luck with them and your other entries at the fair.

The recipe for whole wheat bread is miles long but every time I give it to you in this column it makes new converts so here it is again. Please clip it all ye who are bread bakers for the time will come when you make nothing but it.

HOMEMADE WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

Eighteen measuring cups 100% whole wheat bread flour, not sifted but stirred with your hand. Measure into an outsize bowl or clean dishpan. Scald 4¼ cups pasteurized skim milk, then cool it to lukewarm. To this add 3 tablespoons peanut oil or 3½ to 4½ tablespoons melted margarine, ½ cup powdered skim milk, 2 tablespoons salt, ¾ cup Barbados light molasses, 3 eggs. Beat these ingredients well together.

Dissolve 3 packages quick-acting granular yeast in 1½ cups lukewarm water with 1 tablespoon molasses for 10 minutes. When it has foamed up double in volume add to the milk mixture and mix well, then add this mixture to the flour. This is sticky to knead so the first time it is best to knead it right in the bowl. Cover well and stand aside in a warm but not hot place—until a dent is left in the dough when pressed light with the finger and dough is risen double in volume. Dough may be bigger than this but time required is at least 2 hours.

Punch the dough down to loosen it from sides of bowl then turn out on floured board and knead until it is quite satiny—this requires about 24 or 26 turns of the dough. Use whole wheat flour to dredge the board.

Divide dough into 5 equal parts and fold and tuck each part under in shaping loaves that are smooth on top. Put in greased loaf pans, cover and let rise until another dent is left in loaf when touched lightly with finger—about ¾ of an hour this time, but nevertheless doubled in bulk. Bake at 365 deg. Fahr. till bread is free from sides of pans. Do not bake on bottom shelf of oven or bread will burn. Second or third shelves are better and time is about three-quarters of an hour. Remove from pans at once and cool on rack. If desired brush bread with melted butter to give tasty soft crust.

TOMATO SOUP CAKE

One can tomato soup, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup melted butter, 1 cup each white sugar, raisins, flour, broken nutmeats, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon nutmeg; and additional 1 cup flour sifted with 2 teaspoons baking powder. Stir into the undiluted soup the soda, then the butter. Sift together the sugar, flour (1st cup), cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves and add them to first mixture with the raisins and nuts. Sift in the 2nd cup flour which has been previously sifted with the baking powder. Bake in buttered and buttered-paper-lined square pan 30 minutes at about 375 deg. Fahr. Frost with Cream Cheese Frosting: Cream 1 package white cream cheese with 1½ cups icing sugar which has been sifted with ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger. Mix until smooth and moisten with 1 tablespoon cream then beat until creamy enough to spread attractively.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Your column is the first thing I read when the paper comes. Would you have a method for canning cauliflower so it won't turn dark in processing.—Mrs. Lorne J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: That is a poser that even the canners can't answer BUT you can pickle it and keep it white. Trim the cauliflower and break into flowerets, blanch 1 minute in boiling water containing 2 per cent. citric acid. That is to each quart of boiling water add a scant ounce of citric acid powder which you buy at the drug store. Drain at once. Place in crock or enamel pan and sprinkle each quart of flowerets with 2 tablespoons salt and let stand overnight. Prepare vinegar by adding to each quart of it 1 teaspoon peppercorns, 1 teaspoon whole allspice and 6 cloves tied in bag. Boil vinegar with spices gently for ½ hour and chill thoroughly. Drain and rinse cauliflower, pack in sterile jars, pour prepared cold vinegar mixture over, seal. These are ready in 1 month. The manufacturer who gave me this formula swears they remain white.

What's Right

You meet a friend whose appearance leads you to suspect he is not well.

WRONG: Say: "You aren't looking well. Have you been ill?"

RIGHT: Show your concern in a way that will not depress him. Say something like: "Tell me all about yourself."

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Distinctive Supper Dish Is Eggplant Casserole

By KAY RE X
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Egg-plant, a mystery vegetable to many Canadian housewives, makes a distinctive supper-dish these autumn days.

Home economists of the consumer section, Canadian Department of Agriculture, describe it as the "aristocrat" of vegetables and offer an easy-to-make recipe for eggplant casserole.

To make: Dice and pre-cook eggplant for five minutes, then place in casserole. Add a can of heated cream of mushroom soup to which a little chopped onion has been added. Sprinkle with grated cheese. For extra flavor, tomato slices can be arranged on top of the cheese. Then the whole is topped with buttered crumbs.

Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees fahrenheit until tender (about 30 minutes).

Another suggestion from the department: Cut the eggplant in halves lengthwise, scoop out a portion of the centre and fill the shell with a tasty stuffing such as creamed meat or vegetables. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 degrees Fahrenheit until eggplant is tender (about 30 minutes).

For frying: Peel and cut eggplant into half-inch slices. Dip into egg and crumbs and saute in a small amount of fat until tender and brown. This takes approximately eight minutes.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FISH

The Fisheries Department offers this recipe for salmon salad: One pound canned salmon; one cup celery, coarsely sliced; one-third cup thin cucumber slices; three-quarters cup mayonnaise; four teaspoons vinegar; two to three teaspoons prepared horseradish; eight drops Worcestershire sauce; two tablespoon chopped green pepper; one-half teaspoon finely chopped onion; six to eight large, ripe, firm tomatoes; crisp salad greens.

Have all salad ingredients cold. Remove skin from salmon but don't drain. Crush bones, separate salmon into bite-size pieces. Add celery and cucumber. Combine mayonnaise with next five ingredients and pour over top. Toss lightly with fork. Remove stem end from each tomato. Cut into six sections leaving intact at the bottom.

Place tomato on greens, gently spread sections apart, sprinkle with salt, heap salad lightly into centre. Serve with additional mayonnaise if desired. Yield: Six to eight servings.

A Fisheries Department publication says Canada's Fisheries Research Board is making additional use of the voluntary fish-tasting panel in Vancouver. The latter originally was formed to evaluate the results of experiments on the freezing versus icing of fish stowed aboard a fishing-vessel. On one occasion it was used when a cannery desired to ascertain the taste appeal of its new type of canned smoked fish.

EGGS

The Poultry Products Institut of Canada recommends that wise housewives compare prices when buying eggs. Grade A peewee, small and medium-size eggs should be plentiful for the next two or three months, it says. And if the price differential between them and grade A large is sufficient then it would be more economical to buy the smaller eggs.

—Ever remembered by Isabel and Carman.

CLARK—In loving memory of a loving wife and mother, Mrs. Helen Taylor Clark, who passed away, Tuesday, September 19, 1950.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain,
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Sadly missed by husband Bruce and family.

ELMHIRST — Lovingly remembering mother, Mrs. Frank Elmhirst, who left us for higher service 2 years ago Sept. 19.
Though on life's path the shadows fall,
And though the light grows dim,
We know that God is over all
And we can trust in Him;
And trusting in him we can say,
"Whatever be Thy will."
Knowing through each shadowed way,
His great love shineth still.
Thy day has come, not gone;
The sun has risen, not set;
Thy life in now beyond
The reach of death or change,
Not ended—but begun
O, gentle heart—Sweet Mother.
—The family.

FOSTER—In loving memory of a dear wife, Mabel Jane Foster.
All her toils and conflicts o'er,
Though she dwells with Christ above
O, what glory she's discovered
In a Saviour whom she loved.
—Always remembered by husband and son Ross.

ROWLAND — Treasured memories of our darling Phyllis who left us thirteen years ago to-day.
The saddest chord on memory's harp
Is softly touched today—
She has not gone from those she loved
Nor has she travelled far,
Just entered God's most lovely room
And left the door ajar.
—Still missed, still loved, Mother and family.

WILLIAMSON—In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away September 19, 1951.
Her weary hours and days of pain
Her troubled nights are past,
And in our aching hearts we know
She has found rest at last.
—Ever remembered by her two daughters, Verna Osborne and Gertrude Hazelwood.

WILLIAMSON—In loving memory of our dear Mother (Mrs. Arthur L. Williamson) who passed away on Sept. 19, 1951.
Peaceful is thy rest, dear Mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

Soaking Rain

hibitors.

This section in number of entries and prize money compared favorably with Peterborough, although the prize money was described by several poultry farmers as low for a class "A" fair. Birds were displayed from Uxbridge, Cannington, Bowmanville, Fenelon Falls, Peterborough and Lindsay.

Peterborough was best represented in the horse section where Mrs. Earl McGill entered hackneys and Allan B. Mann carriage and road horses. From the Peterborough district were Wilfred Lindsay of Campbellcroft. Grant Henry of Millbrook, Roy Ferren and Gar Robinson, both of Cavan who displayed light, heavy and saddle horses.

The number of entries in this section was slightly higher than last year's total and was a little larger than Peterborough's, but included nearly the same exhibitors as in Peterborough. Judging was held up Thursday due to rains and will be continued today.

FEW ENTER CATTLE.

Only a few district farmers are exhibiting cattle as entrants number the same as last year for the Lindsady exhibition and compare with Peterborough. Allen Linton, of Cobourg, has entered herefords, James T. Brown of Newcastle, hosteins, Garnet Kerr of Campbellford, jerseys, and Lorne Pimmett of Indian River, shorthorns.

Everett Mark, president of the Lindsay exhibition and chairman of the sheep division, reported "the biggest sheep show the exhibition has had." But the nearest exhibitor to Peterborough was Esmond Storey of Omemee, others coming from Hampton, Bowmanville, Little Britain and Tyrone.

In the swine judging which started Thursday, the McGee farm from Peterborough was represented as well as Leonard McNeil of Fraserville. This class was much larger than in Peterborough.

In the homemaker's building there were good displays of fruit and vegetables, flowers, baking and handicraft work. There was a large display by public school children which covered all phases of school work.

LARGE MIDWAY

The exhibition this year features the Conklin shows, direct from the Toronto C.N.E. They're 10 rides for children, including boats in water, a roller-coaster, train, ferris wheel, merry-go-round, cars and ponies.

For adults the midway has nine rides such as the ferris wheel, rocket planes, roll-a-plane, tilt-a-whirl, octopus, high ball, sky lift and scooter. There is a variety of side shows, fun house, crystal maze, motor drome, cowboy-show-circus, freak and girl shows.

Besides the rides and side shows there is the usual line of games of chance.

The acrobatic family, the Keppo family, which has appeared several times in Peterborough, has stolen the praise from headline acts on the grandstand performance. The tapping toes of Little Willie, a colored American dancer, thrilled Thursday night's audience which also fully accepted the antics of nationally-known clown, Erno, who fiddles on the bagpipes. The cracking whip of Australian, Joan Ross, kept the audience alert.

In a musical mood the exhibition features this year the Ben Yost Vikings and the Enchanted Strings. Both these groups offered a varied program of music and song which showed their versatility with popular and classical music.

Backing the acts are the Anita Clarke dancers, Barry Townley's orchestra and musician-comedian, Billy Meek, master of ceremonies, who has a very original musical version of Jack and the Beanstalk.

Harness racing was bogged down Thursday but those events will be added to today's and Saturday's races if the track is suitable for racing. Stan Blewett is racing his Gadabout and Miss Chipson, Dr. Art Johnston his Lady Victoria and Mrs. Hugh Davis, Blanche Gratton, all Peterborough horses. Harness racing stables from central and western Ontario are well-represented for the Lindsay meet.

Feature atraction in the harness racing was held Wednesday, the $1,000 race for three-year-olds, won by a Kingston horse, Country Lad.

Killed By Car

MATTAWA (CP)—Michael Bentley, 66-year-old farmer, died in hospital last night after being struck by a car on the outskirts of this town 40 miles east of North Bay.

Police said Bentley stepped out of another automobile into the path of a car police said was driven by J. Evers of Dearborn, Mich.

Arbitration

"We further request that our salary be brought on a par with the police department."

As to the proposed positional differential, Mr. Carley quoted comparable figures for other departments. Peterborough: first class fireman, $3,276.; captain, $3,510.

Oshawa: first class man $3,150; captains, $3,350 and $3,450.

Kingston: first class, $2,825; lieutenant, $2,925; captain, $3,075.

Guelph: first class, $2,900; lieutenant, $3,025; captains, $3,125 and $3,175.

Chatham: first class fireman, $3,222; lieutenant, $3,309; captain, $3,397.

"The $400 differential asked by our Peterborough firemen does not show in the returns we have received from other cities about their departments," Mr. Carley commented.

SHOULD GET INCREASE

Mr. Swanborough also urged that when first class men were temporarily given the authority of Captain, at least in period of three or four days or more, they should receive Captain's pay for that time because they had to assume additional responsibility.

The union brief requested that the civic pension plan be changed (at least on firemen) "so that contributions of the employee and the city be each raised to seven per cent per annum instead of the present five per cent."

Mr. Swanborough said that on the present pension scale, some pensions would amount to only $409 a year.

OVERLOOKED

On that point, Mr. Carley said it was evident that the men's brief overlooked the fact that pensions were calculated on the salary plus cost of living bonus, and not on the basic salary only.

On that basis the first class fireman's pension would not be $409 a year, but $924.

"One man retired from the deparent recently," Mr. Carley said, "and got pension benefit on salary plus cost of living bonus."

City Clerk Outram told the Board he had given the pension plan a great deal of thought over years. Department of Municipal Affairs was holding out for its submission to a vote of the people. Mr. Outram said he felt the plan would not pass at the polls.

BEST IN PROVNCE

"In a moment of weakness, Hon. Mr. Dunbar approved our plan," Mr. Outram said. "There is not another city in Ontario that has as generous a pension plan as Peterborough."

"The same plan, on the whole, was approved for Brantford. But there was no other city."

Mr. Swanborough said the union was concerned about some men who could not get the pension Mr. Outram quoted.

Mr. Outram said there were men taken into the department during wartime, and it was understood because they were older than others similarly engaged, that they would retire after the war. Instead, they were retained, and they would not have time to reach the basic 20 years' service required.

Mr. Swanborough submitted to the Board the present basic and gross salaries and also the requested basic.

The first class fireman of the Peterborough department receives $2,800 basic plus cost of living bonus, making the total pay $3,332; and the requested basic pay for that caregory is $3,500.

He said this request was based on the conservative estimate of $1.20 an hour, "which is the current rate paid by the city to members of the Civic Employees' Union for skilled men. It is submitted that after four years' training, the modern fireman, operating equipment worth up to $40,000, should be at least in this category."

Comparable wages of the industrial workers in the area showed basic rates for labor carrying $1.13 an hour to $1.32 an hour."

WORK BACKWARDS

In a comment on action of the Police Commission, Mr. Carley said: "The city council cannot take a rigid rule that every time the police get an increase in salary the firemen shall get it. That would become a case of the tail wagging the dog, and in effect the Commission would be setting the pace for the whole city, and we would not have democratic administration because the Police Commission is not an elective body."

Mr. Carley said that the council could not be accused of avoiding responsibility if they did not grant all the requests that are made to them. The responsibility of the elective council was to all the citizens at large. Whatever increases they grant come out of the pockets of all the fellow workers of the firemen throughout the city.

Mr. Carley said the bonus was given to firemen to meet the cost of living. If it was included in the salary then the firemen would be sitting on the pinnacle of salary, if any recession took place, and it would have to be paid by the other citizens whose earnings might decline if the tide went out.

The board concluded the hearing during the noon hour and reserved its judgment, pending their own conference on the evidence presented to them.

Ex-Jockey Remanded

FORT ERIE (CP) — Ex-jockey Johnny Perron today was remanded to Oct. 31 for preliminary hearing on a charge arising from last year's race-fixing scandal. His bail was renewed.

25 Africans Killed

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (Reuters)—Twenty-five Africans were killed last night when their bus left the road at the Linthipe River bridge.

Junior Champion Holstein Bull Wins Sr. Crown

LINDSAY (ENS).—Spectators and breeders were surprised on Thursday when the prize for grand champion Holstein bull at the Lindsay Central Exhibition went, not to the senior champion, Glen Afton Futurity, shown by the Central Durham Bull Club, who had won that award at several other fairs and exhibitions this year, mainly the Ottawa Exhibition and Peterborough Fair, but to the junior champion, Pabst Walker Ollie, also shown by the Central Durham Club.

In a good bull showing, in spite of the rain which fell soon after the events commenced, the James T. Brown farm took off four championships, including the two awarded to the Central Durham Club. The Brown farm is at Newcastle.

In selecting the younger bull for the grand championship, the winning entry had won the senior yearling class previously, the judges found fewer faults in him, and voiced the belief that he had more chance of becoming a better bull in the future.

Reserve senior champion was Bond Haven Rag, champ shown by William J. Murphy of Lindsay. Reserve junior champion was the champion junior yearling shown by Sherman J. Moore of Lindsay.

Other winners in the bull class were: junior calf, James Brown, Brownview Futurity Pat; Est. of A. Fleming, Flemingdale, Sovereign Chief; Sherman J. Moore, Mooredales Roelands Silver Supreme; senior calf, James T. Brown, Brownview Futurity Rex; Est. of A. D. Fleming, Flemingdale, Alexander Supreme; James T. Brown, Brownview Futurity Laurel; Est. of A. D. Fleming, Flemingdale Rag Apple, High Spot, 2 year bull; Est. of A. D. Fleming, Pomona Victorgram, also won third in senior championship awards.

A fine showing of animals was presented for judging with only small differences deciding the issue in many cases. The champion bull was judged to be a rare type for show, showing clean cut lines, good feet and legs and excellent balance throughout.

Other judging results were delayed by rain, which cancelled several events at the exhibition Thursday.

Given Year In Jail For Bodily Harm

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson today sentenced Angelo Gregorini, 58, to one year in jail for inflicting grievous bodily harm by shooting.

A Supreme Court jury last night acquitted Gregorini of attempted murder but convicted him on the lesser charge.

5 Safety Patrols Begin Operating At King Edward

School safety patrols went into operation at King Edward School today. The five patrols went on duty at 1.10 p.m. at Aylmer St., in front of the school, Princess and George, Locke and Lansdowne, Park and Lansdowne and Park and Romaine Sts.

This is the fourth school where patrols have been trained by Constable Don MacKay, who is in charge of the school safety program, since he started the project last spring.

Altogether, ten patrols have been set up at King Edward, so there will be enough patrols to cover intersections near the school on each of the three shifts, morning, afternoon and a reserve patrol in case some of the members are unable to be on duty. Sharon Reynolds, 124 Romaine St., is the captain in charge of the patrols at King Edward.

Constable MacKay has been giving the classes at King Edward intensive training all this week in order to get the patrols in operation today. Some may consider that progress in replacing adult guards with school patrols is slow, commented Constable MacKay, but before patrols go on duty in each school, "every classroom is visited, so each child can be sold on safety. Before patrols go on duty all pupils understand what the patrol means and they are given thorough instructions in safety."

SAFETY COUNCIL

A bylaw in the city making school areas 20 mile an hour speed zones is proposed by Constable Mackay as a safety measure to protect children crossing busy intersections. He is hoping that the formation of a traffic safety council as proposed at the last Chamber of Commerce meeting will receive city-wide support among service clubs, home and school associations and other interested groups and individuals in the city.

A traffic count taken by constable Mackay on George St., recently between 8.15 and noon revealed that the average number of cars passing along George St., at Princess St., was 15 per minute. The number was as high as 22 and as low as eight, so the patrols on duty there will have a big responsibility seeing that their fellow students get across the streets safely. However, constable Mackay is confident they will be able to do as good a job as the other patrols he has trained have done so far.

Fear Spirit

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—A "Kaditcha" spirit is scaring wizard-fearing aborigines away from the granites goldfields of central Australia. The Kaditcha's "feathered feet" are blamed by the aborigines for the mysterious illness and death of 12 of their companions in the last three months. With each death over natives disappear. The tiny Wailbri tribe has thinned from 150 to 30.

STOPS HEADACHE FAST ASPIRIN

Live To 150 On Soda Baths

LONDON (Reuters)—A doctor broadcasting on Moscow radio said yesterday anyone could live to be 150 to 200 years of age simply by taking three soda baths a week.

Human beings die at the "early age" of 70 to 80, he said, because the albumen in their cells become clogged, causing the normal signs of age—failing memory, sight and hearing.

But soda baths could stop this. They should contain 2½ to three ounces of soda, and be taken about 95 degrees Fahrenheit for 15 to 20 minutes three times a week.

The doctor said he had tried it himself with beneficial results, but did not say how old he was.

In capitalist countries, he added, workers died young from overwork, but in Russia the workers, with free medical care, live longer.

Cleric's Salary Minimum Set At $2,700

HAMILTON (CP)—The minimum salary for ministers was set at $2,700 a year by the general council of the United Church of Canada Thursday.

Debat on the subject among the commissioners, half of whom are clergymen, was adjourned before the entire question was dealt with. Travel and car allowance was left over until a later session.

The council approved the $2,700 minimum, plus a free, adequately furnished home, an increase of $1,000, after an amendment by Judge N. V. Buchanan, of Edmonton, that the minimum be $3,000 was defeated.

Time for debate ran out during discussion of a provision for the car and travel allowance not to be less than $400. The commissioners were debating an amendment that it should be not less than $600.

Rev. I. J. Harvey, of Deloraine, Man., asked the commissioners to remind themselves of the poor and asked that the minimum be kept at the present $2,600.

His brother, Rev. W. A. Harvey, of The Pas, Man., said the council is being looked on by the Communists and that the council had to see that it didn't carry out things which it condemned such as materialism. He said "we are not in the lowest (income) category, but we have to minister to those who are."

Car Skids, Hits Pole, Man Hurt

Harry O'Rourke, 22, 216 Perry St., was injured slightly early today, and an estimated $500 damage resutled to a car driven by Frank McDonald, 2 Crescent St., when the car went out of control on Lansdowne St., skidded sideways, clipped off a railway crossing sign and struck a telephone pole.

McDonald told police he was driving east on Lansdowne St., when a transport travelling ahead of him solwed down just west of Monghan Rd. He said he applied his brakes and the car went out of control.

O'Rourke who was riding with McDonald was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and treated for a minor cut on the back of his head. He spent the remainder of the night in hospital and was discharged today.

The right side of the late model car was entirely caved in by the impact with the sign and telephone pole.

Constables Wilfred Perry and Arthur Beardsmore investigated.

Block Of Concrete Smashes Arm, Leg

LINDSAY—John Loy of View Lake is in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, suffering from a compound fracture of an arm and leg as a result of an accident Tuesday.

Loy was tearing down an old ground surface cistern on a Lake View farm, about 40 miles south of Lindsay, when a block of concrete from the cistern wall fell on him.

He lay in the wet and cold pinned by the block for two hours before he was discovered by Miss Pearl Thornton, his employer. Miss Thornton couldn't move the block and summoned help from the nearby farm of Kenneth Pew.

Loy was given first aid and then taken to Lindsay hospital in an ambulance.

(AP) — George Arthur Heroux, one of the 10 most-wanted criminals in the United States until his capture last July 25, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment yesterday for the abduction of two policemen. Drops Movie Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mary Pickford yesterday withdrew from her first movie role in 20 years. The aging Toronto-born sweetheart of the screen gave as the reason: She wanted to come back in a full blaze of technicolor. Producer Stanley Kramer said Miss Pickford pulled out of the production, "Circle of Fire," with a letter stating: "Since the decision not to make 'Circle of Fire' in technicolor, I have been very unhappy and very much disturbed. I do feel that after this long absence from the screen, my return should be a in a technicolor production."

Mr. McLean has practically grown up with the Lindsay show, both celebrating birthdays this month. With a few suggestions from Mr. Hughes, perhaps Mr. McLean could make the Lindsay fair Ontario's second best, rather than fourth. U.S. Trying To Halt Feud Between Italy-Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has started a campaign to persuade Italy and Yugoslavia to settle their bitter political differences.

Both countries are being told that their quarrel over Trieste is seriously hampering western plans to build a strong defence line in the Mediterranean against Communism.

The present air and naval manoeuvres by the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Adriatic and Aegean seas are partly designed to show Italy and Yugoslavia, as well as Greece and Turkey, that a successful defence against any Communist attack in the area is possible.

DELAY BENEFITS RUSS

U.S. diplomats and military strategists, working behind the scenes, are emphasizing that further delay in settling the seven-year-old Trieste problem is only playing into Russian hands.

At present British and U. S. troops occupy the city of Trieste under an Italian administration, while Yugoslav troops occupy the rest of the territory. Italy and Yugoslavia both claim all of Trieste.

The U.S. efforts got an assist from Britain yesterday. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, lunching with Premier Tito at Belgrade, suggested a need for Italian and Yugoslav co-operation.

The two men swapped promises to work together for world peace.

Officials here who discussed the problem with a reporter said Tito appeared ready to co-operate with Greece and Turkey's armed forces.

Italian Police Close Baptist Church

ROME (AP) — The Baptists announced today that one of their churches in predominantly Roman Catholic Italy was closed by police a month ago, before the September crackdown on the American-led Protestant Church of Christ.

Both the Baptists and the Church of Christ are appealing the closures, ordered by the ministry of interior under a law dating back to Italy's Fascist era, which requires a church to have government recognition.

The United States State Department has called on the U. S. ambassador to report the circumstances under which Italy closed two of the Churches of Christ and ordered 20 others to shut down immediately.

The closure a month ago of the Baptist church at little Miglianico on the Adriatic coast opposite Rome was disclosed by Dr. Manfredi Rocci, executive secretary of the Baptist Church in Italy.

DIFFICULTIES AT OTHERS

Dr. Rocci said "there have been difficulties at some of our other churches, too. . ."

The big Baptist denomination here is recognized by the government and operates 50 churches, and 45 other outside groups are visited by pastors from time to time, Dr. Rocci said. Nevertheless, he added, difficulties have been encountered in attempting to open or conduct additional churches.

"We have had to protest from time to time against the present tendency of the government to enforce the Fascist church laws. They are trying to make the constitution just a piece of paper, stating abstract principles," he said.

Italy's new constitution guarantees religious freedom for all

Almost a dozen Protestant denominations operate in 99-per-cent Catholic Italy.

Degree Exemplified At Havelock Chapter

HAVELOCK (ENS)— An impressive exemplification of the crystal degree marked the meeting of the Crystal Chapter No. 36 in the Orange hall recently when 55 members were present.

The degree was exemplified y Senior Preceptress Freda Pilling and her degree team from Crystal Chapter No. 19, Peterorough. At the close of the meeting the members adjourned to the dining room, where a banquet was provided by Havelock Crystal Chapter, with the members of Lady McGill L.O. B.A. No. 471 assisting with the serving.

NEW ANTI-SOVIET PACT—Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece, in an attempt to insure the Balkans against possible Russian attack, are planing a new mutual defence arrangement. Although the free nations are badly outnumbered in military manpower (as figures on map show), and in natural resources, the pact would give them an incentive to stand together in the event of a Communist-inspired attack.

Home Owners Insist Gut Dam Go

SODUS POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Lake Ontario shore-land owners around here have agreed with those near Rochester that control of the water level on the lake is the only practical method of preventing flooding of their property.

And like landowners who appeared at a public hearing in Rochester Tuesday, landowners who came to a hearing here yesterday said the Gut Dam must go.

The dam is a Canadian installation in the St. Lawrence River. Shore property owners maintain that the dam is the major cause of high water levels. Canada has said, however, she will remove the dam on completion of the St. Lawrence seaway project she is undertaking.

The Lake Ontario average level during the last year has been about 30 inches above normal.

BARRIERS NOT PRACTICAL

Col. Philip R. Garges, who presided at the hearings, said about 70 landowners agreed that building barriers to prevent flooding was not practical from an economic viewpoint. Garges told the hearing that to build a breakwall would cost between $50 and $100 a linear foot.

Garges emphasized that the hearing was designed to consider only such local protective measures as breakwalls and could not take up the question of lake-level control.

Level control is being considered by the International Joint Commission, which held an earlier series of hearings on the water-level problem.

Mullins and two juveniles were charged with breaking and entering the Norwood Creamery on Sept. 8.

Canadiens Altar Pace Try Using Golf Clubs

MONTREAL (CP)—Regular and eager farm hands of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League exchanged hockey sticks for golf clubs and instead of cutting capers on the ice, cut divots at a nearby golf course.

Fern Perreault of Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League emerged from the annual tournament, held Wednesday with a gross 76—four over par.

Elmer Lach had the best gross score among Canadien regulars. He carded an 84.

Offer To Build Airport Runway

SUDBURY—Transport Minister Chevrier Thursday told Chamber of Commerce, civic and mine company officials that the department would build a commercial runway at the airport under construction near here if the city would operate it.

The airport is being built about 10 miles from here, and the department of national defence has already spent an estimated $500,000 on it. It will have a strip 7,000 feet long and 600 feet wide, and the Chamber of Commerce wants the transport department to go ahead with a second strip while contractors and equipment are available.

Cost of the commercial strip would be about $300,000. In an informal statement, Mr. Chevrier said his department would likely assist with subsidies and might also contribute toward a hangar if one were needed.

Dies As Car Upsets

STAYNER (CP)—Elmer Horner, 52, of Stayner, was killed last night when struck by a car driven by Dr. R. I. Ives, coroner for Stayner. Dr. Ives' car broke a railway crossing sign and overturned. He suffered cuts about the head.

May Get Bylaw To Stop No Parking Signs

The matter of unauthorized people erecting "no parking" signs on city streets was considered Thursday by the Peterborough Police Commission.

"The simplest way to remove this abuse is to have a city bylaw that could be enforced," said Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C.

Mayor Hugh Waddell agreed, and Judge John deNavarre Kennedy added that it should be referred to the city solicitor for his consideration.

The motion was that this problem be passed along to the city council who would be responsible for drafting a bylaw.

H. L. Garner, general manager of the Examiner, sparked this brief discussion by a letter to the Police Commission in which he enclosed an Examiner editorial of August 7, 1952. The editorial, entitled "'Police Order'. Who Says So"? points out that some Peterborough people are "attempting to appropriate the street for their own private use" by erecting "no parking" signs.

NO AUTHORITY

The signs appear to carry some authority and some are marked "by police order"; yet the police may have given no order at all and have no authority to do so in any case.

The editorial said specifically that it was not referring to signs directly in front of the doors of public buildings. Signs erected in these places are legal because space must be reserved to prevent congestion in case of fire.

"This has been a matter of some concern to the traffic committee of City Council," said E. A. Outram, police commission secretary. "The Chief said he'd remove the signs but as yet he hasn't done so."

When days are hot and sticky, there's nothing like a quick cooling dip in one of the many swimming pools in and around the city. Take a minute and cool off... and you'll be ready to work again, refreshed.

Third Leader Of Arab State Now Eased Out

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Scrappy Bechara el Khoury finally yielded to opposition pressure yesterday and gave up the presidency he had held since he led the fight to get the French out of Lebanon in 1943.

Beset by economic ills and charges of political corruption, the 62-year-old independence fighter is the third head of an Arab state eased out of office in less than two months.

El Khoury's duties were turned over to Gen. Fuad Shehab, army commander, until Lebanon names a new president. Political informants stressed, however, that the switch was not a military coup. They said Shehab, an elder statesman who happens to have military power, just stepped in to keep order. He formed a three-man emergency cabinet.

Who eventually will succeed El Khoury appeared uncertain. If constitutional procedure is followed, however, Parliament must choose a new president within eight days for this Arab republic of 1,250,000 persons on the eastern Mediterranean between Syria and Israel.

Yesterday's events came less than two months after Egypt's King Farouk lost his throne and little more than a month after Jordan's Parliament ousted ailing King Talal.

Takes Look At City Decides Arctic Better

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nasook of the north took his first look at a big city yesterday.

His verdict: He's heading back to Tuktoyaktuk to trap muskrat.

"I'd rather be trapped by ice than by all these people," said Nasook, an Eskimo whose English name is Michael Amos.

A deckhand aboard the Hudson's Bay Company supply ship Fort Hearne, which docked here this week after a 3,500-mile voyage north of the Arctic Circle, Nasook was scheduled to remain here all winter.

"I don't want to live in Vancouver, even in the harbor on the Fort Hearne," said Nasook in good English. "I'm going to my own country and make $700 trapping muskrat this winter."

KETTERING, England (CP)—R.W. Tailby, Conservative mayor of this town in Northampton, returned from Canada with a box of "Churchill cigars" presented by the mayor of Tilbury, Ont. Tailby, who doesn't smoke, will hand them around at the next meeting of the Labor-controlled town council.

Have Tough Job Preparing For, Avoiding War

SUDBURY (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier last night said the western democracies face the three-fold task of preparing for and against war, building their productive strength and fighting inflation.

He said in an address to the Chamber of Commerce here that in preparing for and against war the basic objective is to avoid war.

"But in the circumstances of today a strongly prepared defence is one of the best ways of preventing war," he said.

"Canada has taken its full share of responsibility within the United Nations organization and has played a leading role in the establishment of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

He outlined Canada's contributions to N.A.T.O. and to the U.N. forces in Korea, the mobile striking force for home defence and the $5,000,000,000, three-year program of defence production.

Mr. Chevrier said that since the Second World War Canada has had the problem of controlling and directing a strong economic expansion.

"Today failure in this policy means not only economic hardship it means the collapse of democracy as we know it in the free world..."

Firemen Drive Cabs

HAMILTON (CP)—The police commission learned yesterday that 15 city firemen have licences to drive taxis in their spare time. The commission got the information when a 16th applied. He withdrew the application when rejection seemed apparent. It was not known what action would be taken on the other 15.

Chappell Succeeds Mosher As CBRE President

OTTAWA (CP)—Harry Chappell, a quiet 49-year-old labor leader from Winnipeg, yesterday stepped into the presidency of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees following the surprise withdrawal of 72-year-old A. R. Mosher from the post he had held for 44 years. The unanimous election of Chappell, a supporter of Mosher, climaxed a week-long convention battle over leadership of the 32,000-member C.B.R.E. — biggest Canadian transport union.

He has been the brotherhood's western general representative since 1933 and is a member of the 13-man executive committee of the Canadian Congress of Labor, of which Mosher is president.

Mosher stepped from the C.B.R.E. leadership after he had won one major battle over his presidency and seemed on the way to winning the second round. He was promptly named honorary president of the C.B.R.E. and voted at pension.

DECLINES COMMENT

He declined to say whether he will seek re-election as president of the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, convening in Toronto Monday. But there was immediate speculation that the honorary post in the C.B.R.E. would strengthen his hand if he decides to run.

Mosher was one of the chief founders of the C.C.L. and its president since it was created in 1940.

His retirement from the C B.R.E. presidency followed a running fight with James E. McGuire, expelled as secretary-treasurer of the union last March by Mosher's executive board on grounds of insubordination and "vilifying" Mosher.

McGuire fought for three days at this week's convention for reinstatement, saying he would run against Mosher if he won.

Another issue which had faced Mosher was a proposal for compulsory retirement of brotherhood officers at the age of 65. It appeared Mosher's supporters would be able to have the effective date of the proposal put off for three years, but the president's withdrawal cut short the fight, and the proposal was adopted to take effect immediately.

Devil-Killing Dance Kills Natives

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters)—Aborigines who staged a devil-killing corroboree dance may thus have caused a dozen of their own deaths instead, a report reaching here today from remote central Australia indicated.

The frenzied dancers became over-heated, contracted pneumonia and a number are believed to have died of it.

The aborigines themselves—members of the Wailbri tribe from the Granite goldfields—have a theory which does not take pneumonia into account.

For these mysterious deaths they blamed "Kaditcha"—the evil one whose "feathered feet" spell death to all who set eyes on him

A Northern Territory medical officer, Dr. H. Welton, flew to the Granite goldfields to investigate the reported deaths of more than 12 Wailbri tribesmen.

He reported on return that he had seen no signs of "Kaditcha." But he had seen two natives ill with pneumonia and two others with wounds self-inflicted during a recent death-dance for the spirits of departed tribesmen.

Chinese Reds Lose Hill Crest

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Tank-supported Chinese Communists won control of the crest of Old Baldy Hill last night, but were driven back in charges against four United Nations hill positions in a flare-up of action on the Korean front.

Red artillery fire increased all along the line.

U. N. planes hammered the Reds with gasoline bombs and bullets in supporting Allied infantrymen on Old Baldy, a battle-scarred knob west of Chorwon.

REPULSE ASSAULT

The United States Eighth Army said U. N. troops last night and today repulsed a tank-supported Chinese assault against four Allied hill positions south of Panmunjom, site of the armistice talks. The Reds attacked in battalion force—about 800 men—along a front nearly two miles wide.

A front-line officer said the Communists have lost 149 counted dead and 300 estimated dead in the fighting around Old Baldy and nearby Pork Chopy ridge.

Sure A-Experiment On Shortly In Pacific

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters)—Speculation that Britain's first atomic test will take place late next week was strengthened today by the expected arrival here tomorrow of a powerful naval contingent.

The Royal Australian Navy said the contingent will arrive here on its way to the Monte Bello Islands, off the northwest coast of Australia, chosen for Britain's first atomic test "sometime this year."

In Melbourne, the Evening Herald said intensification of official secrecy about the atom tests in the last few days indicates "that everything is ready for the first explosion within the week."

Chiang Forces Seize British Freighter

HONG KONG (AP)—Royal Navy officials said today the 1,791-ton British freighter Inchislay was seized by a Chinese Nationalist gunboat while en route between the Red ports of Shanghai and Wenchow.

Navy officials said they received notice that the vessel, had been picked up Sept. 18 and its cargo of 242 tons of flour seized.

This is the second British ship seized by the Nationalists while plying between Communist Chinese ports. The freighter Admiral Hardy was reported intercepted off Foochow on Sept. 8.

Find Oshawa Man Dead In Car On Dock

OSHAWA (CP)—Benjamin T. Lovell, 43, of Oshawa was found dead today in his car on a dock at nearby Whitby. Police said they believed Lovell had been fishing, climbed into the car to get warm and was asphyxiated. The engine was running when he was found.

Gov't. Surplus Not So Large

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government's budgetary surplus, after climbing at a rate of more than $83,000,000 a month in the first four months of the fiscal year, increased by only $1,752,000 in August.

In a monthly report yesterday the Finance Department said that for the five-month period from April 1 to Aug. 31 the surplus totalled $336,668,000. Finance Minister Abbott, in his budget speech last April, forecast a surplus of $9,000,000 for the year.

In August, revenues amounted to $306,491,000 and expenditures to $304,739,000, leaving the surplus of $1,752,000.

The report said defence expenditures largely accounted for the increase in August expenditures which were $67,400,000 higher than those in the corresponding month of 1951. The defence expenditures jumped $44,400,000 in the month to $135,400,000.

Plan Hold Inquest In Dept. Deaths

STURGEON FALLS (CP)—An inquest will be held Oct. 8 into the deaths of Henry Haskins and Donald Lapworth, Department of Lands and Forests employees killed Thursday in a level-crossing accident at nearby Verner

Reeve Lionel Demers said he will ask the Canadian Pacific Railway and Department of Transport to place warning signals at the crossing. Ten persons have been killed there in the last two years.

Sturgeon Falls is 25 miles west of North Bay.

'Flying Saucer' Spotted In Operation Mainbrace

TOPCLIFFE, England (Reuters) A "flying saucer" entered the eight-country Operation Mainbrace today.

The R. A. F. base here reported to exercise headquarters that an unidentifiable circular silver object had been sighted 15,000 feet above the airfield.

The object, which appeared five miles behind a jet fighter, maintained a slow forward speed before descending in a swinging pendulum motion. Then it began a rotary motion about its own axis and accelerated at an incredible speed in a westerly direction but later turned southeast.

It was seen by R. A. F. officers and men on the airfield. No one could identify it.

The whole incident lasted between 15 and 20 seconds.

One R. A. F. officer said it might have been a smoke ring caused by one of the jet engines suddenly clearing after a temporary blockade. The ring might have been caught in an air current, and with the sun shining on it it could have looked like a "flying saucer," he said.

As the second week of the two-week Mainbrace manoeuvres opened, nearly 30 ships of an amphibious "Blue" force waited under orders to sail for North Jutland. The ships are carrying U. S. Marines who will make an unopposed assault landing there to strengthen land forces opposing an imaginary "Orange" invader from the east.

Terrorism Decline Puzzles UK

Malayan Guerrillas Unusually Quiet; Explanation Sought

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — A sharp decrease in Communist terrorist activity in Malaya during the last three weeks has British authorities searching for an explanation.

The weekly rate of terrorist-inspired incidents—murder, arson and general sabotage—has fallen off heavily. At the same time British and Malayan security forces have been finding it harder to make contact with the enemy.

An official British spokesman said yesterday it seems fairly obvious that the terrorists "have something in mind." They may be changing tactics, regrouping or retraining, or simply "laying off" for a spell because of recent losses, he said.

Terrorist-inspired incidents in the first 18 days of this month totalled 113, against 264 in the same period of August. Last year's monthly average was 507.

NOT OVER YET

A British spokesman said today there was no thought among the officers directing the four-year-old jungle campaign that "the shooting war is over and we can just call it a day."

"There is no doubt the security forces have been making an impression lately and have been taking the initiative, but there is a lot to be done yet," the spokesman added.

The security forces have made only 67 contacts with the enemy this month—far below the rate of recent months.

While official sources caution against undue optimism, they say there is a feeling of increased confidence in the minds of the public.

Since a state of emergency was declared in Malaya four years ago about 7,000 persons have been killed and thousands more wounded, killed and mutilated by terrorists.

Daring Trio Get $6,000 Payroll

TORONTO (CP)—A daring trio who robbed two Creed Fur Company employees of a $6,000 payroll in mid-town Toronto yesterday may be the men, police said, who shot it out with Scarboro police the day the Boyd gang was captured.

Fred Sleeman, bookkeeper for the firm, said his companion John Zelinka was driving the Creed truck from a downtown bank to the store on West Bloor St. when a car cut them off and forced them to stop.

Jack Creed, manager of the store, said the payroll had been "an exceptionally small one." He said he had been expecting a hold-up.

The robbery brought to $48,669 the total stolen in payroll and money transfer hold-ups in Toronto this year. Bank robberies in the area have netted $164,000 in the last nine months.

Jury Blames Jail Authorities

TORONTO (CP)—A grand jury report yesterday said the blame for recent trouble at the Don Jail must be assumed, in part at least, by those of higher authority "whose responsibility is the administering of this institution." Edwin Alonzo Boyd, accused bank robber, and three other men escaped from the jail Sept. 8 and were recaptured Tuesday in North York, a northern suburb. The jail is owned by the city and operated by the province.

The jury said it believed a higher base pay for jail staff was in order, because of the responsibilities assumed and experience required in their work.

"Holding of prisoners for long periods of time, sometimes as long as three years, is a disgraceful situation," the report said. It recommended correcting the situation "without further delay."

CAN BE ADEQUATE

Mr. Ward said the jury felt that, with some additions and modifications, the present building could be made adequate.

The jury suggested that the addition should comprise cell blocks to accommodate inmates while security improvements were being made in the old building. The addition would provide facilities for better segregation of prisoners.

There should be proper hospital accommodation for at least 30 beds at once, the jury urged.

The present location of the jail is preferable to one further away from the law courts and there are available properties that are adjacent so that expansion is practicable, the jury reported.

There should be a more distinguishable uniform for prisoners, the jury report said. "Blue denim now in use is almost as common outside the jail as inside."

Stevenson Asks US Wait Before Judging Nixon Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, the Democrats' candidate for president, has called on the United States to wait and see before it passes judgment on the Republican vice-presidential nominee's $16,000 private expense fund. Stevenson's statement—a call for a cease-fire in the critical cross-fire beating about California's Senator Richard M. Nixon—came late last night after Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, said he would stick by his running mate.

Nixon himself described as a "typical left-wing smear" the disclosure that he accepted some $16,000 in senatorial expense money during the last two years from California business men.

In New York Stevenson declared: "Condemnation without all the evidence, a practice all too familiar to us, would be wrong."

STANDS APART

"From what I have heard about it, the question seems to be: Who gave the money, was it given to influence the Senator's position on public questions, and have any laws been violated?

Stevenson thus stood apart from some other Democrats—and, it was reported, some of Eisenhower's advisers—who were saying Nixon should get off the Republican ticket.

TITO'S BRIDE — Jovanka Budisavljevic Broz, above, was revealed in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, as the bride of Yugoslav Marshal Tito. The 28-year-old former Army major and student became the third wife of the 60-year-old Yugoslav Premier in a secret ceremony last June.

Still Hoping Strike Averted

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis' contract with northern soft-coal mines expires at midnight tonight, but there was still hope a strike due Monday could be averted.

Many of the strike-threatened mines planned to keep operating today, some paying overtime wages to get an extra day's production before a strike could develop. Mine operation on Saturday is rare in the industry.

A number of industry and government sources said Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers' Union, and Harry Moses, president of the northern owner group known as the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, actually were close to reaching agreement on contract terms.

Eden Pays Visit To Adriatic Resort

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of Britain left here by air today for a two-day rest at the historic Adriatic vacation resort of Dubrovnik.

Eden will stay at a luxury villa "Scheherezade," reserved for guests of the Yugoslav government.

The foreign minister is due to fly to Bled, Slovenia, Monday to continue talks with Yugoslav's Premier Tito before leaving by air for Vienna. The future of Trieste is again expected to be the main topic of their talks.

In London, diplomatic observers said no official announcement of Eden's reported invitation to Tito to visit Britain was expected until definite dates had been agreed upon.

Rescue 7 Youngsters

WATERTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Police and firemen yesterday rescued seven youngsters—ages 11 to 13—trapped in the town's rain-filled sewer system. A woman witness said the boys were playing "follow the leader" when they disappeared into the hole.

Two Men Hunt Down, Find Alleged Slayer Of Brother

DALLAS (AP) — A two-month search by two men for the slayer of their brother has resulted in charges of murder against a suspect.

Sherill Douglas Suggs, 21, was accused yesterday of the fatal stabbing of Joe Gonzeales Schaffer, 23, last July 27. Robert Schaffer, 37, and George Schaffer, 32, began their methodical search the day after they buried their brother.

George had flown here from his home at Compton, Calif.

They started making nightly rounds of honkeytonks and taverns seeking with slim clues some further trace of the killer. It soon became known around the places that the brothers were on a manhunt. Anonymous phone calls were received. They followed up every tip.

Finally a witness who had helped the dying young man to the curb to await an ambulance turned up. He said Suggs was the slayer.

George had returned to California to wind up his affairs and move to Dallas to continue the search for the slayer.

Robert telephoned him about the suspect being charged with murder.

Actor Long Listed As Supporter Of Leftist Groups

WASHINGTON (AP)—Movie Comedian Charles Chaplin, now on his way to Europe, today faces a government order barring his return to the United States until officials determine whether he can legally re-enter under immigration laws. No reason for the unexpected order was given when it was announced yesterday by Attorney-General James G. McGranery. The Justice Department would not elaborate. Under U.S. laws an alien can be refused entry into the country for moral turpitude or for political affiliations, among other reasons.

Chaplin, 63, is an alien. Born in England, he came to the U.S. 40 years ago but never became a citizen. His name has been associated with leftist causes. In 1944 he was indicted on charges of violating the Mann Act, which forbids transporting a woman across a state line for immoral purposes.

Chaplin, aboard the Queen Elizabeth with his fourth wife and their four children, radioed The Associated Press:

"Through the proper procedure I applied for a re-entry permit which I was given in good faith and which I accepted in good faith. Therefore I assume that the U. S. government will recognize its validity."

The millionaire comedian's lawyer in Los Angeles, Lloyd E. Wright, was bitter. He also mentioned the re-entry permit obtained a month ago, and added:

A 'DIRTY TRICK'

"If the government wished to stop him in some way, it seems they could have done it then. It seems like a dirty trick to wait until he and his wife and four children. . .are on a boat before beginning such action."

The present Mrs. Chaplin is the former Oona O'Neill, daughter of playwright Eugene O'Neill. She married Chaplin, who gained fame in silent movie days as a wistful tramp, when she was 18 years old, he 54. She and the children are American citizens.

They are en route to London for the premiere of his latest picture, "The Limelight," and planned a six-month vacation abroad.

And when the actor does return Wright said:

"I am confident that Mr. Chaplin will be happy to make himself available for any hearing ordered, and that he will be able to clear himself of any inferences, shall we say, of subversive activities. . ."

The hearing Wright referred to was the one mentioned by McGranery when he said he had ordered the Immigration and Naturalization service to keep Chaplin out of the country until a hearing determines whether the film star is admissible.

NAMED CHILD'S FATHER

Chaplin was acquitted of the Mann Act violation, but the girl in the case, Joan Berry, filed a paternity suit against him. After two sensational court trials in 1945, Chaplin was adjudged the father of Miss Berry's child.

Chaplin long has been listed as a supporter of various organizations denounced by Congress as left-wing, but he has denied being a Communist.

Czech Women Told They Talk Too Much

VIENNA (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist radio today accused women of talking too much.

In a special broadcast, the Prague radio asked women to keep their mouths shut in public places as much as possible "because too many state secrets are being revealed that way."

The radio said it was wrong for women to tell each other what their sons and husbands were doing, because "western spies and saboteurs" listened in shops and on streetcars.

RCAF Squadrons Entertain Britons At Open House

By JACK GOLDING

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—Brilliant sunshine washed the tarmac at Canada's No. 1 fighter wing today as Canadian airmen held open house in celebration of the closing of Battle-of-Britain week.

L. B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister, and High Commissioner Norman Robertson of Canada House, London, flew from Paris to attend the "at-home" and watch a varied program at Canada's biggest air base abroad.

Pearson and Robertson saw the first official appearance of the only air force pipe band anywhere.

TRAINED AT VILLAGE

The 14 pipers and 11 drummers were trained in a few months by Pipe Major J. J. MacDonald, a constable at nearby Ketton village. Drum major is Flt. Lt. Gordon McInnes of Toronto, who spent a week with the famous Glasgow police pipe band learning how to toss the mace—a long staff with ornamental head.

The day's program included flying demonstrations by R. C. A. F. Sabre jets, R. A. F. Canberras and Lincolns and other aircraft from Allied bases.

Several thousand visitors thronged to the Canadian base for the show.

Citizenship Ring In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (Reuters)—United States investigators have uncovered a phony U.S. citizenship ring operating in this British colony, sources close to the U.S. consul-general said today.

Chinese racketeers made thousands of dollars by arranging U.S. citizenship for young Chinese in Hong Kong and southern provinces of Communist China.

The sources said one Chinese-American citizen has been arrested.

Over a period of years the ring allegedly had the names of non-existent "sons" registered by Chinese-Americans as having been born in China after visits to their homeland to see their wives.

The false names were sold to young Chinese here who wanted to go to the U.S., the sources said.

More Plane Carriers Needed—McCormick

PITREAVIE, Scotland (Reuters) —Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, Allied commander in the Atlantic, said yesterday the Allied navies need more aircraft carriers.

He told a press conference at naval headquarters here that after surveying results of the big North Sea manoeuvre, "Mainbrace," he concluded that the forces suffer most from lack of maritime patrol aircraft for combatting submarines and a shortage of minesweepers.

McCormick said many lessons will be drawn from the phase of the exercise just concluded off northern Norway by the 50-ship North Atlantic Treaty Organization striking fleet, but they would not be "earthshaking."

The force now is steaming south to support land forces hard pressed by a mock enemy invading Denmark from the east.

Popular Song Writer Daniel D. Ayer Dies

BATH, England (Reuters)—Nathaniel D. Ayer, 65, Boston-born song writer, died here yesterday.

Among his best-known tunes were "If You Were the Only Girl in the World" and "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

Ayer served with the Canadian Army in the First World War.

Alleged Deal Still Bandied Before Voting

FREDERICTON (CP) — An alleged "deal" between the Progressive Conservative party in New Brunswick and a labor union official was again charged and denied last night as two party leaders went on the air for the last time vincial election.

Premier John B. McNair repeated a statement he said had been made in Fredricton last June by H. C. Tracy, international representative of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (T. L. C.-A. F. L.)

The union official said, Premier McNair asserted in his radio speech, that he had received a promise from all five Progressive Conservative members of the last legislature, including party leader H. J. Flemming. The promise was that if the party won the election all provincial government employees would be brought under the provincial labor relations act. This would give public servants the same union and bargaining rights granted to persons privately employed.

Mr. McNair said his government will "stand or fall" on its policy of excluding international unionism from the public service, and specifically refusing to recognizing the Electrical Workers Union as bargaining agent for New Brunswick Electric Power Commission employees.

Mr. Flemming, whose speech at a public meeting in Minto was also broadcast, declared that allegations of a deal between him or the party and Mr. Tracy were "an absolute lie." The unionism matter, he said, had been designed to becloud the real issue — the government's "waste and extravagance climaxed by the sales tax."

Bear Runs Wild Kills Keeper

CRAWFORD NOTCH, N.H. (AP) —A 400-pound male black bear ran wild in a state park yesterday, killed its 18-year-old keeper and injured two men and a woman before being slain by 13 bullets. The bear escaped when the keeper entered its cage to fed it.

Th body of the victim, Robert Huckins, was found several yards from the cage where the animal was kept with its mate.

Mauled, but not considered in serious condition, were two other employees of the state park, Arthur Bocucher, 67, and Guy Noyes, 70.

Mrs. Ruth Hadley, 42, who threw stones at the enraged animal as it straddled Noyes and bit his neck, was knocked down by the bear but she suffered only scratches.

Fear Dumping Of Meat On Market This Fall

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is considering changes in its support program for beef in an attempt to prevent dumping of meat on the Canadian market this fall.

Two courses are being investigated:

1. To maintain the support price at 25 cents a pound, basis good steers at Toronto, and undertake a big government storage program.

2. To drop the support price by two or three cents a pound, discourage farmers from making heavy disposals and promise a better price next spring when the United States market likely will be reopened.

PSYCHOLOGY FACTOR

Psychology is a big factor in government planning. The surplus crisis can be averted if the farmers can be persuaded to keep cattle on feed during the winter in the hope of better prices in the spring.

During the summer, farmers, on the appeal of the government, cut shipments to a minimum to help bolster the beef market. Heavier stocks of cattle now are on farms than a year ago.

Federal experts estimate that if farmers place as many cattle on the market this year as in the fall of 1951, there may be a surplus of between 20,000,000 and 50,000,000 pounds of beef.

The United Kingdom now is the only outside market for surplus beef. Even here a deal worked out with Britain and New Zealand will mean a loss of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000.

NEED STORAGE SPACE

Under the scheme Canada can ship about 60,000,000 pounds of beef to Britain. So far, she has shipped about 45,000,000 pounds and Britain has asked her to hold the remaining 15,000,000 until Britain finds more storage space. The remaining portion likely will be sent at the end of October.

Experts estimate that there is storage in Canada for about 7,000,000 pounds of beef, but this could be expanded once butter and eggs move out of warehouses in the next few weeks.

If the government maintains price support and buys up huge quantities of beef, probably a large part of it will be stored.

If the warehouses become clogged, the government may then go into the beef-canning business, just as it encouraged canning of pork. But it's losing money on pork, selling it at about 30 per cent below cost.

Boys Clear Site In North Part Of Forestry Project

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —At Garden Lake, 50 miles northeast of here, nine Ontario boys this summer developed their muscles for the football season while working for the Lands and Forests department.

The work, typical of forestry training camps throughout the province, primarily was designed to lead youths into forestry work if they are so inclined. Each summer the department hires 250 boys —generally there are about 1,300 applicants—to spend their summer vacations clearing and cutting bush, putting up telephone poles and doing other jobs necessary to keep the forests and wild life of Ontario in good condition.

The boys at Garden Lake were assigned the task of clearing away bush and trees to make a tourist camping site. They were Jim Dolph of Galt and Carl Newton of Oakville, and seven from Toronto—Ed King, Bill MacDougall, Bill Bill MacDonald, Owen Tilley, Bob McCabe, Bob Lyons and Fred Gotzman. They range in age from 16 to 18.

BRUSH-CUTTING JOB

After the camp-site project, they cut brush along the local telephone line between Ranger Lake and Searchmount, about 10 miles from their camp.

The boys worked a seven-hour day. Leisure time was spent fishing, berry-picking and in other forms of relaxation. A 10 o'clock curfew got the boys to bed early except on Saturdays when a dance at Ranger Lake proved a popular attraction. The young rangers also went to Sault Ste. Marie for the annual community night celebrations.

Instruction was given in the use of tools and in equipment essential in forest-fire fighting.

Another part of the educational program was made up of visits to plants of the Algoma Steel Corporation and the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company and to the forest insect laboratory here.

There was one accident. One lad cut his toe with an ax.

Firestone Strike End Seems In Sight

HAMILTON (CP)—The end of the 16-week long Firestone strike was in sight this morning with the news that the management of the plant and a negotiating committee of United Rubber Workers Local 113 had reached a basis of agreement.

Though neither union nor company would give any details today it is understood that the basis of the agreement is on the following lines: An across the board increase of eight cents an hour; a pensions plan which pay $80 a month and a lump sum payment to each worker of $50 instead of retroactive pay.

The pensions plan would operate on the payment of $80 a month at 65 years of age with a deduction of $20 at age 70. This would mean that old age pensioners would get $100 a month at 70 years of age.

The negotiating committee of the union is to recommend acceptance of the agreement at a meeting of members to be held at 7 p.m. Monday night in Delta collegiate.

The union originally asked for a pension of $120 a month and an increase in wages of 20 cents an hour.

6 Graduates Win Certificates At Bridgenorth

BRIDGENORTH. (ENS) — At the annual graduation exercises of Bridgenorth public school, held Thursday evening, well over 100 were present to pay tribute to the six graduates who left the school this year.

K. O. Birkin, inspector for Peterborough East was the guest speaker and in his message to the graduating class, he chose the topic "Keep Pace." To do that, he said, "education does not stop with a formal education on leaving school, but universities, colleges and self learning will continue to give necessary education. Learning stops only at the grave. To keep pace, we must know and be proud of our own country—our land of hope—our Canada which to-day is called the boomland of 1952. He also said "continue to go to school as long as possible, it is your heritage to learn and grow. Consider the eleventh commandment, love thy neighbor, so that we may grow up into kind, decent, law-abiding citizens."

The Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth was chairman. In his welcoming address to the graduates, guests and friends he reviewed the beginnings of the schools here in Bridgenorth and surrounding territory and remarked of the closeness of the building of the church and the school here at Bridgenorth. The school here was built in 1890 and the United Church in 1889.

Ten children from the school formed a choir and sang The Lord is my Shepherd, and Oh Susanna, led by Miss Ellen Murphy of the Intermediate room. Mrs. C. Telford accompanied on the piano.

The welcome address to the graduates and friends was given by Phyllis Heard of the school. Valedictory address was given by Lorne Hale, who thanked the teachers and the school board and all others who have helped the graduates during the past years at Bridgenorth school.

Major E. C. Anderson, inspector for Peterborough West, mentioned the proximity of the church and the school in nearly all occasions in Smith township and said that church and school go hand in hand and it is an unbeatable combination coupled with the home in the training of children for life. He said the schools cannot provide all of our education, but can only provide us with the tools to educate ourselves. In presenting the graduates with their gifts from the Home and School he extended sincere wishes for their future years at school and after. The six graduates were Sylvia Nicholls, Alice McKay, Donna Doughty, Beryl Nicholls, Lorne Hale and Bob Whitehill.

Rae Brownsellw, principal, presented the following seven students with gifts, each one having obtained perfect attendance for the past year: Sylvia Nicholls, Dianne Wood, Ken Rea, Gordon Murray, Barry Dalton, Rodger Wood and Allen White.

Mrs. Roy Wood was convener for the graduation exercises, and refreshments were served to the large gathering by Mrs. Don McKay, social convener and her committee.

Jet Crashes In Quebec, Pilot Killed

ST. PIERRE DE BROUGHTON, Que. (CP)—An R.C.A.F. F-86 Sabre jet crashed less than a mile from here yesterday on a flight from Bagotville to Toronto, killing its pilot, FO R.J.Moncrief, 24, Cornwall, Ont.

An R.C.A.F. search party, sent from Montreal, identified the craft as a jet after examination of the debris late last night.

Montrieff was sole occupant of the jet, one of 15 from 413 Fighter Squadron stationed at Bagotville, 150 miles north of Quebec City. The planes were scheduled to participate in an air show in Toronto today.

The crash occurred about 50 miles south of Quebec City in heavy rain and low visibility shortly after 9 a.m. and was followed, witnesses said, by a series of explosions that touched off fires.

Rodolphe Martel, a notary of nearby East Broughton, said little was left of the plane after it crashed in woods near an open field, tearing up tree branches for several hundred yards. He said machine-guns and shells were found among pieces of the wreckage.

Other witnesses said the plane dropped out of the clouds without a wing. They also reported hearing a loud noise before the plane fell and thought a collision in mid-air might have occurred.

Martel said a tank and engine, was found 1½ miles from the scene.

Boy Admits Hitting Child 4 In Swamp

BELLEVILLE (CP)—A 14-year-old boy admitted yesterday he had hit a four-year-old child with a stone, left him in a swamp hole and later joined in a search for him.

The chlid, Bernard Foshay, a ward of the Children's Aid Society, was taken to hospital with head lacerations and a possible skull fracture. He suffered from exposure after lying in the hole for hours.

Bernard lived with Mr. and Mrs. William Scott. He was reported missing Thursday night and provincial police and farmers in the Moira area, 15 miles north of here and the 14-year-old boy spent the early part of the evening in the search.

Gordon McInroy, a neighbor of the Scotts, went out to look again and found the lad, unconscious and wearing only a sweater and shorts, about 1 a. m. He was brought from the swamp in pouring rain and taken to hospital.

Eisenhower himself twice voiced support for Nixon during yesterday's campaigning.

IKE SUPPORTS NIXON

At Kansas City, Eisenhower defended Nixon and said he thought the case had been misrepresented.

"Knowing Dick Nixon as I do," the General said, "I believe that when the facts are known to all of us they will show that Nixon would not compromise with what is right."

Eisenhower read a statement from Nixon, denying any wrongdoing, to a packed house at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium last night.

At Pasadena, the lawyer who confirmed the fund's existence said it may be Monday before he can give a detailed accounting. "I have heard nothing from Dick Nixon as yet," Dana Smith said. "I can not release the information until he authorizes me to do so. . ."

Smith said contributions came from himself and 50 to 100 other Californians and were limited to $500 a year each.

"We felt," he said, "that Nixon was an outstanding spokesman in the senate for the free enterprise system we believe in."

WITHDRAWAL DEMANDED

The political turmoil, meanwhile, swirled from one end of the country to the other.

Democrats such as Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the national party, beat a steady drumfire of criticism. Republicans such as Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft rallied to Nixon's defence.

Nixon himself, campaigning in California, said the fund was raised "in an earnest and unselfish desire on the part of the contributors to support my fight against Communism and corruption in government Nixon said he gave the group no favors, nor was he asked for any.

At Marysville, Calif., Nixon replied to a shout from someone in the crowd to "tell us about the $16,000."

"Crooks and Communists. . .have another guess coming if they think they can stop this attack," Nixon said. "I intend to go up and down the land, and the more they smear me the more I'm going to expose them."

Nixon said he had saved the taxpayers money by accepting the private funds rather than charging certain expenses to the government.

Plans Misfire

FRANKFORT, Ind. (AP) — A former soldier and his German fiancee planned to be married by transatlantic telephone Friday, but instead of a wedding they had only an expensive chat. Science and Diplomacy Win Battle Against F-M In Mexico

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterinary science and diplomacy have scored a modern-day wonder in joining hands to stamp out a serious outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

Nearly six years ago, word reached Washington that the disease had been discovered among cattle a few hundred miles south of the United States border.

Food officials conceded it would be miraculous if the highly-infectious virus did not find its way into the U.S. and spread destruction in the U.S.' multi-billion-dollar livestock industry.

The U.S. government quickly closed the border to imports of Mexican cattle. Mexico, by its own admission, was in no position to tackle the swiftly-spreading plague.

ACCEPTED HELP

The U.S. government offered to help Mexico with an eradication program. Mexico accepted.

The result was a long, hard struggle in which U.S. and Mexican veterinarians and technicians joined hands to control and finally to eliminate the disease. Both countries now are reaping rewards from this unique, hands-across-the-border co-operative effort.

Sept. 1 the U.S. re-opened the border to Mexican livestock. This action will permit Mexican cattlemen to regain a place in the U.S. market for their surplus cattle—cattle desired by the U.S.' own cattle industry and by consumers alike.

Officials of both countries estimate that Mexican cattle raisers will export upwards of 500,000 head of cattle to the U.S. during the next 12 months.

BATTLE NOT EASY

Winning the battle over the plague in Mexico did not come easy. In the beginning, there was a difficult and sometimes discouraging fight to gain co-operation of the Mexican farmers.

It was decided that all diseased and exposed animals in a broad plague-ridden area should be killed and buried.

It was found necessary to kill slightly more than 1,000,000 animals, about half of which were cattle and the other half sheep, goats and hogs.

RESISTANCE STRONG

But resistance to this killing program beeame to strong that it finally had to be abandoned—at least so far as susceptible animals were concerned.

It was finally decided that the campaign should fall back on inspection and vaccination of susceptible animals.

There was almost as much resistance to the vaccination program as there was to slaughter. Erroneous word spread around that the vaccine would make the animals sterile and that persons who ate the meat of a vaccinated animal also would become sterile.

Officials estimate that it cost about $250,000,000 to eradicate the disease and vaccinate the animals. The United States bore half this cost.

Mexican cattlemen suffered heavy financial losses because they lost, during the six-year period, a market for most of their surplus animals.

But Mexican officials agree that there have been gains which cannot be measured in money. Veterinary science has made an advance of at least half a century in the few years that the disease existed, and farmers now seek veterinary help when their animals become sick.

Blames Titles For Flops At Box-Office

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's the most important single factor in the box-office success of a movie?

Some important Hollywood people say a picture often makes or loses a buck solely on its title.

Last year, M-G-M made a picture called "Angels in the Outfield" Critics liked it and so did audiences. But it didn't do business and M-G-M blames the title. The story was a fantasy that should have appealed to baseball fans and non-baseball fans alike. However, the title tabbed it as all-baseball, and baseball pictures generally are not strong boxoffice.

One of the year's best suspense films was a sleeper made by Paramount called "The Atomic City." The picture had no big names but the word-of-mouth should have brought the customers in. Paramount changed the title midway in the run to "19 Elevado St." It apparently only confused the customers.

TITLE SWITCHES

Abrupt title-changing, incidentally, is the chronic despair of publicity department. They spend months publicizing a picture under one title, only to have it open under another.

Arthur Hornblow, Jr., one of M-G-M's top money-producers, was modest when interviewed about titles.

"You couldn't have come to a more inexpert person," said Hornblow. "I'm the fellow who produced 'The Asphalt Jungle' and held out against a change of title."

That picture was one of the year's best a few seasons ago. It was nominated for an Academy award but it never did business. The New York selling office argued that the title didn't convey anything to the fans.

Hornblow said M-G-M has one executive whose main job is to reconcile picture titles between the Hollywood production set-up and the New York selling office.

"I'm convinced that alliteration is the key to title success," he remarked. His best money-making successes—"Ruggles of Red Gap," "Waikiki Wedding," "I Wanted Wings," "Week-end at the Waldorf," "Cat and the Canary" and "The Major and the Minor."

Chinese Learning Russian Price Eden Declares

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain said yesterday the Chinese Communists are beginning to discover the "dangers" of being aligned with Russia

"In the long run the interests of any proud nation are bound to diverge from those of the Soviet Union," he told a press conference.

His remarks were based, he said, on the joint Sin-Russian communique published at the end of the recent meetings in Moscow between leaders from both countries.

In the agreement, China agreed to let Russian troops remain in the Manchurian naval base of Port Arthur and Russia promised that the Changchun railroad would be turned over to China at the end of this year.

He repeated his statement that he came to Yugoslavia not for negotiations but to make contacts and exchange views with the country's leaders.

US Living Costs Reach Another High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that living costs in the United States reached another high in mid-August, the third straight month they have set a record.

The index prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics rose to 191.1 per cent of the 1935-39 average. This is 12.3 per cent more than the pre-Korean period and three per cent more than a year ago.

Slight increases between Mid-July and Mid-August in the cost of food and most other major consumer items were responsible for the new increase. The prices for apparel decreased slightly. Home furnishings remained unchanged.

About 1,500,000 workers will get wage increases on the basis of the new figures.

HAMILTON (CP)—A resolution urging the CBC not to eliminate religious broadcasts for the baseball World Series was unanimously passed by the General Council of the United Church of Canada yesterday.

Dr. Beecroft, who has taken a prominent part in the radio work of London conference for many years, said there was a need for full-time workers in a radio office.

Pride, Paganism And Profligacy

We were glad to see that the general council of the United Church insisted upon revision of a resolution which referred to "pride, paganism and profligacy" as products of "North America's power and its materialistic philosophy." As an overwhelming balance of power on this continent lies with the U.S.A. it would have been tactless for a church which exists only within the borders of Canada to speak in terms of such general condemnation. A majority of the clergy present disliked the wording of the motion, and they were right to do so.

* * *

The role of Jeremiah is a tempting one. To condemn largely, to predict woe and foresee doom—these are impressive and easy pursuits, for their require nothing but eloquence; they make no great demands upon the intellect. How much more difficult it is to hold the balance evenly, and to recognize that in dealing with nations any sort of general condemnation is bound to be unjust. Pride, paganism and profligacy have abounded in history; they have even been discovered in churches—large, international churches and small local sects. They can be found in North America now by anybody who chooses to look for them. But there is also in North America, and especially in the U.S.A., a degree of humanitarian feeling, of aroused conscience, and of practical generosity which has probably never been equalled in the world before.

* * *

As for the "materialistic philosophy" of the U.S.A., we think that it is an exploded myth. A nation which has, since the war, given $60 billions to distressed nations everywhere is materialistic only in the sense that it gives material help where it is needed. And it is a truism of politics that starving peoples have no appetite for deeply spiritual or intellectual life; these things come when the belly is filled. As we might say that the people of Britain are the most just nation in history, so we might say that the people of the U.S.A. are the kindest people in history. And their kindness springs from the same source as their alleged materialism—from their recognition of the importance of basic needs, and indeed basic comforts, in any sort of decent national life.

* * *

The people who condemn the U.S.A. for materialism show an ignorance of history. Every great nation has had a sharp eye on its trade and its national treasury. And every great nation has founded its contributions to the arts and sciences upon some measure of national success in trade. It is possible to overdo attention to the material side of life, but if it is neglected nobody but a visionary expects that great spiritual benefits will come of it. Asceticism is an individual, not a national, means of achieving spiritual grace.

* * *

When Canada was a small and unimportant nation we could say what we pleased, for nobody heeded us. Now that we are very important (and now that the Inner Temple and the Very Ark of the Almighty Dollar have moved from Washington to Ottawa) we would be wise to keep talk of pride, paganism and profligacy for home consumption strictly.

Second Official Language

The opening of the new military college for French-speaking cadets as a counterpart for the R.M.C. and Royal Roads goes far towards removing the old complaint of French-speaking Canadians of discrimination against the French language. It is true that French is on a theoretically equal level with English as one of the two official languages of the country, and we have a French Canadian as our Prime Minister; but outside the Province of Quebec and its fringes French is too often considered by ignorant people as a barbarous lingo unworthy of attention of a "progressive" man. There are French inscriptions on our cereal boxes, medicine bottles and postage stamps, but few in this district have the ability or the wish to read them.

It is time that we dropped this parochial attitude towards the second official language. In the eighteenth and nineteenth century French was the recognized language of international diplomacy and of polite conversation. As a vehicle of thought it is unrivalled except by classical Greek for the precision and subtlety with which it can express complicated ideas. It has a great literature and to this very day it is the "second language" of a very large proportion of the world's population.

It is unfortunate that French Canadians have not until comparatively recently been in the vanguard of progress. Their hard struggle for existence and their isolation from the mother country have combined to hold them back. The result has been that their language was viewed contemptuously by the English-speaking settlers. Now that French-speaking citizens are taking a more active part in the life of the country as a whole as distinct from Quebec it is right that we should welcome anything that tends to raise the status of the French language in this country. We could also benefit greatly by learning it ourselves. Not only would we gain a greater insight into the mentality of a numerous class of fellow-citizens, but also we would open the door to a new world of ideas.

One Country, Two Faces

Mr. Spaak, of Belgium, speaking at Strasbourg, told the European countries who are meeting there to discuss federation to "avoid drafting a constitution that would drive us apart from Britain." Britain has held aloof from the schemes to knit Europe together into a sort of "United States of Europe." Her motives for so doing have been called into question, and there is no doubt that the adhesion of Britain would have immensely strengthened the movement towards unity. Nevertheless she has very good reasons for doing so.

In the first place, although she belongs geographically to Europe she is separated by the very real barrier of the English Channel and the North Sea. Modern methods of transport have served to diminish the importance of this barrier, but they will never completely overcome that subtle isolation (in all senses of the word) that the traveller from the continent perceives on arrival in Britain. In a sentence, Britain is not completely European, though in many respects she has identical interests and outlook.

Where she differs from other continental countries is in her membership of the British Commonwealth and her intimate connection with the United States. Other European countries have possessions overseas, just as Britain has colonies, but there is no real equivalent of the free association of sovereign nations under the same crown as we find in the Commonwealth. Here is a more or less loose federation that actually works, and Britain is loath to do anything to weaken her membership in this community for the sake of something that looks good on paper but may not actually work out in practice. She would be abandoning the substance for the shadow and going back on a path that led to her greatness.

Thus her attitude towards European unity is bound to be one of extreme caution. There may come a day when she may find it expedient to associate herself loosely with a European federation, but she will demand safeguards in view of her special position and will never become a full-fledged member.

It is interesting to note a parallel with our position with regard to the world. Geographically we are incontestably a part of North America. Unlike Britain we are not cut off from the rest of the continent; indeed the natural lines of communication run North and South rather than East and West. Our existence as a separate entity derives from historical rather than geographical reasons. Yet we have the same mission of facing two ways. We are Americans and at the same time we belong to the Commonwealth. There are many strong inducements for us to cast in our lot with the United States, but on the balance we are convinced that we are of greater value as we are, not only to ourselves but also the United States, than if we were submerged to the level of Arkansas and South Dakota as the 49th state. By our membership in the British Commonwealth we derive many benefits, not the least being the influence that we can use in many quarters.

It is in the light of our own position, then, that we can best evaluate the position of Britain with regard to European unity. Though the parallel is by no means complete there are sufficient points of similarity for us to draw comparisons.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Never underestimate your own ability," writes a psychologist. You can always find somebody else to do that.

"When little or no exercise is taken there is loss of appetite," says a medical columnist. To which the Voice of Experience replies: "Nonsense!"

Ontario had 3,996 weddings in July and, by coincidence, 3,996 more during August. And this was just the overflow from June!

A German hotel proprietor is being tried because he sent his nephew to rival hotels to let loose boxes of bedbugs. Germ warfare, strictly speaking.

Austin Cross reports that at weddings he now prefers kissing the bride's mother to kissing the bride. This is comparable to a boy's discovery that a ripe apple has certain advantages over a green one.

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: Was driving through the countryside today with some people who insisted upon frequent recourse to a road-map in order to discover, as they put it, "Just where they were". Reflected that for my part I generally have a pretty shrewd idea of just where I am; I am enclosed in the somewhat vulnerable fortress which is my body, and from that uneasy stronghold I make such sorties as I deem advisable into the realm about me. These people seemed to think that whizzing through space in a car really altered the universe for them, but they were wrong; each one remained right in the centre of his private universe, which is the only field of knowledge of which he has any direct experience . . . Decided today to start keeping my old diary again, as a record of the doings in my own private universe. It will please me, if it pleases no one else.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Had to eat among strangers, which meant that I had to accommodate my time of eating to theirs, but fortunately they took nourishment at reasonable hours. I am a creature of habit, and my digestive system has no mercy for me if I flout its wishes. I want my mid-day meal by 12:30, if possible, and cannot keep up a pretence of civilized behaviour after one o'clock; by 1:30 I am a raging lion, pacing the floor and insulting everyone nearby; by 2 p.m. I am hollowed-eyed, pallid, have a rapid pulse and Stokes-Cheyney breathing; by 2:30 I am ready for the Last Rites of the Church and appointment of pall bearers. I once knew a man who worked for John Grierson of the National Film Board, who said that this unusual genius sometimes worked himself and his assistants for ten hours at a stretch without a break for food; on the one occasion when I met Mr. Grierson I was in the deepest dread, and had my pockets filled with sandwiches and concentrated bouillon, but he fed me at 12:30 precisely, having perhaps heard of my weakness in this respect . . . A child of eleven, daughter of my hosts, appeared from a corn-roast, at which she said she had eaten 19 large, buttered ears; viewed her with mingled wonder and alarm.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Was looking for something I wanted today in a number of second-hand stores and did not find it, but was impressed by the number and variety of bedpans offered for sale at temptingly low prices. Is the bedpan a vanishing element in our civilization? There was one which was quite a period piece, being made of that heavy stoneware which used to be familiar in the form of hot water bottles, called "stone pigs"; it was big enough to make a handsome garden ornament, and would have looked charming filled with mixed petunias . . . Received a letter from an acquaintance, a young woman, who ended it "Hoping you have a terribly exciting winter". I do not think I really want a terribly exciting winter, thanks. I should be much happier with a quiet, reflective winter. Mine is a temperament which is excited principally by what is disagreeable, if not downright disastrous. The joys of life fill me, not with excitement, but with a delicious calm. Probably this is very dull of me, and a sign of advancing age. But my personal symbol of happiness is the swan, moving gracefully on a quiet stream: my symbol of excitement—a churn, working at top speed.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Received a letter this morning, from an unspecified source, informing me that a Canadian artist has evolved a new portrait of our great national heroine, Laura Secord. The only existing picture of her is the familiar one, made in her old age, in which she looks like a snapping-turtle in a lace cap. The new picture, dredged up from the rich imagination of the painter, shows here as a dreamy-eyed virgin of seventeen, wearing a dress which shows a good deal of white shoulder, and looking as though she had just been kissed by the curate. Now it happens that my great-grandmother knew Mrs. Secord personally, and her description of Laura's economic circumstances does not fit with the costly garment and elaborate hair-do shown in this picture, but I am not going to make a fuss about it. Indeed, I rather like these imaginative portraits of the great dead. Who knows, perhaps a century from now somebody will draw such a fanciful portrait of Marchbanks, great Canadian philosopher and philanthropist, in which I will be accorded all the graces of face and physique with which niggardly Nature has declined to endow me in reality. It will be good enough to put on a chocolate box—or at any rate, a cigar box.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: A child with whom I have occasional converse showed me her new schoolbooks today, and I was interested in her reader, for in the front it carried a list of "Canadian authors in this volume", and among them was the name of Oliver Goldsmith. Now, what I should like the Department of Education to tell me is (a) Was Goldsmith really a Canadian, whose fame the Irish have meanly filched from us, or (b) Was there another Goldsmith, also called Oliver, who lived in Canada and wrote a poem so like "The Deserted Village" that the chunk of verse appearing in this schoolbook might be mistaken for that of the other Goldsmith? Or (c) is somebody in the Department suffering from lamentable confusion of mind?

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: To a fall fair today, taking some children, and when I asked them what they wanted to do they voted without a dissenting voice to see the freaks and monstrosities. "You may be frightened," I warned. "Eeeeeeeeh!" they shrieked, delighted at such a prospect. So we entered the tent of horrors and the first monstrous thing to assail us was the smell—whether of hot freak or impromptu cooking I was unable to decide. One of the horrors was a two-headed baby. We had been led to believe by the barker outside that this was a living, active monstrosity, but it proved to be a yellow object in a tank of preservative. It may have been a baby, and it certainly had two heads. "It's a fake" whispered one of the children to me; "It's plaster; you can see the seams in it. Aw, phooey!" They were no better pleased when a dwarf jumped on some glass in his bare feet. "He doesn't jump hard enough", they criticised. And so it went on. A monstrosity has to be pretty monstrous to impress the child of today. Is this progress?

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Heard a good deal about Canada's venture in television, from a well-informed but not easily-impressed source. This source tells me that the new medium of national ecstasy is extremely taxing to those engaged in it, and that heart-plumbers and ulcer-solderers from all over the country are flocking to Toronto, to take care of TV executives who already need them, after a single week of work. What he tells me suggests that the public may need extensive medical care, also, after TV has been going for a while; every time a clumsy fellow upsets a TV camera and does $8,000 worth of damage the tax-payer develops a new ulcer in the pocket-book. My source also whispered that the TV camera is an uncanny revealer of the soul, and that many a pretty girl, under its gaze, looks like a malignant hag, and many a noble youth looks adenoidal, cretinous and necrophilous. "But what is the secret of looking well on TV?" I entreated (for who knows when I may not be asked to appear myself?) "You must have good bones", said he, "good bones and a sweet soul. All else is dross."

RETIRING AGE OF CIVIL SERVANTS

Sir Could you inform the writer if the retirement age of Civil Service Employees is sixty-five years or has it been advanced to seventy-five or eighty?

If sixty-five is still the retirement age, why is a certain employee being retained when a younger and much more efficient man would be more appropriate?

Yours truly,

POLL ON EXHIBITION

Sir: Having heard so many adverse criticisms of the recent Exhibition, I thought your readers might be interested in the results of an on-the-spot poll carried out by the writer on Friday night.

Out of a total of ten persons questioned, two had no opinions to offer. They had intended visiting the cemetery and had entered Morrow Park by mistake. (Quite a logical mistake, I thought.)

Three of the remaining eight thought the weather was very warm, but, in view of their political affiliations begged to be excused from answering the direct question, "What is your opinion of this year's Exhibition?"

They did state, however, that they intended to demand a refund of their admission fees.

Two more burst into tears when questioned and were only consoled when their mothers promised to take them home immediately, if they promised to be good.

One die-hard admitted that he had been in possession of a U.S. 50 cent piece and being unable to spend it elsewhere had decided to cut his losses and visit the Ex. He further admitted that he took a morbid satisfaction in seeing the disappointed faces of those who had paid good Canadian cash to get in.

The last two had been admitted free, and were of the opinion that the horses looked cute with ribbons on their tails.

Yours, etc.,
MacDUFF

FINE WRITING ON FARM PAGE

Sir: On rare occasions, I have noticed in the Examiner, articles dealing with the changing of the season, or with the appearance of the countryside.

These are beautifully written and are always on the farm page. My complaint is that there is not enough of these articles. I enjoy them more than any other items, and it seems to be in these times when we are travelling so fast, a few more articles such as these might serve to impress us with the fact that we are missing much of the beauty around us.

Could you arrange to have these articles appear, say every week, especially as autumn is approaching with its wealth of colour.

Perhaps too, these items would compensate of the overdose of tragedy one gets from the front pages.

Yours sincerely,

IS CANADA A FREE DEMOCRATIC COUNTRY?

Sir: The police of this country are the target for this article. The police need more thorough education on certain phases of laws, their duties to enforce the laws, selection of their personal associates, conduct of their own toward the people while in or out of working hours, and to realize they are like all officials put in the official position to be servants. To serve justly according to laws and not there of their own initiative alone. If police are not moulded to fit the position they should be so educated to best serve the public and country. Ignorance may be classed as the root of all evil. The following proves ignorance by some officials in this county.

Is this a FREE COUNTRY when one party dictates to police and the police do just as they are advised by that individual, namely, "Do not respond to a call when certain people make a request"? There is one home in this county where more than a 6 qt. basket or over 100 broken or useless locks have been shown as the proof for lack of police protection. Those locks ranging in price from 59c up to many in the $5.00 or from $7.00 to $10.00 price yet broken with the same results as the inexpensive locks. Is it a free country when those same people have been deprived of protection and freedom of worship in the churches by orders of ministers or individuals? Is it a free country when homes are entered at any hour and time of year and no police investigation regardless of the amount taken or destroyed? That has been happening in this county for over 18 years, many officials know, yet misfits remain in office and paid to neglect duty. Many cases can be thus related.

Are our reserves for only wild animals, a few berry pickers and the occasional game poacher? The above mentioned party mentioned of being deprived of the rights in this country spent over $12 just one year calling long distance for protection but has never had any of those rights enjoyed. While berry pickers can call the cops just once and get action under most ridiculous circumstances that were a great source for embarrassment to a gentleman tourist, as well as to 2 cops, all because of not being educated properly. A man worthy of being classed as most loyal to Canada as well as to the U.S. where he has lived for years rising to heights in world affairs of the U.S. started to do some wandering like many through our nearby reserve. He was dressed and equipped properly for that purpose and minding his own business as he is always known to do in a most tactful and gentlemanly manner. The berry picker made just one call for police investigation. Those snoopers went in search of their snooper and in the darkness and wilderness the innocent traveller and yearly tourist snuggled down in his sleeping bag for a night among the wild cats, the bears the wolves and other characters of God and nature for a slumber in God's Free Country. But that berry picker had her first call for provincial service answered by 2 cops. All of a sudden that weary tourist was so startled by a bright light that he tore his preciously used sleeping bag scrambling out to investigate those 2 bright eyes. "Who's there?" came his shout after 2 cops said, "Stick them up, who's there?"

The tourist was frightened and angry and said, "Isn't this a free country? I have a right to know who you are." The cops soon learned how they had answered a foolish call from a berry picker and made a mess of the situation at the expense of innocent victims. Lack of knowledge on the part of those two cops proves the need for better education. Had they requested the description of the tourist, ignorance would not have been the root of destroyed pleasure.

Was the above berry picker's call for provincial more worthy to be answered than this case? Just this Sunday, Sept. 14, a city family had used the Sabbath and one of the hottest days of the year to cut down large and small cedars, etc. to clear a wide shore space and all that time keeping a bonfire blazing high among uncut cedars and very near to a real cedar bush, cottages and farm buildings. They had no bucket to use and left the old logs smouldering. The farmer's home and timber were endangered and knowing a statute law exists prohibiting fires between July and October, a call for Provincial was made. The police did as they have done for over 18 years. Never investigated even in daylight for fire protection but had spent hours in darkness and a wilderness to protect the wild animals from the pleasures of an innocent tourist, one who who is noted for his high integrity and world positions of responsibility. Is there any wonder fires destroy lives and property and investigations afterwards by cops do no good, for investigation is too late.

Thanks for your consideration.

Respectfully,
(MRS.) JOSEPH HAMILTON

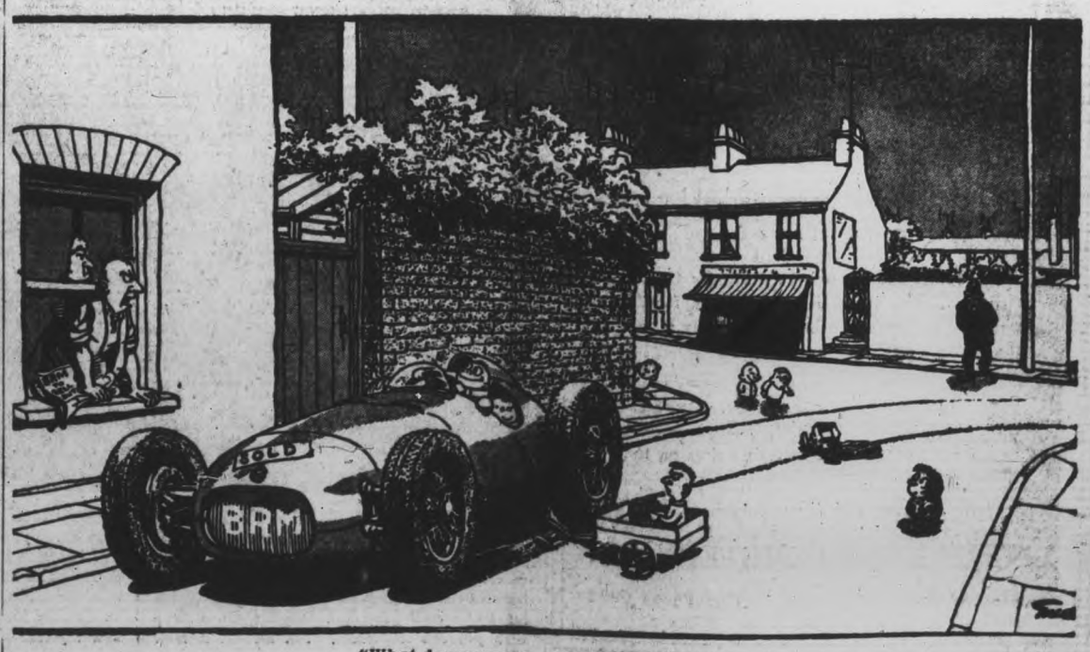
Bible Message



(From the Authorized Version)

Now when Jesus had heard that John was cast into prison, he departed into Galilee; and leaving Nazareth, he came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is upon the sea coast, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, saying, the land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthalim, by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles; the people which sat in darkness saw great light; and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death light is sprung up.

From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. . . . And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.

And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people with devils, and those that had the palsy; and that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed he healed them. (Matt. 4-12, 17, 23, 24.)

Pads On Collection Plates Made From Veteran's Tunic

By NICK NICKELS

If one will dig deeply into the history of parish churches one will find some small oddity that might serve as a key to its individuality, and to its parishioners. It might be something written in the land grant on which the church was originally built. The history and excellence of its communion plate may have some bearing on it. St. Michael's Anglican Church, Westwood, is proud of a small item that would seem trifling to most. The bright scarlet cloth pads on the pewter collection plates were cut from the tunic of the late John Thompson, of Westwood, one of the two recruits who served in the Northwest Rebellion from that community.

This small link with the past was the inspiration of his widow, Mrs. Jane Thompson, who is the church's one-woman Altar-Guild, honorary president of the Westwood Women's Institute, and district historian.

St. Michael's is celebrating the 75th anniversary with a series of services from September 14 until the first week in October at Harvest Thanksgiving.

It serves 60 families in the townships of Otonabee and Asphodel. An examination of three-quarters of a century of church records reveals the part this church has played in the development of that community, one well and truly served by churches. Besides St. Michael's, the Westwood United and Westwood Presbyterian Churches also stand on two other corners of the country crossroads.

Though built of red brick, the architecture of St. Michael's is a faithful copy of a Welsh stone church from which its first rector, the Rev. Michael Andrews Farrar, originally came. Indeed, it was named after Mr. Farrar and does not, like other Anglican churches of this name, refer to "St. Michael and All Angels."

SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY of St. Michael's Anglican Church, Westwood, is being held with a series of services from September 14 to October 6. One of the original members, Mrs. William Elmhirst, the former Jane Lancaster, of Concession 3, Otonabee township, is shown in the left photo examining old church records with the present rector, the Rev. H. E. Peasgood, of Norwood. The interior, right photo, is simply and tastefully furnished. The building, lower photo, faithful copy of a Welsh stone church, was opened in 1877.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

Was toting some summer squash up to Aunt Fuchsia's attic the other day — she's the rich relative with the tight purse strings — when I paused long enough to rummage among leather trunks and hat boxes to examine a couple of cracked dusty framed pictures that used to hang in the family dining room half a century ago.

Every home of any account had a pair of these prints; strings of dead ducks draped in very dead fashion beside the butt of a shotgun. I do not recall that Grandfather was such an avid duck hunter that he felt he must be surrounded the year 'round with these horrible picture reminders but they hung there for years.

But a-shooting he did go with one of his pals in a buggy of an afternoon to Rice, Pigeon, Buckhorn or Chemong Lakes marshes. They built rush hides or rowed about swamps in duckboats and generally shot several birds as they swarmed in to feed in early evening. The hunters arrived home late at the same night, hung the birds by the feet from cellar beams and ordered them to be cooked only when the feet and bodies, through decomposition, parted company.

Subsequent roast duck dinners many weeks later were high social occasions when grandmother served the birds with all the trimmings on large old-fashioned tableware. A roast duck per person was considered the proper serving.

Duck shooting was just as casual as that in those days. Now, it seems, we make a great to-do about the whole sport. We must gather all sorts of statistics beforehand, study weather reports, fuss about our guns and dogs and generally get in a great lather.

The big barrage started this morning and it will be a day or so before results start coming in. Reports for a good shoot appear to be excellent, especially in Pigeon and Buckhorn areas and in the north-west section of the Kawarthas. Ducks have been giving late standing grain in Eldon and Fenelon Townships, Victoria County, quite a trimming, game wardens say. A heavy wild rice crop in that area this year is another inducement to marsh feeders. On the other hand, Rice Lake is devoid of rice although there is ample wild celery for the fair black duck population to feed on and enough for the late northerns when they sweep down.

Ducks and Drakes

Though you may get no closer to shooting this year than to study the colorful decoys in hardware store windows, here are some descriptive markings of some of the birds taken in this area:

WOOD DUCK:
Male: Distinctive face pattern.
Female: White spot around eye.

BLACK DUCK
Dusky body, pale head; sexes similar.

MALLARD
Male: Green head, white neck ring.
Female: Orange on bill, whitish tail.

PINTAIL
Male: Needle tail, neck-stripe.
Female: Gray bill, slim pointed tail.

CANVAS-BACK
Male: White body, rusty head, sloping profile.
Female: Grayish; dark chest, sloping profile.

REDHEAD
Male: Gray; black chest, round rufous head.
Female: Indistinct face-patch near bill.

AMERICAN GOLDEN-EYE
Male: Round white spot before eye.
Female: Gray body, brown head, light collar.

BLUE-WINGED TEAL
Male: White face crescent, blue wing-patch.
Female: Small size, blue wing-patch.

GREEN-WINGED TEAL
Male: Vertical white mark on body.
Female: Small size, dark wing.

Surface feeders—Mallards, Blacks, Pintails, Teals and Wood Ducks spring directly into the air when frightened; they obtain their food by dabbling and tipping rather than by diving.

Diving ducks—Redheads, Canvas-Backs, Golden-Eyes do not jump into the air if disturbed but patter along the surface for take-off.

Twelve-gauge long-range shells are in unlimited supply and cost from 15 to 20 cents less than last season, i.e., $3.65 the box. New guns are expensive and not too available. Gun licenses are a must (as fishing rod licenses should be) and cost $1 per copy. Consider yourselves lucky, for, non-residents must pay $21 for a license, (birds, rabbits).

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

PARTRIDGE season opens today, too. And all observers say the hatch has been splendid. This sport appeals to more hunters, perhaps, than duck shooting. Many carry unlimbered guns in their cars and are able to drive the byways and near open woods for a few hours of healthy tramping with fair prospects of potting a few birds, especially around evening feeding time. Shells for this sport, 419 gauge, longe-range, cost $2.80 per box.

Salmon Island off Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, had a reputation many years ago for deep-lying lake trout, incorrectly called "salmon" in those days. Now, something new has been added. Whitefish.

Know of one Peterborough family who, trolling deep with 400-500 feet of monel line, landed eight of these fish this summer. The largest went 10½ pounds. Many badly hooked fish break away but when they take the barb they are boated. Whitefish run in the Burleigh Rapids each fall during deer hunting season. Since all fishing is closed on Oct. 15 in the Kawarthas, they are not supposed to be taken at that time, but, there have been rumours ...

A SAVOUR SUPPER QUITE IRRESISTIBLE

If there are no social objections to your eating Onions, try the following: to an omelette of three eggs, add half a good-sized onion, mixed almost to a powder, and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. The shredding of the onion to a sufficient degree of fineness, is the most important thing, as from the short time required to cook the omelette, it would otherwise be insufficiently dressed. The onion should be boiled previously (or partially so), for fastidious tastes; but thereby some degree of flavour and crispness is sacrificed.

It was remarked by an eminent barrister that learning in ladies should be as onions properly are in cookery—you should perceive the flavor, but not the thing itself.

Bosom Friend: "Well, dear, now that you are a widow, tell me, are you any the happier for it?" Interesting Widow: "Oh, no! But I have my freedom, and that's a great comfort. Do you know, my dear, I had an onion yesterday for the first time these fourteen years!"

FIRST SERVICES

Religious services were brought to this pioneering Rice Lake community in the 1830's by a circuit-riding priest from Newcastle. Services were first held at the home of the late Richard Birdsall whose descendants, with the Elmhirsts, Lancasters, Humphries and Pattersons are still the backbone of the parish.

The ground for the church was given by a Mrs. Powell, of Westwood, and neighbours of all denominations helped to haul materials and erect the building. It was opened in January, 1877, and the service was taken by the Revs. J. W. McCleary, E. W. Soward and E. Mulvaney. It was consecrated by the late Bishop Sweeney in 1909. The last dignitary to visit the church was the Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Bishop of Toronto, in 1941.

Its first rector and founder, Mr. Farrar, died a few weeks before the church was opened.

Though lit by gas lanterns and heated by wood stoves, St. Michael's is simply and pleasantly appointed. The present rector, the Rev. H. E. Peasgood, B.A. LTh., lives in Norwood. He showed the reporter the original church records and made mention of the three items of interest:

The first baptism was Margaret Helen Scott at the opening service in 1877. The first marriage was Thomas Maitland Grover, of Norwood, to Charlotte Isobel Farrar, of Westwood, and the first burial service was for Jane Lancaster, 67, in the same year.

To highlight several anniversary services the climax will be reached on St. Michael's Day, September 29, when visiting clergy and choir from Peterborough will participate. It will be followed by a social evening.

Grieving Handsome Jack Buries His Lovely Daughter

By MRS. W. PLATT

A backward glance, to the early eighteen hundreds, when the white man was beginning to invade the unsettled townships of Peterborough County whose lakes and rivers had hitherto been only traversed by the birch-bark canoe of the red man, reveals an interesting Indian anecdote about Jack's Lake. Jack's Lake is in the northwest corner of Methuen township.

This lake is about eight miles northeast of Stony Lake with which it is connected by Jack's Creek. It derived its name from Handsome Jack, an Indian chief, who claimed all the streams and lands in this locality as his fishing and hunting grounds. He was considered the handsomest man among the Chippewas, then commanded by "Cap" Paudash of Rice Lake. He stood six feet four inches in height and weighed fully 250 pounds. He belonged to the Cow family and among the whites was known as Jack Cow.

CLAIMED LAKES

Stony Lake, Loon Lake in the township of Chandos and all the streams south of Loon Lake were claimed by him as his inherited property. He was most tenacious of his rights and would invariably destroy all the traps of white men he found set on his streams. But he would allow the pale face to hunt for deer and partridge, or to fish in the streams so long as no furs were taken.

Handsome Jack usually lived in a birch-bark wigwam which he moved from place to place as circumstances required. Although he never missed an opportunity of rather greedily asserting his right to his streams and hunting grounds he was very hospitable to those who were friendly with him. He would often invite the whites to his wigwam and would order his squaw to prepare a good meal of rice, beaver and partridge boiled with a little pounded corn. This was "Te Pake" a hodge-podge mixture somewhat akin to Irish stew.

The hospitable Indian would sit by and apparently enjoy seeing the white man eat at his fireside. When the repast was finished he would light his pipe and relate thrilling scenes of his wild life in hunting the bear, wolf, deer and other animals with which the woods were alive.

TWO LOVELY DAUGHTERS

Handsome Jack was the father of two lovely girls, "Baby Cow" and "Polly Cow," both of whom inherited their father's extreme beauty and perfect symmetry of form. The latter grew up a most beautiful maiden, her soft-tinted complexion, heightened by the rosy-hued blossom of her health, and her long black hair reaching nearly to the ground, rendered her an object of envy to other dusky damsels.

She possessed a fine voice and on many a moonlight night have the pine-crowned islands of Stony Lake re-echoed the sweet melody of her native songs, the faint ripple of the water keeping time as she paddled her canoe. She was the ever-worshipped idol of her father and many others who were alarmed when at the age of 16 years she grew ill of a fever.

The best efforts of the "medicine men" were futile to stay the ravages of the disease and Handsome Jack was inconsolable. So died the beautiful Polly Cow on an evening when the setting sun shot golden shafts through the frost-bitten leaves that fluttered in the autumn winds.

HEART-BROKEN

The Indian Chief was heart-broken. He was determined that his darling daughter should sleep in a fitting grave and accordingly repaired to one — the most southern of the three islands at the point where the waters of Clear Lake, which is situated at the southwestern extremity of Stony Lake, runs into Katchewanooka —the Water of Many Rapids.

On this island, about ten feet from the water's edge he dug the grave with his own hands and walled it up with stones. Then placing the body in a birch-bark coffin he paddled it down the lake in his canoe and buried it in the grave he had prepared beneath a balsam tree.

The disconsolate father cleared away the trees and brushwood between the grave and the water's edge, so that the dear girl's spirit could wander there daily for water as was the Indian belief. Night after night the sad-hearted Chief watched by the grave until he joined his daughter in the Happy Hunting Grounds in 1835.

The squaw of Handsome Jack survived him many years and married an Indian named Snowstorm.

Eels Lake, located in the northeast corner of the township of Anstruther, derives its name from "Eels," a subordinate chief of the Chippewas and a brother of Handsome Jack.

Hobby Of Finishing Driftwood For Interior Decorating

Driftwood, as a feature of interior decorating, which is slowly coming into its own in Canada, has arrived in one Peterborough home.

James Fraser, who lives on the Port Hope highway, has become a driftwood enthusiast.

His wife is becoming equally as enthusiastic as their home is gradually becoming decorated with the products of this craft.

All you need for this hobby is an imagination, sandpaper, a can of shoe polish and a can of car polish, Mr. Fraser claims.

The products of driftwood handicraft can be as varied as the imagination of the person who takes up this hobby. At present Mr. Fraser's collection includes wall and table decorations and candy dishes.

Useful articles such as containers for sprays of flowers or ferns, bookends, fruit and salad bowls are other suggestions for anyone interested in this hobby.

Interest in driftwood handicraft was born in the Fraser family while they were spending some time on a river not far from Peterborough. The bank was littered with various shapes and sizes of driftwood. Some of the pieces were particularly picturesque and the Frasers decided they were too good to leave behind.

Not wishing to bother driving into the city to get a wood finish, Mr. Fraser decided to try shoe polish. The experiment proved successful. However, his finished articles were not just the result of an application of shoe polish alone.

The Fraser method in this handicraft starts with sandpapering until every bit of the wood is smooth. Next comes the shoe polish application (different shades for variety). This is followed by as many as 12 applications of car polish. There is no need to say that the main ingredient is lots of elbow grease if the finished product is to come out shining.

Mr. Fraser may be the only local person who is interested in this hobby. But there is a good possibility that many more in the city may follow his example after seeing a display of his work at the Peterborough Exhibition.

Recreation Commissioner Alex Sinclair, who was in charge of the booth where the wood was exhibited, had many questions to answer for interested observers. Instructions were written down on how to finish the wood and some wanted to buy items in the display.

Mr. Fraser says that as far as he knows this hobby is comparatively new in Canada, but has been popular in the United States for some time.

He believes that people living in Peterborough have a better than average chance of carrying on this hobby because of its proximity to so many lakes and rivers.

If Mr. Fraser's idea catches on, cottagers in the area may be killing two birds with one stone this fall and next spring — clearing their beaches and making works of art out of the driftwood.

A NEW HOBBY that is inexpensive and satifying to the individual is the collecting and finishing of pieces of driftwood. One of the few district people who has gone into it fairly extensively is James Fraser, top photo, of Highway 28 South. Choosing the original pieces with some imagination is the first requisite and the finishing is simple; sandpaper, stains and floor wax produce the final result. Lower photo, the shapes suggest all manner of contemporary designs, may even result in flower-holding brackets, bon-bon dishes. Waterworn pine pieces result in the fines' product, Mr. Fraser says. — (Examiner Staff Photos).

Orfuns Take a 12-11 Win Over Cobourg Ghosts In First Home Grid Fray

Quarterback Jim Milligan's throwing arm, Jack Matthews' talented toe and the split-second thinking of Buster Jensen enable the Peterborough Orfuns to pull the upset of the young football season Friday night when they tripped Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts 12-11 at Morrow Park. The win, the first for the Orfuns over the Ghosts in several years, sent 1,500 Orfuns' fans home happy and sent 500 Cobourg fans home in rather a dazed state.

The final verdict was in doubt until the final play and that's where Jensen played his major role, saving the victory for the Orfuns.

Stopped twice on their own 10-yard line in the final minute, the Orfuns elected to kick but Matthews chose to run it just for fun; he made 22 yards but the play was called back and Cobourg took possession for the last play.

A RETURN KICK

All the Ghosts had to do was kick to deadline to tie the game. Former Alouette, Pete McParland, punted but the ball went low to Jensen behind the line. On the run and surrounded by Cobourg would-be tacklers, Jensen returned the kick, oddly enough to McParland who was smothered on the 15-yard line to end the game. That return kick saved the Orfuns.

Orfuns' held a slim edge during the game over the Ghosts thanks to the kicking of former University of Western Ontario star Jack Matthews. Several times his lofty punts lifted the Orfuns out of trouble and twice he counted single points; those extra points did the trick.

Matthews' punts which ranged as much as 70 yards easily outdistanced the kicking of Ghosts' supposedly "new sensation" McParland, and quarter Don Hatt, who did a fair chore in that department, especially in the last half. But the kicks didn't have distance in the clutches.

PASSING PLAYS

Much to the fans' delight both teams had to rely upon passing for points. Little Jim Milligan, the Orfuns' Orillia import, lived up to all expectations flinging two touchdown passes to Orillia's Jim Wilde. Milligan connected on five out of 13 passes, a so-so record, but the two major flings were tops.

Mel Taylor, who started in the Ghosts' quarter slot, had difficulty hitting the target in the first, giving way to Don Hatt in the second. Hatt combined with Boyd Hendry in the fourth with brilliant long passing displays, finally resulting in a touchdown. But their record was almost identical to the Orfuns', five out of 12.

The Orfuns surprised football followers when they held the Ghosts scoreless during the first quarter, but they knocked the fans out of the seats when they opened the scoring in the second.

A short punt by McParland gave the Orfuns possession on the Cobourg 45-yard line. Huntley went for five followed by a Milligan pass to Jensen for a first down. A roughing penalty to Cobourg pushed the Orfuns closer to the touch line and they went farther as Bob White carried for seven yards.

PASS FOR MAJOR

These plays set Milligan up for a touchdown pass to Jim Wilde who leapt into the air and pulled the ball down inside scoring territory. The convert attempt failed leaving the score 5-0.

The cheers were still echoing throughout the park when Taylor faded back to Cobourg's 30-yard line where he passed to Ken Medhurst near the centre line. Medhurst shook off three Orfuns and galloped the 55 yards for a major which went unconverted.

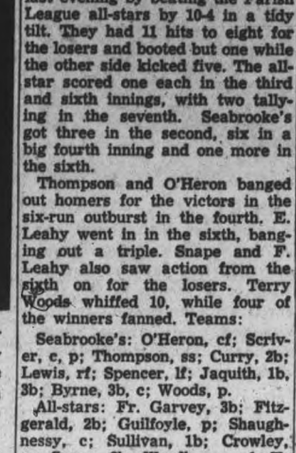
Seabrooke's Get A 10-4 Win From All-Stars

Seabrooke's, who play Oshawa here tonight in an O.A.S.A. senior "B" quarter-final playoff, limbered up in an exhibition at the Bowl last evening by beating the Parish League all-stars by 10-4 in a tidy tilt. They had 11 hits to eight for the losers and booted but one while the other side kicked five. The all-star scored one each in the third and sixth innings, with two tallying in the seventh. Seabrooke's got three in the second, six in a big fourth inning and one more in the sixth.

Thompson and O'Heron banged out homers for the victors in the six-run outburst in the fourth. E. Leahy went in in the sixth, banging out a triple. Snape and F. Leahy also saw action from the sixth on for the losers. Terry Woods whiffed 10, while four of the winners fanned. Teams:



Seabrooke's: O'Heron, cf; Scriver, c, p; Thompson, ss; Curry, 2b; Lewis, rf; Spencer, lf; Jaquith, 1b, 3b; Byrne, 3b, c; Woods, p.

PANTHERS TRAMPLE YORKS

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Panthers scored five touchdowns in a fierce second-half attack last night as they trampled Toronto East Yorks 41-5 in an intermediate Ontario Rugby Football Union game. It was the third straight win for the Panthers, 1951 Canadian intermediate champions coached by Tony Golab.

TAKES TROPHY — Centre fielder Joe Lowery was voted the Petes' most valuable ball player this season, to take the Jack Legris Trophy. Previous holders of this cup were Joe Stewart, Al Menzies and Bill Dadson. In the voting this year, Freddy Garvey was a close runner-up to Lowrey.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Joe Lowrey won the Jack Legris Trophy this year for being voted the most valuable player of the Petes' ball club. He led the club in hitting and base-stealing, besides being the best centre fielder in the C.O.B.L. Runner-up was Freddy Garvey, classy and hustling second-sacker, a guy who can really squeeze in a run. The judges were Tommy Holyman, Ray Pammett and Examiner sports editor. The trophy was put up several years ago by Jack Legris, a keen senior ball fan, and has previously been won by Joe Stewart, Al Menzies and Lefty Bill Dadson. The presentation to Joe Lowrey will be made at a later date.

School days bring football days to the huskier element of the male student body. Quite a raft of prospective gridders have been turning out with the P.C.V.S. and S.P.S. squads, senior and junior. Bev Goulding's senior P.C.I.-ers are back in the C.O.S.S.A. "A" group of the lakeshore area, along with Oshawa and Belleville. Johnny Lynch's senior St. Peter's team goes this fall in the Catholic Conference. Schedules should be out shortly, as play is about ready to begin all over the province in high school circles. Senior Garnet and Grays have an exhibition match with the local Saints at eight tonight in Riverside, and it should prove interesting.

Building For The Future

Coming events cast their shadows before, one hears. And it might be that in another year or two it'll be St. Catharines and Peterborough fighting it out for top eastern honors in senior lacrosse. Why? Because St. Kitts' bantams and juveniles are presently in O.L.A. finals against the bants and juves of this city. Meaning both towns are building for the future in gutted-stick play. Our bantams, under Gary Robinson, are trailing their two-game series and must win in the eight p.m. fixture here this eve, or that's that. Our juves, piloted by Doug Miller Jr., have a lead and can take the provincial "B" title in the nightcap here tonight. Bantams are in "A" competition. Come out and cheer the lads on to victory.

Two up and two to go—that's the score in the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals, following the Petes' 21-13 win o'er Yorks last p.m. in Mimico. Third of their best-of-seven set is here Monday night and fourth back in Mimico next Wednesday. The Thorpe squad hope to wrap it up in four straight, though admitting the Yorks will be tough every game. Timbermen had to roll high, wide and handsome in the last half of the joust Friday night to rack up that margin, and various members were limping and nursing bruises at the end of the brawl. A rugged session, indeed. But they showed a hefty crowd why they're champs and why they expect to hit the Mann Cup series once more. A solid effort all through.

Ike and the Wipper

Ike Hildebrand is due to leave any day now for pro puck training, but he turned in a sparkling effort last p.m. with five goals and an assist. Tall Harry Wipper did the same with a driving type of game that had the opposition baffled. Bob Thorpe, Rusty Slater and Curly Mason were other aces who caught fire in the important playoff. Killingbeck and Nickle continue to turn in stout lacrosse, and the whole crew clicked in championship form. Timpson, Jim McNulty, Croft and Webster were the pick of the losers. Wootton shows each game his superiority over Johnston in Toronto's net. It just could happen that Monday's melee in Miller Bowl will be the last lacrosse seen here this year. It's possible.

At home last gloaming, our grid Orfuns yanked out a nifty 12-11 win against Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts. A tight fit but the Kotowski crew deserved it, and the crowd went home happy—all but the lakeshore fanatics. Plenty of exciting football as the Orfuns finally cracked the Cobourg jinx to climb up in the standing. Oshawa leads, though, as their win in Kingston was a four-pointer. Jack Matthews displayed hefty hoofing for the victors, the Ghosts being weak in this department. The Milligan-Wilde combination from Orillia provided passing payoffs for the local majors behind a strong line. Jensen's heady return kick saved Orfuns' bacon at the windup. Yeah, a dandy one to take. Locals trek to Kingston next Friday for a group fixture.

Offer Nearly All Team For One Big Player

PHILADELPHIA (CP)—How valuable can a guy be?

Philadelphia Warriors have offered Minneapolis Lakers their entire 1951 basketball team—with one exception—for George Mikan.

Eddie Gottlieb, owner-coach of the Philadelphia franchise in the National Basketball Association, disclosed his offer for Mikan yesterday. Gottlieb, desperate in his search for a big man, has written to every team in the N.B.A. seeking a deal, but without success.

The only player excluded is Paul Arizin who is in the U. S. Marines. "I'll use all new men and take a chance on Mikan playing more than one good game," Gottlieb said.

LED PETES TO VICTORY—Three of the scoring aces for the Petes' Timbermen over Toronto Yorks last night in Mimico were Ike Hildebrand, above left; Harry Wipper, centre; and Bob Thorpe, playing coach, at right. The latter was in on five goals as Wipper and Hildebrand figured in on six apiece in the 21-13 triumph. It was the locals' second straight win in the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals.

Petes Trounce Yorks 21-13 In Rough Senior Game To Take 2-0 Lead In Series

Thumping Toronto West Yorks 21-13 in Mimico last night, the Petes' Timbermen took a firmer grip on the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals. It was their second win in as many starts of the best-of-seven series, the third game being here Monday. A hefty crowd, with a number of Peterborough fans on deck, saw a rugged, hard-hitting fray with the Thorpe team finishing strong in the second half to earn the duke. They had come from behind a 6-3 count in the first quarter to lead 9-8 at the half, and 16-12 going into the one-sided fourth heat.

The Petes were handed 13 of the 23 penalties handed out in a bruising battle, several majors coming for opponents drawing blood, and a fist fight in the dying minutes between Harry Wipper and Frank Facto resulting in five-minute sentences. Goalie George Johnston was hit hard on the neck by a shot late in the second period and the frame was shortened to give him time to recover—the extra few minutes being tacked on the third chapter. After that period, he retired in favor of Sam Arthurs.

ROUGH GOING

A number of the players limped off with assorted cuts and bruises, but they returned later to see action. Ross Powless was cut on the head, Bob Thorpe received a gash on the forehead, and Lou Nickle got a shiner from a shot to the eye. The Petes got rolling after the first quarter and clicked up to form in a fighting display, all shining from the goalie out the last three periods. West Yorks battled bitterly to the close, also.

Harry Wipper and Ike Hildebrand were the big guns for the winners with five goals each and an assist. Russ Slater banged home four neat ones, while Bob Thorpe had three and two assists in a classy chore. Lou Nickle bulleted a pair, with Curly Mason and Dootch Vitarelli getting one each. Mason had three assists, O'Hearn, Don Ashbee and Bill Killingbeck two apiece, with one going to Ross Powless.

Bill Timpson notched four for the losers, Kenny Croft getting three, Jim McNulty and Nick Ferri two apiece, and Stew Scott and Tom Banks one each. Croft was good for four assists, Bruce Webster three, Jack Kapasky two, and Banks, Hewitt, Timpson and McPhail one apiece.

SCORED EARLY

Jim McNulty clicked for a quickie from Banks in the first, but Wipper got it right back from Thorpe. The latter went off then for holding and Jim McNulty followed for slashing. Timpson tallied on a solo and Nickle tore in to hit it on Killingbeck's pass. Ferri shot one home from Kapaski, and Banks added another with Croft and Webster setting up the play. With Slater away for slashing, Timpson tallied from Webster. Later, Hildebrand hit it from Killingbeck but Timpson made the count 6-3 on Croft's pass. McPhail was waved over for slashing at the finish.

Early in the second, Hildebrand and McPhail roughed it for minors, and Nickle counted on a quick dash. Thorpe added one from Ashbee, but Scott broke through to score and Jim McNulty lengthened the lead with Croft. Thorpe whittled it down with two fine goals, helped once by Hildebrand. Scott drew a slashing major and Powless a minor for roughing, Ross being cut. Wipper and Ferri roughed it up next and, after Slater scored the tying goal alone, O'Hearn got it for slashing. He was off when Slater put the Petes up with a sizzling angle shot. The goalie was hurt right after and the period called with 2.19 to go.

DOUBLE PENALTIES

Digby and Ashbee mixed it for double penalties each in the third and Wipper roared in to score. Croft got that back from McPhail and, with Thorpe off for high-sticking, Croft added one from Timpson and Webster. McPhail was waved over for cross-checking and the Petes banged in four in a hurry. Hildebrand scored three of them and Wipper one, the latter and Thorpe each getting an assist, and O'Hearn helping on two. Wipper followed up with another as the Timbermen really rolled. Slater's interference penalty gave Timpson a goal from Croft, but Hildebrand got it right back on Mason's pass. Ferri ended the frame with a neat one from Hewitt.

Arthurs was in goal in the fourth. Jim McNulty drew a major for slashing Thorpe. O'Hearn followed with a major for cutting as play kept rough. Croft scored their final one on Kapasky's pass. Vitarelli made a nice save back of Wootton. Mason counted a goal from Ashbee. Burns went off for too many players on the field. He was out when Slater counted a pair of nifties, Mason helping on both and Powless in on one. Wipper ripped his way through for a sparkler and then Thorpe and Ferri roughed it to hit the sin bin. Vitarelli got the last goal, and Wipper and Facto swung fists in the final minute to earn majors. Teams:

They Were Rugged Players In Those Days With The Catcher Requiring No Mitt

Baseball Flourished In Peterborough 60 Years Ago

By CEC PERDUE

Baseball flourished in Peterborough and in the adjoining village of Ashburnham more than 60 years ago. In fact, the games at that time were all played on the P.A.A.A. Grounds, also known as Cricket Field. The site today is a short, wide and pleasant residential street in East City, called Cricket Place.

An ancient picture published in the Examiner shows the ball team of 1889, the P.A.A.A. champions. They played in a league with the Athletics from the city and the Ashburnham Astonishers. Most of the champions also came from west of the river which separated the two communities years before Ashburnham became part of the city.

While it was only a three-team league—forerunner of the Midland League and much later the C.O.B.L.—the winners that summer so long ago registered 34 victories. They played many exhibition or challenge contests with Markham, Lindsay, Campbellford, Hastings, Cobourg, etc. Travel generally was done by train, though horse-drawn stages played their part, too, in transporting teams.

It was the horse-and-buggy days, the time of gas lamps, wooden sidewalks, dusty main streets, long-skirted women, moustached men, swinging bar-room doors, livery stables, outdoor privies — the era when the small city of Peterborough and the little village of Ashburnham were robust children.

MAN'S GAME IN 1889

The present-day Petes, champions of the Central Ontario League, might laugh if they could see baseball as it was played then. But it was a man's game. They didn't use gloves nor spikes in '89. Indeed the uniforms would look peculiar now. They wore caps, light shirts and ties, dark pantaloons, long stockings and boots. The catcher stood well back and took the ball on the bounce until the last strike, when he moved up to catch it in his bare hands. A year or two before that time, the batter had the option of calling for a high or low pitch and he was allowed four strikes. But the general trend of the game was as it is in 1952. Many of the young players sported fine moustaches. There was no admission fee for games, and few ladies attended the contests.

W. J. Green was president of the 1889 championship P.A.A.A. baseball club. He was later for many years tax collector of Peterborough. No other officers appeared in the old picture except Dr. F. H. Brennan, who was manager, captain and third baseman. The doctor left several years later to take up practice in South Africa.

ONE-ARMED PITCHER

The pitcher was one-armed Dan McCabe, a capable, colorful and popular big fellow for a great many years in Ashburnham. He died here within the past decade. His catcher was Sid Malcolmshire, who eventually became a banker in Goderich, Ontario.

F. D. Mackay played first base, and in later years he became general manager of the Canadian Machine Telephone Co. here before the days of Bell Telephone. Jimmy Graham, brother of George Graham who had the Oriental Hotel and later the Empress, played at second or took over the catching chore upon occasion. He was proprietor of a Hastings hotel. At short was Hal Dumble, son of Magistrate Dumble, and he wound up as a druggist out west. Dr. Brennan was at third.

In the outfield were Sam Ray, well-known local tobacconist; C. H. Allison, who became secretary of a railway company with headquarters in Chicago; and James Turnbull, who later worked for the Gordon McKay Co. in Toronto.

MINISTER PLAYED

There were others, of course, who filled in at various spots on the team. There was the Rev. E. A. Pearson. He later became pastor of the George St. Methodist Church. His son, "Mike" Pearson, is now Canada's Minister of External Affairs. R. A. W. Hay also was with the club, and possibly a few others were connected with the P.A.A.A. champions of '89, but they weren't pictured in the group.

Many of these young men of that period starred for quite a few years afterward in baseball and in other sports. Some stayed all their lives and saw Peterborough and Ashburnham grow up into the city it became after the First World War. Others drifted away to far-off fields.

Perhaps none of these stalwarts of the diamond some 65 years ago ever dreamed that their names in the summer sport would appear many years afterward in the newspaper of a thriving Peterborough of nearly 40,000 population, a city which embraced the village of Ashburnham where they played baseball much as it is played over there today.

Shantz Shuts Out N.Y. Yankees 2-0

By WILL GRIMSLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer

The Dodgers are almost home in the National League, there's a real dogfight in the American and a couple of managers can take bows as prophets today. "We won't blow it again," Brooklyn's manager Charley Dressen had predicted. Today his hirelings, refusing to panic, are four full games ahead of the Miracle-less New York Giants with only eight games to play. "If we didn't have to face that Philadelphia pitching I'd say we'd win the pennant, but now it looks tough," Casey Stengel, wrinkled old master of the world champion New York Yankees had said.

LOSES TO SHANTZ

Stengel tasted the Athletics' pitching last night as diminutive Bobby Shantz shut out the Yankees 2-0 for his 24th victory while Cleveland was pelting hapless Detroit 4-1.

These developments left the Yankees with only a 1½-game margin over the Indians, and pressure building up daily.

The Dodgers fattened their advantage by winnig a weird, rain-plagued game from Boston 4-2, while the Giants were bowing to Philadelphia Phillies 1-0.

Now any combination of five Brooklyn victories and New York defeats will send the Dodgers into the World Series, which they almost made a year ago before dissipating a 13½-game late-summer lead.

It's going to be much more strenuous for the Yankees, who must tackle another good Athletics' pitcher, Alex Kellner, today, while the Indians are sending their 21-game winner, Mike Garcia, against the last-place Tigers, losers of 97 games.

TO START LOPAT

Stengel at first announced he'd send his ace, Allie Reynolds, an 18-game winner, against the Athletics in the second game of the three-game series but after last night's loss shifted to Ed Lopat, who has a 9-5 record.

Brooklyn hopes to solidify its position at Boston with Carl Erskine (13-6) on the mound against the veteran Warren Spahn (14-17). The Giants risk young Al Corwin against the Phillies' Robin Roberts, at 25-7 the winningest pitcher in baseball.

A first-inning error sent the Giants down to defeat. Clint Hartung dropped a fly ball which let Richie Ashburn get on base and a few moments later Del Ennis brought Ashburn home with a single for the only run of the game.

A wild pitch by the Braves' Max Surkont and a mental lapse by outfielder Sam Jethroe contributed to Brooklyn's victory at Boston.

With the score tied at 2-2, Surkont threw wildly to Billy Morgan and Roy Campanella raced home with the tie-breaking run in the eighth. Another run was added before the Dodgers' half-inning was ended under threatening skies.

JETHROE TOO ANXIOUS

Both runs would have been nullified and the game reverted to the seventh if Jethroe hadn't been a bit too anxious. With two out and the count two balls and one strike, Jethroe hit the next pitch for an infield out just as a torrential rain descended. That pitch was the last of the game, since the contest was stopped immediately and later called. If Sam had taken the pitch or stalled momentarily, it would have been a deadlock.

Shantz registered his fifth shutout of the season against the Yankees and stretched his string of scoreless innings against the champions to 29. Only four Yankees got safeties and six of them went down swinging.

The loser was Vic Raschi, longtime Athletics' nemesis. Manager Jimmy Dykes of the As was tossed out of the game for protesting a strike called in the seventh.

Early Wynn's 22nd pitching victory and Larry Doby's 31st home run were the big factors in Cleveland's triumph over Detroit. Wynn hurled an eight-hitter in subduing the docile Tigers.

In other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals downed Chicago Cubs 5-3 and Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh 4-3.

Washington Senators won the only other American League game when rookie Mike Fornieles throttled Boston Red Sox 5-3.

Kids Steal Show In Leaf Training

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—The kids stole the show in the first week of pre-season training at the camp of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

The most imposing forward line was a threesome of Bobby Hassard, George Armstrong and Gord Hannigan who played as a unit most of last season for Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League until Armstrong was summoned to join the Leafs in the closing stages of the N.H.L. race.

"With the players we have there's a chance for a good, young team," said coach Joe Primeau. "We have a good goalie in Harry Lumley. Now we have to work hard to get into top shape."

Two-Horse Race Ends In Dead Heat

HAYDOCK PARK, England (AP)—A two-horse race here ended in a dead heat yesterday—and backers of one nag lost money.

The freak result occurred in the one-mile West Lancashire Handicap in which Wellington Castle and Top Drawer were the only starters.

The win pool had to be split two ways.

The tote payoff for a two-shilling bet on Wellington Castle, the hot favorite, was only one shilling, twopence. Outsider Top Drawer paid four shillings.

N.H.L. Begins Its Schedule In Less Than Three Weeks

The 1952-53 National Hockey League season will open on Thursday, Oct. 9, when Montreal Canadiens play hosts to the Chicago Black Hawks, while the Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings entertain the New York Rangers. This marks the earliest opening of the National Hockey League, beating by two days the opener in Detroit a year ago. Each team will play 70 games and the season will end on Sunday, March 22. Games are scheduled for every night of the week with the exception of Fridays.

The 36th National Hockey League season gets underway in Toronto on Saturday, October 11, with the Leafs meeting the Chicago Black Hawks. Boston fans see the 1952-53 edition of the Bruins for the first time on Sunday, October 12. Montreal Canadiens, playoff rivals of the Bruins last spring, supply the opposition. The season opens in Chicago on Sunday, October 12, with the Black Hawks clashing with the New York Rangers. New York Rangers, last club in the N.H.L. to open their season at home, do so for the first time on Wednesday, October 22. Boston Bruins meet the Rangers in the curtain-raiser at Madison Square Garden.

MOSTLY SATURDAYS

The two Canadian clubs, Toronto and Montreal, still play the majority of their home games on Saturdays. The Leafs are engaged in 24 Saturday night contests, while Canadiens play 22 games on that night. Toronto are at home on 11 Wednesdays, while Montreal plays 13 games in the Forum on Thursdays.

Chicago, Boston and Detroit play most of their home games on Sundays. The Black Hawks are scheduled for 17 Sundays, the Bruins for 17 and the Red Wings for 15. The Hawks play 15 games on Thursdays and three on Tuesdays to round out their 35 home tilts. Boston plays 14 games on Thursdays, three on Saturdays and one on a Tuesday. The Bruins have switched from Tuesdays to Thursdays this season. Last year they played 17 games on Tuesdays, while this year they only participate in one.

SPREAD AROUND

Detroit has the most diversified schedule at home. Besides playing 15 times on Sundays, the Wings play two games on Mondays, one on a Wednesday, 13 on Thursdays and four on Saturdays. New York Rangers play 18 games on Wednesdays and 17 on Sundays.

Toronto plays 25 doubleheaders (games on successive nights) during the season. Montreal plays 23, New York 22, Boston 20, Detroit and Chicago, 19 each. Toronto offers a fresh team (not having played the night before) to its fans in all 35 home games. The Canadiens can ice a fresh team in 32 of the 35 games they play in Montreal. New York fans see a fresh Ranger team in 26 games, while the Red Wings are fresh for 25 tussles at Detroit. Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks are each a fresh team at home in 22 of their 35 home games.

New York plays four games in five nights on six different occasions. Toronto plays four games in five nights four times, while Montreal and Detroit do it three times, and Chicago and Boston each do it twice.

MAGIC BOX FOR TELEVISION is the little black box sketched above beside the television set, left. It receives an unintelligible picture, but when the correct amount of money is deposited in the slot, the telemeter unscrambles it. At right is a detailed drawing of the telemeter. User looks in the window A to find cost of the show, then inserts coin in slot B, which sets the unscrambling device C in action. Window A-1 adds the coins as they are inserted, and in the detachable section E are the coin receptacle and the electronic tape G that records what shows have been received through the telemeter box H.

Nickel In The Slot Will Bring TV Here

Within a year, a community television set-up will pipe TV impulses along telephone wires into Peterborough homes.

Operated by a subsidiary of Famous Players Canadian Corporation, this system is expected to give city viewers better reception than they have been able to get in the past.

Since private stations are not yet licensed in Canada, the only possible method of distributing the television shows is by wire.

Payment will be in the form of an installation fee, not yet determined, and at first monthly payments. These periodic payments will in time be replaced by dropping a coin in a small plastic covered box attached to the television set.

Announcement of the establishment of the Famous Players' subsidy was made in Toronto this week by J. J. Fitzgibbons, president of Famous Players.

ON THE LIST

He told The Examiner that "Peterborough is definitely on the list. Our engineers were in your city on Thursday, looking it over."

He added: "It will probably take the better part of a year before the system is ready for use in Peterborough." Work would start on this city's installation in "several months."

Still a question facing the new company — Trans Canada Telemeter Ltd. — is whether it will be able to distribute CBC television shows.

There are two ways open: one is to get a license from the Department of Transport to pick up CBC-TV signals from the air; the second is to secure CBC permission and rent a wire from the CBC's Toronto studios to the company's own studios.

BETTER METHOD

The latter method, a CBC spokesman told The Examiner, is preferable. There would be less interference if a cable were rented, and a clearer image would probably be shown on the screen in a subscriber's home.

He made it clear that permission would certainly be required, in the form of a license from either the CBC or the Department of Transport.

If Famous Players goes ahead and gets a license from one or the other, it will mean that Peterborough will no longer be outside the pale as far as CBC-TV goes. At present, reception from Toronto is poor at best, non-existent at its worst.

Mr. Fitzgibbons said that "if CBC-TV won't give us permission to use their programs, we can originate enough of our own. In fact, television couldn't afford to produce our kind of program (films, some of them first-run)".

On the other hand, neither could a film concern duplicate the sports events and news coverage that live television gives.

STRING CABLES

Operation of the new company will be much like that of a tetephone firm, except that the traffic of impulses along the cables will be one-way. Cables would1 be strung to telephone poles or placed in telephone conduits underground.

Payment will also be similar. An installation fee is charged, then monthly payments cover service costs.

In time, the small plastic-covered box will be attached to the television set. This electronic jack-of-all-trades will accept coins, unscramble the scrambled TV signals sent by the parent station, tell the viewer how much each show will cost, record on tape what shows were seen, and provide storage space for the coins dropped in.

This little box is known as a telemeter. With it you pays your money and you takes your choice. If you accidentally drop money in, and don't want to see the show coming up, turn off your set; the telemeter will give you credit on the next day's show.

Cost of the shows will vary from five cents to $2, depending on the length of the show. Fifteen minutes before each show, an announcer will tell what show is coming up. The telemeter will tell how much it will cost to watch it.

START IN LONDON

First place in Canada to get telemeter service will be London, where miles of cable have already been laid and an antenna has been set up on a golf course. Peterborough, as Mr. Fitzgibbons said, is on the list, but he wouldn't name any other cities to be included in the hookup.

Eventually, telemeter television will become a nation-wide form of entertainment. When that happens, TV set manufacturers may build telemeters into their regular sets.

Seven major U.S. companies have shown their interest in doing this, and it is likely that Canadian manufacturers will follow suit.

Already, Montrealers are sseing piped-in television. Redtffusion, Inc., is renting TV sets and selling re-broadcast television for a flat weekly fee. Installation charge under the Montreal system is $100.

In the United States, telemeter service is still waiting for the go ahead sign from the Federal Communications Commission, the U.S. counterpart of the Department of Transport. This winter an experimental station will begin operating at Palm Springs, California, to gether information for the F.C.C. hearings.

Temperance Office Uses Kitchum Hall

TORONTO (CP)—A hall that liquor-hating Jesse Ketchum built in 1853 to battle the demon rum soon will be serving its original purpose again. The building is to be the office of the Ontario Temperance Federation.

Known as Ketchum Hall, the building for years was used as a meeting place for temperance organizations.

Ketchum, a friend of William Lyon Mackenzie, opened a street in 1840 through his property from Yonge Street to Bay Street in downtown Toronto and named it Temperance Street. A provision of the original deed is still enforced banning any liquor outlets on the street.

Adjourn Cross Trial Following Application

WELLAND (CP)—Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven yesterday adjourned to next week the trial of Lloyd Frank Cross for the 1949 murder of Sam Delibasich following an application for a change in location.

Frank Harrington, defence counsel, said Cross would be unable to get a fair trial in Welland county because of publicity given the case. He asked that the trial be moved to Cochrane district.

Cross' brother, James Alfred Kelsey, was convicted Thursday night of murder in the slaying. He was sentenced to be hanged next Jan. 6.

333 Enrolled At High School In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Principal E. G. Sloan reported opening attendance at Lakefield public school for September 2 as 333 puipls, at this week's meeting of the Board, presided over by Chairman A. G. Buchanan and at which all Board members were present.

Of the 69 beginners, 49 were placed in the kindergarten and 2 in the kindergarten - primer. Classes were arranged as follows: Miss Kidd, 49; Mrs. Watt 36; Miss Beavis, 41; Miss Madill, 43; Mrs. Wilcox, 43; Mr. Borland, 38; Mr. Patterson, 42; Mr. Sloan, 41.

The new classroom in Memorial Hall, with Mrs. Wilcox as teacher, was working out very well, Mr. Sloan reported. He requested the usual sports grant and stated that the kindergarten room needed an additional table and two chairs.

As a result of these requests, teachers' supplies to the amount of $15 average will be granted with the exception of Miss Kidd's room which will be allowed $0, and sports equipment to the amount of $75 may be purchased.

Mr. Sloan was authorized to arrange home instructions for Alda Webster, who, as a result of an illness, is unable to attend school.

H. C. Renaud, through the Principal, requested that consideration be given to an increase in his salary, due to the fact that music classes have grown to nine lessons a week, and on motion of Trustees Wilford and Walker, Mr. Renaud's salary will be increased to $450 from $350, effective September 1, 1952.

Trustee Dr. R. H. Campbell, chairman of the property committee, voiced his appreciation of the splendid interest taken in the renovation of several of the classrooms during the summer months by Trustees Ralph Jackman and Ralph Millage and the caretaker, Ralph Wasson. This was endorsed by the Board, who felt that the leadership of Dr. Campbell in the work should also be recognized.

Accounts totalling $1,036.95 were authorized for payment by the finance committee.

Praise Skill Of Engineers In Dominion

MONTREAL (CP)—A number of presidents of civil, electrical and mechanical engineering institutes in Great Britain said yesterday the new power development of Niagara Falls, Ont., and the chemical plant at Sarnia, are outstanding examples of Canadian engineering skill.

The engineering leaders stopped in Montreal before starting a tour of eastern Quebec.

They are: A. S. Quartermaine, president of the Institute of Civil Engineers, Sir David Pye, president of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers, and Sr. John Hacking, president of the Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Mr. Quartermaine said the Sir Adam Beck power development at Queenston "reflected a great credit on the engineers associated with it.

GREAT PLANNING

"It is obvious that great planning and thought have gone into the project. In our short stay here we were tremendously impressed with the obvious potentialities of your country."

Sir David said Canada's work in the field of jet research, while still far behind advances made in Britain, was surprisingly developed.

The engineers said the chemical plant at Sarnia is one of the most modern they had seen. Before coming to Canada they attended the centennial of the American Society of Civil Engineers at Chicago.

New Signals Regiment For Canadian Army

BARRIEFIELD (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton last night announced formation of a new major unit for the Canadian army—a new signals regiment.

He made the announcement in an address to the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals Association here.

He said the regiment will be made up partly by putting together existing units and by new entrants to the army. For the time being, headquarters of the regiments, for which Mr. Claxton gave no name, will be here.

Principal Given Leave

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. Harold R. Kingston yesterday was granted two years' leave of absence from his post as principal of University College by the University of Western Ontario board of governors because of ill health. Dr. Kingston's "retirement" ends 31 years with Western.

Union Protests Ford Layoff

WINDSOR (CP) — A union protest against a "temporary" layoff that will make idle nearly 1,300 Canadian Ford truck line workers has been made by Jack Taylor, president of local 200, U.A.W. (C.I.O.).

In a statement yesterday Taylor said the layoff scheduled to start Sept. 24 and last until Oct. 6, violates the contract signed last February. A clause in the contract says temporary layoffs provisions shall not be used for the purpose of avoiding company-wide seniority ajustments.

Company officials said the layoff was due to lack of truck sales. A previous layoff in the same department was blamed on a steel shortage.

Open New School For Army Children

BARRIEFIELD (CP)—The Defence Department is providing school facilities for 7,200 Canadian children as a by-product of Canada's armed preparedness, Defence Minister Claxton said yesterday.

Officially opening a new school for children of the 1,144 army officers and men stationed here, Mr. Claxton said it is one of 51 schools the department has built or started in the last five years. Of these, 32 are in operation.

Russia Now Claims Started Red Cross

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet readers were told yesterday that Russia first organized the Red Cross Society.

The press reported a lecture by V. A. Holodkov who said: "Examination of history reveals that the very idea of setting up Red Cross societies arose in Russia and not abroad."

He dated this Russian invention to the time of the Russo-Polish war in the mid-17th century.

Jennings of 617 Watts St., for Clare Donnelly.

The two who had their taxi cab owners licences approved were Ben Smith of 440 Cameron St., Avalon Taxi; and Elmer Lidtkie of 681 Park St., in partnership with Allied Cabs.

All applications were recommended by Chief Constable John Thompson.

Boobytrap Kills Thief Manslaughter Charge

CHATHAM, England (Reuters)—Sidney Taylor, 42, was charged with manslaughter here Friday because a boobytrap he set in a trunk killed a burglar.

Taylor's cottage had been broken into twice and about £35 was stolen from the trunk before the mechanic decided to catch the house-breaker. He rigged two iron water pipes, filled them with shotgun cartridges, and set the trigger to go off when the trunk was opened.

Someone standing up would have been peppered in the legs but the victim, Noah Easterwood, was apparently kneeling to break open the trunk and died of stomach wounds.

Drowned Swimming

WALLACEBURG (CP)—George Bull, 40, was drowned in the Sydenham River here yesterday.

LANDMARK DEMOLISHED — Two major fires, causing millions of dollars damage, failed to wipe out historic Bonaventure station in Montreal, but demolition men now are slowly tearing it down. The Canadian National Railways terminal, once a railway showplace, handled millions of travellers since it was built in 1887. Shown is the interior of the concourse. A tottering steel pillar holds up the roof as ornate plaster frescoes, the huge fireplace and old plaques and carvings await the pick and sledge.

Impressive University Reunion Included In Laval Plans

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC (CP)—An impressive reunion of men and women from the world's universities and seats of learning will attend the centennial academic session of Laval University today.

Robed in togas symbolizing their respective branches of learning, they will walk from the "Petit Seminaire," founded in 1663 and out of which grew Laval, through the city's winding Rue St. Jean to the auditorium where greetings and addresses will be delivered.

W. A. MacKintosh, chairman of the National Conference of Canadian Universities; Leon Binet, leader of the Paris University delegation, and Msgr. Pietro Parente, official Papal delegate, are among the speakers.

WILL PRESIDE

Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec, chancellor and royal visitor to the university, will preside.

Earlier Msgr. Roy will celebrate a pontifical high mass in St. Roch church, largest religious edifice in the city. The sermon will be given by Most Rev. Emile Blanchet, rector of the Catholic Institute of Paris.

On a vast plateau outside Quebec, facing the Laurentian Mountains, edifices of a modern Laval have arisen, pre-occupied with technological, scientific and commercial advancement.

Eventually the faculties of theology, law, medicine and arts will abandon their historical site to occupy buildings on the new site.

Last night the Quebec Symphony Orchestra — Canada's oldest—performed for the guests.

Under Wilfrid Pelletier, former conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, it performed an elaborate program that included the symphony for organ and orchestra by Camille Saint-Saens, rarely performed because of the size of the orchestra and the organ needed.

Taft-Hartley Law Big Election Issue For Labor

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK (CP)—As far as labor is concerned—and labor is expected to play a big part in the United States elections — the great issue is the Taft-Hartley Law.

The law, whose closed-shop ban and strike-injunction provisions have caused labor to label it restrictive, is backed strongly by the Republicans. The Republican platform, however, provides for changes in the law "which experience might have called for."

The Democrats urge "repeal" of the law which President Truman has called a "slave labor law." Democratic candidate Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois says he does not believe it is a slave-labor law, but "what should be retained from the old law can best be written into the new law after the political symbolism (of Taft-Hartley) is behind us."

The Republican candidate, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, favors amending rather than repeal, but when he told the American Federation of Labor this week of his stand, the delegates listened in silence.

Labor leaders would accept a compromise—a revision labelled "repeal."

LONG PULL

For outside of a major upset in Congress—which holds the key and has hardly touched the law since it came into force in 1947, labor leaders don't expect to wipe Taft-Hartley off the books in the next two years.

The Republicans and Southern Democrats, united in support of Taft-Hartley, under the present Congressional balance, can fend off legislative attacks on the law.

Taft-Hartley gets its name from Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, defeated by Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination, and former Republican representative Fred Hartley of New Jersey. They drafted the act and it was passed over Truman's veto.

Labor has been slamming it ever since, and the importance of the labor vote is unquestioned. Two-thirds of the 15,000,000 organized workers live in 12 states which command 247 electoral votes—only 19 short of the number needed to win.

But there is a question whether the Taft-Hartley issue by itself can swing labor as a bloc. The Republican-controlled 80th Congress which voted it in was pushed into a minority in the 1948 election. Taft, however, triumphed mightily when he next stood for re-election in Ohio and gained many union strongholds.

Nevertheless, the C.I.O. has already endorsed Stevenson and the A.F.L. is slated to follow the lead of its big sister union next week.

EMPLOYER RIGHTS

The Taft-Hartley Act supersedes the old Wagner Act of 1935 to which labor says it wants to return. While the Wagner Act guaranteed only the rights of unions, Taft-Hartley guarantees rights for employers and non-union workers as well.

Here are some of Taft-Hartley's major provisions:

Union can be found guilty of "unfair labor practices;" can be enjoined to halt them, and can be sued for breaking contracts; a union cannot coerce workers to strike.

Taft-Hartley also outlaws the closed shop wherein only union members may be hired. It permits the closed shop under which the employer may hire anyone he wants but each worker must within a specified time—usually a month—join a union.

The act forbids the strike as a weapon of jurisdictional fights between unions; the secondary boycott whereby other companies may be compelled not to do business with the original employer; "feather-bedding" which forces an employer to pay for services not rendered.

Q At what age do most women retire?

A Ten years earlier than men... usually at 55.

They also live longer. Business women, therefore, require retirement income for a much longer period of time than men. Many women find Mutual Life of Canada policies, with their absolute safety, their steady increase in values and their long record of generous dividend payments, the best possible way of providing adequate income for the future. Discuss your problem today with a Mutual Life of Canada representative.

VOL. CV. No. 68 — SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

INVENTORY

Plant activities at the C.G.E. will be partially suspended September 26 and 27 for the annual inventory.

RECEIVE BADGES

Col. R. I. Moore was presented with a past district commander's badge at a meeting of the Sir Sam Hughes Branch 67 of the Canadian Legion in Lindsay Thursday evening, and 21 members received 25-year service badges.

FEW TICKETS LEFT

Looks like a full house for the Brigadier Rockingham dinner at the Empress Hotel next Friday night. This is a Peterborough United Services Institute session, and is only for commissioned men and is wholly of military import.

CONSERVATION TOUR

Delegates from the conservation authorities of Ontario will make a tour of the Ganaraska forest next Thursday afternoon, after which they will meet for a dinner in the Empress Hotel. The visit ties in with a tour of points of interest to conservationists across southern Ontario.

LAST OF THE FAIRS

Peterborough district faces a flock of fall fairs next week. They are: Tweed, Tuesday 23; Campbellford, Wednesday 24; Warkworth, Friday 26; Port Hope and Bobcaygeon, Saturday 27. In the next week: Lakefield, Saturday October 4, and finally, Roseneath, Friday, October 10, and Norwood, Thanksgiving Day, Monday, October 13.

BIG BARRAGE

Duck shooters had a field day early this morning, as residents of nearby marshes will testify. A single shot in the dark, followed by a few stragglers led into a fearful crescendo at dawn. A few hopefuls were banging away while people were on the way to work. Too early to hear of results, but current fine weather would point to small bags on this the opening day. Partridge hunters may fare better through the day and into evening feeding time.

APPROVE TAG DAYS

The Peterborough Police Commission have granted two applications and turned down a third for tag days on city streets. They approved the Boy Scout Apple Day on Oct. 18 and "National Kids' Day", sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, on Oct. 27. But an application from the C.G.I.T. at Trinity United Church to sell candy on city streets Oct. 18 was turned down. The commissioners based their refusal on the fact that the girls would be promoting a commercial product.

Ventilate New Homes In Drying-Out Period

Even a gradual drying-out process may produce warped woodwork, but with proper precautions such effects can be sharply reduced.

Adequate ventilation is a means of minimizing condensation, which may be especially damaging in new homes, for in them vapor condensation reaches its maximum.

When homes are built, tons of water go into materials such as concrete, cement, plaster, wallpaper paste, tile work and even some kinds of paint. This water comes out of the house by evaporation, which consequently develops air of a higher moisture content than normal.

The home owner must see to it that ventilation is provided to bring the drying-out process to its conclusion as steadily as possible, by venting off moisture-laden air.

Do not try to accerelate this process unduly by creating extremely high heating temperatures in winter, for it will only tend to create an uneven drying which will exaggerate the effects of normal shrinkage, warns the National Association of Home Builders.

In the case of a tight-fitting door, be patient—don't be too quick to plane the edge. Wait for warmer weather, when the door has dried down to normal.

The average door is properly manufactured, mortised and tenoned. Twisting or warping are beyond control and can happen to any door. Cracks appearing at door-casing joints, and elsewhere, can be filled readily, and when the home is redecorated the owner will have little difficulty in covering them so that they are no longer noticeable.

Outside doors are more subject to severe conditions. The reason: Heat inside and cold outside. They have a tendency to twist or pull toward the heat, with the lock holding. No matter what manufacturer makes the door, the same problems appear—they are obviously beyond the builder's control.

Even though windows are weatherstripped, cold panes can set up a current of cool air which will move through the room. Often this cool air current may feel as if it is coming from the outside and causes the occupants to believe there is leakage around the windows.

Actually, it is caused by the chilling of the air against the window, which then sets the air in motion. Storm sash will minimize this and condensation, which is possibly the most disturbing factor occurring in new homes.

Condensation is caused by the warm, moist air coming in contact with cold surfaces. Such surfaces are windows, cellar walls, and exposed pipes. Warm, moist, inside air meets them and, as if by magic, there is water—damaging water.

A perfectly dry cellar can have wet walls and floors due to condensation of moisture upon cold basement walls. The walls are colder because they are up against the earth, which has a lower temperature than the air in the basement.

Proper ventilation cuts down condensation in basements during the summer months. Windows should be closed in damp, muggy weather and opened during dry, clear weather.

If your house has attic louvres or louvres at the crawl space of the basement, do not obstruct these openings. The purpose of louvres is to ventilate your house. Keep them clear at all times and you'll come close to banishing a widely known headache.

DID YOU KNOW?
That gas is no longer a high cost fuel in Peterborough?

DID YOU KNOW?
That if you live in the area serviced by your Public Utility that you can now buy the most modern of gas heating equipment at low cost. Your Utility is now able to take care of your heating needs.

DID YOU KNOW?
That your gas water heater and stove costs less to operate when you also use gas to heat your premises?

DESIGN 411.—A pleasing exterior appearance and a roomy, well-planned interior have been achieved in this four-bedroom home with attached garage, designed by architect M. G. Dixon, of Ottawa. The large living-dining area occupies almost the entire front section of the house and allows for a variety of furniture arrangements and decorative schemes. The exterior dimensions of the house are 32' 8" by 25' 4" and the area is 1,310 square feet, exclusive of garage. The cubic measure is 18,850 cubic feet, exclusive of garage. Working drawings may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at a minmum cost.

Regulating Of Humidity Essential To Preserve House

While antique furniture may show the ravages of time—few pieces, though probably a century old, will have evidence of any breakdown of the wood due to atmospheric conditions.

"But in those days," some readers will say, "they allowed lumber to dry properly." The truth is that today we have much better means for drying the types of lumber used for furniture and interior millwork than ever before. The fault lies not in this direction, but in the construction and condition found in the homes of today.

MODERN HOMES AIR-TIGHT

In the first place, the house of today is a veritable oven compared to the house of yesterday. With its superior construction pointed at making it weatherproof, its caulking and storm-proofing, it is like a sealed jar. Consequently it is woefully deficient in moisture at certain times of the year—that is, unless the moisture is introduced artificially by some of the methods available to us, but too seldom used. The period referred to, of course, is the winter season when every means is used to shut out the cold from our homes. During this time of year, an average relative humidity of 25 per cent is common in most dwellings.

Contrasting with this season and condition is the summer when we eliminate some of our weather-proofing and throw open all our avenues of ventilation, inviting outside atmospheric conditions into our homes. You may judge the result by noting the relative humidity as announced by the weather bureau on many days at this time. During most periods of high temperature, you will find equally high humidity conditions, which are allowed to fully penetrate most of our homes.

CAUSE OF MOST FAILURES

This great change of moisture condition from season to season, is the cause of most of woodwork failures, along with many of our human ailments.

Certain evidence of the effect of these changing conditions is most noticeable in hardwood floors. In summer, these floors will be quite tight with little evidence of cracks that appear in mid-winter when houses become dried out. This change may also be noticed in most interior woodwork and furniture.

METHODS OF CONTROL

It is not suggested that we eliminate fresh air from our residence during the summer, but rather that we introduce the proper humidity during the heating season.

The ordinary habits of the inhabitants of the home have much to do with the problem of humidity. Those who are fond of flowers and who keep numerous settings of them, will find that they provide considerable moisture. If washing is done in a location where moisture from the water can flow through the house, it is a benefit.

USE AIRCONDITIONING

The most effective method of controlling humidity is the use of air conditioning or humidifying units. These must be carefully operated, of course, to make sure of obtaining the desired conditions. I have tested many homes where fine air conditioning and heating units were installed, but because of the improper use of these systems, an insufficient amount of moisture was going through the home, making a very dry condition.

ELECTRIC HUMIDIFIERS

There are, on the market, a number of individual electric humidifiers which are most practical and efficient. A good number of my acquaintances have purchased these units, and none would be without them. They not only maintain a proper humidity but wash many impurities from the air. As mentioned before, they are particularly helpful in eliminating colds by overcoming the severe dry condition in many of our homes.

To be certain of the percentage of moisture in your home, you will find the purchase of a good humidity indicator or a hygrometer a very worthwhile investment. It should indicate a humidity of at least 45 per cent during the winter season. If it does not, you and your home need the benefit of adequate humidifying equipment.

Once you have become accustomed to living with a more proper and constant humidity conditions resulting in a better life for you, your furniture, and your woodwork you will never be without the means of maintaining this condition throughout the heating season.

Ghosts No Excuse For Not Paying Tax

OSLO (AP)—The county governor of Troms, in northern Norway, A.G. Aas, ruled yesterday that ghosts cannot be used as an excuse for failing to pay income tax.

He rejected a decision of the municipal council of Kaarvikhamn, a fishing village, reducing the income tax of one of the residents, who complained that knocking ghosts had caused him economic loss. The resident said the ghosts forced him to stay at home during normal working hours in order to protect the house against them.

Dunbar Says Guards Needn't Be Intelligent

TORONTO (CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar was quoted last night as saying that guards at the Don jail, from which four desperate criminals, escaped Sept. 8 and were recaptured this week, need not be intelligent.

During a discussion of guards' wages at a meeting of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), Garnet Shier of Local 79 of the Civic Employees' Union, said that a few years ago his union tried to organize the jail staff. He said that at that time, Mr. Dunbar, then reform institutions minister, remarked:

"Jail guards there shouldn't get much money, as we don't need intelligent people to look after people there."

The tube was presented to the hospital by the Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Ontario jurisdiction.

CRUDE OIL FLOWING from the Redwater field in Alberta through the Interprovincial Pipe Line to the lakehead and thence by tankers to Sarnia has to pass through many stages before it breaks down into automotive gasoline. Will Continue Union Discussions With Anglicans

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

HAMILTON (CP)—The closing session of the 15th biennial General Council of the United Church of Canada yesterday approved continuing discussions with the Church of England in Canada on the subject of union.

The report on church union, introduced by Rev. Gordon A. Sisco and which was unanimously approved, also gave six recommendations so the two communions can co-operate closely until organic union is achieved.

The Anglicans first brought up the subject of church union nine years ago when they invited other Protestant churches to join in discussions which would lead to union. Only the United Church consented to take part and officials expect they will go on for many years yet. In the meantime they are trying to work together in many fields.

NOT UNDERSTOOD

These discussions were described by Dr. Sisco in an earlier session as in a "precarious position" largely because the rank-and-file members of both churches do not understand the question. Both churches had made pronouncements which were too far in advance of the thinking of the members.

The recommendations passed yesterday to further co-operation between the two churches were:

1. To continue to welcome Anglicans to communion in United Churches.
3. To exchange pulpits perhaps yearly.
3. To co-operate in locating and establishing churches in new communities and in the establishing of community churches, possibly on the basis of double affiliation.
4. To hold discussions on the local level among both clergymen and laity on the question of union and co-operation between the churches.
5. To co-operate in such matters as Holy Week, week of prayer services, the observance of special occasions and holiday arrangements.
6. To welcome to each other's council's fraternal delegates.

Just before the moderator Rt. Rev. A. A. Scott, pronounced the benediction ending the 15th biennial meeting of the council, it was decided to hold the 16th Council at Sackville, N.B., in 1954.

FIRST MODERATOR

Dr. Scott, the church's first missionary moderator, told the commissioners the United Church believes that in union is strength—not only physical but spiritual strength. He said that during his two-year term he hopes to see all the phases of the church's work and to learn more about his church.

He praised commissioners for their consideration of each other during the discussions.

"I have been struck by the capacity of this council to meet issues and not to evade them. I don't think it is boasting to say that we are a great church. It was a great thing when the ministers and members of three churches united with each other and forgot their differences. I don't think you can tell from the look of a man what he used to be."

In the crush of last-day business, the council also adopted the report on international affairs including a re-worded section on the recognition of Red China.

RED CHINA QUESTION

The council recommended that Communist China be recognized at the end of the Korean war if and when it complied with equirements for United Nations membership.

The report, which said Communism was the No. 1 threat to both East and West, caused some of the strongest debate.

The Board of Evangelism and Social Service was asked to do research on the problem of drug addicts to find some practical measures to aid the church in helping prevent drug addiction and finding a way to make a cure available to addicts.

The resolution also asked ministers and church workers to acquaint themselves with the problem and co-operate with the R. C. M. P. special squad and other authorities.

Ten Church Choirs Like Trinity Hall

Ten Peterborough church choirs ate one thousand sandwiches Thursday night after ten o'clock, consumed 10 gallons of coffee and uncounted homemade cookies, and gave new Trinity Hall their approvel, enharmonically. It was one item in the week-long Trinity United Church celebration of the opening of their new church hall.

Trinity choir invited the leaders and members of the choirs of St. Paul's Presbyterian, Murray Street Baptist, Park Street Baptist, St. Andrew's, Knox, George Street, Mark Street, St. James' and Grace United churches to inspect as their guests the new building and its appointments, after their usual choir rehearsals. With the host choir, more than 250 were present.

Choir members, working in the new kitchens all afternoon, prepared the sandwiches. Cookies were in individual preparation days before. Miss Agnes McNab was in charge.

The guests were greeted at the door by the Rev. Dr. D. B. Gordon, minister of Trinity; Donald Kennedy, organist and choirmaster; and Miss Catherine Hodgens, choir president. Men of Trinity choir escorted groups on tour of the new hall. Mrs. D. B. Gordon and Mrs. Gordon Tollington poured coffee from the floreated central table in the auditorium.

Mr. Kennedy and Dr. Gordon spoke briefly, and Charles Allen of George Street church was spokesman for the visiting choirs.

White Bread Enriched By Vitamins Approved For Sale In Canada

TORONTO.—The sale of vitamin enriched white bread is mandatory in the Province of Newfoundland. After Jan. 1 it will be sold in all parts of Canada. For some time, the government has been urging people to purchase bread made with flour containing Vitamin B and which has more of the wheat kernal intact.

But it appears, on examination of sales records, that this loaf is not white enough to suit Canadians who want their bread flour white.

The near white bread, made of government-approved flour, has had its chance. Next year, the 3,000 bakeries listed by the National Council of the Baking Industry will be allowed to produce, by synthetic means, vitamin enriched white bread.

An indication of the demand for flour white bread is seen in the records of the Ontario Bakers' Association for 1951. Only 20 per cent of the 600,000,000 pounds of bread produced was brown bread or bread of any other shade than white.

The average loaf of white bread differs in weight, for various parts of Canada. In Ontario the popular white loaf weighs an estimated 24 ounces, or one and a half pounds.

West of Winnipeg the white loaf sold over most counters or delivered to the home weighs 16 ounces, or exactly one pound. In the Maritimes the average white loaf weighs up to three pounds.

LOWER CONSUMPTION

Sales records show that today the consumption of bread is lower than in former years. This may be due, in part, to the wide variety of other flour products, such as rolls, hot cross buns, doughnuts and scones.

The sale of white bread enriched with vitamins, may increase considerably next year. Actually the vitamins will be introduced into the flour by the milling companies before the bread is baked.

To be included in the vitamin-packed white loaves of 1953 will be milligrams of riboflavin, niacin or niacinamide, iron and thiamine.

It keeps 14,000 employees of the Ontario baking industry busy supplying each person in the province with an estimated 67 loaves of bread during the year.

The Ontario Bakers' Association reports that 44.6 per cent of the bread sales in the province are made on the wholesale basis to restaurants, institutions and stores.

Sales through bakery shops account for 19.5 per cent of the bread produced, while house-to-house sales amount to 35.9 per cent.

The baking industry must follow the many regulations issued by the government to protect the consumer. The National Council and the Ontario Bakers' Association, sees that these requirements are met.

HAVE MINIMUM

For instance, in a loaf of raisin bread, weighing one pound, there must be a minimum of 5 ounces of raisins and currants, of which not less than 3.5 ounces is raisins.

Also, no person is permitted to sell whole wheat bread unless it contains 60 per cent or more of whole wheat flour.

Brown bread may be brown through the inclusion of whole wheat flour, graham flour, bran, molasses or caramel, or a combination in the bread mixture.

There are more than 50 types of bread on the market today besides the white loaf.

Any one of three loaves may include flax seed, sesame seeds, peel, poppy seeds, cheese, nuts, cherries, caraway seeds, cinnamon dill, peel, rye flour.

There are 900 bakeries operating in Ontario, of which 20 are in Toronto. Not all are members of the Ontario Bakers' Association.

Ontario bakeries produced $94,000,000 worth of food products in 1951, of which $22,000,000 was in pies, cakes and cookies. Rolls, buns, and sweet raised goods baked were valued at $12,000,000.

The demand for doughnuts has shown a marked increase in the province in the last few years. Yeast doughnuts seem to be the favorite. There were $4,500,000 worth of doughnuts produced in 1951.

COSTS FOR BAKERIES

The cost of materials used in the production of bakery goods last year amounted to $46,000,000 while the salaries of the 14,000 employees exceeded $28,000,000.

Representatives of the Ontario Bakers' Association report that the retail price of bread in the province is below the selling price of bread in other parts of Canada.

The Ontario Bakers' Association was formed in 1941 to replace the Canadian Bakers' Association which had existed since 1933.

The Canadian Bakers' Association was born through the combined efforts of a number of baking interests in Ontario who wanted a governing body in order that meetings could be called and conventions held to discuss problems and the advancement of the baking industry.

The Canadian Association was dissolved as the National Council was formed, with headquarters in Ottawa and the Ontario Bakers' Association created.

The annual fall conference of the National Council will be held this year in Niagara Falls on October 27-38.

District President Explains Organization

OMEMEE (ENS)—Mrs. Carman Bell, president of the Peterborough Presbytery Women's Association, was guest speaker at the September meeting of Trinity United church W.A.

It was decided to hold a bake sale at the storage locker plant on October 4 at 3 p.m. Also, the secretary was asked to get particulars concerning the sponsoring of a play.

Mrs. W. D. Weir, leader of Group 4, conducted the worship which centred around the theme, "Love Thy Neighbour." She was assisted by members of the group. Scripture passages relative to the theme were read by Mrs. E. Mahood, and a poem, "Thy Neighbor," by Mrs. Geo. Smith. Mrs. H. Deyell read the commentary on the scripture and led in prayer, and Mrs. Weir concluded with "The Bridge Builder." Miss Marion Zufelt sang a solo, after which the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Weir.

Mrs. Bell brought greetings from the Peterborough Presbytery Woman's Association In her talk she spent considerable time explaining the W.A. set-up, from the Dominion Woman's Association Council, to the local associations, pointing out that there were some variations in organization in the different presbyteries. She then dealt with the spiritual side of W.A. work, stressing the responsibility of holding office, the importance of worship services at the meetings, and the value of family worship and private devotions. She recommended the use of literature from the Family Life Department, to be had at the United church book rooms.

Toronto Nurses Graduate Under New Plan

TORONTO (CP)—The nursing school at Toronto Western Hospital ended a 50-year-old training program when the last of 1,973 nurses turned out under its three-year plan graduated recently.

Sixty-three girls have completed the new two-year program inaugurated at the school, now known as the Atkinson School of Nursing, in 1950.

Hospital officials say it is too early to compare the two programs or to evaluate the results of the new plan. The first test will come in November when both groups write examinations to qualify as registered nurses.

However, even at that time the two-year graduates won't be full-fledged nurses.

Under the experimental program, each will spend the next 12 months as an "internee" concentrating on practical work in hospitals.

Unlike the old course in which student nurses spend much of their time in routine hospital chores, the experimental system concentrates on nursing education. Practical work in the hospital is integrated with theory learned in the classroom.

Slipper Satin Gowns Mark Show By British Designers

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Slipper satin evening gowns, their neutral shading picked as a glamor-background for the heirloom jewelry that will be worn at next year's coronation celebrations, are part of the fall fashions featured by Angele Delanghe.

This slight, Belgian-born designer was one of London's exclusive "Big Ten" when she accepted the role of resident fashion designer in a leading west end store, Fortnum and Mason, headed by Canada's Garfield Weston.

In a muted grey and silver salon, Miss Delanghe presents such models as a corded velvet coat of bottle green with big-topped regency sleeves, its flared princess skirt given back bustle effect by a series of deep, stitched tucks.

OR FAT PURSES

For customers who generally think of their dress bills in three figures, this coronation style, priced at £90, is a sure winner. A street outfit costing £110 is a simple straight-skirted dress in black-and-red check, with stylish detail at the round neck, yoke and cummerbund waist. It is topped by a matching swagger coat with black facings.

There are boutique numbers such as a brown check tweed dress with classic lines and fringing at yoke and hips. With fringed, collared stole adding charm to the severely tailored lines, it costs only £35.

This may give some indication of the cost of such pro-coronation selections as a silver-grey satin brocade ball gown with frosted, raised motif. The semi-crinoline skirt, its fullness coming from elegant folds at either side of the skirt both back and front, and a tight square-necked bodice, form a stunning background for heirloom necklaces and tiaras.

Many coronation gowns are designed in the dull, metallic satins and brocades that make effective backgrounds to diamonds, sapphires, rubies and emeralds and the reds, purples and golds of diplomatic sashes.

WAISTLESS LOOK

But for the smart, individual parties that will be one of the high lights of a champagne year, there are such frivolous fashions as a salmon-pink, satin evening gown with the waistless look of the 1920s. Completely plain in front from a turtle, cap-sleeved neckline to the hem of its short skirt, the gown depends for styling on the deep, stitched tucks that start on one hip and continue right round the back skirt to give bustle effect.

"I loved designing that dress," said Miss Delanghe, "but waistless styles will never be popular in Britain."

A favorite with many is a dinner gown in black velvet with straight, classic lines, the deep cape collar, cap sleeves and flying front panels of black chiffon, all tipped with white ermine.

An exquisite export item is a black silk organza with simple, flared skirt and cami-styled neckline decorated with appliqued blue lace. The calf-length silk skirt rustles over an ankle-length underskirt of pleated net.

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: . . . would you please give me recipe for SOUR cucumber pickles? . . . would like your advice on some cucumbers which I cut up last year, placed in an earthen jar according to a recipe. They are still in good shape but quite tasteless — just taste vinegar. Could I pour off the present liquid and replace it with something else, which would give them more flavour? I would also like a good recipe for canning pears. Alice L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

SOUR CUCUMBER PICKLES
(Gherkins)

Wipe four quarts small gherkin-size cucumbers until clean. Put in a stone jar and add 1 cup salt dissolved in 2 quarts boiling water and let stand 3 days. Drain cucumbers from brine, bring brine to boiling point, pour over cucumbers and again let stand 3 days; repeat. Drain, wipe cucumbers and pour over them one gallon boiling water in which 1 tablespoon alum has been dissolved. Let stand 6 hours and then drain from alum water. Cook cucumbers 5 minutes, a few at a time, in one-fourth of the following mixture heated to boiling point and boiled 10 minutes: 1 gallon vinegar, 4 hot red peppers, 2 4 inch long sticks cinnamon bark, 2 tablespoons allspice berries, 2 tablespoons whole cloves. Strain the remaining liquor over pickles which have been put in sterile stone crock for storing. Keep covered and cool.

Yes, you may do something to the vinegar on your last year's pickles. Add spices as in the above recipe to it, and if desired, 1 cup sugar to each gallon of vinegar, and reheat it to boiling point. Meanwhile wipe the pickles dry if they are whole, if not drain them and dry them as well possible. Put back in cleaned and dried crock, and pour over the spiced, sweetened boiled vinegar while it is boiling hot. Keep covered and cool.

CANNED PEARS

Make very thin syrup of 1 cup sugar to each 3 or 3½ cups water. Wash, peel, halve, core ripe firm pears—Bartletts are perfect. Drop in weak brine bath in large bowl to prevent browning—1 tablespoon salt to 1 quart water. As soon as you have peeled enough for 2 or 3 jars drain them from the brine bath and pack into sterile jars, pour over boiling thin syrup, leaving ½ inch headspace and seal. Process in boiling water bath 20 minutes for pints, 25 minutes for quarts.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Last year I preserved a bushel of pears . . . when opened in the winter they tasted winey. Could this be fermentation and would the cause be insufficient cooking? There is no sign of mould. The recipe said to boil them in an open kettle for 8 minutes and process for 20 minutes. However at the end of the pre-cooking time they all began to break and fall apart so I thought this meant they were cooked enough and I just packed them in sterilized jars and omitted the processing. They were done in thin syrup—1 cup sugar to 2 cups water. Now could I loosen the lids and process for the proper time or should I take them out and boil them over . . . if so would I have to add more sugar . . . or will I just have to throw them out and chalk it up to experience? . . . Have read your column ever since it first appeared. Edna.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have omitted part of your letter but you are a straight-thinking gal. Chalk it up to experience my sweet. The processing time is to sterilize the contents of the jar primarily. The fact that it does cook them too is secondary. Best plan is to use method as above for canned pears. Sterilizing and cooking takes place at same time. Throw out the wine-y pears—any time or materials used on them would be wasted—you can never overcome or bury the wine flavor—it is wine. I am so glad you asked this question for it gives me an opportunity to emphasize the importance of sterilization.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Enjoy column . . . Have 3 requests: 1 Your recipe for sweet pickles and mixed sweet pickles—proper method of curing cukes. 2, A recipe for sweet relish or pickles using green tomatoes. 3, Can you use the ordinary pickle jars that one buys sweet pickles in at the store? Mrs. G. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No to No. 3 — because you can't seal them. Bottle-sealing machines do this in the pickle industry. I hope you saw the relishes in last column. I have mailed the other recipes you want.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

By Keeping Your Promises Child Will Keep His Word

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Promises and pie-crust are made to be broken," Dean Swift wrote in "Polite Conversation". But this cynical remark cannot be accepted by any responsible parent. Fathers and mothers want their children to be faithful in fulfilling their obligations. The surest way to train a child to keep his word is to keep your own promises.

An experienced parent is hesitant about making any promise which he may not be able to fulfill. It is so easy to promise and often so difficult, when other things crop up, to match the performance with the promise.

An adult quickly accepts that a sudden violent thunder-storm makes a picnic impossible. But to a child, a promise is a promise. If Mummy promised a picnic on Saturday afternoon, it is small comfort that because of the rain, the picnic will have to be held on another Saturday!

The child lives in to-day. Now is the important time. The more mature person, accepts a change in plans, so long as he can look forward to a future pleasure. A grown-up can take a disappointment in his stride without it clouding his whole day.

What about a promise of punishment? Should the parent carry out his word that he will make the child suffer for a piece of wrong-doing?

Threats are not a good way to discipline a youngster. This "I'll get even with you in the future for being naughty now" poisons the home atmosphere.

It is particularly unwise for the mother of an active pre-school child to declare in exasperation over a mischievous act, "Just you wait till your daddy gets home from work to-night. He'll attend to you!"

This promise that the other parent will adminster correction is unfair. The mother is in charge and the situation should be dealt with right away. One parent should not promise that the other parent will deal out punishment.

In an effort to control their child's behaviour, many parents employ bribes. They reason that surely the promise of a reward will keep their child out of mischief. The catch about this system is that the bright youngster keeps demanding bigger and better bribes. The other difficulty is that if bribes are often used, busy parents frequently have a hard time fulfilling their reward commitments.

Threats or bribes which are made and seldom carried out should never be used. If the parent is always saying what he is going to do, but seldom doing it, a child soon learns to pay small heed to his parents' word. "Aw, Mum says I'll get a spanking when she gets me home," a saucy youngster in a department store said to the clerk, "but she'll forget by the time we get there." Another little girl said to her chum, "Daddy has promised me new figure skates if I come first in my report card—but I know if he doesn't have a good month at the office, he'll say that figure skates are much too expensive! I'll have to wait another month, and he'll see what he can do then."

It is quite true that once in a very long while a parent may make a promise to a child which he finds it is impossible to carry out. On the other hand, something may happen which will show that the promise was an unwise one. What should a parent do then?

If a child can understand that, "In our family we keep our promises. We can trust each other because we know that we can bank on our word," he is also old enough to discuss the situation with his parent. Mothers and fathers do not ned to try to live up to a "Perfection Picture" of themselves in their child's eyes.

They can, however, take their child into their confidence and say, "I always do my best to carry out a promise, but I find with this particular promise I can't quite make it" or "Everyone makes mistakes, and this time I'm sorry to say, I promised you something which isn't a very good idea." Then the parent can mention way that particular promise is impossible to fulfill or was an error and suggest some possible substitute.

Children are very quick to grasp a situation. They are also good judges of character. One father recently told a friend that one of the things in the past year which made him most happy was when he overheard his small son saying to a playmate, "My daddy keeps his word." He had promised to help his boy make a small model plane, and although he was very busy at the office, he had taken time for the plane's construction. Unlike pie-crust his promise was made to be kept!

DOROTHY DIX

Girl's Retarded Maturity Source Of Worry To Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: Since childhood, my daughter has had a habit of telling lies through her imagination. I thought she would outgrow this habit as she became older, but she still has it and will be 22 years old soon. She left high school and went to Trade School as she couldn't make the academic grades. When she talks to outsiders she is very polite, but when she's in the house she doesn't get along with her younger sister and is very disrespectful to her parents. We have made every effort to teach her manners, but our efforts unavailing.

MRS. GEORGE.

ANSWER: Your daughter's tendency to live in a world of daydreams is rightly a cause of great concern. This habit, in a youngster, can be lightly dismissed, but when carried over to the twenties it is a sure sign that the girl is not attaining emotional maturity.

She is creating a fanciful existence to cover up some lack in a real life that is bothering her. Perhaps it is a consciousness that she is inferior, mentally or physically, to her companions and other members of her family. This is borne out by the fact that she couldn't maintain grades in school. Some youngsters take such failures as a deep, personal disgrace, which of course it isn't. Frequently the feeling of inferiority thus engendered takes a form of withdrawal, and the teen-ager crawls into a shell from which it is extremely difficult to extricate her. Others seek solace, as your daughter has, in building a dream world and childishly expecting everyone to believe in its delights as much as she does.

CONSULT A DOCTOR

Your daughter may have a serious mental problem, and your first step should be to consult your family doctor. He will tell you if psychiatric treatment is advisable. For your part, try to substitute something genuine for the imaginative. If your daughter can be convinced that she has enough ability, enough talent, to stand on her own among her contemporaries, the necessity for invention will be obviated. No human being is completely devoid of natural gifts, though sometimes it does take a little delving to find them.

Your job is to help daughter to discover her own aptitudes. If she has ever shown a talent for something, dig it out and get to work developing it. Encourage her to try new things in an effort to find something in which she can excel.

If the girl can establish herself as an interesting person, both to herself and her friends, you'll find that the difficulty with the family will disappear. This, too, is an offshoot of an inferiority complex. Nothing can sour a disposition as much as the realization that one stands alone, and is neither needed nor wanted by anyone else. Such a feeling, I think, is at the root of your daughter's trouble. Patience, understanding and prayer will help to eradicate it.

Of Interest to Women

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 20 years old and very much in love with a boy 23. He is overseas, but wants to marry me when he comes back in November. I've only known him a month, and people are telling me we shouldn't be getting married so soon.

WORRIED L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Usually I find people who are free with advice are giving out the wrong kind. The people you know, apparently, are much wiser than most. One month's acquaintance is definitely no foundation for marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Since starting high school last year, I have become very much interested in a sport that I intend to make my career—namely skating. However, to attain the goal of professional skater, I must attend the rink often. Since it doesn't let out until 11 p.m., and I don't get home until midnight, my father objects. He has set a curfew of 10 p.m., which eliminates skating. How can I convince him that he's ruining my career? E.R.

ANSWER: Father is absolutely right about the curfew. Midnight is much too late for a 16-year-old to be out several times a week — career or not. Truthfully, however aren't you using this as an excuse for extra dating?

about $60,000 on it. This includes finishing a section of the north end of the road, buying the 86-foot right of way, re-fencing, oiling, calcium chloride applications and other items.

"Our other roads are suffering," said Mr. Middleton. "We thought that the city might be willing to put up a little more money if the county would put a hard surface on it. . . It would take years for us to pave it on our present budget and not let the other roads run down."

Jeremiah Mahoney, the third member of the commission, pointed out that paving started on the Warsaw road in 1936 and it is still only half done. However the war was a reason for some of the delay on it.

Alderman James Gillespie asked: "Well, what are the chances of the Department of Highways taking the Buckhorn road over?"

"We'd appreciate any help from you to get this done," said Mr. Middleton. "We've tried three times and been told each time there was no possibility of this happening. . . . The department should take the road over—it starts at a highway and ends at a highway."

WORSE NOW

Alderman Sydney J. Black, who uses the road constantly, said: "I've been travelling on it for 11 years. It was a better road when the county had it. . . . The department straightened it out, and widened the right of way, but it's worse."

(The county turned the Buckhorn road over to the suburban area roads commission in 1942. Later the Department of Highways took it over under the development road scheme and after improving it, handed it back to the commission.)

Mr. Gifford said he understood that the department were also "scraping the bottom of the barrel" so far as money is concerned. Even if the city and county offered the commission more money to spend the amount would have to be approved by the department before they would give a 50 per cent subsidy.

He suggested the travelling public consider paying two other items: a larger gas tax or a larger licence fee. Perhaps both.

Last year the department cut the subsidy on all county roads by $2,000,000, Warden Stewart said.

"As far as Peterborough raising more money for suburban roads is concerned, I cant see it," said Alderman Gillespie. "That's out."

$10,000 A YEAR

"If we spend $10,000 a year it will take six years to pave the Buckhorn road," said Mr. Curtis. "That's at the rate of two miles a year."

Alderman Harold Rehill suggested that the commission might be "overburdened" and should turn some of its roads over to the county. Warden Stewart agreed that the commission has too many roads; but so has the county.

Mr. Gifford compared the Victoria county road rate to that of Peterborough. In Victoria the total assessment is $21,000,000 and the town of Lindsay pays 4¼ mills (the county rate); in Peterborough the total assessment is $11,000,000 and the city pays half a mill (its share of the suburban area roads commission budget). The county road rate here is eight mills, he said, and four municipalities — Harvey, Galway-Cavendish, Burleigh-Anstruther and Chandos—are not in the county roads system; consequently they pay nothing.

GIVE NO HELP

It was pointed out that residents of Harvey—and tourists in the Pigeon Lake and Sandy Lake district—use the Buckhorn Road, yet they pay nothing toward its upkeep.

City Clerk E. A. Outram said: "In Haliburton the department have developed a lot of roads because of the expanding tourist industry. The northern part of our county is just as important."

Because of this angle representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and the tourist resort owners may form part of the delegation that goes to Queen's Park.

Roseneath W.I. President To Visit England

ROSENEATH —(ENS) —Mrs. Harold Taylor, president of Roseneath Women's Institute, left Cobourg by train early Friday morning on the first lap of a journey to England. Mrs. Taylor expects to sail on the Empress of France from Montreal later on Friday, to visit her sisters and brother in Shrewberry, Shropshire, in the Midlands.

Following the death of her father, Mrs. Taylor, with her sister Rose, (now Mrs. Austin Sherwin) were put in the care of the Dr. Barnardo home, coming to Canada in 1912. Mrs. Taylor recalled she was 12 and her sister 9. They were together all the way until they reached the station at Hastings, where the younger sister had to get off to come to her foster home at Roseneath and Mrs. Taylor had to go to a foster home at Stirling, although the authorities in England had promised their mother they would be kept together. Mrs. Taylor recalls how she and her sister held each other close and cried at Hastings station; two little girls in a large, strange land.

After a year, Mrs. Taylor returned to a foster home at Roseneath, where the greater part of her life has been spent.

Through the years her one desire has been to visit her homeland and the members of her family, although her mother's death occurred some years ago.

Mrs. Taylor expects to spend a three months' holiday there, returning home in time to be with her family at Christmas.

Prior to leaving, Roseneath Women's Institute presented their president with a leather travelling bag.

William H. Dafoe

HAVELOCK (ENS).—The funeral of William Henry Dafoe, 86, was held this afternoon under the auspices of Belmont L.O.L. No. 277, with services at his late residence, Belmont township, and Victoria United Church. The Rev. R. G. Newman conducted the services assisted by Robert Curtis, student minister on the Belmont Lakes Area Mission. Burial was in Victoria cemetery and the pallbearers were members of the Orange Order of which he was a member.

Mr. Dafoe died suddenly from a heart attack while visiting his daughter Mrs. Hector Bannon at Smiths Falls, early Thursday morning. He was one of the pioneer settlers of this district, having lived 70 years in Belmont township, 55 of which he spent on the present farm. He was born in Sheffield, a son of Jacob Dafoe and Clara Linda King. About 58 years ago he married Eliza Melville who died in May, 1950. He was a member of Victoria United Church.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. Hector Bannon (Pearl), of Smiths Falls; Mrs. Murray Fraser (Effie), Mrs. Arthur King (Bessie), of Belmont township; three sons, Grant, Melville and Arnold of Belmont township. There are also 20 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Arrest Man Posing As Detective

NEW YORK (AP) — A 33-year-old British subject was arrested last night and accused of posing as a vice-squad detective to harass a young model.

Harold Hughes of Forest Hills, Queens, was booked early today on two misdemeanor charges — "oppression committed under the pretence of official right" and "falsely impersonating a public official."

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Hughes, whose own wife is a model, saw 21-year-old Patricia Conway on a television program and got her home phone number.

He said Hughes identified himself over the phone as "an investigator for the vice investigation" and told Miss Conway "about 700 girls" were involved in the city-wide vice probe and that her name had been mentioned. Hogan said Hughes asked the girl if she could raise $5,000 bail. Hughes did not come right out and ask her for money but told her he would be in touch with her again.

Miss Conway informed police.

New-Style Comet Planned By Britain

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) Britain is planning a new-style comet, "Jet Airliner X," to carry more than 100 passengers 5,000 miles non-stop, Sir Miles Thomas disclosed here today.

Plans call for it to be in production between 1958 and 1960, said Thomas, chairman of British Overseas Airways Corporation.

The comet now flying carries 36 passengers at about 480 miles an hour. "Jet Airliner X" would fly at better than 550 miles an hour.

Take Accurate Creel Census

NORWOOD (ENS) — Charles Weir, district biologist, in an address to the Men's Club of Christ church, on Wednesday evening outlined the scope and general administrative set-up of the Department of Lands and Forests. In discussing conservation he said it was the intelligent and informed use as well as saving of the natural resources. He likened conservation to a sum of money which a man had invested.

"We should learn to harvest our resources of wild life on the basis of its ability to replenish itself," he declared.

Speaking of the tools of the conservationist Mr. Weir pointed out that the provision of good food and cover, is today assuming greater importance than law enforcement and restocking. "It would be a crime, if we had to release fish and game just before opening day in order to provide the public with legal catches, as is being done in some other countries today."

It was emphasized that the sportsman can be of the greatest assistance to the Department by keeping accurate records of catches and forwarding them to the department on the creel cards supplied by the fish and wild division for that purpose, and in maintaining the good farmer and owner relationship that now exists by considerate use of property.

In answer to a question relating to the opening of dams in the spring, it was stated that as far as Rice lake and the Trent system were concerned, this year's low water was the result of the strong westerly winds during the early spring and the failure of the spring freshet to arrive on time.

Following the talk supper was served by Messrs. J. Rae, J. Clements and H. Mainland.

Officers elected for the year were: President, C. Puffer; vice-president, E. Tredree; sec.-treas., D. Sparling.

Report Shaw Home Flop As Museum

LONDON (AP).—Shaw's Corner, for four decades the home of George Bernard Shaw, has flopped as a museum and may be offered for rent.

A spokesman for Britain's National Trust today told newspapermen the 251-year-old estate at Ayot St. Lawrence is drawing barely 20 visitors a day at two shillings a head, far short of the £25 a week it costs to run the place. When the playwright died two years ago at the age of 94 he left the house to the trust, on behalf of the country, with no endowment for its upkeep.

business premises before 8.30 a.m. and many of them are closed before 5 p.m."

The revision of salaries proposed by Local 519 was submitted to the board of which Judge W. S. Lane, of Picton, was chairman.

The amounts, in order, are present basic pay, basic plus cost of living bonus, and requested basic pay:

First Assistant Chief: $3,500; $4,165; $4,700.

Second Assistant Chief: $3,300; $3,927; $4,700.

Captains: $3,000; $3,570; $3,900.

Electrician: $3,000; $3,570; $3,900.

Mechanic: $3,000; $3,570; $3,900.

First Class Firemen: Basic $2,800; plus bonus $3,332; requested basic $3,500.

Second Class Firemen: $2,700; $3,213; $3,250.

Third Class Firemen: $2,575; $3,064; $3,100.

Fourth Class Firemen: $2,450; $2,915; $3,000.

$1.20 AN HOUR

Mr. Swanborough said: "This request is based on the conservative estimate of $1.20 an hour for a first class fireman, and establishing what we consider are adequate diferentials for the various ranks.

"The rate of $1.20 an hour is the current rate paid by the city of Peterborough to members of the Civic Employees Union for skilled men. After four years of training the modern fireman, operating equipment worth up to $40,000, should at least be in this category. Comparable wages of the industrial workers in the area show basic rates for labor varying from $1.13 an hour to $1.32 an hour."

Salaries of Peterborough firemen and police were mentioned in the hearing.

First class: police $3,264; firemen $3,276.

Second class: police $3,167; firemen $3,159.

Third class: police $3,022, firemen $3,012.

LITTLE BARGAINING

Mr. Swanborough said Peterborough police went on the 44-hour week, and if the firemen were to continue on the 56-hour-week they were entitled to some consideration in salary. A minor complaint from the firemen was that "there was very little bargaining in the negotiations with the council." They were told, Mr. Swanborough said, such brevities as :"there's our offer", "that's it," "if you go to arbitration its no affair of ours."

On behalf of the council, T. J. Carley, Q.C., said Peterborough had dealt with its firemen as fairly as other municipalities on such important points as salaries, pensions, cumulative sick leave, and accident and sickness provisions.

One of the schedules of figures submitted by Mr. Carley tabulated staff increases from 1941 to 1952 inclusive. The first class fireman in 1941 received $1,400 and $3,276 in 1952. The captain's salary was $1,560 in 1941 and $3,510 this year with C.O.L. bonus rates as of June 30.

In the police department, the first class constable was paid $1,500 in 1941 and $3,264 in 1952. The sergeant in 1941 received $1,600 as against $3,483 in 1952.

Another page set out comparative weekly wages in industry. Top skill requirement, averages $70.83, including cost of living bonus. High wage in that group was for tool and die makers at $74.82.

Average skill requirement — weekly average including bonus, $62.60. Semi-skilled requirements, average $58.31 a week; minimum skill requirement, average $56.33.

Peterborough firemen, from Assistant Cthief at $78.75 a week down to 4th class fireman $55.12 a week; and the weekly wage for the first class fireman in that list was $63 a week. Firemen received all clothing required for their occupation except footwear and underwear.

SICK LEAVE PLAN

The city's brief to the board reviewed the cumulative sick leave plan.

"This plan allows for up to 1½ days sickness per month without loss of pay. This can be accumulated to 18 days sick leave per year without loss of take home pay. There is no limit to the number of days allowed to be accumulated. In the local industries, if a shop employee loses working time through sickness, he is not paid for that lost time. This arrangement is enjoyed by very few groups in the city.

Firemen are covered by group insurance for the amount of $1,500 at the cost to them approximately 21 cents a week, the balance of the cost being borne by the city. No medical examination is required. Firemen receive this insurance after three months' service.

Employees of most local industries receive coverage only after five years' service, and in many cases the amount is less than $1,500."

The city's brief also explained the holiday and retirement annuity plans, both of which were said to make generous provision for the firemen.

Britain Signs Pact For Peiping Trade

LONDON (AP) — Britain has signed contracts to deliver cotton piecegoods to Communist China and negotiations for further sales—bringing the total up to $2,100,000—are going on.

These are the first purchases of cotton goods from Britain by Red China since the Communist economic conference early in the summer. The deals were announced by Jack Perry, a director of the firm, London Export Corporation, which negotiated them as Red China's agent.

Control Of Ice Contributes Seaway Problem

COBOURG (ENS)—One of the most important things to be done in connection with development of the St. Lawrence Waterway plan is the gathering of much information on ice control, and until this is accomplished, the public will have to be patient if they want to see any progress made, declared J. G. G. Kerry, of Port Hope, prominent engineer, in addressing the Rotary luncheon yesterday. Mr. Kerry was a member of the Royal Commission which investigated the fall of the Quebec bridge and has done much research in connection with the St. Lawrence waterway plan.

The St. Lawrence waterway was a pearl of great price in Canada's wealth if fully and properly developed, declared the speaker. In its finality, it would be a single channel from Lake Ontario to the estuary, narrow, deep, well-protected by banks, artificial lakes and natural, with a definite current, leading safely to the high seas. It would take a long while to produce a waterway which would live up to those specifications. Ottawa says it is foolish to think of such a project, but based on definite knowledge procured by two non-political groups, the government was asked to enquire into all the details. However, the request was brushed aside, and the excuses given were weak. It is a very big job, one which the government may not want to take on. The specifications of a waterway 50 feet deep, ice-free all year was hardly popular with the United States because they have opposed an efficient development of the waterway.

Due to existing developments, the initial extension of a deep channel from Kingston for 200 miles presents no great problem. It was true that there are about 20 miles of bad excavating but it would not be a very big job. Present plans overlook the enormous storage of summer heat in Lake Ontario which is paid back during the winter. The lake temperature is 40 degrees in the first part of January, cooling to 35 degrees by March 15 from which date it starts to rise again. With an unlimited supply of water at these temperatures it is not difficult to design a channel to take these waters to the estuary without cooling down enough to freeze. Where the channel can be deepened and widened it is in Canadian waters. However, when east of Quebec is reached, the trouble starts. For 250 years commerce has been interrupted by ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The question to be solved is whether these ice packs can be broken up and it is no easy job, Mr. Kerry said

Ice in the Atlantic at Newfoundland, which came down from the north, was a nightmare for shipping until, after the Titanic disaster, the maritime nations woke up and created the Atlantic ice patrol and from then on there were no more ice disasters. There is no reason to fear Arctic ice while heading for the Gulf of St. Lawrence as the current flows in between the Arctic ice and the ice of the gulf. It is in the middle pack on the St. Lawrence where the most complicated problem exists and it has been accepted as too strong to cope with. However, three experts say that it is high time something is done to solve it, although the Gulf of St. Lawrence ice problem differs from Lake Ontario's solid ice, because its salt content has masses of ice separated by brine pockets and it is easily separated and broken up.

The Niagara River is ice cold because shallow Lake Erie will not hold heat. If the Niagara River were blocked it would not lower the St. Lawrence one inch. There is the question of the source of the ice that forms the middle pack.

The Laurentian current does not freeze and not much ice is formed in the gulf itself, not nearly as much as would be expected from its location. The Cabot Strait is the next ice feeder but it can be written off. The Gaspe is choked with ice but it is outward bound and melts in the Laurentian current. In the strait of Belle Isle, the current comes in the north shore and the outgoing on the south shore. The north current, ice cold brings in Arctic ice and icebergs which contribute to the middle pack, but to what extent nobody knows and the Gaspe current also adds its share, the Laurentian current sends out feeders to the Gaspe current which takes down all it can. The opinion is held that much of the large ice blocking the gulf comes down with the Gaspe current. It is thought that ice comes from the upper reaches of the St. Lawrence above the mouth of the Saguenay. How to cut off most of this ice from the Gaspe is a problem. It can only be solved by painstaking and scientific engineering study. Experts are of the opinion that something can be done, but only after all the facts are known. It is to be hoped that the Canadian public can demand the survey but until it is done, the public will have to wait in patience, the speaker said.

Predicts Monarchy

LISBON, Portugal (Reuters)—Prince Aliata, head of Italy's monarchist National Front, said yesterday he is "certain" Italy will soon revert to a monarchy. He said: "90 per cent of the Christian Democrats are undeclared monarchists. These, with the open monarchists, will promote the return of. . .King Umberto."

Your Garden:

Use New Soil Conditiioners On Trial Basis

Gardeners interested in the new chemical soil conditioners now being widely advertised are advised to use these materials at present only on an experimental basis. Soils vary in their response to these chemical treatments.

Experiments to date indicate that these conditioners are most effective on soils with high clay and silt content and are not effective on sandy soils. Soils which are rich in humus naturally will not show improvement.

So if you really want to try the experiment, purchase only a small amount, apply as directed, and observe results next spring and summer. Only a test will tell.

The wise vegetable gardener will provide his own soil conditioner by sowing winter rye or hairy vetch, using but two pounds for each 1,000 sqquare feet of garden area. Sowing of seed should be done as soon as each vegetable is harvested.

A cover crop will do more than help improve the working condition of the soil. It will take leftover fertilizer in the soil and make it available for next year's garden. It will hold the soil from washing or blowing away, and it will make the garden easier to spade up next spring.

AFRICAN VIOLETS thrive in a soil composed of garden loam, peat moss, leaf mold, and clean sand.

A cover crop will add much-needed humus to the soil, a contribution that even the best chemical soil conditioner cannot equal.

Organic gardeners have succeeded where many experiment stations have failed by inspiring many home gardeners to improve their soil by the use of more organic matter.

However, the assertion that chemical fertiliers are detrimental to our health is not borne out by many carefully controlled experiments.

There just isn't enough organic matter to go around to prepare the soils of the world for food production by that method. We would probably starve if it weren't for chemical fertiliers.

African violets are not nearly as particular in soil requirements as some people would have you believe. If this were so, these plants would not be the universal favorites they are.

However, there are three soil requirements that should be met if possible, in order to produce good plants with a minimum of effort. They are: High organic content, good aeration, and relatively low fertility. You can get them by using the following mixture: Two parts of garden loan (the best you can find), one part peat moss (really moss peat), one part leaf mold, and one part clean sand.

Toronto Stock Market Still Stumping Experts

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Toronto Stock Market seems to have stumped the experts.

Industrials, base metals and western oils have each dropped about eight points on the exchange's indices in the last two weeks and no one seems to be quite sure why.

New York's Wall Street Journal commented: "If the declining tendency of the last few weeks can be termed the traditional 'end-of-the-summer decline'—which usually follows hard on the traditional summer rise the market has enjoyed this year—it has not been of sufficient proportions to worry the rank and file of investors."

ELECTION A FACTOR

Some observers attributed last week's sharp dip to a belief among United States traders that Dwight D. Eisenhower will win the presidential election and bring about a period of deflation. They said U.S. traders were therefore selling some securities and influencing the Canadian market.

A drop of eight points, however, seems like a big decline to be attributed to election betting.

Greenshields and Company of Montreal said the decline resulted from a "somewhat unexpected burst of selling," and suggested:

"In the coming weeks the market will be buffeted probably between two conflicting tendencies, one being the tight money situation prevailing in the U.S., and the other the improvement in consumers' income."

The Toronto market started the week with a sharp decline in base metals and western oils and other sections also slipped. In Montreal, papers and industrials followed the same pattern. The decline continued in both centres Tuesday. By Wednesday, western oils started to lead a recovery in Toronto while papers rose in Montreal.

MONTREAL LEVELS OFF

The Toronto market faltered Thursday although golds rose, but in Montreal papers continued strong and industrials leveled off. The decline in Toronto started again Friday and papers slipped in Montreal. Industrials rose in Montreal Friday.

The New York market started the week with a decline, but rails led a firmer trend Tuesday. The rise continued Wednesday but slipped back slightly the next day. The week closed Friday with prices steady.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 2.93 at 320.56, golds down 1.86 at 89.09, base metals down 3.76 at 188.95 and western oils down 3.26 at 128.99.

In Montreal, banks were down .15 at 31.44, utilities down .7 at 86.9, industrials down 3.3 at 208.5, combined down 2.4 at 168.0, papers down 3.53 at 694.80 and golds down .98 at 66.36.

In New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $106.00.

Found Guilty Of Forgery Jailed 8 Months

LINDSAY (ENS)—John R. Miller, 37-year-old Toronto man was sentenced to eight months in reformatory in Lindsay Magistrate's Court Friday, on a charge of uttering a forged cheque, for $389, drawn on the account of a Reaboro woman. Miller was brought from Vancouver a month ago after being arrested there for the offence by Chief A. Webster of Lindsay.

W. R. Allen acted for the defence in attempting to show that Miller had not known that the cheque was not genuine when he cashed it. Miller had received the cheque when he had asked a friend of his, Albert Babcock of Toronto for a loan, last December. Babcock, who formerly worked for a Lindsay firm as a refrigerator salesman, is serving a one-year sentence in Mimico reformatory, for passing a forged promissory note on the account of the same woman.

Babcock appeared in court this morning and told of making out a blank cheque with the amount filled in. In prospect of making a sale to the woman last fall. When the deal fell through, he kept the cheque, and apparently gave it to Miller when the latter asked for a loan. Miller, in defence, admitted taking the cheque but stated that the name of the payee had been filed in, also. And he had to sign it and endorse it to obtain payment of the $389.

He told of accompanying Babcock to Lindsay from Toronto, and cashing the cheque. That night, he left for Vancouver where he had prospects of obtaining employment in his trade, steel rigging.

MONEY SPLIT

The basis of the crown's case was the question of whether or not there should have been some doubt in Miller's mind about the genuine qualities of the cheque when it was given to him to fill out and cash. The money obtained in Lindsay was split between the two, with Miller getting $200 as a loan.

A hand writing expert from the R.C.M.P. at Ottawa, Cpl. Norman Duckbury testified that eight samples of handwriting given him by Chief Webster, had tallied with the writing on the cheque, although in his opinion, the signatures on the cheque did not agree with the name and endorsement. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan found fault with Miller's story that he had not been suspicious of Babcock's excuse for possession of the cheque, in the fact that he had taken it as commissions, in direct payment from the purchaser of a refrigerator, in hopes of avoiding income tax payments on it.

Defence Attorney Allen called attention to the fact, in asking for a light sentence that Miller had a family, now living in Vancouver that he had not known that the cheque was forged, that he was a good worker and a top man in his own union. And that he had only one other conviction on his record, sixteen years ago. Crown Attorney Jordan, however quoted four points of knowledge in the matter of the quality of the cheque and asked for a standard sentence in the case. Magistrate Gee agreed that Miller could not have been ignorant of something being wrong with the cheque and sentenced him to eight months in Ontario Reformatory.

BURLEIGH GRIMES, Leaf skipper, smiles down benignly on his two good men Ferrell Anderson, left, and John Hetki. They were his winning battery in the sixth game of the seven game series of the International League playoffs. The win forced a seventh and deciding game with the Montreal Royals, which the Royals won 6-5 in eleven innings. The Royals now meet Rochester in the finals.

Truce Talks Adjourned For 8th Week

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The Korean truce talks adjourned today for the eighth straight week-long recess after an angry 52-minute session in which negotiators argued over who started the war.

It was the first plenary meeting since Sept. 12 and produced no headway in the prolonged stalemate on prisoner exchange, major obstacle to a truce.

The Reds agreed to a United Nations request and recessed the talks until Sept. 28.

Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior U. N. delegate, read the Communists a lengthy, blistering statement in answer to their charge that the Allies "stand against the people of the whole world." Harrison called it a "lesson in geography."

He reminded the Reds that 44 countries voted in the U. N. General Assembly to brand the North Koreans aggressors.

Kenneth Stephens of Toronto got one year on each charge, the terms concurrent. Robert White of Havelock received two concurrent 18-month terms. Talbot Murphy of Toronto got two concurrent terms of two years less one day

Developing Third Outlet To Pacific Through B.C.

BELLA COOLA, B.C. (CP)—Canada has only two outlets to the Pacific—through the Fraser Canyon to Vancouver and through the trench of the Skeena River to Prince Rupert.

The Board of Trade in this little community 250 miles up-coast from Vancouver is building a third. If war came to Canada's west coast, this rude trail might become a giant artery from interior British Columbia to tidewater.

Beside the engineering feats which split the Coast Range in the Fraser and Skeena Canyons, the effort of the Bella Coola Board of Trade is insignificant. One bulldozer is slowly punching through 18 miles of wilderness to connect this isolated port to Kleena Kleene beside One Eye Lake on the eastern side of the Coast Range on the Chilcotin plateau. By today, the bulldozer had covered five miles.

The great obstacle to additional outlets to the the western seaboard has always been the Coast Range, a rugged barrier of rock, ice and bad weather rising 12,000 to 13,000 feet. There are almost no low passes through it and man pierced the wall in two places at tremendous cost.

But midway between Vancouver and Prince Rupert, nature relented and permitted a natural funnel to the sea far easier to push through then the two existing channels.

OUND BY WHITES

Strangely enough, this pass to the Pacific was the first discovered by the white man. In 1793, Alexander Mackenzie, the first overland explorer to reach the western sea, followed Indian trails to reach the ocean at what now is Bella Coola.

Burke Channel, navigable by ocean-going ships, extends from the sea 60 miles to Bella Coola. The Bella Coola Valley extends another 50 miles east and a 3,000-foot-high pass allows comparatively easy access to the interior.

In 1912, an English railway company surveyed a route to the sea through the Bella Coola Valley and cut a right-of-way but the war cancelled its building plans.

In 1950, two men building logging roads found an even easier route with no steep slopes and no rivers to bridge.

The government then promised a survey but the Board of Trade here, formed to promote the road project, couldn't wait. The board said it will complete the road, however primitive it may be, by itself.

Irvin Likes Looks Of Crop Of Rookies

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens likes the crop of rookies trying out with his National Hockey League team here.

"I plan to try him with Butch Bouchard to see how he reacts to tougher competition."

Meadow Rice Breaks Jinx, Wins

DELAWARE, O. (AP)—W. G. Reynolds, the big aluminum and tobacco man from Louisville, Ky., figures he's no longer a jinx to his great three-year-old pacer, Meadow Rice.

Meadow Rice proved it to him yesterday, handing him $30,231 by winning the $60,463 "Little Brown Jug" while Reynolds watched.

The brown colt, third in Thursday's opening heat, came back yesterday to take two one-mile runs in a row to wrap up the laurels. He did it in world record time for a divided three-heat race. His time for the three miles totalled 6:06 2-5, more than three seconds under the 6:09 3-5 record set in 1950 when Dudley Hanover triumphed.

Reynolds said:

"I thought I was jinx to Meadow Rice. I've seen him race 10 times before today, but I've seen him win only once. At least a half-dozen times I've watched him 'photoed' out and I thought it was going to happen again."

Meadow Rice, handled by Wayne Smart, won the first heat yesterday by 2½ lengths, and was off the pace only for a few seconds in the payoff jaunt, which he won comfortably.

Wilmington's Star, winner of Thursday's heat, took second money of $15,115, although finishing sixth and fifth in the next two. Adio Abe, with two seconds and a third, picked up third money of $9,069.

Here and There In Sport

GOLAB CRITICAL

KITCHENER (CP)—Tony Golab, former Canadian football great, says that chances of Canadian football players moving into senior ranks are diminishing every year because United States coaches handling Canadian teams have no time for Canadians.

"They want finished football players," Golab, an R. C. A. F. squadron leader attached to the Mount Hope Station near Hamilton, said in a speech to the Kitchener-Waterloo Air Force Association Thursday night.

Golab, once known as the "golden boy" of Canadian football, said most U. S. players imported to Canada are fine individuals but he saw a danger in the trend that makes it more and more difficult for a Canadian to break into the game. Improvement in high school coaching standards so Canadians would get a thorough grounding in fundamentals would help offset the trend.

Now coach of the Hamilton intermediate Panthers, Golab gave the background of difficulties between his club and Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four. He said Tiger-Cats wanted rights to all Panther players for a sum of money which worked out to $8.50 for each player on the team. Golab said he refused to go along with the deal and as a result lost a promised salary for coaching and now is doing the job free.

He made the statement Friday in a campaign speech in his home district. "How can an industrially-strong power fight with an industrially-weak power? This just doesn't happen."

Call McCarthyism Smear Technique

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK (CP)—Charges that the Democratic government of the United States is riddled with Communists and fellow-travellers have given birth to a new election campaign issue and a new word in the American lexicon "McCarthyism."

Supporters of McCarthyism define it as a patriotic method of cleaning Communists out of government. Its opponents call it a reckless, sinister smear technique for besmirching innocent persons.

It gets its name from Republican Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, a Second World War tail-gunner who was elected to the Senate and made a national impact with his unproved allegation that there were 200 Communists in the State Department.

McCarthy won his party's nomination this month for another Senate term, triumphing in the Wisconsin primary over a Republican opponent who made "anti-McCarthyism" the keynote of his campaign.

His triumph surprised many, even in his own party. Aides of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Republican presidential candidate, said privately they were appalled by McCarthy's sweep.

DIFFICULT TO BELIEVE

The New York Times, which supports Eisenhower, said in an editorial: "We find it difficult to believe that the voters of Wisconsin have chosen deliberately to put their stamp of approval on the type of reckless and irresponsible character assassination that has come to be known as 'McCarthyism.'"

McCarthy once called Gen. George Marshall, wartime U.S. Chief of Staff and later Secretary of State, a "mysterious powerful figure" who sided with Russia in decisions which "lost the peace for America."

Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, said on the hustings the attack on Marshall is "the type of patriotism which is. . .the last refugee of scoundrels."

President Truman made a speech before the National Conference on Citizenship and referred to what he called "the big lie" technique which he said was being used by some persons "in order to reap personal or partisan advantage."

Truman named no names, but he said: "A man who uses the weapon of the big lie is not a good man. He should be rejected by all citizens regardless of party."

Senator Herbert H. Lehman, a Democrat-Liberal from New York and one-time head of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, said in a speech before the American Federation of Labor convention that "McCarthyism" is endangering the country's civil liberties and destroying the people's faith in freedom and democratic principles."

MIXED BLESSING

Political writers consider McCarthy's enhanced stature something of a mixed blessing within the Republican Party. McCarthyism is anathema to the progressives of both parties but he is considered as drawing support from the conservative wing of the Republican Party.

Eisenhower, who has to face the issue of McCarthyism, has been careful in his statements. He has said he will support McCarthy as a member of the Republican organization but he will not support "anything that smacks to me of un-Americanism, and that includes any kind of thing that looks to me like unjust damaging of reputation. . ."

Apparently undaunted by all the fuss, McCarthy popped up in Phoenix, Ariz., this week and told a press conference that investigators now are looking into Stevenson's background.

The Senator said he hoped to be able to give the whole story, "not of association, but of collaboration" between Stevenson and Alger Hiss, onetime State Department aide.

Stevenson had once testified as a character witness for Hiss who later was convicted of perjury for denying he had passed government secrets to courier for a Soviet spy ring in the 1930s.

Orphans Take

The five-all deadlock was broken in the third when Jack McIntyre recovered a Cobourg fumble on the lakeshore 19-yard line. Matthews booted to Hatt behind the line and he was smothered for a point.

Minutes later the Orfuns started their second major scoring parade, beginning at the Orfuns' 45 with lengthy plunges by Roy Armstrong, Bob White and Jim Wilde. Milligan then took over, passing 32 yards to Wilde who went to the Cobourg 10. Milligan hit Wilde with a second pass for the touchdown which went again unconverted.

Another Cobourg fumble, this time at the Cobourg 30-yard line and recovered by Orfun Bill Trimm, set Matthews up for the 12th point. He lofted a punt to Darcy Campbell behind the line; he was smeared for the point.

Immediately after that point Hatt began to pitch for Cobourg, hitting Hendry with a 30-yard pass which placed the Orfuns back on their haunches. They couldn't break out and finally Hatt passed down the centre, again to Hendry, this time for a major. Art Jones converted for Cobourg's final point. Lineups:

French Commandos Give No Quarter In Indo-China

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TRAVINH, Indo-China (CP)—The most famous commando leader in Indo-China's civil war is a slight young black-skinned lieutenant fighting for the French.

Huynh Hinh, 24, looks as though he wouldn't kill a mosquito. Only a rough scar half an inch wide from throat to cheek shows that his business is fighting.

But two of his thin, iron-strong fingers have killed a dozen or more of the Communist-led Vietminh who are trying to drive out the French and set up a "people's democracy" in this gateway to southeast Asia.

Hinh, like his followers, is Viet Namese.

STRONG FINGERS

His hand is not particularly strong. I crushed it in my grip. But he has developed amazing strength in his right thumb and forefinger. He clamps them around his victim's windpipe and squeezes to make the man talk. If he doesn't—death from strangulation.

Hinh and his Viet Nam commandos of 120 specially picked and trained men give and expect no quarter. The Indo-China conflict is that kind of war.

When I first visited the grass-roofed barracks where I met Hinh, I had an idea that I would accompany a commando operation to get the feel of it. When I suggested it, Hinh looked at his senior officer, glanced at my booted feet, and the officer said no. Europeans never go along.

When I learned later of the arduous tramp for days through dense jungle, largely at night, I knew I couldn't have lasted anyway.

Inevitably the commando returns from its patrols with an assortment of Vietminh heads.

GRISLY PRACTICE

Both Viet Namese and Vietminh practise decapitation. Buddhism is Indo-China's main religion, and Buddhists believe a body buried without its head is dishonored and will be reborn at a lower level of existence in its next incarnation.

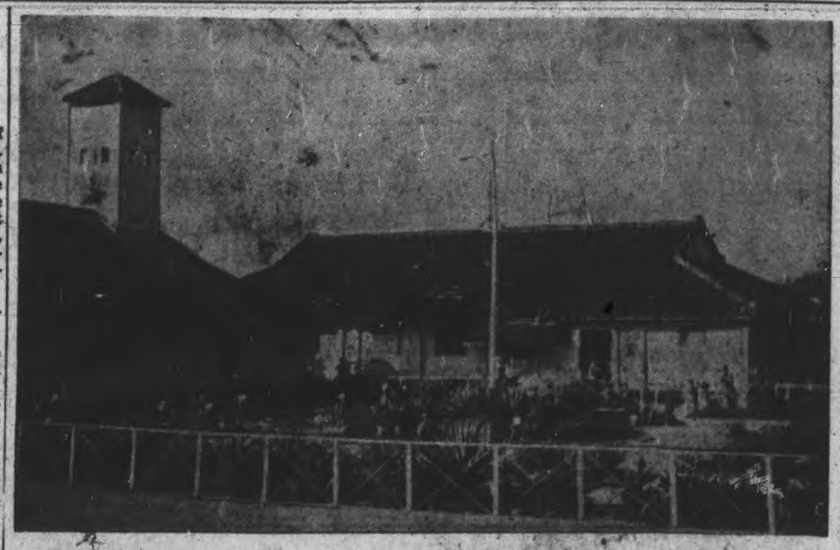
Such soldiers are what the French call "supplementaries." They have no contract and are paid by the day. They average in pay about half the level of a city clerk but, living in barracks with their families, manage well. They soldier because they love it.

Their approach to war sometimes curdles the blood.

Three of Minh's men eat a brave opponent's liver, because legend says it will increase their valor. Sometimes the liver is cut out before the victim dies. Hideous tortures are inflicted by both sides.

When I was in Saigon, a Vietminh force broke into a convalescent centre 90 miles away and killed 20 persons including wives and children of French soldiers. The incident was regarded with extreme calm.

MANY EXCESSES



The French security chief held no resentment against the Vietminh as a group. He showed me some atrocity photographs from his bulky files and said:

"The Vietminh can show the same kind of pictures. No doubt the instances are true. But these are excesses, not the orders of the Viet Nam or Vietminh."

Hinh and his troops operate barefoot through the rice paddies and jungles. Booted French troops may plod through 500 yards of jungle in a morning, checking it for Vietminh. In the same growth of wild cocoanut and giant ferns, Hinh's men clear five times as much territory.

Break Up Demonstration

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—The Allied prisoner-of-war command today said 23 Communist civilian prisoners were injured, two seriously, when United States military police broke up a demonstration Wednesday at Pongam in South Korea.

COMMANDO BARRACKS — This flower-decked monastic-looking group of buildings is the barracks of commandos led by Lieut. Huynh Hinh. In other buildings at the back the 120 soldiers live with their wives and children, whom they leave for four or five days at a time when on patrol. The blocks shown comprise an orderly room, arsenal, guardroom for prisoners and a canteen. Commando soldiers are "supplementaries," who are paid on a daily basis and are free to leave any time. Hinh formed and trained his unit two years ago and, apart from casualties, has kept it intact ever since.

COMMANDO CHIEF—Famous and dreaded by Vietminh throughout Cochin-China is Lieut. Huynh Hinh, commander of the commando unit in the Viet Namese army. He kills prisoners with the thumb and index finger of his right hand by crushing their wind-pipe if they don't give wanted information speedily. Huynh Hinh and his 120 men always operate barefoot and can cover ground several times as fast as regular French army troops. He is shown after a patrol reporting to French army officers, drawing a map on the ground to illustrate it.

Keene Thanks City For Help

Appreciation of Otonabee Council and the people of Keene was conveyed to the city council in a letter from township clerk James McCarthy for the assistance of the Fire Department August 31.

"There was no doubt the aid of Peterborough's firemen saved a number of houses in Keene from being totally destroyed by the fire that morning," Mr. McCarthy wrote. His letter included a cheque for $200, which the city returned.

That cancellation was directed by the council decision that it could not consistently accept any payment. Council's attitude was to the effect that the sending of the fire truck to Keene was "a mistake," because it was contrary to a city resolution.

RECORD CLEAR

To keep the record clear, council wrote off the incident, tacitly pleased by the gratitude of Otonabee and its Keene capital, and let it go as Ald. Young's official action in goodwill unbound by a stout minute in the records.

It is just a possibility that the incident may lead to some development in mutual aid by the Peterborough municipalities, an idea to which Mayor Hugh Waddell is giving thought. And it may be that it will be broached by him at the local municipal conference Friday afternoon at county headquarters.

2-Way Umbrella Of Planes To Protect Jets

MONTREAL (CP) — Three R. C. A. F. jet squadrons, slated to fly to France at the end of the month, will be protected by a shifting two-way umbrella of Canadian and United States aircraft, it was learned today.

The squadrons, 421 from St. Hubert, Que., 416 from Uplands, Ont., and 430 from North Bay, Ont., are expected to leave Sept. 29 or 30, weather being a deciding factor, for their new base at Gros Tenquin, France.

While the mass flight should take three or four days, R. C. A. F. officials said weather and technical difficulties could extend it as much as two weeks.

Three North Stars from Air Transport Command at Lachine, ue., will have the dual chore of keeping a safety eye on the fighters as well as delivering the wing's ground crews. United States search and rescue unit based in Iceland will raise a rotating air screen over the jets and weather ships will be in constant communication with them.

The base, near Metz, will be the first continental station operated by the R. C. A. F. since the Second World War. It will form part of Canada's contribution to North Atlantic defence.

Minister Of Pensions To Address Rally

TORONTO (CP)—Derick Heathcoat-Amory, Britain's minister of pensions, will address a rally of Canadians and imperial ex-servicemen in Toronto Oct. 6.

He is visiting Toronto to review the problems of the 11,000 imperial pensioners now living in Canada. Their main one arises from the devaluation of the British pound, since they receive their pensions in sterling at current rates of exchange.

SEA VISIT—While exercising with the British Mediterranean Fleet this summer, prior to joining the current N.A.T.O. exercise "Mainbrace," Canada's aircraft carrier Magnificent was visited twice by Admiral Earl Mountbatten of Burma, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet, shown here (left) on the flight deck with Captain K. L. Dyer, of Grand Pre, N.S., commanding officer of the Magnificent. Admiral Mountbatten was transferred at sea by jack stay from his flagship, H.M.S. Glasgow.

Papers Confuse British Dignitary

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, said today on his return from a holiday in the United States: "The worst thing in America is a daily paper of 68 pages."

Dr. Fisher said the Americans knew just where to look in their paper for the news.

"But being a stranger I had to go through the whole 68 pages in case I was missing anything," he said.

Dr. Fisher said he was thankful there was a newsprint shortage in Britain, where most papers are limited to about 10 pages.

Amplifying criticism of television he made in New York, he said he had nothing against television as such.

"But there is a danger of increasing our amenities endlessly when we, as a poor nation, should be concentrating on getting on with our jobs," he said. "It is another means of wasting time."

Max Swanston Sees Old Friend

While in Philadelphia this week for the American Hospital Association Convention, Max Swanston attended a National League ball game at Shibe Park with Jake Solomon.

Well known in Peterborough sports circles for many years, when he was manager of baseball teams here, Jake went to the Pennsylvania capital after he sold his bowling alley business here. Until his retirement, he was in photographic business there.

Mr. Swanston reports he has recovered sufficiently from a recent serious illness to be able to enjoy his favorite pastime of baseball and the game they saw Monday night between the Phillies and Cincinnati Reds was featured by Phillies pitcher Robin Roberts racking up his 25th win of the season.

Near the close of the First World War, Jake Solomon re-organized baseball in Peterborough after it had lapsed during the war years. He was one of the organizers of the Ontario Baseball Association and managed the Peterborough entry in the Central Ontario Baseball League during the twenties.

Ottawa Easing Controls On Country's Steel Market

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian industry's great struggle for steel is slowly coming to an end.

With the American steel strike over, and with Canada's own production swelling to new heights, the federal government has quietly invoked an easing-up plan on steel controls.

The plan gained momentum just a few weeks ago, it was learned yesterday. Canadian builders, who got the government's cold-shoulder on steel requests a year ago, now are getting government permission to buy as much as 200 tons at a time.

The increasing generosity in allocations by the government's steel administration is being spread throughout a major segment of the construction industry.

MANY BENEFIT

The easing-up is being applied to all types of construction with the exception of breweries and liquor stores and recreational centres such as dance halls, bowling alleys and theatres.

As pressure of demand for steel eases, the 200-ton ceiling for the construction industry may go even higher. Informants estimate that by the end of the year, the government may lift all bans on the use of steel for any type of construction and the amount of steel that may be held in stockpile in any company.

The government's steel administration is issuing permission freely to companies which want to get as much as 500 tons of ingot steel from American sources, but it still is keeping a tight hold on steel obtained on allocation through the U. S. government's Controlled Materials Plan. It likely will continue to do for many months to come.

Moscow-US Relations Have Icy Cold Status

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet-American relations in Moscow have sunk to "an icy cold" status, United States Ambassador George Kennan reported today.

Kennan halted briefly at Templehof airport en route to London for two weeks of diplomatic conferences and commented in an interview that a new, ugly kind of restriction is being placed on Americans in the Soviet capitol. All social contact with Russians has been forbidden, the ambassador said, and even servants keep their distance.

Woman Hit By Car Near Lakefield Dies Of Injuries

Mrs. Bruce Dunford, 56-year-old Douro housewife, died Sunday morning in Civic Hospital about 12 hours after she was struck down by a car on the Lakefield Highway. It was the tragic end to a happy family gathering. Only a few hours before she had seen her son Charles married in Lakefield United Church. Arm in arm with her husband, Bruce Dunford, she started to walk across Highway 28 to visit the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Graham, who live a mile north of Lakefield. They noticed a northbound car, driven by William Duane, 38, of Virginia Ave., East York, approaching, and tried to hurry across.

Duane later told provincial police that he slammed on his brakes but he clipped the middle-aged couple.

STRUCK TWICE

The right fender of his car struck Mrs. Dunford on the right hip, spun her round, and she was then struck again by the front of the car. The impact threw her eight feet onto the gravel driveway of Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

Mr. Dunford escaped serious injury by inches. The right fender that dealt his wife the fatal blow ripped his right trousers and just grazed his leg.

A witness to the accident was another son James, who had driven his parents to the Graham home where they were to pick up the family car.

HEARD BRAKES

Ken Saunders, a Peterborough taxi driver, was the first person on the scene:

"I was going north around the bend when I heard a screech of brakes," he said. "I saw a car skidding and then I heard a woman scream. When I stopped and went over to see what happened, I saw Mrs. Dunford on the driveway and Mr. Dunford was holding her. She was in a semi-conscious condition."

Mrs. Dunford was taken to the Civic Hospital, where it was determined that she had a broken pelvic bone, a broken hip, and a broken right leg.

3 Boys Trapped By Flames In Hideout

WINNIPEG (CP).—Three thrill-hungry boys died and another suffered critical burns early yesterday when fire trapped them in their night hideout. Police probing the blackened ruins beneath a front verandah found a mattress, blanket, pillow and three pairs of shoes neatly arranged side by side. A candle or discarded cigarette butt was believed responsible.

The victims were John Elmer Schroeder, 11; Gerald Lawrence Abbott, 16, and Richard Graham, 13. Dennis John Gregory, 15, was reported in fair condition in hospital.

Careful planning went into the fatal adventure.

BED DOWN FOR NIGHT

Parents were told the boys would sleep at the home of friends. Instead they crawled through an opening in the lattice work under the verandah floor and bedded down for the night.

It apparently was the first time the boys used the hideout. But they may have been planning to use it indefinitely.

Mrs. Schroeder said her son asked three days earlier for permission to stay out all night, presumably to stay in an old shack which the boys frequented.

"GOODBYE MUM"

But before he left the boy said: "This is the last time you'll see me, Mum. I'll never see you again."

The boys apparently entered the 20-foot-square space about midnight after leaving a downtown bowling alley where the three eldest worked as pinsetters.

The fire broke out about 5 a.m. Dense smoke from burning tar paper cut off almost all chances of survival.

The boys were known smokers. One companion said they planned to sleep in their hideout "just for the thrill."

Dennis, the survivor, said they lit a candle before falling asleep. The next thing he knew Richard Graham pushed him out of the hole and told him to run for help.

A preliminary inquest will open today.

"Baby Bandits" Enjoy Spree

VANCOUVER (CP)—It was fun while it lasted for a seven-member gang of "baby bandits" led by an 11-year-old "bigshot."

The "bigshot" organized a squirrel hunt on nearby Grouse Mountain with the gang carrying a new .22 rifle, two air rifles and three hunting knives.

The mountain spree started after the theft of $215 from a department store cash register.

The gang had steak dinners, taxi rides, horseback and boat rides.

Police recovered some of the stolen money, $60 of it concealed in grass beside a road on Grouse Mountain. The rifles were found in the gang's hideout.

Investigation started when the 11-year-old leader flashed a roll of bills at school.

5 Given First Aid After Demonstration

MONTREAL (CP)—Police broke up a demonstration today outside the strike-beset Canadian Vickers shipyard, arresting nine persons and sending five to first-aid stations.

Police said strikers attempted to ambush a bus-load of workers who are members of A. F. L. unions and who voted during the week-end to return.

The strike, called Aug. 19 by the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor over a wage dispute, affected about 2,000 workers, including some 800 members of A.F.L. unions who have refused to cross picket lines until the last few days.

Stones were hurled through windows of the bus today and several workers inside were injured by flying glass. The bus continued on through the gates.

Seek Two Youths Missing In Woods

SAULT STE. MARIE — (CP) — Robert Golec and Fred Oswin, both 16, today are the objects of a search in wooded area near Goulais Bay about 30 miles northwest of here.

Wearing only light shirts and trousers the boys, both from this Northern Ontario city, left a hunting camp yesterday.

Fourteen men searched throughout the night, during which temperatures dropped to 40 degrees. Today a group of searchers left the Sault to continue the hunt.

Escape From Chinese

Five Soldiers Play Dead For 72 Hours On Hilltop

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Five American soldiers—wounded, hungry and without a drop of water—played dead and lived through 72 hours of hellfire on the rugged Korean hill known as Old Baldy.

When their buddies from the U.S. 2nd division retook the height Sunday after savage in-fighting with Chinese Reds, the five crawled or were carried from their battered bunker.

They had huddled in the dilapidated log and earth cave under the earth-shaking pounding of Allied and Communist big guns.

Twelve men crawled into the bunker Thursday evening when an assault force of Chinese swarmed over their positions. Seven died in the bunker or may have escaped.

The account of their ordeal was given by Cpl. Ed Berlin, front line reporter for the Pacific Stars and Stripes, who interviewed the men on the scene.

Time and again during the first night, Berlin said, Chinese soldiers threw grenades into the small enclosure. Just as often, a red soldier would peer in and open up with a spray of machine-gun bullets. The trapped men fired back at each intruder.

REDS LINE UP

The Chinese finally decided that no one could still be alive inside the bunker that had been literally covered with bullets.

The only food they touched during the 72 hours was a can of grapefruit juice and a couple of oranges. The men cared for their wounds as best they could. A private gave a lieutenant in the bunker a blood transfusion from a bottle.

Describing the vigil, a 22-year-old private said:

"All of us were bloody and I think that's what saved us. We were afraid to fire because we might let them know we were alive. So we just got as low as we could behind the other bodies and sweated it out. We dozed once in a while, but we couldn't sleep. No one lost his head. All of us were cool because we just knew the second div would retake Baldy."

Prisoner On Remand Gets Strap After Boyd Escape

BOTH CARS were spun completely off the road in this freak accident Sunday morning, near the Hitching Post on Highway 28. The whole left side of the car (left) was crushed in and the front end of the car (right) was heavily damaged.. Mr. and Mrs. John Leni, of 222 Sherbrooke St., their six-year-old daughter, Mary Anne, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bradd of Bowmanville, were all hospitalized as a result of the collision. Mr. Leni, who has a barbering and gift shop business on Charlotte St., is the most seriously injured. Power To Purge Reds In C.C.L. Now Threatened

TORONTO (CP)—The power of the Canadian Congress of Labor's executive council to purge Communist unions from the C.C.L. was threatened today by a constitutional amendment proposed by the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council.

The Toronto council, which represents some 45,000 workers in the Toronto and suburban area, proposed that the C.C.L. executive council be empowered to give warning of expulsion, but that the question of actual purge be dealt with only at the annual C.C.L. convention or at a special convention.

The proposed amendment was one of several circulated to the 800 delegates of the C.C.L.'s annual convention which began its week-long deliberations today. Discussion and final disposition of the proposal likely will come up later this week.

CURRENT CONSTITUTION

Under the current constitution, the C.C.L. executive council can expel any union found following Communist or Fascist principles and policies. The expulsion can be appealed to the annual convention. Meanwhile the union is barred from C.C.L. activity.

Under the Toronto council proposal, the executive council will be allowed only to make recommendations for expulsion to be dealt with on the first day of the annual sessions by the delegates at large.

Woman Swims Catalina Channel

SAN PEDRO, Calif (AP)—Husky Florence Chadwick, swimming like an automaton, scrambled ashore at rocky Point Vicente yesterday to become the first woman to conquer the 21-mile Catalina Channel.

The 33-year-old bookkeeper from San diego, Calif., came within minutes of breaking all records for the event. Her official time was 13 hours, 47 minutes, 32 seconds.

This compares with the unofficial record of 13 hours, 35 minutes, set by Byron Summers of Los Angeles in 1927.

"I thank God very, very much," she said, "for giving me the strength to finish. I'm going to church to thank Him."

Marijuana Party Raided By Police

TORONTO (CP) — Police raiding squads broke up what officers called a "marijuana party" in a downtown hotel room early Saturday. They arrested "Buck and Bubbles", an entertainment team from the United States, as well as a Toronto musician and a woman on a charge of possessing marijuana.

Police identified those arrested as Ford Lee (Buck) Washington and John William (Bubbles) Sublett; Sublett's wife, Mabel; and Benny Winestone, Toronto tenor saxophone player who has played in several U. S. name bands. The four appeared in court and were remanded.

Toronto and R. C. M. P. officers reported the seizure in the hotel room of a small quantity of marijuana—"just enough to roll a few cigarets."

Five Injured As Cars Collide

Five people—three of them from Peterborough—were taken to Civic Hospital on Sunday morning with injuries received in a two-car crash on Highway 28, four miles southwest of Peterborough. The injured are: John Leni, 40, of 222 Dalhousie St., a sprained back, possible fractured pelvis, and cuts and bruises on the right arm and hand. His wife, 27-year-old Shirley Leni, cuts on her forehead and mouth and scrapes and cuts on her hands. The Leni's six-year-old daughter, Mary Anne, cuts on her head, bruises and shock. Floyd W. Bradd, 34, of Bowmanville, cuts on his head and an injured right knee.

Mrs. Bradd, his wife, 31, cuts on her face and bruises and scrapes on her left hip.

IN GOOD CONDITION

All of them are reported to be in good condition today.

Cause of the accident has not yet been determined. But it is believed that the southbound 1938-model car driven by Mrs. Leni, struck the soft west shoulder of the highway and then veered across the highway out of control.

The Leni car was struck on the right side by the northbound car, driven by Mr. Bradd. The two vehicles spun off the highway onto a level stretch of grass on the east side. The collision occurred about 8:30 a.m. Sunday, half a mile southwest of the Hitching Post.

A passing motorist took Mr. and Mrs. Bradd to hospital and Nisbett ambulance took the three Lenis.

The Leni car was completely wrecked and the front end of the Bradd car was bashed in. Damage to the latter will probably amount to $1,000. Kawartha Garage tow truck cleared up the wreckage.

O.P.P. Constables Jack Gray and John Cawood investigated.

Trap 3 Escaped Robbers 2 Die In Gun Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Police trapped three bank-robbing escaped convicts yesterday, killing two of them in a gun battle that cost the life of one detective and seriously wounded another. The third desperado was captured unhurt. A hail of pistol and machine-gun bullets ended the careers of terror of two bad men from Harlan county, Kentucky, Joseph Nolens, 26, and his brother, Ballard, 22. Captured was Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago.

Police said Schuer admitted the three robbed a Bronx gun store last Monday of a dozen weapons and on the following day looted a Bronx bank of $12,670 in a daring daylight holdup.

The desperadoes had been the object of one of the eastern United States' biggest modern day manhunts since they escaped Sept. 10 from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison, where they were serving long terms for bank robbery.

The three had stabbed and kidnapped their way to freedom, terrorizing the Pennsylvania countryside on their flight to New York.

They were surprised in a tryst with three Negro women when police stormed their seventh-floor apartment in upper Manhattan.

Thirty-one detectives and patrolmen converged on the four-room apartment on a tip. They found the place barricaded and were met with a burst of gunfire as they broke down a door.

When the smoke had cleared, the Nolens lay dead. Detectives Philip Lamonica, 45, and Nicholas Cotter were wounded. Lamonica died a short time later.

Police said one of the Nolens had been shot at least 50 times.

New Brunswick Voters Settle Ballot Battle

FREDERICTON (CP) — The battle of words in the New Brunswick election campaign gave way today to the battle of ballots.

Approximately 232,600 residents were eligible to vote between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. ADT.

On their decision depended the fate of Premier John B. McNair's Liberal government and the hopes of Progressive Conservatives led by H. J. Flemming.

Tries To Settle Rail Dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice R.L. Kellock, who settled the railways wage dispute two years ago, today took another try in the latest disagreement.

The Supreme Court justice heads a conciliation board which faces demands including a wage increase of 45 cents an hour, from 17 international unions and members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employees (C.C.L.-C.I.O.). Approximately 125,000 are involve

Today's meeting is expected to be short and to decide only times and dates of forthcoming sessions.

Mr. Justice Kellock was chosen by the federal Labor Department to head the conciliation board hearing union demands, which the carriers say will cost them around $150,000,000 a year.

Two years ago, after Parliament legislated the end of the nine-day country-wide strike, the federal cabinet appointed Mr. Justice Kellock to settle the dispute. He awarded the unions their full demand of seven cents an hour.

Engineer Finishes 42 Years With CPR

TORONTO (CP) — Syd Stapeley, 65, of Toronto last night completed 42 years of Canadian railroading when he piloted his last train into the Union Station.

Mr. Stapely joined the Canadian Pacific Railway as a laborer at Havelock.

"I always wanted to be an engineer and the way to do it is to work up through the ranks," he said in an interview.

Mr. Stapely is married and has one son, Alfred, in Ottawa. He has bought a bungalow near Napanee, Ont.

British RAF Ace Hated By German Pilots Still Going Strong In Operations In Malaya

LONDON (CP).—Sqdn. Ldr. Duncan Smith of the R.A.F. was an ace the Germans would dearly have liked to eliminate, but he is still going strong as a combat pilot.

In fact, "Smithie" was given his fifth decoration for gallantry at age 37 for operations over the Malayan jungle.

Wilfred Duncan Smith has a D.F.C. and two bars—not to mention a D.S.O. and bar. His latest D.F.C. was for leadership from a cockpit in stemming insurgent attacks in the Asian jungle.

He joined the R.A.F. in 1939 and rose to the rank of group captain. He dropped in rank on remaining in the "peacetime" R.A.F. When his recent award was announced, the Sunday Express printed an editorial on the subject suggesting that here was a man who should have his old rank back—at least.

During the Second World War his Spitfire was hit and brought down in the Mediterranean. His squadron kept a patrol over his head until he was rescued.

He has logged more than 3,000 flying hours with the R.A.F., 433 of them with his squadron in Malaya.

Allies Retake Hill After 15-Hour Fight

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Allied troops, advancing behind a curtain of tank fire, today recaptured an eastern front hill after 15 hours of continuous fighting.

The U. N. troops had lost the peak, northeast of the Punchbowl, to a North Korean battalion in a pre-dawn battle that marked a shift of Red pressure from the western front to the east.

U. S. Sabre jets tangled twice with Communist MiG-15s and the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported four of the Russian-built planes damaged. The Sabres were flying protective cover for other planes attacking a locomotive works and rail tunnels.

The air force also said gun camera film showed a MiG listed as damaged yesterday was actually probably destroyed. That raised the Sunday bag to four MiGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and six damaged. Allied pilots have destroyed at least 51 MiGs in September.

Report Red Gunboat Seizes U.K. Trawler

LONDON (AP)—A British fishing company issued a cryptic report yesterday indicating that one of its trawlers has been seized by a Russian gunboat.

The Loyal Steam Fishing Company of Grimsby, England, said it received a radio message from one trawler which said a second trawler, the 369-ton Equerry, had been seen steaming east in company with a Russian gunboat.

Just where or when or what circumstances surrounded the unusual joint movement of a British craft and a Soviet warship weren't announced.

Charges Inmates Made To Pay For Guard Failure

TORONTO (CP)—A man who was held in the Don jail at the time of the Boyd gang's escape Sept. 8 said today there were no riots after the escape and that he and five other prisoners were strapped "to pay for the failure of the jail to hold Boyd, Suchan and the two Jacksons." It was reported last week that disciplinary measures were imposed on some prisoners to deal with unrest that developed in the jail after the Boyd gang members sawed their way out of a death row cell block.

In a first-person story in a Toronto paper, Bill Woytko, said he was strapped after a disturbance during which cell key holes were plugged with paper and some of the prisoners staged a hunger strike. Woytko said he was being held on a fraud charge, of which he was later acquitted.

"I was one of six inmates who were strapped, at the orders of acting deputy governor James A. Graham, without any pretense of a hearing. All six of us were selected from the Kingston corridor after some of us had complained about the quality of the food and in particular the very poor quality of the tea we were served.

"None of the six of us was under sentence. All of us were awaiting trial. I was being held on a false pretences charge, involving sale of a car, of which I was later acquitted. None of the prisoners already sentenced and awaiting transport to prison was strapped."

Col. Hedley Basher, Ontario deputy minister of reform institutions, said today a jail governor has the right to order strapping of a prisoner for violation of prison regulations, even though that prisoner has not been convicted.

WELL GUARDED

Policemen armed with shot-guns lined city hall corridors today as the curtain rose on one of Ontario's biggest court room dramas.

Edwin Alonzo Boyd appeared on a charge of bank robbery together with his brother, Norman Boyd, Alistair Gibson and Joseph Jackson.

In a neighboring court room Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson appeared on charges of murder in the shooting last March of Det.-Sgt. Edmund Tong.

Few spectators were on hand as a large police limousine carrying the manacled prisoners drew up to City Hall at the head of a procession of armed police.

Provincial Govts. Lose First Round

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial governments opposing freight-rate increases today lost the first round in their fight to block the railways' latest application for higher rates.

The Board of Transport Commissioners deferred judgment on the provinces' motion for non-hearing of the railway application for an eight-per-cent boost and ordered the case to proceed. It apparently meant judgment will be delivered in the usual way after the evidence is in.

Counsel for the eight provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—proposed their motion at the opening hearing of this newest of freight-rate cases. The action came as the railways moved formally to have an additional one per cent tacked on to the seven-per-cent application to have been heard by the board today.

Millard Plans Seek Raise For Steel Union

TORONTO (CP)—The head of Canada's powerful steel union gave notice Saturday he is seeking a $20,000,000 - a-year wage-boosting jackpot for a major segment of his unions.

C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), told a press conference he plans to campaign during the next two years for an average 20-cent-an-hour wage boost covering 53,000 members of his 70,000-member organization.

"This additional increase in wages is not economically unsound since it will be of general benefit to the low-wage areas," he said.

The 53,000 union men include non-ferrous metal workers and fabricators, these employees in steel and other metal plants to produce semi-finished and finished

Mr. Millard, those union recently negotiate successfully with several Canadian steel mills to bring the basic wage rate to $1.43½ cents an hour—the same basic rate that prevails in the United States—said he hopes to achieve a similar boost for those other workers.

Union officials estimated that non-ferrous metal workers and fabricators currently average about $1.20 an hour in wages.

Weather Delays Rescue Attempt

LONDON (Reuters) — Poor weather conditions Sunday delayed there-U.S. planes from flying to the rescue of 12 men stranded since Tuesday on an uncharted Greenland ice-cap.

Each of the three planes, waiting at the new U.S. air base of Thule on Greenland's west coast, has a different assignment in the rescue operation, according to information reaching the air ministry here.

A ski-fitted C-47 transport will try to land and pick up the 11 Britons and a U.S. Air Force captain whose plane was forced down 480 miles east of the Thule base. A C-54 Skymaster will circle the 8,000-foot ice-cap to report on weather conditions and establish radio contact with the marooned men.

The third U.S. plane, a Grumman Albatross amphibian, will circle half-way between Thule and the marooned men to provide navigational advice for the other two aircraft.

It was understood that medical paratroopers will jump if necessary to the stranded party. Some of the men are reported to have suffered painful but not major injuries.

Waiting For Election

St. Laurent Plans To Keep Cabinet Largely Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications are that Prime Minister St. Laurent will face the next session of Parliament—possibly the last before a general election—with his cabinet largely unchanged.

While it is almost certain that External Affairs Minister Pearson will be elected president of the United Nations General Assembly, it will not be necessary for him to give up his cabinet post.

The assembly meets in New York next month. Parliament opens Nov. 20

In the Commons, either Defence Minister Claxton or Prime Minister St. Laurent will reply to any questions on external affairs which arise during Mr. Pearson's absence.

There have been rumors from time to time that some of the older cabinet ministers would like to retire. Indications now are there will be no retirements until after the next election, generally expected to come in the fall of 1953.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, 70, has said that he will again lead the party if his health remains good. Trade Minister Howe, 66, and Agriculture Minister Gardiner, 68, both plan to run again.

Fisheries Minister Mayhew, 72, frequently is mentioned as a choice to fill British Columbia's vacancy in the Senate. However, because of the unsettled condition of politics in British Columbia it is expected Mr. Mayhew will be persuaded to stand for re-election.

The existing 19 vacancies in the Senate constitute a record. Mr. St. Laurent has given no indication that he plans to fill the vacancies soon. There now are 75 Liberals in the 102-seat upper chamber and only eight Progressive Conservatives.

Eisenhower Plans Ruling Soon About Nixon Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Richard Nixon was said by an aide Sunday to be awaiting a decision by General Eisenhower by late Tuesday on whether he would remain on the Republican ticket as the general's running mate. Nixon was reported fighting mad over the political controversy stirred by his acknowledgement that he accepted more than $18,000 in expense money raised by California supporters. Close associates said he had no intention of withdrawing.

Eisenhower withheld his decision while telegrams from across the country revealed voters sharply divided on the politically explosive question.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said: "This question obviously is too important for a quick decision."

Hagerty told a press conference that Eisenhower had not accepted as final an audit of the private expense fund that Nixon accepted from a group of prominent Californians.

It was disclosure of the expense fund that touched off the furore and brought Democratic charges that Nixon was "morally wrong" in accepting it.

STILL BEING STUDIED

Hagerty made it clear the Nixon affair was still being studied by Eisenhower, who is known to feel that Nixon must be as "clean as a hound's tooth" to remain on the ticket.

Eisenhower called an emergency halt of his campaign train Saturday at Jefferson City, Mo., for a telephone conversation with General Lucius Clay, an adviser of Governor Thomas Dewey of New York.

There was speculation among correspondents that the call involved the political furore centering on Nixon.

Nixon's press secretary, James Bassett, told reporters at Portland that Nixon expected a decision on his status to be made by Eisenhower—within 48 hours.

Nixon, fighting to remain on the Republican ticket, decided on Sunday to give a public accounting of his personal finances. In a prepared statement isued at Portland, he said:

"I am preparing a complete statement of my entire financial history.

"I realize it will be misrepresented, but I feel that when any question is raised about a public official he should make this information available to the public."

Bassett said the financial data would be given out some time during Nixon's trip to Seattle.

There was no explanation of what Nixon meant when he said it would be misrepresented.

Whether Nixon's decision to disclose his financial background was his own idea or General Eisenhower's was not made clear.

OUTBOARD MARINE PROMOTIONS effective October 1 have been announced by the company. Robert P. McMillan, 197 Rubidge St., left, has been appointed assistant to Hy Wood, vice-president in charge of manufacturing. Robert Gibbons, 83 James St., centre, will be production manager, and Jack O'Donoghue, 308 Park St. South, has been promoted to assistant production manager.

U.S. Coal Strike Averted

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Soft coal miners in the northern United States, elated over a new contract which removes all threat of a strike and boosts daily wages to a new high, headed back to the pits today. The United Mine Workers president, John L. Lewis, completed the agreement Saturday night with Harry L. Moses, president of the Bituminous Soft Coal Producers Association, just a few hours before the 170,000 miners were scheduled to go on strike. The new pact gives the men a daily pay increase of $1.90, increasing wages to $18.25 a day. It also requires operators to pay into the U.M.W. welfare fund 40 cents for each ton of coal produced. Under the old pact operators were required to pay 30 cents.

GREATEST VICTORY

John A. Busarello, director of U.M.W. district 16 at Pittsburgh, said of the contract:

"It is the greatest victory ever achieved by any labor leader in America for the benefit of the United Mine Workers—and the coal companies as well."

Moses, speaking for the operators, said the new contract undoubtedly will bring an increase in the price of coal. He added:

"We feel we have an obligation to apply for a price increase and we probably will."

For the rank and file miner, the contract was just about the best news ever received. Only once before has the coal industry settled with the U. M. W. without going through a strike. That was in 1951.

The settlement with the Bituminous Association doesn't clear away all the clouds from the U. S coal industry. The U. M. W. contract with southern operators expires Oct. 1.

British Papers Condemn Ban On Chaplin

LONDON (CP)—The move to bar Charlie Chaplin's re-entry into the United States was roundly denounced today by newspapers representing all shades of British political opinion.

The Conservative Daily Mail carried a cartoon showing Uncle Sam, in the role of a stuffy butler, turning Chaplin, in tramp garb, away from a mansion representing the U.S.

The tabloid Daily Mirror, which leans slightly left of centre, said: "No man has done more than Charlie to build up the American film industry. If the U.S. really do turn him out, there will be a queer stink around the Statue of Liberty."

A cartoon in the Conservative Daily Graphic depicted Chaplin and Jackie Coogan as they appeared in "The Kid." Coogan asks Chaplin: "Where did you say you live,' mister?"

The Liberal Manchester Guardian said the U.S. will look "worse than ridiculous" if it fails to show that Chaplin "has been a member of a totalitarian organization or has planned to overthrow the government."

Chaplin described himself as an artist without political convictions and a firm believer in individualism and liberty. He said he did not know the reasons behind the U.S. announcement that he may not be permitted to return.

"I am not political," Chaplin told the press conference aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth here. "I have never been political. I don't want to create any revolutions. I just want to create a few more films."

Mosher Intends To Keep Post In C.C.L.

TORONTO (CP)—Union antagonism against A. R. Mosher's re-election as Canadian Congress of Labor president receded today following a weekend tactical play for power in which Mosher neatly blocked opposition forces.

But turbulence still threatened the top layer of the 350,000-member labor body, whose annual convention got under way today with more than 90 delegates attending.

Demands on the federal government for low-cost housing, national health insurance and price controls to protect wage boosts obtained likely will play big parts in week-long deliberations.

The threat to Congress unity—badly dented by internal strife just a year ago—lies in a no-holds-barred fight for the dual position of secretary-treasurer and organization director.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT

Lined up for the full-time job are current holder of the office, and William Mahoney, 35-year-old assistant to C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America.

One powerful union leader requested MacDonald to bow out gracefully or lose the chieftain's friendship, but MacDonald declared he will "fight to the last ditch" for the job he got a year ago.

Backing Mahoney, who earned a big union name by knocking out Communist elements in British Columbia unions several years ago, are the big union three—steel, auto and packing house workers.

Behind MacDonald are MacDonald's own union, the United Mine Workers of America, elements of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and a scattering of C.C.L.-chartered unions.

Union men close to MacDonald say he has a 50-50 chance of coming out on top in the scrap, but those on Mahoney's side say the odds are heavily weighted in favor of the steel men's choice. The grab for delegates' votes is expected to continue on both sides until election day Friday.

MOSHER'S SURPRISE

Mosher surprised union chieftains when he disclosed yesterday that he has no intentions of stepping down from the post he has held for the last 12 years.

They had jumped to the conclusion that with the 71-year-old Mosher quitting the presidency of the 32,000-member C.B.R.E., he could be persuaded to step down voluntarily from the C.C.L. throne in favor of his C.B.R.E. successor—Harry A. Chappell of Winnipeg.

But Chappell disclosed as he arrived in Toronto with Mosher that he has no intention of opposing his old and trusted friend.

"I've just taken over the C.B.R.E. and I've got a lot of heavy work ahead of me," he said in an interview. "I'll be too busy to run for the C.C.L. presidency."

Union men favor a C.B.R.E. man for the presidency, to maintain unity and power balances within the C.C.L. With Chappell definitely out, that left only Mosher. They indicated they would support him, though reluctantly.

Millard, who quit the vice-presidency over last year's internal battle, seeks to return to that job this year. Probably accompanying him in the other three vice-president posts and up for re-election are: George Burt of Windsor, Ont., chief of the United Automobile Workers of America; Sol Spivak of Toronto, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America; and Silby Barrett of Toronto, Canadian director of the United Mine Workers.

The link that had to come

The two main roads to the solution of life's problems, divergent though they may have seemed to be, are the way of Science and the way of Religion.

These two paths converge in Christian Science. Today the rational thinker finds logic, supported by proof, in the religious thinker's deep conviction of a primal cause, or intelligence, called God.

Science and religion can now agree, for through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the actual Science of Christianity has been revealed.

This great book shows, through reason and revelation, the solution to problems of health, supply, or of any other kind. It may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

45 WITNESSES

Suchan and Jackson went on trial before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. Some 45 witnesses have been subpoenaed, more than for any other murder trial in Toronto's history.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lesso, father and mother of Steve Suchan, who have been charged with harboring, were among the four to make their plea. Both pleaded innocent.

Edwin Boyd's counsel, Fred McMahon, said he estimated the trial of Boyd, his brother, Joseph Jackson, and Gibson will take about two weeks.

Edwin Boyd changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on four of the charges for which he appeared, namely armed robbery of the Bank of Montreal at College and Manning streets, breaking jail, escaping custody and automobile theft.

Fire Guts House Occupants Away Only Shell Stands

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the unoccupied home of Maurice Palmer in Campbellford about 10:30 Saturday night. Palmer works at Picton and was absent from the house at the time. His wife is staying with relatives, and apparently was not in the house when fire broke out.

The fire was first noticed by Clayton Akey, who lives next door. He notified George Parcells and Mr. Parcells ran to the home of another neighbor, John Hicks, who phoned in the alarm.

Mr. Palmer has not returned to view the damage, estimated at about $2,000, and no one knows if any insurance was carried on the building.

Firemen succeeded in saving the house from total destruction, but the interior was gutted. The entire home was ablaze when firemen arrived and neighbors praised their efforts highly.

Produce Fumeless Beer

LONDON (AP)—A firm of British chemists announced yesterday it has produced beer with a breathless quality—the kind you can drink without storing up any telltale fumes.

The Bradford, Yorkshire, firm said it could treat any bottled beer with a chlorophyll process which wouldn't change the taste or quality but would take away that after-drinking breath.

A London newspaper, the Sunday Dispatch, tested the beer on a panel of experts and ordinary drinkers and said the reception was enthusiastic. Only objection came from a woman. She complained the fumeless beer just made it easier for errant husbands.

The chemists said one bottle of their breathless beer is all that is needed. After that, a man can sip anything for several hours.

First New Map Of Canada Made In 22 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—A new map of Canada will soon be rolling off the presses giving an up-to-date topographical picture of the country from the 49th parallel to the Pole.

The 100-miles-to-inch map is the first new one in 22 years and will give an accurate picture of Canada's northland right up to and including the polar ice cap.

In addition Newfoundland, which joined Confederation in 1949, gets on the map as part of Canada for the first time.

Col. E. D. Baldock, Canada's chief cartographer, said it will be "the finest map Canada has ever produced."

SUARE MAP

The new map, square instead of oblong, will include all the latest information about the northland. Islands, lakes, rivers and towns previously not shown or unknown, will be put on the map.

Because of its projection and shape the new map includes part of Russia, colored white, at the left edge. On the extreme right Iceland appears.

Canadian geographers have found that Borden Island, located close to the polar ice cap and named for the former Conservative prime minister, Sir Robert Borden, is really two islands. As a result the southern island has been named for Mackenzie King, late liberal prime minister.

DISCOVERED BY R.C.A.F

Also mapped for the first time are two islands discovered by the R.C.A.F. in Foxe Basin, south of Baffin Island. One is named after the heir to the throne, Prince Charles, and the other is simply called Air Force Island.

The 36-inch-square map will have some 7,000 place names. The only roads shown will be those in the north and the Alaska Highway and the Mackenzie Highway. No attempt will be made to show roads in the more southerly areas but all railways will be shown

Compilation of the map has taken two years.

Convertability Hottest Issue For Commonwealth Parley

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Convertibility, with its shades of meaning and ambiguities, likely will be the hottest issue before the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London in November.

Many a Canadian financial official in Ottawa has his own opinion of what the meaning of the word should be, but some are not too sure that the same view is held by those on the other side of the fence—the sterling world.

Convertibility, in essence, is the ability to exchange freely one currency for another. Anything that hinders that free exchange is said to hinder convertibility.

At the conference, Canada likely will suggest that Britain ought to adopt complete convertibility as an economic tool to help prevent economic collapse in Britain.

MANY RESTRICTIONS

By that, Canadian officials do not mean merely that Britain should declare that any pound notes circulating in the world may be freely exchanged with dollars in Britain.

They actually mean that Britain should remove all import restrictions against goods from the dollar-area countries, including Canada; cut all exchange restrictions in and impose such restrictions on domestic demand for goods that convertibility actually will be made to work.

They say it would be meaningless for Britain to declare her currency freely exchangeable with dollars, and then not take steps to build up her supply of dollars by:

1. Cutting down the domestic demand for goods and services and thereby reducing the need for spending for foreign goods.

2. Building up her export drive to the point where she earns sufficient dollars to pay for her imports.

3. Removing exchange restrictions to attract foreign investments particularly dollars from Canada and the United States, to help build up the economy of under-developed areas in the sterling segment of the Commonwealth.

WOULD AID BRITAIN

Canadian officials say all these moves will help put Britain and her Commonwealth sterling-area partners in a stronger economic position. But, of course, they will help Canada and other dollar countries, too.

These actions would open the British market wide to Canadian exporters and perhaps give them a chance to compete with other countries for a share of the United Kingdom manufacturing and agricultural markets.

And Canadian officials add, they would help the British buyer, too.

With a truly free and convertible currency, he will be able to buy in the world's lowest market and thus cut costs and prices at home.

New Operation For Ulcers Very Successful

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—A new operation for ulcers doesn't touch the ulcer. It's left alone, to cure itself.

The operation removes 75 per cent of the stomach.

It takes away most of the upper part of the stomach, the part that produces the acid that causes ulcers. With the cause gone, the ulcer gets well by itself, and new ulcers apparently will not get started.

The operation saves the bottom part of the stomach, with its valve that keeps food from being emptied out of the stomach too soon. The nerve regulating this valve also is saved.

PREVENTS DISTRESS

Quick emptying of the stomach can cause weakness, loss of weight, heart palpitation and other troubles. This kind of distress often follows ulcer surgery that removes all of the stomach, or the bottom part with its valve.

The new technique was described today to the opening of the American College of Surgeons' clinical congress by Drs. William D. Kelley, Snorri Hallgrimsson, Richard Egdahl and Owen H. Wangensteen of the University of Minnesota medical school.

It works well in animals, so well that they don't get new ulcers even when given daily injections of histamine which ordinarily cause ulcers in dogs and cats.

PATIENTS DOING WELL

Forty-five humans have had the new ulcer operation and seem to be doing well, but it is still too early to tell how good the operation is, the doctors said.

The new operation is done only for ulcers of the duodenum, the first part of the intestine leading from the stomach. About eight of nine peptic ulcers occur in the duodenum.

The patient is left with a small stomach, but half of them soon became able to eat nearly normal-sized meals, the surgeons said.

Something else that "makes the man" (and does even more for him!)

"Clothes make the man", says the old adage. And certainly a trim appearance can do much to help a man make a good impression on others.

But today more and more men are learning about another way to enhance their standing with certain people. That is, to own life insurance.

Take employers, for instance. To them, a man's ownership of life insurance suggests that he is foresighted, thrifty, realistic. Above all, it reflects willingness to accept responsibility — an attitude that impresses every employer.

In fact, anyone who learns that a man owns life insurance regards him with added respect. It represents one of the most important assets any man can have — an asset held by nearly all successful men in every walk of life.

Yet perhaps the most important effect of owning life insurance is on the policyholder himself. It gives him a sense of achievement. For in no other way can he create such a valuable estate for so little in so short a time. And this, in turn, adds to his own self-confidence.

So life insurance can do more than provide financial security for your family and yourself in later years. It also influences people in ways that help win success!

AT YOUR SERVICE!

A trained life underwriter, representing one of the more than 50 Canadian, British and United States life insurance companies in Canada, will gladly help you plan for your family's security and your own needs in later years. Rely on him!

Are Government Employees Underpaid?

The recent jail-break has focussed attention on the conditions of appointment of prison officials, and we suggested that the question of their salaries be looked into. This drew a letter from a correspondent, who pointed out that their salaries are not adjusted to the cost of living and urged strongly that higher wages were needed, Leaving aside the well-known fact that few people will admit that their salaries are commensurate with the services that they perform, there are doubtless many instances of government employees receiving insufficient emoluments, and insofar as they are servants of the public and paid out of public funds it is the responsibility of the public to see to it through their elected representatives that their servants are adequately paid. At the same time we need watch-dogs to ensure that public funds are not being squandered.

* * *

Glancing through the pages of the latest issue of the Canada Gazette we are struck by the generally low level of salaries offered in many branches of government service. On the face of it one would not expect a rush of applicants, yet the jobs are filled, and in many instances prominent men are urgently solicited to use their influence in obtaining comparatively minor posts.

* * *

The reasons for this are not far to seek. Admittedly salaries of government employees are at a somewhat lower level than for corresponding jobs in commerce or industry (though not invariably so), and opportunities for advance are strictly limited: yet the government employee as a whole enjoys a far greater measure of security of tenure than the business or factory employee can ever hope to attain. Once installed in his post it is difficult for him to be dismissed except for the gravest reasons, and in many departments a man of mediocre ability can climb steadily up the ladder of seniority. There is a fairly numerous class of individuals that consciously prefers the certainties of a fixed routine and a stable job to the uncertainties and hazards of other types of employment. The generous sick leaves and holidays, the pension schemes, the free meals when on duty in certain government occupations, and certain other perquisites are additional inducements. The bare statement of salaries does not fill the whole picture. We therefore view with scepticism any suggestion of an all-round increase. Certain classes of employment may indeed require an upward revision of salaries, but all factors must be taken into consideration. If civil servants were hired and fired with the same facility as exists in other walks of life they would have a stronger case; as it is they must pay for their security in lower salaries.

Loud Speakers For Our Soft Speakers

The House of Commons is being outfitted with an amplifying system, and when next Parliament meets, everything that is said in the Green Chamber will be clearly audible. Knowing a little about the habits of such systems, we predict that as well as the eloquence of whatever Honourable Member happens to be on his feet the House will also hear the rattles, squeals, quonks and mutterings which appear to be inseparable from amplification systems. But the M.P.s will be happy; they will have microphones in front of them, and thereby they will have achieved the dream of the really popular speakers of today.

Amplification systems are needed only in the very largest halls. The House of Commons is not really very big, when compared with a really large theatre, in which actors who have trained their voices for the purpose make themselves heard with the greatest ease. We would judge that the Royal Alexander Theatre, in Toronto, is about twice the size of the Commons, and we have never seen an actor dragging a microphone about the stage with him there. The M.P.s do not really need microphones; they want them, which is rather a different thing.

They want them because it is now the fashion for politicians to speak through microphones; they are standard equipment for a statesman, like a pair of spectacles, which may be taken off or put on at effective moments. The great, rolling voice which a politician developed in an earlier day has given place to the whispered intimacy of the radio announcer. A politician without a microphone feels naked.

But radio is already bowing before the greater attractions of television, and in the U.S.A. national leaders are already old hands at television technique. Is a day coming when dressing rooms and makeup experts will be needed in the Commons, so that the noble tribunes of the people will be able to prepare themselves for addresses aimed, not at Mr. Speaker, but at the screens of a nation?

Funny Money

Somebody has discovered that the market value of an old $4 bill is a good deal higher than its face value; now they are popping up all over the place. We were unaware previously that obsolete bills were sought after by collectors in the same way as stamps and coins, though we note that current specimens continue in great demand. There must be a great amount of "shin-plasters," silver 5 cent pieces and large cents stuffed away in money-boxes and piggy-banks, though they seldom come to light in day-to-day transactions. Perhaps their owners hope that if they keep them long enough they might become scarce. That might be so, unless everybody thought alike.

Since the days when these curios were issued our currency has been assiduously aping the shapes and sizes of American coins. This was all very well when the American dollar was pretty consistently higher than our own; there was also the practical advantage in being able to use American-made slot machines without having to carry out modifications to fit Canadian coins. Now, however, the American dollar has sunk to less than parity, and American dimes and quarters are being palmed off surreptitiously onto the next fellow. It seems a pity that we did not cling to our distinctive shapes and sizes, with all their alleged inconvenience. At any rate it would not be necessary to scrutinize all our small change for fear of being unable to give it to someone else, for the American money would stick out like the proverbial sore thumb.

If it is decided to change the sizes of the issues of the new reign we would not advocate a return to the original sizes. The silver five cent piece was far too small, and was always getting lost. As for the large cent, there is reason in the objection that it would take far too much copper. It might be possible to overcome this defect by making it with a hole in the middle like the Chinese cash; tourists would flock to see us with our small change threaded on strings and wires making the rounds of the stores and markets. The hole would also symbolize the hole that the government makes in our income.

Can Polio Be Conquered?

Ontario has been lucky this year in the low incidence of poliomyelitis, though the prairie provinces have suffered badly and in many places schools remained closed because of the danger of infection. Polio is a serious and crippling disease, but medical science is making continual advances in methods of treatment, and the sufferer stands a far better chance of recovery nowadays than he did years ago. The work of such organizations as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been instrumental in shedding light on this disease, though much remains to be discovered and no absolute preventative or cure has yet been found. Even the manner in which the polio virus is transmitted is still largely a matter of conjecture. During the last few weeks a new treatment consisting of the injection of an extract of blood is reported to have been made, but it is at present far too expensive to produce in the quantity required, and in any case time is needed to establish whether it is really satisfactory. If it is proved to be efficacious with no bad after-effects it may be possible to manufacture a synthetic substitute from cheaper and more plentiful substances. There is one drawback about this new treatment; it must be given at the first possible opportunity after the disease has been contracted. It does not act as a preventative.

Serious as polio is, we must not be led into overestimating its relative importance. Here are a few figures taken from statistics published by the American Public Health Service for 1949 which should help us put it into its right perspective. The rates given are for an estimated 100,000 population, excluding armed forces overseas:

DEATH RATES

Heart disease	349.1
Cancer	138.9
Motor accidents	21.3
Poliomyelitis	1.8

Even a disease such as diabetes, which if treated reasonably promptly can be kept in check easily with insulin so that the patient can live a fairly normal life still accounted for a rate of 16.9, while influenza and pneumonia were responsible for a rate of 30. If the public were more aware of the relatively low incidence of poliomyelitis and of the greatly increased chances of complete recovery they would be less subject to the irrational panic that sometimes seizes whole communities if a single case is reported. In the meanwhile research continues, and it is possible that a means of conquering polio will be discovered in the not too distant future.

Modern young men are taller than their fathers, we read. Probably because they kept their fathers short for so many years.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE musical world has sustained a loss by the death, during the summer, of Herbert Murrill at the early age of 43. He showed early promise as a composer and as an organist, though the latter became crowded out of his life shortly after he joined the B.B.C. in 1936, and it is probably as a composer that he will be best remembered. His works have been performed in various parts of the world, including the U.S.A. He was most at home in the smaller forms, though he wrote an interesting violoncello concerto (dedicated to his wife, who is a cellist). After he joined the B.B.C. he was unfortunately unable to give as much time as he would doubtless have liked to composition, though a recent work by him "Carillon" for organ, has been taken up enthusiastically on both sides of the Atlantic.

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING the war he enlisted in the Intelligence Corps, and shortly before it ended he was picked as an Instructor in Music for the British equivalent of the American G.I. University which was situated at Luton. It was there that the writer of these notes met him, a slim short-sighted man, youthful looking, with a heavy moustache and keen and almost aquiline but not unhandsome features. He was a warm and friendly personality and totally exempt from the pettiness and jealousy that exist in the characters of so many musicians. I was very shocked to hear of his death after a long illness, as I did not even know that he had been ill. He had reached the highest rung in the Chinese hierarchy of the B.B.C. that it is possible for a musician when he was appointed Director of Music in the place of Sir Steuart Wilson. As the B.B.C. has an absolute monopoly of all broadcasts in Britain (including television) the responsibilities of the position of Director of Music are tremendous, and his death may very well have been hastened by overwork. It is noteworthy that one of his predecesors, Hely Hutchinson (who wrote that amusing little squib of Mother Hubbard in the style of Handel) died in harness also.

✧ ✧ ✧

WRITING to me in 1950 Murrill says in regard to his appointment: "The hardest part of a musician's career, I'm sure, is the everlasting compromise that has to be made between art and expediency—finance—red tape—personalities, etc. If compromise is not made, music stops! But it is hard, and our twofold duty is to fight for the art and to see that the fight does not kill, in the fighter, his love of the art, his belief in the art (and in himself as its humble servant) and his sense of honour! Nothing matters quite as much as we think it does, but we must go on thinking so or—again—nothing gets done."

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WAS something of a shock to hear of the invention by David Shuman, a member of the faculty at the Juillard School of Music in New York City, of a new type of trombone, for of all the instruments of the orchestra the trombone has remained substantially unaltered for the longest time. Other instruments have undergone many modifications, but the trombone is much the same as it was at the beginning of the sixteenth century. This is longer even than the violin, which reached its final and perfect shape with Antonio Stradivari (1644-1737). Since that time modifications have been made in the shape of the bridge, metal strings have replaced catgut and the bow has been perfected, but the body of the violin itself has not been improved upon. Returning to the trombone the new instrument is designed to slide sideways to the right instead of straight ahead. The object is to enable young players to reach the full extension required by the "low positions" without undue strain to the arm. The angular design naturally shortens the length of arm required for any given position. I am afraid that if the new design finds general acceptance trombonists will become very unpopular members of the orchestra. As it is they take up more space than most other instruments: if their slides come out at an angle they will demand still more room and become the butt of many a sarcastic remark from the clarinets and violas!

✧ ✧ ✧

YESTERDAY I heard talk to a gathering of music teachers on the subject of some temptations to be met with in that ill-rewarded profession. The speaker mentioned such things as cliquishness, impermeability to new ideas, and so on. There was one temptation which he omitted to mention, that of setting too great store by examinations to the exclusion of other things. There is of course no irreconcilable conflict between musical examinations and a good musicianship. The curricula of recognized musical schools and conservatories are designed to bring out latent musical talent and discipline it by means of a well-rounded course of study. There is, however, a temptation for teacher and pupil alike to think too much in terms of marks and to skip anything that does not happen to have a place in the syllabus. The teacher, too, is tempted to concentrate on one or two "star" pupils for the sake of prestige and to devote less to the average or backward pupils. Examinations have done much to raise the level of musical performance, but they are a means towards an end, not an end in themselves.

Unconsidered Trifles

He was about to propose, but before doing so he wished to be sure that she would make a good housewife. So he asked her: "Can you wash dishes?"

"Yes," she said. "Can you dry them?"

He didn't propose.

A young married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Barr, were devoted to their respective hobbies. He was an enthusiastic cyclist, while she played the piano. They had a son, and both desired to christen the youngster with a name that would embrace their favourite pursuit. After much thought the husband exclaimed: "I've got it! We'll call him Handel Barr!"

✧ ✧ ✧

"Now, sir," defending counsel said to the witness, "you have known the accused a long time."

"Twenty-odd years," was the reply.

"And you think him perfectly honest?"

"Perfectly!"

"Would you trust him with your own money?"

"I certainly would."

"Then, tell me, sir—do you consider it likely he would have stolen this sum of money, as the prosecution alleges?"

"I consider it most unlikely—impossible—that is—er—well, how much was it."

WATER BOY

Tired At Ten

(THE LONDON TIMES)

A NEW TWIST has been given to the old puzzle of the infant prodigy by the school-girl who is reported to have "tired of the classics of literature" at the age of ten. Progress in precocity had seemed to be out of step nowadays with the march of youth. Children are taller and more healthy than their little ancestors and lessons are made so tempting for them that they should, surely, be able to give two points and a beating in wisdom and knowledge to the orphans of the storm of harsh punishment that was accepted as education in the past.

They ought to be, and yet there rises up against their claim that disapproving figure of the vintage infant prodigy. The further the journey back into the past and the thicker the hail of blows and impositions on the young, the more cases are come across of infant prodigiality. Toddlers wrote English verse and graduated to Latin and Greek verses at a stage at which their descendants of today are stringing colored beads and modelling islands in plasticine.

John Stuart Mill, when three years old, learnt "vocables" or lists of Greek words with English meanings. He had read, by his eighth year and in the original tongue, Aesop's Fables, Xenophon's Anabasis, some Herodotus, parts of Lucian, Diogenes Laertius, and six Dialogues of Plato.

He was the intellectual heir of Lady Jane Grey, that luckless girl, who was found by an approving pedagogue reading Greek indoors on a fine day while the rest of the young people of the household were out hunting. She explained that she did so because she had been taught by the tactful kindness of her schoolmaster to appreciate that the classics were an unfailing delight and field sports mere transitory stuff.

✧ ✧ ✧

A SCEPTIC who is mean enough to wonder how far the fair student was making the most of a situation, is abashed when he comes on to the first Queen Elizabeth. There was a girl who, in the intervals of holding her end up on an excessively sticky political wicket, made herself mistress of all manner of learning. She was able, when she became Queen, to send a Polish Ambassador off with his tail between his legs by rounding on him with a viciously well-turned and extempore Latin speech.

Why has the bloom of such prodigies been lost? It faded, except in rare instances, long ago, for even the paladins of classical accomplishment who bandied Latin tags across the floor of the House of Common, largely confined themselves to the more familiar bits of the Horace and Virgil they had learnt by heart at school. Is it that application waned in the pupils or that teachers lost the knack? Even the encouraging example of the new prodigy fails quite satisfactorily to answer these questions.

She, now 16, and, so, with the classics of literature put behind her for the last six years, can speak six languages and has steered a triumphant course through French, physics and applied mathematics. The shadow of premature boredom, unknown to her forerunners in the prodigal line, robs her record of some of its bright light. May she not, as a veteran on the threshold of leaving her teens behind her, perhaps, turn again with weary sophistication to the abandoned classics of literature? It is nice to think that she will, rather than that, adapting from the young poet, she may live to make the entry in her diary, "Seventeen today, and nothing left to do."

Fifty-Five Years Ago

Nobody swatted the fly.
Nobody had seen a silo.
Butter was 15c a pound.
Milk was five cents a quart.
Cream was five cents a pint.
Eggs were 8c to 10c a dozen.
Operations were very rare.
Nobody had seen an airplane.
Skirts reached to the feet.
Ladies wore hoop skirts and bustles.
The hired girl drew $1.25 a week.
All ladies' dresses were lined, even for hot weather.
Nobody cared for the price of gasoline.
Nobody "listened in" on the telephone.
Top buggies were just coming in style.
Farmers went to town for their mail.
A labouring man got 75c to $1.00 a day.
A good sheep could be bought for $15 to $20.
Potato bugs were knocked off with a stick into a pan or old pail and were burned.
Pneumonia was not known, but many people died of either "congestion" or "inflammation of the lungs".
Whole families went to church every Sunday, sometimes walking two or three miles or else all piled into a democrat or sleigh and went.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I will extol thee, my God, O king; and I will bless thy name for ever and ever. . . Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable . . .

I will speak of the glorious honour of the majesty, and of thy wondrous works. . . . All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power; to make known to the sons of men his mighty acts, and the glorious majesty of his kingdom.

Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations. (Ps. 145: 1, 3, 5, 10-13.)

The kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

✧ ✧ ✧

Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls: who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it. (Matt. 13: 44-46.)

Letters To The Editor

WANTS LOCAL TALENT

Sir: In answer to your article of Tuesday, Sept. 16, regarding Trotting Race, I would like to suggest:

First: We have one of the few race tracks with lights. So why not have at least 5 or 6 races a season for the horse-loving people in the district?

Second: This would leave The Exhibition free for good local talent.

Hoping that the Exhibition Board can come down with a satisfactory solution so I can boast of a good Exhibition like Lindsay does.

Yours truly,
JIM FOSKETT.

FAVOURS MANUFACTURERS' EXHIBITION

Sir: In regard to your Editorial on the Exhibition, I wish to express my opinion and criticism.

No, I do not like horse racing of any kind.

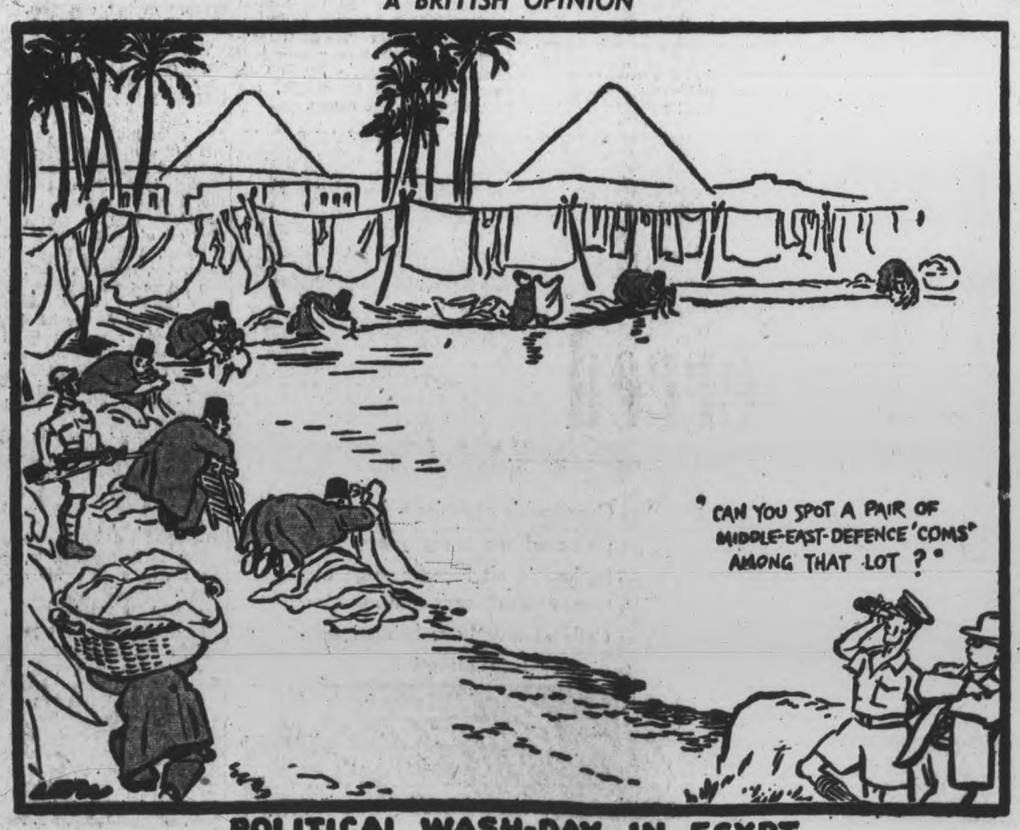
Nor am I interested in cattle exhibitions.

Two main reasons why it is very poor is: 1. Bernard and Barry Midway; they can give the people nothing for their money. 2. I stand for correction, but I heard that one of the Board of Directors is a cattle man; whereas Peterborough is an industrial city.

In the Manufacturers' Building there were exhibitors from out of town. What business did they have there? Some Peterborough merchant could have had that space.

In the Grandstand performance, there was some good performers. But who wants to see all out of town performers. Surely there must be some talent of some kind in our own district.

I do believe that people enjoyed the 50th H.A.A. band. And I hear P.C.V.S. has a good band. Why couldn't they be used?



Getting away from that. What was all that farm equipment doing there? Any time I looked down there, there wasn't any more than 15 people. Why couldn't some manufacturers have that space?

Well, if Bernard & Barry and some others were put out of there they would get somewhere.

Here's for a better exhibition next year.

Yours truly,
DISAPPOINTED

POLITICAL WASH-DAY IN EGYPT

Police Block Entrances To Church

ROME (AP)—Police yesterday blocked all entrances to the American Church of Christ building for the second straight Sunday and prevented the holding of religious services.

In defiance, Cline R. Paden of Brownfield, Tex., rounded up four taxis and two private automobiles and took about 30 members of the church to San Cesareo, a small village about 20 miles southeast of Rome. There services were held in a small Church of Christ without interference.

Police closed Paden's Protestant churches at Alessandria and Petilia two weeks ago. His Rome church was shut last Sunday and he said he had been told that the closure order would be extended to his 19 other churches in Roman Catholic Italy.

The churches are required to obtain government recognition under laws passed during Mussolini's Fascist regime.

Police also have stopped services held by two other Protestant groups, the Assembly of God and Pentecostal Church.

BEGINS EASTERN CAMPAIGN SWING — Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, is driven through Bridgeport, Conn., in an open car as crowds jam the streets to greet him on the first stop of his Eastern campaign swing. New Contract Covers More Than 800

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A new contract covering more than 800 employees at the Welland works of North American Cyanamid Limited has been signed, the company and union concerned announced Saturday. It is effective until April 19, 1954.

The contract, with the International Chemical Workers' Union, local 165 (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), settled collective bargaining negotiations under way for some months.

The agreement provides for a seven-cent-an-hour general increase for all hourly-rated employees, a reclassification of certain jobs and revision of clauses dealing with hours of work.

Three In Family Killed By Train

QUEBEC (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Remi Guerin of La Malbai, Que., and their one-year-old child were killed last night when their automobile was rammed by a train at a crossing in Ste. Anne de Beaupre, a Roman Catholic shrine town 25 miles east of here.

Guerin's 25-year-old brother, Jean-Paul, was severely injured.

Increase In Juvenile Crime Alarming To UK Authorities

By E.S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—An alarming increase in crime particularly among juveniles and a mounting toll of traffic accidents are described as "a challenge to authority and reproach to the community" by Sir Harold Scott, Metropolitan London Police Commissioner, in his report for 1951.

During the period indictable criminal offences increased from 10,787 to 111,091, while 660 persons were killed and 40,325 were injured on London's streets—figures the Commissioner said are "profoundly disturbing."

To stem the rising tide, Sir Harold warns that steps must be taken to strengthen an undermanned police force, consideration by the authorities of a bold program of road construction and introduction of new plans for improved traffic controls.

"What constantly surprises those dealing with the problem from the police angle is the apparent ready acceptance by so many people of the view that road accidents on their present scale are inevitable," Sir Harold says.

"I do not subscribe to this view. Road safety can be bought and if the necessary money and works priorities are forthcoming and sufficient drive and energy are applied to the problem, I see no reason why a much greater degree of safety should not come about within measurable time."

MORE CHILD ARRESTS

In its analysis of the crime, the report discloses that nearly 4,500 children between the ages of 8 and 13 were arrested in London last year for offences ranging from burglary and house-breaking to vandalism and shoplifting.

While offences against the person increased by 226, or nearly nine per cent, robberies and assault with intent to rob, declined by 16 per cent to the lowest figure in 10 years. The chief increases were in wounding and petty larceny.

In the category of violent crimes there were 22 murders and 16 cases of attempted murder, well below normal figures for any previous 12-month period.

The total value of property stolen during the year is estimated at £3,763,500, of which not more than £500,000 was recovered.

Only three in every 10 indictable offences were cleared up by arrests, the report shows.

The increased crime trend is attributed to a shortage of policemen. During the year there was a drop of nearly 300 in the strength of London's police force, leaving it with a personnel of 17,575.

Ex-Governor Hartley Dies

SEATTLE (CP)—Roland H. Hartley, a native of New Brunswick who served two terms as Republican governor of the state of Washington, died [illegible] and had been in failing health for some time.

Born in Skogomoc, York County, N.B., June 26, 1864, Hartley went to Minnesota in 1902 and later moved to Everett, Wash.

His consecutive four-year administrations from 1925 to 1933 were marked by almost continuous controversy and bitterness, unparalleled in the state's history. He remained at loggerheads throughout his regime with nearly every other state official.

STOPS NEURITIC-NEURALGIC PAIN! ASPIRIN

Communism Loses Glitter For Burma

By ROBERT HEWETT

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—The left-wing leaders of Burma's government are getting fed up with Russian Communism. There is a swing toward political and economic moderation in this young state.

U.S. diplomats here say Burma, slowly recovering from the devastation of the Second World War and chaos of civil strife, is becoming one of the bright spots of Communist-harassed southeast Asia.

Disillusioned by Red tactics, Burma's former revolutionary leaders are friendlier with the United States and, to a lesser degree, with their former British rulers.

When Britain gave Burma independence in 1948 there was at least a 50-50 chance the Burmese would follow neighboring China into the Soviet orbit. Practically all the young independence leaders grew up with the fixed idea that the Moscow doctrine was the only answer to British colonialism.

Today Burma will go behind the Iron Curtain only if she is dragged there by invading Red Chinese.

Four years of civil war against Communists and Karen Nationalists have taught a bitter lesson, says U Nu, 45-year-old prime minister who once was an admirer of Lenin and Stalin:

"The people have seen quite clearly that Communism means only destruction."

Communism is a confusing word in Burma. One of the main rebel forces is the Moscow-inspired "White Flag" Communist Party which wants Burma to join the Soviet bloc. "Red Flag" Communist rebels profess to follow precepts of Leon Trotzky. And then in the government itself there are many calling themselves "National Communists" who apparently desire an independent red state like Yugoslavia.

In fact, Prime Minister Nu and his government are aiming at establishing Burma as some sort of socialist state—it's doubtful if even they know the exact pattern. The newest official slogan is "from stability to a welfare state." However, the government is in no rush to nationalize enterprises which untrained Burmese can't operate. Reconstruction of the country on a realistic basis—even to the point of welcoming foreign investment—comes ahead of socialist dreaming.

In maintaining her neutral policy in the Cold War, Burma has refused U.S. military aid, but—as long as no strings are attached—she has welcomed economic aid and advice from the Technical Cooperation Administration. Prime Minister Nu says: "We realize that unless we get technical assistance from the United States and Britain we would not be able to implement many of our plans."

Think There May Be Anti-Cancer Horome

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — There may be an anti-cancer hormone.

It could explain why one particular human organ almost never develops cancer, suggests Dr. Andre B. Carney, Tulsa, Okla.

This organ is the duodenum (dew-o-dee-num), the first part of the small intestine, leading from the stomach.

Why it is so highly immune to cancer is a mystery and challenge. Does it secrete an anti-cancer hormone? The answer could provide clues to prevention of cancer generally, Dr. Carney told the International College of Surgeons.

Offhand, there are lots of reasons for expecting that the duodenum would be a frequent site for cancer.

Ulcers often develop in the duodenum, but don't carry a cancer risk like ulcers elsewhere in the body.

Ulcers of the lower end of the stomach may often turn into cancer, but the same kind of ulcer half an inch away in the duodenum "is spared the tendency or even the inclination toward malignant development."

Cancer is fairly common in nearby organs. Primary cancer of the stomach accounts for more than 25 per cent of all cases of cancer. The liver accounts for 5.1 per cent, the bile ducts for 3.5 per cent, the pancreas and pancreatic ducts for about 3 per cent.

All these organs empty into the duodenum.

A hormone called secretin is produced in the duodenum. Little is known about what secretin does, except that it goes into the bloodstream and starts the flow of bile and pancreatic juices into the duodenum.

Secretin may possibly be the anti-cancer hormone, says Dr. Carney. The rewards for solving the secret of the duodenum could be great.

Juvenile Petes Capture O.L.A. Championship; But Local Bantams Lose

Another provincial championship came to Peterborough on Saturday night when the local juvenile lacrossers, coached by Doug Miller Jr., and managed by Bert Chapman, captured the O.L.A. juvenile "B" crown here. They defeated St. Catharines 17-5 at Miller Bowl to take the final series by a score of 32 to 9, having won 15-4 in St. Catharines the previous week. The champs celebrated later at a chicken dinner given by Ald. Doug Miller. The same night saw the local bantams win 15-6 over St. Kitts here but lose the "A" semi-final round by four goals. The juvenile Petes again flashed fine form in the return game on home terrain to rack up a 6-1 lead in the first quarter, and they were in front 11-2 at the half. Easing off then, they held their own in a 2-2 third quarter but came back to outscore St. Catharines 4-1 in the fourth before a hundred fans.

Some good lacrosse was served up with the Peterborough pack much superior on the night's play. They drew eight of the 15 minor penalties handed out in a fairly clean playoff tilt. All the winners clicked well from goalie Carl Simmons—who tends the nets in one-handed fashion—through defence and including the speedy young forwards, who have come up from bantam in the P.M.L.A. run by Ken Kingston, Walt Murphy and a capable executive.

LED THE WAY

Bob Allen and Lionel Bloom were the individual scoring stars for the champions. The latter scored two and aided on four more, while Bob banged in four and helped on a pair. Bob Hobart notched three and assisted on another, as Bob Delahaye slapped one in and aided on three more. Tiny Hunt was another prominent home marksman with three tallies, and Bob Curtis got one and two assists. A goal each went to Jack Chapman, Jim Sutherland and Art Batley, while Jack Hobart and Jack Foote gained an assist apiece.

For the losers, who fought gamely in a losing cause, Dick Hill, Mike D'Amico, Maxwell, Brady and Meighan were the snipers, the latter and Page each having an assist. The game was capably handled by referees Harry Wipper and Rock Batley. Teams:

St. Catharines — Starr, Hill, D'Amico, McCallum, Edwards, Maxwell, Brady, Meighan, Redman, Joy, Page, Bradley, Irwin.

Petes Juveniles — Simmons, Scriver, Chapman, Delahaye, J. Hobart, Sutherland, Foote, Allen, Curtis, Batley, Hunt, R. Hobart, Holbrook, Bloom.

MADE REAL TRY

The local bantams, under Coach Gary Robinson and Manager Ed Woodcock, made a real fighting try of it before bowing out of further competition. They took the return game here 15-6 but couldn't quite make up that 13-goal deficit from the first fray in St. Kitts, when they were frightened by the big opponents and played below form. It ended 19-6. They dropped the "A" series by four goals but were not disgraced by any means. The classy St. Kitt's crew meet Sarnia now for the O.L.A. title.

Peterborough boys snatched a 2-1 lead in the first quarter and threw seven in without a return in a great effort in the second to whittle down the round score. However, they were held 2-2 in the third and only edged the Saints 4-3 in the fourth, as the scrappy and husky visitors fought bitterly to protect their lead. The round winners drew 13 penalties to seven for the Young Petes, with seven of their sentences coming in the fourth frame as the homesters drew but one term in this period.

Lorne Ferguson came up with a swell seven-goal display for Gary's gang, while Gord Perry and Ron Jay counted three each, and Les Scharfe and Bill Lawrence got one apiece. In the assist department, Ev English shone with five, as Perry and Jay each helped twice, and Lawrence, Ricky Pace and Bill Mahoney once each. Hill stood out for the Saints with three goals and two assists, Kretz, Carr and Copeland getting the others. Teams:

St. Catharines — Hutchinson, Uhrynnuk, Hill, Kretz, Carr, Copeland, Troyan, Neuman, Kerr, Handson, Asadorian, Benner, Ewer, Paulmarche.

Bantam Petes — Baker, Perry, English, Atkinson, Lawrence, Jay, Ferguson, Pace, Parnell, Mahoney, Hawthorne, Coombes, Scharfe, Davis, Strano.

Referees, Wipper and Batley.

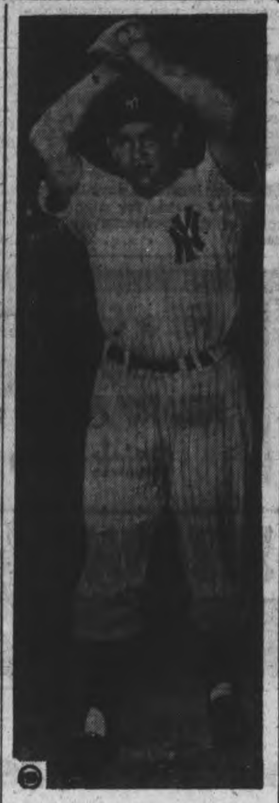
P.C.V.S. Takes Close One Over St. Peter's

A fourth quarter pass by Bob Craw which set Geale up for a touchdown saved Bev Goulding's P.C.V.S. Garnet and Greys Saturday night as they edged Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's High School Saints 6-5 at Riverside park. This was an exhibition game to open the season for both teams.

Working with a double wing back formation, the Saints indicated that they will be contenders this year in the Ontario Catholic Conference which opens October 4. Compared with other years they are considerably stronger this fall, with a number of star juniors moving into senior ranks.

Veteran Carl Brioux led the Saints ground attack along with former junior Dick Foley. The Saints' passing, usually by Jack Richardson to Frank McGillen and Terry Fitzpatrick, began to click in the second half.

For a while it seemed as though the 1951 champions were going down to defeat. After being held scoreless during the first half, the Garnet and Grey took the lead on a kick to deadline for a point by Dave Langhorne. But not until the six-minute mark of the fourth did they score a major. Then Bob Craw passed from the Saints' 30 for 15-yards to Geale who raced in the clear for the TD.



But in the final minute the Saints came back with the plunging of Carl Brioux who set Jack Richardson up for a quarter sneak to score, making the score 6-5. The convert attempt failed, allowing P.C.V.S. to win by the narrow margin.

Spin Hope and Don Scriver were the major ground gainers as the Garnet and Grey were definitely off the pace which took them to the championship last season. Their passing was only fair as they used five passers, Dave Langhorne, Jack Corbett, Bob Craw, Don Scriver, and Spin Hope. All will be used this season on various plays.

In the kicking department, Frank McGillen for the Saints matched the efforts of Spin Hope and Dave Langhorne. Lineups:

P.C.V.S.—Flying wing, Sanders; halves, Hope Scriver, Hollingsworth; quarter, Langhorne; snap, Forbes; insides, Outram, Walker; middles, Gilders, King; outsides, Griffin, Eastwood; alternates, Geale, Craw, Corbett, Haggart, Ash, Hillis, Lynch, McGrath, Reader, Black, Miller, Stewart.

St. Peter's High—Flying wing, Whatman; halves, M. Byrne, Brioux, Foley; quarter, Richardson; snap, P. Byrne; insides, O'Leary, P. Hickson; middles, Clarke, Sullivan; outsides, McGillen, Fitzpatrick; alternates, Gooley, LeBarr, McCormick, Shaughnessy, Corkery, O'Connell, Snape, Braniff, Leoscher.

IRON MAN—Starting and relieving, Allie Reynolds is perhaps the Yankees' chief asset in run to American League wire and a fourth consecutive world championship. He pitched the Yanks to a 1-0 victory over Philadelphia yesterday for his 19th win of the year.

Charges Umpire Yankee Lover After Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Dykes, fiery manager of Philadelphia Athletics, today accused American League umpire Ed Hurley of "choking up in the clutch" and called him a "Yankee lover."

Dykes, whose Athletics dropped a 1-0 decision to New York Yankees yesterday, charged Hurley's "atrocious" strike call to batter Joe Astroth with the bases loaded and only one out in the ninth inning cost his team the game.

"That was the worst call I have ever seen in my entire baseball career," Dykes said. "Everybody in the park except Hurley saw that the pitch was high and outside. He just choked up in the clutch, that's all. He's a Yankee lover."

The first three pitches to Astroth by Allie Reynolds were balls. One more ball and the score would have been tied 1-1.

RULING DELAYED

Astroth took a called strike. The next pitch appeared high to the crouching batter. Astroth started to trot to first but plate umpire Hurley made a delayed "strike two" call.

The Philadelphia catcher came back to the plate yelling. Coaches Wally Moses at first and Tom Oliver at third charged down the lines to berate the umpire. The entire Athletics bench, with Dykes in the lead, came storming out of the dugout.

Reynolds went on to retire Astroth and the next batter, pinch hitter Allie Clark, on two pitches and preserve the Yankees' 1-0 victory.

The loss cost the Athletics a chance to move closer to third place and shoved them only a game from the second division.

In calling Hurley's decision the worst he ever saw, Dykes said: "He must have known he was wrong. I called that fellow every name in the book but he didn't throw me out."

Excelsiors Take One-Game Lead

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Brampton Excelsiors swung into a one-game lead in the best-of-five Canadian junior lacrosse finals Saturday night by defeating Vancouver Kerries 16-13 on the strength of a five-goal lead in the first period.

Brampton now leads the series two games to one. Fourth game will be played here tonight.

Heavyweight champion Gene Tunney won the decision over Jack Dempsey in the famous "long count" fight at Chicago 25 years ago tonight. Dempsey knocked Tunney to the canvas in the seventh round but referee Dave Barry pushed Dempsey to a neutral corner before starting the count. Tunney, who had won the title from Dempsey in 1926, retired undefeated in 1928.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

After being rained out the biggest part of last week, lown bowlers tonight are going to continue from where they left off last Monday evening. If the weather is favorable, it is more than likely they will be able to gather in all loose ends this coming week.

In the men's section, we have the Review tournament to finish and the final games in both the club's open singles and the novice singles for the Examiner Trophy.

In the ladies' section, they have some schedule games to play and quite a number of games in their club singles.

Tonight the men continue with the Review trebles. Draw is posted on the blackboard.

We have been informed that the annual meeting and banquet has been set for Monday, October 20, at 6:30 p.m., at the Empress Hotel. We'll have more about this important event later.

It is more than likely that the ladies will make a big effort this coming week to play their rained-out games.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Players hoping to make the Petes' senior "B" puck club this coming season will meet Wednesday at eight p.m. at the Peterborough Golf Club. Those needing transportation out should be at Ben Swartz' store at 7:45. It's a player's meeting with executive to discuss policy, prospects and plans for the ice campaign ahead. With the Eagles eased out of the grouping, it looks like just one senior "B" club here this winter, and it should be a strong one. Fellows like Nip O'Hearn, Bob Thorpe and perhaps even Don Ashbee—all with a lot of pro hockey under their belts—are available, as well as the pick of the Eagles and Petes of last year. So it'll be a scramble for berths, we expect.

Local juvenile lacrossers came through to capture the O.L.A. juvenile "B" crown here Saturday night. They won 17-5 to take the round by 32-9 over St. Catharines in a swell showing. Our congrats to Coach Doug Miller Jr., Manager Bert Chapman, the classy players, and the P.M.L.A. executive which provides minor lacrosse here. The win means that Peterborough is keeping up its fine average of three or four provincial championships a year in various sports. The local bantams bowed out to St. Kitts 25-21 in their "A" semi-final round, though they won here Saturday 15-6 with a great display of fighting from behind. Tough luck for Coach Gary Robinson, Manager Ed Woodcock and their young battlers.

Victories Are Costly

Senior Timbermen are still licking their wounds after that savage scrap with Toronto Yorks in Mimico last Friday. But they all expect to be on deck for the big one here tonight, third of the best-of-seven Eastern Canada finals. Petes lead now 2-0, and this could be the last home game of the lacrosse semester. Big Bill Killingbeck is nursing a real sore wrist, Al Garbutt got a badly bruised toe in the deal, Curly Mason doctored Saturday for a groin injury, and Russ Slater had his sore shoulder treated. Cuts on Bob Thorpe and Ross Powless were fixed up, too. Playoff lacrosse strategy in senior ranks is as subtle as a poke on the nose—it's a case of softening up the opposition and then scoring enough goals to win. Both Yorks and Petes have suffered injuries in the process.

* * * * * *

However, honey is a great energy builder, and the Timbermen must be eating lots of it. Anyway, they're winning and pointing toward the Mann Cup series next month in Toronto with the B. C. champs. A great club, they pace themselves—like Ken Kingston does with his voice, which is gone completely as the season ends!—in playoffs. They fight hard but just really turn it on when the chips are down. Just when they need it, they suddenly get rolling. We think they'll take the tilt here tonight and probably the fourth in Mimico on Wednesday. But every game is a sizzler in this series.

Another provincial championship came to Peterborough on Saturday when our U. E. W. soccer club triumphed 6-3 over the Uniteds in Kingston to take the intermediate cup for the second straight year. They won the final round handily by a 10-3 count after rolling to a 7-0 victory here the week before. Andy Smith, Bob Strong and Bill Holroyd each tallied two goals in the Limestone City contest, and the whole crew looked good. Earlier in the season they had won the Eastern Ontario Football League title for the second time, and they once more went through the season without a loss in league or cup play. Congratulations to a strong soccer squad and to the hard-working executive.

U. E. Soccer Champs

Defeat at the hands of the local grid Orfuns here last Friday did not sit well with the cocky Cobourg Galloping Ghosts. They were pretty perturbed about it, figuring their 1952 bolstered band would parade through the Central Ontario intermediate "A" group and go after Hamilton Panthers—last year's Canadian champs—toward the end of autumn. But they've got to show their class yet in this group ere playdowns beckon, and Orfuns expect to dump 'em regularly from now on. Ghosts have put out cash to buy the Oshawa releases of Taylor, Brodie and Armstrong, after first trying vainly to use them without benefit of release. Orfuns go to Kingston next Friday for a four-pointer, and have Oshawa here Oct. 3.

Seixas Upsets Sedgman In Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia upset Australia's Frank Sedgman in an amazing straight-set triumph 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 to win the men's singles title in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships yesterday.

It was the first defeat for Sedgman—world's top amateur—in a major tournament since early last season.

Sedgman appeared somewhat off form after his long summer campaign and his earlier tough matches in the Pacific Southwest tournament.

U.E.W. Soccer Club Takes The Provincial Title Against Kingston Uniteds

Peterborough U.E.W. soccer club defeated Kingston United 6-3 on Saturday afternoon in the Limestone City to capture the Ontario intermediate championship for the second straight year. They had carried a seven-goal lead to Kingston after an easy win here the previous week, and so won the home-and-home final series by 10 goals. The Ontario Cup, along with the trophy for the Eastern Ontario Football League—which they won earlier —were presented to the U.E. club captain, Jimmy Craig, by Mr. J. Arnold, president of the Ontario Football Association. On hand also for the presentations were the O.F.A. secretary and the E.F.O.L. president.

END OF SEASON

Apart from possible friendly games, this marks the end of the soccer season, and again U.E. emerged with flying colors and two trophies. For the second straight season, the team went unbeaten in league or cup games, with only two matches drawn. The squad was a well blended combination of classy players. The big series saw Peterborough really flatten Kingston 13-3 on the round.

In an effort to avenge last Saturday's 7-0 defeat, Kingston tried hard throughout and at one time led by 3-1. However, U.E. rallied to score five goals in the second half and clinch the series.

Andy Smith of U.E.W. opened scoring after 15 minutes of even play with rival forwards active. Gillespie almost evened it a minute later but hit the bar. Strong and Ryan also were unlucky on close thrusts and Holroyd was just wide with the K's goalie beaten. Kingston pressed in and, with Ray Titshall out of the net, banged in the first one. Within two minutes they took the lead with another and shortly before the half, Gillespie made it 3-1 on a swell solo effort.

BACK TO FORM

After the interval, U.E. began to show their form to pick up the goals. Bob Strong tallied the first and Billy Holroyd got the equalizer on nifty plays. Andy Smith regained the U.E. lead with his second goal from a goal-mouth mix-up. Bill Holroyd got his second marker with a well-placed shot from out, catching the goalie by surprise. Two minutes before the close, Bob Strong drove in his second to make it 6-3.

The entire second half was Peterborough's, with the forwards scoring five goals and the defence just blotting out any Kingston attacks. It was a fitting climax to a great season in which the whole team showed grim determination, real conditioning and some copybook soccer to take the league and provincial soccer titles. The U.E. players Saturday were: Jimmy Craig (captain), Ray Titshall, Fred Munday, Bob Croll, George Smith, Billy Cumersky, Andy Smith, Bob Strong, John Ryan, Billy Holroyd, Glen Davies, Bill Allen, John Holt and John Murray.

Plan To Keep Team In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Lou Perini, president of the seventh-place Boston Braves, plans to keep the National League baseball club in Boston but says "I'm not going to be stubborn about it."

"We're going to pick up a cheque representing the greatest financial loss in the history of baseball," the affable Tribal chief said.

"And if it becomes necessary at a future time and the proper opportunity arose we'd be silly if we didn't consider it (transferring the franchise)."

Exactly 8,822 fans paid their way into Braves Field yesterday to see the tribe end its home season against Brooklyn Dodgers That figure ran the season's paid home attendance to 281,278, lowest in the eight years Perini and his associates have owned the club.

Estimates of the loss ranged from $300,000 to as high as $700,000.

Announce Plans For Selling Series Tickets

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday announced their plans for selling World Series tickets.

The Yanks said they will accept mail orders Tuesday. Window sales start Saturday at 9 a.m.

All mail orders and window sales will be limited to two sets a customer and will be sold in strips of three. The prices are $24 for box seats and $18 for reserved seats.

Standing room tickets ($4) may be purchased in any quantity for single games at Yankee Stadium either by mail or at the window sale. All remaining standing room tickets as well as 14,000 bleacher tickets at $1 per ticket will be sold on the day of the games.

SOME RESTRICTIONS

Cleveland also restricted the purchase of box and reserved seats to two a customer in strips of three. The prices for box seats are $24 and reserved seats, $18.75.

The Indians said all applications must be postmarked before midnight Wednesday Sept. 24.

Brooklyn tickets will be limited to two a customer for either the first or second games. Prices are $8 for box seats, $6 for reserved seats, $4 for standing room and $1 for bleachers.

The Dodgers said they will not accept mail orders.

TORONTO (CP)—Archie Grimsditch of New Uplands course yesterday won his second pro-member golf match this year when he toured the Cederbrae Golf Club course in 74. Twenty-five professionals and 50 members took part.

Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener and Bill Thompson of Toronto tied for second place with 75.

Oshawa Erases Seabrooke's In Two Straight

Oshawa Broncs wrote finis to Peterborough hopes in senior "B" softball playdowns as they defeated Seabrooke Motors 8-2 Saturday night at the East City Bowl, to win their best-of-three semi-final series in straight games; Broncs took the opening tilt 5-2, in Oshawa.

Bunny Maeson, erstwhile senior Peterborough baseball performer, and an Oshawa boy, twirled the route for the visitors and displayed considerable skill and versatility, to limit the usually potent East City lads to five safe bingles; he fanned and walked a like number. Though a trifle wild, Maeson was seldom in trouble and his mates supported his work in fine style.

ONE BAD FRAME

Terry Woods, tall and courageous veteran of league and playoff matches, opposed the Broncs' string-bean and save for a bad first inning (not his fault) when the visitors pumped five kings over the platter, Terry twirled a beautiful game, to deserve a better fate. Broncs' early lead stood them in good stead, the while Seabrooke's were unable to effectively fathom the slants of Maeson.

Two walks, a fielder choice, two errors, a misjudged triple on slippery ground of McDermaid's high sky, and singles by Romaniski and Wetherup, gave Broncs five in the first. Seabrooke's tallied in the home half as Spencer forced in O'Heron. The Sullivan pack clicked in the fourth as Spencer hit and later scored on Wyatt's infield rap. Both twirlers settled down and hits and runs were scarce till Broncs scored an unearned run in the sixth. The victors added two in the ninth on Sam Stack's rap with two aboard.

Catcher Red McDermaid, with a double and triple in four, and Wetherup with two for four, led the rival hitters. Jake Jaquith had two for three, one a triple, for Seabrooke's; Thompson hit a double. Two fast double-plays—Thompson to Jaquith and Spencer to Curry—featured afield for Seabrooke's; while Keeler and wetherup shone for Broncs.

Bright collapsed while the Western Interprovincial Football League club was holding a practice in preparation for a game against Edmonton Eskimos tonight in Calgary. His condition after an operation was reported satisfactory.

SYDNEY QUITS M.M.H.L.

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Sydney Millionaires pulled out of the Maritime Major Hockey League yesterday in a surprise move which left the beleaguered league with only three remaining teams. Only Halifax St. Mary's, Glace Bay Miners and Charlottetown Islanders remain in the circuit.

Brooks Within One Game Of Clinching Flag; Turn Back Boston 8-2

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Only a super miracle will prevent Brooklyn Dodgers from representing the National League in the 1952 World Series against New York Yankees or Cleveland Indians. The Brooks are assured of finishing in no worse than a tie for first place when the curtain falls next Sunday. Manager Charley Dressen's pennant-starved athletes yesterday moved to within one victory of clinching the flag. Joe Black, making his first start of the season, pitched the Dodgers to an 8-2 victory over Boston while the runner-up New York Giants dropped a 6-2 decision to Philadelphia.

The victory boosted Brooklyn's lead over the Miracle Men of 1951 to six games. Both teams have six games left to play and one Brooklyn victory or Giant defeat will nail down Brooklyn's first pennant since 1949.

REYNOLDS HAS TROUBLE

Allie Reynolds kept the Yanks in the driver's seat in the American League race. The Chief, gunning for his first 20-victory season, pitched the Yanks to a 1-0 decision over Harry Byrd and the pesky Philadelphia Athletics. The Indians, behind Bob Lemon, waltzed to a 7-1 victory over Detroit Tigers to remain 1½ games astern.

Reynolds permitted only three hits in posting his 19th victory and sixth shutout, but the double-no-hit star of 1951 had no easy sailing. Reynolds walked eight and almost gave up the ghost in the seventh and ninth innings.

Cass Michaels tripled to begin the seventh but died on third. The A's loaded the bases with one out in the ninth but couldn't pierce Reynolds' armor.

Byrd surrendered only five hits, but the Yanks bunched two of them along with a pair of walks in the sixth inning to score the game's only run. Yogi Berra singled Joe Collins across from second base.

Lemon turned back the Tigers on four hits in gaining his 21st victory. Al Rosen was the big wheel for Cleveland, batting in four runs on his 27th homer and a double.

The Dodgers and Braves were locked in a 2-2 duel until the eighth when the Brooks scored six runs after two were out to lock it up. Roy Campanella singled home the tie-breaking run. Black helped his own cause with a two-run single.

BLACK IS BRILLIANT

Black limited Boston to three hits and deserved a shutout as Carl Furillo's error in the fourth led to both Brave runs. The victory was Black's 15th and also his 55th game, a Brooklyn record. Les Webber set the former high of 54 in the 1943 season.

Veteran Russ Meyer parcelled out nine hits in besting the Giants and squaring his record at 13-13. The Phils clinched matters in the fourth when Bill Nicholson rocked Jim Hearn for a three-run homer.

Home runs were the deciding factors in other National League games.

Ted Kluszewski and rookie Jim Greengrass clouted home runs to account for all of Cincinnati's runs in a 4-3 decision over Pittsburgh. Bill Serena smashed a two-run homer in the seventh to lead Chicag to a 3-2 victory over St. Louis. Stan Musial accounted for both Card runs off Bob Rush with a barrier blow in the first inning.

In other American League games Billy Pierce pitched Chicago to a 4-1 victory over St. Louis and Boston Red Sox scored five runs in the ninth inning to defeat Washington 7-3.

BROOKS EDGE BRAVES

In Saturday's games in the National, Brooklyn tripped the Braves 1-0 in 10 innings, the Phillies edged the Giants 3-2 and the Cards were mathematically eliminated from the pennant race when they lost 4-1 to the Cubs. Pittsburgh and Cincinnati were idle.

In the American, the Yankees shut out the Athletics 2-0, Cleveland routed Detroit 11-3, Washington beat Boston 10-6 and the Browns took two from the White Sox 9-6 and 4-0.

Royals Blank Wings 6-0, Tie Series

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Royals and Rochester Red Wings continue their best-of-seven International Baseball League Governor's Cup final at Rochester today with the series deadlocked 1-1.

Yesterday Tom Lasorda choked off the Red Wings with three hits to give Montreal a 6-0 victory. Rochester took the opening game Saturday night 5-3.

LASORDA LOOKS GOOD

Lasorda, a southpaw, was masterful in his win. Only six of Harry Walker's Red Wings reached base.

Jackie Collum, Rochester left-hander, started for the visitors but retired in the seventh with one on and two out. By that time the damage had been done and Collum's offerings had been belted for 10 hits for the Royals' six runs. Jack Crimian came in to finish the inning, but made way for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Bobby Tiefenauer hurled the last inning.

In Saturday's game, Montreal manager Wally Alston used four pitchers to no avail as the Red Wings won 5-3. Gill Mills, the starter, was the loser.

Mills gave up seven hits and three runs in the four innings he worked. Art Fabbro came in but was taken out for a pinch-hitter after one inning. Bob Alexander, who took over, gave up the last two Rochester runs.

DEAL GAINS WIN

Cot Deal carried the mound load for the Red Wings until there were two on and one out in the ninth and Walker waved Fred Hahn to Deal's rescue. Hahn choked off the threat and the win went to Deal.

Rochester counted three runs before Montreal replied. The Red Wings scored once in the first inning and added single runs in the third and fourth.

In their half of the fifth, Royals scored once, added another in the sixth and their last in the ninth before Hahn put out the fire.

The Red Wings counted their last two and the margin of victory in the seventh.

Hogan and Jones won in a poll of P.G.A. members, sports writers and sportscasters.

He is charming and friendly. The well-proportioned script, Greek 'e's' and graceful letter formations reflect the refinement of this person's nature.

ME?—I'M FAMOUS?—"Paul," pet mongoose who belongs to Anthony Sheridan, 13, of Elstree, England, can't quite believe he's famous, and Anthony is a little in awe of his pet from Calcutta, India. Paul is the father of the first mongoose to be born in captivity in England, and survive. "Titch," Paul's mate, refused to come out and be photographed. Previous efforts to breed the little snake-killing animals in captivity have failed.

No Humans Can Become Angels, UK Vicar Declares

HURST GREEN, England (AP)—There are angels in Heaven, no doubt, Rev. Charles Godfrey Bell said in his sermon yesterday. But, he added with a touch of sadness in his voice, no little girl can ever hope to be one.

His discourse on angels was comment on a debate which has shaken this Lancashire village of 700. It started some weeks ago when the vicar objected to the erection of a marble figure of an angel over the grave of nine-year-old Kathleen Reese.

A Church of England official, the chancellor of the diocese, refused to permit a memorial of such design, and now citizens are signing a petition to the Archbishop of Canterbury, pleading with him to sustain little children in the faith that they may become angels.

The vicar's point was that the figure of an angel in a cemetery is inappropriate if it suggests a hope that humans, even the sweetest of little girls, may attain an angelic status.

"Nothing official has been said that denies the existence of angels nor our belief in immortality," the vicar said. "What has been said is that neither we ourselves nor our children become angels when we die. Angels are a separate order of creation. Man is made lower than the angels. His destiny is not to become an angel but to become one of the family of God."

Sailing Ships Plying Indian Coasts

By NANDAN B. KAGAL

BOMBAY (Reuters)—The brave days of sail live on around India's 3,000-mile coastline, where wind ships are doing a $5,000,000 freight trade every year, without benefit of engines, radar, compasses or charts.

Nearly 2,500 "country" craft, using the wind for propulsion and the stars for navigation, carried more than 1,000,000 tons of cargo last year, sailing at 150 points from Kandla on India's northwest coast to Coconada on the east coast.

About half the cargo carried is 'rough,' consisting of bricks, tiles and sand. The other half is general produce including food grains, cotton, oil and oilseeds, timber, gasoline and diesel oil.

CARRY GENERAL PRODUCE

Some larger sailing vessels carry general produce to the Iranian Gulf ports and tiles to East Africa. They bring back carpets and dates from Bahrein and ivory and cloves from Mombassa and Dar-es-Salaam.

The vessels on the "international route," manned by a crew of 18, are 350-ton ships, frequently 150 feet long. There are about 100 of them.

Another 200 ships come in the 100 to 150-ton category but the majority of the 2,500 vessel fleet are 60-tonners.

Relying on the strength of their sails and favorable winds, the ship's masters navigate by the stars, hugging the coastline for safety. On cloudy nights or in foul weather the ships make for the nearest fishing village. The ships can touch 10 knots in a stiff breeze, and their normal cruising speed is seven knots. They are built entirely of teak and "dang" wood, seasoned for eight years before use. Nails are often the only metal used in them.

Hold Expectant Mother In Knife Slaying

NEWMARKET (CP)—Mrs. June Armstrong, 25-year-old expectant mother, was brought to hospital here Saturday under police guard, charged with the knife-slaying of a Negro transient farm worker.

Police said Mrs. Armstrong, also known as Mrs. McKinzy Waters, used a garden knife to stab Walter Coleman, 38, of Tallerast, Fla. They said the stabbing followed an assault on Mrs. Armstrong's common-law husband, McKinzy Waters, at Holland Marsh, 15 miles north of here.

To Charter Jetliner For Trip To Rome

TORONTO (CP)—W. Garfield Weston is going to charter a Comet jet-liner to take Canadian teen-age girls to Rome next year. The charter will be one of the first for jet planes.

Mr. Weston, Canadian-born British industrialist, told a special meeting of directors of the Canadian Education Association, that the 50 girls who will tour Britain as his guests will have the chance to visit the Vatican on the jet flight.

Rail Union Puts Quiet End To Parley

OTTAWA (CP)—The 32,000-member Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees Saturday put a quiet end to the most important and stormy convention in its 44-year history.

Delegates urged that no ceiling or floor be put on the amount of medical expenses that should be allowed as deductions from income taxes. And they urged that federal, provincial and municipal governments bargain with unions of their employees in the same way as does private industry.

Vietminh Battalion Wipes Out Garrison

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—A Communist-led Vietminh battalian carried by assault the French post of Phu Lan, near Port Than Tiet, 100 miles east of Saigon, French army headquarters announced yesterday.

The garrison, composed of Viet Nam guards and pro-French partisans, was wiped out. Casualties were reported as 36 killed, 19 missing and nine wounded.

Measles Epidemic Breaks Out In Ungava

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—A serious epidemic of measles is reported to have broken out at Ivuyivik in the Ungava area of far northern Quebec.

The Hudson Bay Company supply ship Rupertsland left here Saturday with about three tons of supplies for the stricken community. Ivuyivik, not shown on most maps, is near Cape Wolstenhome on the northwestern tip of Ungava at the entrance to Hudson Bay.

Need Steady Hand In Waiters' Derby

BERLIN—(Reuters)—About 45,000 spectators Sunday watched Berlin Waiters Derby along one mile of roped-off avenue in the heart of Berlin. The waiters had to run balancing a full glass of beer on a tray. One drop spilt meant disqualification.

2,000,000 Major Crime Offences

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation estimated yesterday the United States crime toll will exceed 2,000,000 major offences this year. It reported a 6.4 per cent increase in crime for the first half of 1952 compared with a similar period last year.

The F.B.I.'s semi-annual crime report estimated that 1,022,200 major crimes were committed throughout the U.S. during the first six months of this year.

"On the average day during this period one larceny was committed every 26 seconds, an auto theft every 2.45 minutes, an aggravated assault every 6.23 minutes and a rape approximately every half hour," the F.B.I. said.

"Every 4.6 minutes there was a crime of murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill."

CITY HALL LAWN

Plantains and dandelions are not numerous in the lawn at the City Hall, and probably it is the purpose of the groundsman to not tolerate even one. Incidentally, dandelions were quite a crop along the Water St. front of Victoria Park this summer.

BEAR STILL AT LARGE

The marauding black bear reported by Mark S. Burnham last week in his 100-acre woodlot is still on the loose, he said today. PETS KILLED ON STREETS

An unusually large number of pets are being killed on city streets lately, Humane Society inspector Bruce Menzies said today. Aside from the fact that no one likes to have their pet cat or dog killed by cars and trucks, there is the hazard to motorists, Mr. Menzies said in urging pet owner to keep their pets off the streets. Most motorists will try their best to avoid hitting an animal and in doing so may become involved in a serious accident, Mr. Menzies added.

Men, Equipment Arrive On Charlotte Street To Start Excavation For Federal Building

Citizens walking to work along Charlotte St. E., today were quick to see the activity of workmen, surveyors and a truckload or two of contractors' equipment on the site of the new Federal building.

Foremen on the job are waiting for the arrival of portable knock-down field office and stores buildings perhaps sometime today. Following erection of these quarters along the Louis St. side of the property, parking lot dividing timbers will be cleared for excavation machinery to start digging by midweek, it was said.

The new $1,300,000 building which will house seven federal departments will also operate a Post Office school for new men. Of two storeys, the overall building will measure 208 feet long with a frontage width of 180 feet on Charlotte St. The post office department will occupy 34,000 square feet of floor space. Other departments to be housed in the structure are agriculture, labor, trade and commerce, customs and transport (canals).

The building was designed by architects Blackwell and Craig of Peterborough and contractors are M. Sullivan and Son of Arnprior.

Had Stolen Motor Man Admits, Fined $200

Joseph Laroque, one of three Toronto men charged in connection with theft of outboard motors from the Kawartha district pleaded guilty today to retaining a motor knowing it to be stolen and was fined $200 and $2.50 costs or three months.

O.P.P. Constable John Cawood who conducted the investigation into the thefts which resulted in the arrest of Lawrence Howell, Herbert Halstead and Laroque said Laroque did not steal the motor and was not implicated in any of the other thefts.

Halstead, who has been free on $3,000 bail was granted a further two week remand when he appeared today Howell who has been unable to raise the bail was remanded another week, because his lawyer was not present.

NO RECORD

Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army asked Magistrate W. R. Philp to impose a fine on Laroque rather than send him to jail, because he said Laroque had no record, and had a job in Toronto which he would lose if sent to jail. "The family would suffer if he is sent to jail," Major Everitt said, "and I am sure he has learned his lesson."

Constable Cawood said Laroque was arrested after information was received on August 31 that an outboard motor stolen the previous year March had been recovered in Bobcaygeon. He said Laroque had obtained it from a third party and had loaned it to a friend who was picked up with the motor in Bobcaygeon.

Howell and Halstead each face eight charges of stealing outboard motors from boats in the Kawartha district this summer.

Man Faces Trial On Arson Count 2nd Charge Laid

COBOURG (ENS)—Elgie Palmateer of Castleton was committed for trial on an arson charge when he appeared here before Magistrate R. B. Baxter on the preliminary hearing.

After his committal on the charge of setting fire to his wife's house Sept. 11 in Haldimand township, a further charge of arson was read against him and on this one he was remanded for a week. The second arson charge is that he set fire to the vacant dwelling owned by Elwood Dawson, Cramahe township on March 26. Bail was set at $5,000.

Nelson Usher, insurance agent, said that there was $2,500 on the Palmateer house and furnishings of which $1,000 was on the dwelling.

The 12-year-old son of the accused, testified that the night before the house burned he went to live at a neighbour's where his sister was also staying. Before that, he had been living with his father, but his mother had been staying at a neighbouring home for about a week before he went there.

WALL SCORCHED

Two days before the fire he came home from school to find that the wall behind the cook stove had been scorched and the wallpaper burned off. His father explained that some towels had caught fire.

Two nights before the fire which destroyed the house he watched his father put some papers in the stove pipe hole at the bottom of the chimney and set fire to them. His father before that, had remarked that he noticed sparks coming out of the chimney when he came into the house. The boy told the court that there had been no fire in the stove at that time. His father told him that he was burning the papers in the chimney in order to clean it out.

At 6.30 on the morning of the fire, continued the boy, he looked out the window of the house where he was then staying and could see smoke curling up from a patch of fire on the roof of his father's house. There was no smoke coming out of the chimney. In a short time the roof was on fire all over and the house was destroyed.

Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine testified that he was called to the Palmateer house at the time of the fire but prior to that had been there on Sept. 5 Mrs. Palmateer was staying at another house but three of the children were with Palmateer. There had been some family trouble, the constable said. After investigating the fire on Sept. 11, he arrested Palmateer near Castleton.

Sea Cadet Crews Row In Regatta

Four cutter crews from Peterborough's sea cadet corps, R.C.S.C.C. Howe, competed on the weekend in a regatta at Toronto's sea cadet corps, Haida, for Ontario championships. A brisk wind caused choppy waters on Lake Ontario, making the course difficult for the Peterborough lads who are more accustomed to calm Little Lake.

The 41 cadets, including both senior and junior crews, were under coxwains Leading Cadet John Martyn and Sub-Lieut. Robert Carney. After the regatta the boys were given leave for a short while and then they attended a luncheon and dance, before returning to Peterborough.

Toronto's Ark Royal cutter crew in a neck-and-neck race with the crack Haida corps of Toronto won the senior Ontario cadet championship. The Royals won the title from the defending champions in near record time of 2:40.5 minutes for the half-mile course.

Drake Corps of Oshawa edged out Hamilton's Lion Corps for the junior honors after the Haida corps was disqualified on a technicality.

Crews from St. Thomas, Kingston, London, St. Catharines, Midland, Welland, Oshawa, Weston, Toronto and Peterborough took part in the 10-man cutter races.

7 Cars Collide In Chain Reaction On Crowded Rd.

It was like something from the movies Saturday night as two cars collided on the highway west of the city and five other cars piled into each other as the line of traffic came to a halt.

The humorous aspect of it all didn't strike the motorists involved, however, because traffic was blocked for three quarters of an hour and the bill for damages will likely run over $1,000. Nobody was hurt, though a few occupants were shaken up.

TRIED TO PASS

It all began when Cecil Manley, 37, of Aldershot, tried to pass another eastbound car on Highway 7, six miles west of Peterborough. He noticed an oncoming car closing on him so he tried to cut back into the line of traffic. However he skidded on the road after briefly touching the left shoulder of the highway and met in collision with a westbound car driven by Owen Stimers, 26, of R.R. 4 Peterborough.

Then—bang, bang, bang—five other eastbound cars piled into each other as they tried to pull up in time to avoid hitting the car ahead. The first driver of the five had slammed on his brakes to avoid the accident, and the crash of car slamming into car ran down the line of traffic like the jarring of couplings on a freight train.

Traffic was finally unsnarled by O.P.P. Constable Harold Armstrong.

Undersized Muskie Costs Fisherman 25.50

A Toronto man was fined $20 and $5.50 costs or 20 days today when he was convicted of keeping a muskie less than 30 inches long.

Deputy Game Warden William Curtis said he measured the fish which Bert Nicholls was towing beside his boat on July 27 and it measured only 26½ inches from the tip of its nose to the fork in the tail.

Nicholls pleaded not guilty and said he did not know how the fish were measured in order to comply with the game and fishery regulations.

Deputy game warden Curtis said that even if the fish had been measured from the tip of the nose to the tip of the tail fin, it still would have been under 30 inches.

Tragic Ending

COTUIT, Mass. (AP) — David Orr, Jr., 29, went to a sandpit near his home yesterday to practise fishing casts. He flicked the line with a two-ounce sinker on the end just as he caught sight of his only child, three-year-old Stephen, running out in front of him. The sinker caught the youngster on the head. He was dead before his arrival at hospital.

7-Man Delegation

LONDON (Reuters)—A seven-member delegation from Ceylon, led by Richard Senanyake, minister of trade and commerce, has arrived in Peiping from Canton, China, a New China News Agency dispatch says today. The delegaton has come to the Communist capital at the invitation of the government for "exploratory trade talks."

Recreation For Elderly Could Brighten Lives

Organized recreation for older people is being boosted by a visitor in Peterborough this week.

Mrs. Angela Peterson, who has been in charge of social and adult recreation in Waco, Texas, for three years is a specialist in recreational work for older people. Only six cities in the United States have organized recreational programs for the older members of their communities. Waco is one of these cities and Mrs. Peterson was the organizer of this program.

They are not idle and lonely; they are active and happy, is the slogan that Mrs. Peterson has used in her recreational program for Waco's older citizens.

Approximately 69 people meet each day in a club house, donated for the purpose, and take part in activities which range from singing and games to dancing.

COULD START HERE

"There is no reason why such a program couldn't be started in Peterborough," Mrs. Peterson said today. "In the United States we have found that about 11 per cent of the population are over 55. I expect that the percentage is the same in Peterborough. A planned recreational program would be a wonderful thing for these people."

Mrs. Peterson explained she started the Waco club by appealing for help to city organizations and clubs that she thought would be interested in such a project. It worked and soon donations were pouring in. First the club house was donated, then furnishings and money.

NEW LEASE ON LIFE

"The program seemed to give all the older people a new lease on life," Mrs. Peterson said. "It wasn't long before we had a membership of 325 and the first thing we knew romance started invading the premises. We've had three weddings at the club. All of the brides and grooms were over 60."

Included in the activities of the club is a monthly project for the community. This is the older people's way of saying thank you for what the people of the city have done for them.

Mrs. Peterson has been active in recreation work for several years. She has been connected with the American Armed Forces as a social and recreational director and spent eight months in 1948 in Korea in this capacity.

At present she is spending a short vacation in Canada before returning to the United States in a new position, as social director for the Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth, Texas.

While in Peterborough, Mrs. Peterson was guest speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting Thursday.

Vandals Damage Dog Shelter

For the second time in three weeks, vandals broke into the Humane Society shelter back of the city incinerator Saturday night and caused considerable damage, Human Society inspector Bruce Menzies reported today.

Three weeks ago when the shelter was entered, a hound disappeared and after the Saturday night break-in, a police dog being housed there until a home for it could be found was either stolen, or walked out of the shelter when the door of the main building was left open.

Because of the nature of the break-ins and the damage, Mr. Menzies believes "young hoodlums" are responsible.

It is believed that youngsters did the damage, because entry was apparently gained through the wire enclosed runway, after the wire had been torn loose. Mr. Menzies said today, five doors, which lead off the runway had been torn off their hinges. A drain opening was also plugged with dirt and gravel and the door of the main building was left open when they left.

City police are investigating the break-in and damage.

Pontiff Recovered

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Pope's physician said today the Pontiff has completely recovered from a cold and slight fever which he suffered last week. Last night the Pope appeared on a balcony at his Castel Gandolfo summer home and greeted a pilgrimage of several thousand persons. He also has resumed his regular schedule of audiences.

7 Delegates Represent Unions At Convention

Seven delegates from Peterborough unions are attending the 12th annual Canadian Congress of Labor convention being held this week in Toronto.

They are Edmund S. Humphrey, president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council; Minor Shaw, I.U.E. international representative; W. J. Beggs and William Triggs, Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America; Sidney V. Field, Local 822, Textile Workers Union of America; and F. J. Burrett, Local 231, and C. (Pete) Meridew, Local 230, both of the Outboard Marine Workers Union.

The C.C.L. has 330,000 unionists affiliated or chartered directly to it.

This year 950 delegates from all parts of Canada are expected to attend the Toronto convention, believed to be the largest in the history of the C.C.L.

Income Of City Averages $4,777 For Each Family

(Special to The Examiner)

What is the average income of Peterborough families? How much is available to them for spending, after income taxes How do they spend it? Answers to these questions, much sought after for commercial reasons, are contained in the new copyrighted survey of buying power, covering Canada and the United States, prepared by Sales Management.

The figures show that higher incomes and a better standard of living prevail locally. Peterborough families recorded net earnings in 1951, after deduction for taxes, of $53,502,000. This was a gain over the $40,295,000 net income of the previous year.

Divided by the 11,200 families in the city, it represented earnings of $4,777 per family, which was greater than the $4,329 earned per family, on the average, throughout Canada. It also compares favorably with the previous year, when earnings per family, locally, were $3,875.

The figures, it is pointed out, are arithmetical averages, obtained by dividing total income by total number of families.

BIGGER SPENDING

The better earnings locally led to bigger spending. Peterborough stores registered a sales volume in the year of $40,933,000, which was well over the amount expected for a city of the size. On the basis of population, the retail business locally should have been only .2759 per cent of the total Canadian retail sales. Actually, however, local merchants accounted for .3926 per cent.

This sales total represented a gain over 1950, when the retail business amounted to $35,547,000.

Despite the large volume of retail business recorded in the year, a considerable reservoir of potential spending, in the form of savings and investments, remained untapped locally. This is indicated by the fact that only 76 cents of each spendable dollar went into retail purchases.

A measure of the purchasing ability of each city and county, as compared with the nation, is given in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This takes into consideration income, sales, population and other factors. For Peterborough the index rating is placed at 123, or 23 per cent over the Dominion average.

The traditional close correlation of Canadian economic activity with that of the United States continued in 1951, it is pointed out, "with somewhat larger gains characterising almost all sectors of the Canadian economy." American interest in the Canadian industrial boom is indicated by a current investment rate of about one billion dollars a year, most of it in oil, newsprint, lead, zinc, lumber and other raw materials.

More Hunters Than Ducks Opening Day

Duck hunters gathered in veritable platoons in their favourite spots on Saturday, opening day. As expected there were far more hunters than birds.

Salvos at dawn scared off most of the ducks and it was the hunters with the keenest eyesight and quickest trigger fingers who got in the first burst or two, and a few ducks.

Greatest number of shooters gathered at the Pigeon Lake marshes. Tommy Nurse and Ross Smith got their counts — blacks — after the big noise had died away, about 10 a.m. Gordon Pammett got four at Flood's Landing and many other hunters had a few to show in that area.

Another large crowd of hunters were stationed in Clark's Marsh on the Burleigh Channel but not many birds were reported taken there. Vic and Bob Brown got nine nice ones at the Lovesick-Deer Bay marsh.

Others in lesser nummbers went to the marshes at the east end of Stony Lake. Bob and Jack McClellan, Dit Clapper and Dave Wilson each got their limits there.

FEW GET PARTRIDGES

Partridge hunters were out in full force Saturday, too. There were lots of birds but heavy leaf cover prevented any shooting of note. Woods in Douro, Dummer and Northern Otonabee townships are well populated with partridge. Many red fox were seen as well.

Bird hunters are optimistic people and the real die-hards are praying for nasty fall weather that will bring in the big flocks of northerns when bag counts can be taken without difficulty.

Morale Low

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Mail today quotes Gen. Mark Clark supreme Allied Korean commander, as saying morale of the north Koreans is low and many are close to starvation. Ex-P.C. Minister R. C. Matthews Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Charles Matthews, 81, who served from 1930 to 1935 as minister of national revenue in the Conservative government of Rt. Hon. R.B. Bennett, died Saturday.

For many years head of R. C. Matthews and Company, Toronto investment firm which he established in 1908, Mr. Matthews retired from active business in 1923. He was elected Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto East Centre in the general election of 1926 and was re-elected in 1930. He retired from political life in 1935 because of ill health.

An enthusiastic cricketer, Mr. Matthews was said to have done more than any other individual to promote the sport in Canada. He sponsored and accompanied the tour of the Canadian cricket team to England in 1936.

Born in Lindsay, son of the late George Matthews and Ann Smithson Matthews, he was educated there and at McMaster University. He was a former member of the Board of Governors of Toronto's Royal Conservatory of Music and a member of the Board of Governors of Trinity College School.

He was a brother of the late Albert Matthews, former Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. Two daughters predeceased him. His widow, the former Margaret Spier of Montreal, survives.

Britain Now Offering New Jetliners For Sale From Their Drawing Boards

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON (AP) — For sale—a spanking jetliner capable of flying non-stop between London and New York three times a day with around 100 passengers a flight. Its operation should cost just a bit more than a cent per passenger-mile. No such machine ever has been built of course.

But that does not stop eager British manufacturers from offering superjets for sale, straight from the drawing boards.

During the last few months Britain's commercial jet travel has struck the world's air lines like a charge of dynamite.

JETS NOW ROUTINE

Jet travel already is routine. The nationalized British Overseas Airways Corp. puts in 800 flying hours of jet travel a month—or around 300,000 miles. This will be increased considerably when the Comet service to Colombo, Ceylon is extended to Singapore in a few weeks.

By early 1953, British jetliners will be flying halfway round the world to Tokyo when some foreign airlines may be just about ready to launch their first jet flights—with British Comets.

How did Britain manage to get so far ahead of the United States and others in the jetliner field?

Sir Miles Thomas, B.O.A.C. chairman, says:

"It was because Britain was fortunate in having the craftmanship and nimbleness of technique to develop the principle of jet propulsion and was not hidebound to a piston-engine program by reason of a tremendous demand such as that brought about in the American aviation industry by the Korean war."

SOUGHT NEW TYPE

There probably is more in it than that, however. The domestic demand and excellence of U. S. piston-engine machines—neither of which Britain could match—were factors leading Britain to seek an entirely new type of plane after the Second World War. Americans did not bother.

Even that does not fully explain Britain's lead. The 500-miles-an-hour Comet certainly is a technical triumph for De Havilland Company designers.

They made the first rough calculations in their spare time during the war. As soon as the war ended, the company enthusiastically took up the project.

There were no insuperable technical difficulties to building a jetliner at that time. Any country with a wartime aviation industry could have done it.

It was, however, an enormous financial gamble. And only in Britain was there a big airline—the state-owned B.O.A.C. — ready to take the risk.

In 1947 B.O.A.C. underwrote de Havilland's colossal development costs by ordering Comets from the drawing board.

Too Few Nuns Pope Declares

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A crisis in Roman Catholic women's religious orders is developing because of an alarming drop in membership, the Pope told mothers superior assembled in Rome for a precedent-setting meeting.

The Pope's concern was voiced in a brief speech during an audience granted those attending the meeting at Castel Gandolfo 10 days ago and made public Saturday by the Vatican.

He counselled the mothers superior to be certain that the life within the orders should not be an obstacle to membership. The habit (dress) of the nuns, the Pope said, must first always reflect "the consecration to Christ." Otherwise "it should respond to the demands of hygiene."

Say Korean Stalemate Costly To Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States congressional committee has returned from Korea convinced that the stalemated war is costing the Chinese Communists heavily and is profiting the Allies, one of its members said yesterday.

This view was expressed by Representative O. C. Fisher of Texas, acting chairman of a House of Representatives committee.

Fisher told a reporter the concensus of the 10-member group was that the present stable battle line permits the Allies to inflict maximum strain on the Communists at minimum cost.

He said committee members also agreed generally that Chinese Nationalist troops should be sent to Korea and, with South Koreans, should eventually replace Americans at the front.

Find Opinion Divided On Walcott Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Who do you like? Jersey Joe Walcott, the sly old gent with the one-punch dynamite? Or Rocky Marciano, the swarming mauler with 10 years of youth riding behind his punches?

Expert opinion on tomorrow's world heavyweight championship fight at Municipal Stadium is sharply divided. There is solid support for the 38-year-old champ among the pros of the sport—the boxers, trainers and managers. But boxing writers have swung on the Marciano bandwagon by a lopsided 28-7 score. Early odds favoring Marciano at 2 to 1 now have narrowed to 3 to 2.

All this is music to the ears of Jim Norris and Herman Taylor, the co-promoters, who report a steady jingling of the box office cash register. Taylor estimates a house of 50,000 and a gate of "between $550,000 and $600,000."

EXUDE CONFIDENCE

Although Walcott's camp made much of the return-bout business, his followers exude confidence. Jersey Joe says he hopes to win by a knockout.

Marciano, like Walcott, avoids any outright prediction but insists he is "more than ready, more than confident."

Others are not too shy about climbing out on the limb with predictions.

Joe Louis, who stiffened Walcott and was knocked out by Marciano in his last fight, likes Walcott—by a knockout. So does his manager, Marshall Miles.

Ray Arcel, Ezzard Charles' veteran trainer, also likes the champ.

Capture Strange Creatures From Depths Of Pacific

By NORMAN BELL

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Some strange creatures, at least two of them never reported seen before by human eyes, are new captives here from the Pacific Ocean's dark depths.

They were brought back by the third major expedition into the Pacific by the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The exploration, in which the U.S. Navy, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission also participated, covered an area of 2,000,000 square miles off Mexico, Central America and South America.

OTHER EXPEDITIONS

It followed other Navy-Scripps Institution expeditions in the last three years to the mid-Pacific, extending beyond Hawaii, and to the North Pacific.

The Scripps' research ship Horizon crossed the Equator five times in three months as its scientists studied currents, surveyed the ocean's bottom by electronic soundings and trawled up hundreds of creatures from their mile-deep haunts.

One grotesque specimen was a death's head fish with eyes on its gaunt cheeks instead of in the huge, empty eye sockets.

Another was a white fish with big, blister-like eyes turned straight up on top of its head.

Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, Scripps marine biologist, said these two specimens are new to science.

LITTLE OXYGEN

Warren S. Wooster, assistant oceanographer at Scripps, was in charge of the scientific party on the horizon. He reported the expedition had found fish alive in waters containing only two per cent of free oxygen.

It had not been known before, he explained, that any creature could live with that scarce a supply of the vital element.

The expedition also discovered a seamount (name given by oceanographers to isolated submarine peaks) rising 12,192 feet from the bottom 1,200 miles due west of Acapulco, Mex. It was named California Seamount.

Britain's Priceless Treasures Hidden In Caves During War

LONDON (Reuters)—Some of Britain's priceless treasures were stored in five remote caverns in the Welsh mountains during the Second World War, it was disclosed today.

The caves, former slate quarries, were approachable only by rough mountain roads snowbound for weeks on end. Inside were elaborate central heating and air conditioning plants to prevent the treasures, nominally valued at £10,000,000, from deteriorating.

This and other incidental secrets of the war are revealed in an official history by C. M. Kohan of government relations with the building industry between 1936 and the end of the war.

Kohan does not disclose whether the Welsh caves were used to hide the crown jewels, spirited out of London in two days along with other treasures including the painted ceiling by Rubens in the government's official banqueting hall and valuable screens and stalls from Westminster Abbey.

The historian deals extensively with the inter-departmental struggle for the country's shrinking building-manpower during the vital days of the war. The government's target of 2,000,000 building workers was never reached.

The history reveals that Britain's plans to repel German invasion in 1940 included the installation of flame-thrower defences, operated by remote control, at the entrances to 37 harbors on the northeast, east and south coasts.

Egyptians Ordered Give Up Firearms

Will Check Bird Migration By Moonlight Across US

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of moonlight will be shed this fall on the age-old mysteries of bird migration.

The trick will be accomplished by amateur and professional bird watchers who answer an appeal from experts at the museum of zoology, Louisiana State University, to train telescopes at the full moon and report the birds seen crossing its face during the fall migration period now under way.

A telescope of 19 power or more must be used, and one that shows the whole face of the moon.

AMAZING INFORMATION

Moon watching for this purpose already has yielded amazing information. George H. Lowrey Jr., curator of the museum, expects the observations of more than 200 volunteers this fall to provide still further details. Sightings will be taken from northern Canada to southern Mexico and in 46 of the United States.

Writing in Audubon Magazine, Robert J. Newman, assistant curator at the museum, says Lowrey started the project in 1946.

It has been called "an entirely new branch of ornithology, the ultimate limits of which are not yet in sight," by George G. Williams, an English professor at Rice University in Houston, Tex., also a recognized ornithologist.

Some things already learned:

Florida is not the popular migration path supposed.

Rarely do birds fly in flocks at night.

Instead of migrating all night, or migrating just after sunset and before sunrise birds seem to rest in early evening and before dawn and fly the most around midnight.

Birds sometimes fly southward in spring, and tend to ride prevailing winds to their destination.

Lowrey's first objective was to determine whether birds actually cross the Gulf of Mexico on migration as long supposed or whether they detour it as some recent theorists hold. He recalled that observations of birds flying across the face of the moon had been published half a century ago but had not been pursued because there seemed no good way to evaluating such information.

SOLVES PROBLEM

Taking his problem to Prof. W.A. Rense of the department of physics and astronomy at Louisiana State, he got a solution. Mathematical formulas could be applied to tell the number crossing a mile of the earth's surface in an hour.

The observer jots down the apparent size of the bird, its speed, the clarity of the focus, and the direction and curvature of the bird's path.

In Mexico, Lowrey said, were indications that birds by the tens of thousands were hurtling through the night out across the gulf towards Texas and Louisiana. But he realized soon that the system contained far greater possibilities than checking on trans-gulf migration.

Friends in 30 localities around the country gave him information in 1948—a total of some 10,000 observations. Evaluating it took twice as long as getting it but simplified grafs and methods have now speeded up this process.

Bishop Conducts Harvest Service

MARMORA (ENS)—The initial visit of the Right Rev. K. C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario, to St. Bartholemew's Church, Bannockburn, on the evening of St. Matthew's Day was of an auspicious nature. The church observed the annual harvest festival in the course of which Bishop Evans dedicated the new pulpit, organ and reredos.

For the musical portion of the service the church's choir was augmented by that of St. John's, Madoc. Officiating at the service was the rector of the parish, Rev. T. Harvey Good of Madoc. In his address the bishop used for an illustration the scene of a waterfall he once visited in the Georgian Bay district where he detected the form of a cross at the top of the falls where the water poured over. He said that the cross stood at the height of the world's affairs. The beauty surrounding the falls was symbolic to him of the glory of the cross as mentioned by St. Paul.

These falls were capable of generating power and there is no power to approach that of the power of the cross of Christ. His fourth observation was that of the story related to him of a boy once having slipped and gone over the falls at the point where the cross was formed. Little slips befall the human race ever since Adam and Eve set aside God's right at harvest time. In the cross there is hope and salvation and something better to come as it stands for restoration also.

MRS. CLAUDE CORNWELL, the former Miss Kay Richardson, is seen here in the beautiful gown of blush satin in which she was married Saturday afternoon at Trinity United Church.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Kaye Richardson Is Bride

The altar of Trinity United Church was banked with baskets of beautiful gladioli and ferns as setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Kaye Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Richardson, to Claude Edgar Cornwell, son of Mrs. Frank Cornwell and the late Mr. Cornwell, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Hugh C. Redmond, and Mrs. D. Bruce Gordon was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautifully gowned in blush satin. The gown had a fitted bodice with tiny covered buttons at centre front to the point of the dropped waistline, and a sweetheart neckline and was finished with lily point sleeves. The long full skirt fell into a graceful train. Her veil was of tulle illusion and was held by a satin headpiece trimmed with braided satin. She carried a cascade of Johanna Hill roses.

Miss June Richardson was maid of honor for her sister, wearing a gown of pale rose shot taffeta with matching elbow length gloves. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Helen Matthews, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Ralph Carpenter, and they were in dresses of turquoise faille taffeta, also with matching elbow length gloves. All wore picture hats of brown silk velvet and they carried cascades of gladioli and gerbars.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Donald Hall. Ushers were John Frise and Robert Moscrop.

Reception following the ceremony was in the Trinity Hall auditorium. The bride's mother received in a gown of royal blue faille taffeta and wore a hat of royal blue velour and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother had chosen a gown of pewter grey crepe and hat of navy velvet and her corsage was of red roses.

Flying to New York city for their honeymoon the bride wore a navy suit dress of ottoman cord, blue accessories and a red topcoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornwell will live at 288 Caddy St. on their return.

Smelliest Deep-Freeze Owned By Ontario Govt.

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government owns probably the smelliest deep-freeze locker in the province.

Located at nearby Maple in the Department of Lands and Forests' research station, the deep-freeze is a refrigerator eight by 10 feet which holds the remains of deer, moose, beaver, porcupine, fox, wolf marten, fisher—just about every animal native to the province.

The temperature of this animal mortuary is held at zero, fahrenheit, the year round—and it still smells.

KEPT FOR STUDY

Animal carcasses, kept for purposes of autopsy, are sent to the station by the wildlife section's field men, by trappers, by the district offices and by sportsmen who have found something odd in animals they have shot.

By examination the biologists get a wider knowledge of the living habits of the province's animals. It has been found, for instance, that a deer's teeth are a more accurate indication of its age than its antlers.

TUMMY IMPORTANT

When a moose is killed and his digestive organs sent to Maple, biologists dissect the organs and try to identify what they find.

A report is sent back to the field men and thus the department gets a useful picture of what habitat, food and conditions are needed for a sustained moose population.

The department says hunters and fishermen, alert for unusual events or specimens of flora and fauna, can do an invaluable service by noting their observations of the unusual in the woods and on streams and lakes, and sending their information to the Maple research station.

DOROTHY DIX

Attempt To Make Amends Can Complicate Problem

DEAR MISS DIX: Would you tell me how I may be able to help my brother right a wrong he committed? Two months ago he wrote his steady girl and told her he no longer cared and felt they were not suited to each other. She accepted his decision and answered cordially, wishing him success in whatever he might undertake.

A week ago he went to see her and found she had married. It made him realize that he did love her and that they could not throw away the four years of steady company. My brother is willing to do anything to make it up to her, but fears he no longer has the right. However, I feel that it is wrong for her to stay with her husband, knowing she cannot love two, and she is doing him an injustice. She only married because she was hurt. If she gave my brother another chance, I am sure they would have a beautiful marriage. L.D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While appreciating and admiring your determination to help your brother find happiness, I most earnestly deplore your methods of doing so. First of all, you are taking a lot for granted in assuming that the girl, whom I shall call Lois, is still in love with your brother. He treated her most shabbily and there is no reason for you to suspect that she married only from pique.

WHAT ABOUT HER HUSBAND?

However, even assuming that such is the case, your brother has no right now to change his mind about the girl and try to break up her marriage. There is a husband involved, too, don't forget! His role is somewhat more important than that of an innocent bystander. He married Lois in good faith, and is certainly entitled to something more than a quick dismissal because an errant suitor returns to the scene.

Your brother cannot right one wrong by committing another. He treated Lois shabbily once, and there is certainly no guarantee that he wouldn't do it again if he had the chance.

The best way brother can right this situation is to stay away from Lois entirely. He should give the girl a chance to find her own happiness and he, in turn, should go about rebuilding his life, with a little more consideration for others.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Six years ago, at the age of 34, I fell deeply in love with a man my own age. We were very good friends until a year ago, when he met another lady and fell in love with her. He has been seeing both of us during the past year. I am still true to him. He claims he doesn't know which of us he loves. Do you think he might get tired of this other woman if I'm patient? WORRIED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It seems to me you have wasted several years in futile waiting; why prolong your misery? If the man was seriously interested in you, he wouldn't take up six years of your life without even mentioning marriage. That's proof enough that his tactics are those of a man who will not be pinned down to responsibility. The new lady-love will go through the same experience you are suffering unless she has sufficient strength of character to overcome his weaknesses in that department. Patience is not the answer in your case. Straighten your backbone and get away from him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: At 16, I have a crush on a boy 15, who, however, looks and acts more like 17 or 18. My parents won't let me go with him just because of this age difference. Otherwise they like him a lot and both families are on very good terms. M. A. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since, in all respects, the boy is so nice, age shouldn't make much difference. You have a very sensible outlook on the situation, anyway, and I think your parents can trust your judgment.

Authoress Offers Advice On Breaking Engagements

LONDON (CP)—Advice on when to break an engagement is given in a booklet by Leonora Eyles, who tackles many problems confronting engaged couples.

"Honestly, if you are used to decent table manners could you live with a husband who sucked soup noisily, who chewed with his mouth open and who ejected fruit stones on his plate?" she asks.

No amount of lovesickness, she believes, will change the way a prospective bride feels about such manners in front of friends. And a young man without the grace to remove his hat in company and who allows an older woman to stand while he is seated "is the man who lets his pregnant wife carry buckets of coal uqstairs."

Miss Eyeles advises that any would-be bride or groom who experiences a deep disquiet regarding the manners or standards of the other, should get out fast.

"Never mind if the engagement ring has been bought and all your friends will talk. . . No amount of embarrassment could be as painful as marriage to the wrong person."

The writer does not confine her criticism to men. She warns that young women who put burning cigarets on the table and wet glasses on the piano are not likely to make a comfortable home for a man and children—or for herself.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Marinading Small Tomatoes

The Press Club met at our house—to be more accurate in our garden—for their first meeting of the fall, and we had a barbecue supper, as you have already guessed.

The meal wasn't anything to rave over except the steak which was comfortingly tender—but I did a good trick with some whole small tomatoes. I marinated them in French dressing and they were surprisingly popular. I also chilled the potato salad with a skimpy marinade of French dressing over it. I want to impress on you the improvement this will make in your potato salads.

I haven't given this marinade idea any special pep talk before. I've just casually included it as a step in the recipe, but it should not be casual. It should be definitely understood that potato salads are greatly improved and move into the professional class by being marinated in French dressing and chilled, before the mayonnaise is added. I'll go through all of the steps in the tomato business and in the potato salad too, and throw in for good measure my sister Doris' way of marinating salmon steaks before broiling.

CHILLED WHOLE SMALL TOMATOES IN FRENCH DRESSING MARINADE

Make 2 cups of French dressing this way: One and one-quarter cups cold salad oil, ½ cup white wine vinegar or lemon juice (or ¼ cup of each) (I prefer lemon juice), 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 sliced clove garlic. Shake well together in tightly covered jar. Pour into rather deep serving bowl. Into it drop 2 or 2½-inch peeled tomatoes, cover and chill, turning over once after first hour of chilling. This amount of French dressing will marinate about 15 or 17 tomatoes. I had 16 guests so I was glad I crowded 18 into it. I could have used more. We strained the dressing left in bowl and are using it for our salad tonight.

FRENCH POTATO SALAD

Four and one-half or 5 cups cut-up undercooked potatoes, 1 cup finely chopped celery, ¼ cup finely chopped chives or green onions, 2 hard-cooked eggs, ½ cup cut-up broken olives, ½ cup finely chopped parsley, 1-3 cup French dressing (see above), ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, about ¾ cup mayonnaise (1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon lemon juice in addition are optional). Combine potatoes, celery, chives or green onions, eggs, olives, parsley, French dressing, salt and pepper. Mix salad gently and chill until serving time, covered—at least two hours. Then add the mayonnaise blended with the prepared mustard and lemon juice. Heap lightly in lettuce-lined bowl and garnish with rings of sweet green pepper or radish roses or extra slices of hard-cooked eggs.

BROILED SALMON STEAKS OR FILLETS (pre-marinated)

Use French dressing as described above under "Chilled Whole Tomatoes" but be sure to include the slices of garlic. Pour this over the salmon steaks or fillets on a platter and chill, turning them over once during first hour. When ready to broil, have broiler burner very hot. Grease the broiler rack with some of the marinade and place steaks or fillets on it. Broil under very high heat until flecked with brown spots, then turn over. This turning over is made easier if you have placed the steaks on pieces of parchment paper of aluminum foil to fit them. Peel this off after you turn them. Broil second side until flecked with brown. Test for doneness by examining at the thickest part with point of sharp knife. They should flake—not cling to bone or be dark looking. Serve at once accompanied by lemon wedges. Broiled underripe tomato halves are a good accompaniment. Broccoli makes an attractive second vegetable and a beautiful platter of the whole meal.

81-Year-Old Bellringer To Sound Coronation Peal

MONTREAL (CP)—The man in Canada who will most loudly acclaim Queen Elizabeth's coronation next June is Arthur H. Burgess, whose shoulders stoop under the weight of 81 years.

Mr. Burgess, who for 36 years has been campanologist at St. George's Anglican church here, will sound a whole peal of Grandsire Triples to coincide with ceremonies in London.

He will ring all the changes possible on eight bells—a task entailing more than 40,000 pulls at the bell-ropes and lasting close to three hours.

HARD TASK

It will be the most exhausting performance of his 61 years in his profession. He staged a similar display on only one other occasion—Armistice Day in 1918—when he was a "youngster of 47." It was the longest peal ever attempted in Canada.

Mr. Burgess will take three days to write the music, transposing it first from the piano. He will also oil the bearings on the giant bells and splice the ropes tight to ensure against untimely interruptions.

He has always given his bells personal care. When the hammers freeze in winter it is he who climbs with a gasoline torch and thaws them out.

A serious illness which confined him to his bed for three weeks in 1949 was the only interruption in his career.

LOVES THE BELLS

Besides his regular work at weddings, funerals and for regular Sunday services, he "plays" the bells whenever the fancy takes him.

Bells came early into his life. His father was captain of bellringers at St. Saviour's Church, Bath, England, where he was born. At 14 he could ring one bell and at 20 he could handle a peal of eight bells.

He came to Canada 45 years ago after serving in the Boer War, during which he had a mount shot from under him.

Bedtime Snack solves laxative problem

"Constipation made me sullen all day. What a change since I started to use ALL-BRAN regularly! Even my wife notices it!" writes man from Ville Montmorency, Que. If you suffer from irregularity due to lack of bulk, try a bowlful of this toast cereal every night before bed. It may bring back the youthful regularity you thought long lost. ALL-BRAN is the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's high in protein and iron. Not habit-forming. Kellogg's is so sure you'll like ALL-BRAN that if you're not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont., and get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Gratitude Should Guide Conduct Says Minister

We are debtors, from Romans 8:12, was the text chosen by the Rev. Dr. A. Harding Priest, general secretary of the General Board of Religious Education at the morning service at All Saints' Anglican Church, Sunday.

The guest minister explained that Canadians are debtors in three ways—as a nation, as individuals and as a church. He warned against the materialistic philosophy which is so prevalent today, and said that the guiding philosophy should be gratitude.

A debt implies something has been given and therefore something has to be given back, he said.

At the evening service Dr. Priest gave an outline of the happenings at the General Synod of the Anglican Church, which took place in London recently.

He discussed some of the issues that had arisen at the Synod. Particular mention was made of the consideration given to church union. Dr. Priest said that he agreed with the idea, but felt that before it could take place much more study and thought must be given the matter by the membership of the church.

Special music was provided for the morning service by the choir, who sang, Ye Shall Dwell in the Earth, under the direction of George Chandler, choirmaster.

Hawks Tie Wings In 2-2 Tilt; Exhibition Game

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—The Chicago Black Hawks surged from behind on Jim Mcfadden's last period goal to tie the Detroit Red Wings 2-2 here yesterday in the third game of their nine-game exhibition swing through Northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec.

Close to 3,000 fans cheered the Hawks as they came from behind to cancel out the two goals scored by the Wings Alex Delvecchio and Metro Prystai. Fred Glover scored the first Hawk goal after Gus Bodnar had put him in the clear with a rink-wide pass.

The two teams are scheduled to continue their ice feud this evening at South Porcupine and at Kirkland Lake Tuesday evening.

Ed Kryzanowski, a defenceman recently obtained from the Bruins, continued his battling with Gordie Howe, and both drew fighting penalties for the second time in as many days.

WINGS WIN 2ND

Saturday at Rouyn, Wings came up with a pair of last-period goals to edge the Black Hawks 3-1 in the second game of the tour. Wings took the first tilt in New Liskeard Friday with a 4-2 count.

Rookie Lou Jankowski potted the winner at the four minutes mark of the final period on a pass from Guyle Fielder. Marty Pavelich added another after Glen Skov and Tony Leswick had set up the scoring play. Fred Glover's screened shot that beat Terry Sawchuck in the Detroit nets was cancelled in the second period by a similar effort from the stick of Ted Lindsay.

In the first period George Gee, just out of the penalty box, elbowed goalie Terry Sawchuck. The resulting fight saw Sawchuck, Gee, Lindsay and Gus Bodnar draw major sentences while Gordie Howe was slapped with a misconduct by referee George Hayes. Howe also drew a minor and another major sentence.

Howe's boarding of Enio Schlizzi in the second stanza sent the leftwinger to hospital with concussion and fractured cheekbone while the major came in the final minutes of the game when he ran afoul of Ed Kryzanowski. Hayes handed out a total of six majors, two misconducts and 11 minors in an effort to curb the mayhem.

Hawks lost Fred Huccel in the first period with a severe shoulder injury and Bill Mosienko went out for repairs in the third stanza.

Cheques Bounce Two Men Guilty

Two men who pleaded guilty today to charges of false pretences involving bad cheques were remanded a week for sentence.

Jack Moseir, 28, 165 Verdun Rd., Oshawa, pleaded guilty to two charges of issuing bad cheques, one for $20, for which he received $10 cash and $10 in merchandise from the Family Credit Clothing store on August 29, and another for $20 to Eric Howard's men's wear store on August 30.

The other man, Arthur M. Doughty, 61, 150 Hart Ave., pleaded guilty to obtaining $53.62 by false pretences from Albert Florence on July 2, by issuing a cheque for this amount made out to James Davis and purporting to be signed by William J. McCann.

In both cases, Moseir obtained the money by issuing cheques on the Royal Bank of Canada.

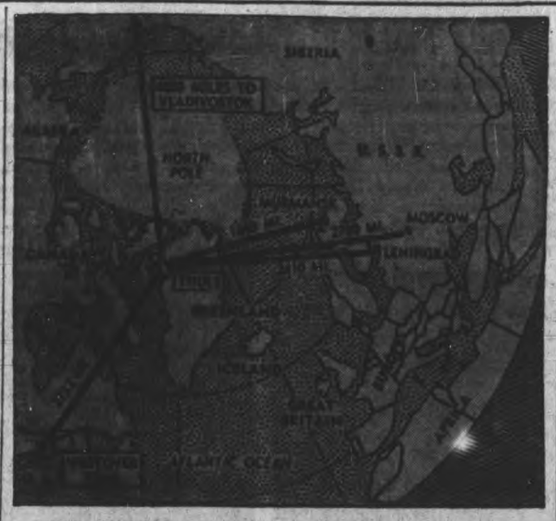
Condition Impaired Driver Fined $52.50

Reginald Harte-Maxwell, 26, 110 Simcoe St., was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or one month in jail today when he pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Maxwell was driving south on George St., early Sunday morning when his car collided with the rear fender of another car travelling south on George St., driven by Erwin Sinclair, 508 Braidwood Ave.

The accident occurred just north of Antrim Street.

Constables Ed Niziol and Louis Rodreque investigated. Minor damage resulted to both vehicles.



The Strong Approach

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The official Chinese Nationalist party newspaper said yesterday the United Nations should attack Russia if she refused to help settle the Korean War. The Kuomintang's Chung Hua Daily News suggested that the U. N. accuse Russia of instigating the Korean War and demand that Moscow take part in the Panmunjom armistice conference.

NEW ARCTIC AIRBASE — Newsmap spots the huge military air base which has been erected by the U.S. and Denmark at Thule, Greenland. The base, only 900 miles from the North Pole, already is manned with jet interceptor planes to protect it from any surprise attacks. Map also shows bomber-distance to important Russian cities.

New Arctic Base Amazes Reporters

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — What is the Arctic like, where the United States has chosen to build great air bases for its perimeter defences?

Now that the flier with his jet fighters and strategic bombers have come, it is a strange mixture of old, unchanging far north and the new ways of man from a temperate zone, of glaciers millions of years old and airdrome runways in which the concrete is barely hardened.

WAS WITH PEARY

It is a place where planes take off from the huge and busy air base at Thule to fly northward to the Pole in a few hours. And it is a place where just across a bay from the air base lives Odaq, the Eskimo who went with Peary to the North Pole in 1909.

Newspapermen who visited Thule recently went to call on Odaq at his house in the little Eskimo village. He came out to greet them, an old man, wearing white polar bear pants. On his shirt was the Danish government's decoration for being with the first man to reach the Pole.

Odaq shook hands gravely with his visitors. He turned and made his way back into the house where he lives alone, the years heavy upon him. And a jet fighter across the bay whistled down the runway and into the air to cover, in the space of an hour, the miles it had taken Odaq weeks to trudge behind a dog sled so long ago.

And what did the airman in the jet plane see as he climbed above the aluminum buildings and great runways and radio towers of the military city in the Arctic and headed out for his flight?

For a little way there may have been overcast and the land beneath was the cold white of snow and dull grey of rocks and mountains. But then followed sun and a brilliant blue Arctic sky and off to the side the coast of Greenland and the blinding white of the ice cap reaching to the horizon and beyond.

DEADLY SCENERY

It is fantastic, magnificent scenery. And it also is deadly dangerous to the airman, this Arctic.

The cliffs that gleam in reflection in the mirror ice as the sun shines on them are also there when sudden, fierce Arctic storms close down. The flier lives because he has radar to see for him in the murk, instruments to tell him his location, an engine to pull him up rapidly to safety above the peaks and glaciers.

If the engine falters and quits or the home field is smothered by blinding fog or storm, his alternate field may be 600, 700, 800 miles away.

He can try to reach it. If he can't, he looks for a reasonably smooth place on the ice field or the ice cap to come down and land, wheels up, skidding along on the belly of the plane to a stop. He has the clothing, the emergency "survival equipment" to live until search planes find him and rescue comes. His chances now are good.

Mosher Asks Greater Unity Within Labor Congress

TORONTO (CP)—A.R. Mosher today appealed for greater unity within the Canadian Congress of Labor and urged its membership to remain loyal to the officials elected to office.

"Without loyalty, the Congress is like sand without cement and its whole structure will disintegrate," he said in his presential speech at the opening of the annual convention of the 350,000-member labor body.

"On the other hand, with a spirit of unity and harmony, and a willingness to work together, we may look forward with courage and optimism to increasing usefulness and influence for the great organization to the building of which we have devoted so much effort and energy."

RE-ELECTION BID

Mosher, who is making a bid for re-election to the presidency, said the Congress must expand in two definite directions — organizational and political.

"We can never rest on our laurels so long as there are at least a million or more unorganized workers who are eligible for organization, and so long as the standards of wages and working conditions for the great majority of the Canadian workers are far below the levels reached by some of the larger unions.

"We have no alternative but to go forward with a program of organization on the most effective basis, and at the same time continually strive for higher wage-levels and better working conditions."

As for politics, he believed the next move of the Canadian labor movement must be in the political field and urged union members to throw more of their support behind the C.C.L. local and national political action committees.

LASHES "OLD" PARTIES

The head of the C.C.L., the political arm of which is the C.C.F. Party, lashed out at the "old political parties" as responsible to "private interests which provide campaign funds and control political policies."

"We have not begun to realize the interests of the workers, so far as labor legislation is concerned, have not received the attention which they deserve," he said.

Woman Expert Pound-Keeper

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP)—Hazel Exshaw is pound-keeper in this hub of the British Columbia ranching country and village commissioners regard her as the logical person for the job.

Most of her life has been spent o a ranch. Born in Washington state, she can still mount a horse as nimbly as a 16-year-old. She has laughing brown eyes and a trim figure weighing 125 pounds.

Mrs. Exshaw won the annual Stampede pony express relay race for women in 1927 and again in 1930.

Stock does not roam at will through the village, but occasionally a band will jump a nearby ranch fence.

Last year she was called to the airport when 12 wandering horses stopped to graze there. She herded the animals off the runway seconds before a passenger plane arrived.

Two Men Fined

Joseph McMurray, R.R. 10 Peterborough, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge today and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs. Orville McFadden, 1013 High St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance.

Hastings Breakin Nets Thieves $18, Cigarets

HASTINGS (ENS) — Thieves who broke into the Hastings Legion branch early Saturday escaped with $120 worth of cigarettes, $18 belonging to the steward, and the building fund, which was in a sealed container.

The steward, W. Slessor, discovered the breakin when he returned to the branch for a routine check-up.

The thieves also broke into the building next door, but got nothing. O.P.P. Constable George Rose of Campbellford and acting constable J. Blackburn of Hastings are investigating.

Hearing For Pickets Adjourned One Week

TORONTO (CP) — The hearing for pickets charged with besetting at the Sunshine-Waterloo Company plant in Waterloo today was adjourned for one week at the request of defence counsel E. B. Jolliffe who represented all the men charged.

The plant has been closed by an employees' strike over wages. The men were charged after an official's car was upset while crossing a picket line.

Mr. Jolliffe said that evidence in the case was so voluminous that a special hearing may have to be held.

Personnel Association Holds Ladies' Night

The members of the Peterborough Personnel Association held their annual ladies' night Friday at Buckhorn Lodge.

After dinner the evening's entertainment consisted of pictures and games, with a draw for lovely gifts donated by the various firms represented at the gathering. Jim Sharp also entertained with recitations and humorus stories.

Al Heideman acted as the host, while Stewart James and James Dutton masterminded the proceedings. Two members from Lindsay were in attendance.

Folk Dance Steals Show At Laval Meet

By TOM MCCUSKER

Dances of New rance performed by "Folklorists du Quebec" stole show last night when mayors and prefects from cities and towns in Eastern Quebec joined the learned elite from 42 countries to honor Laval University.

The roup of eight thrilled a crowd of 10,000 in the Quebec coliseum as they ran gracefully through two old-time favorites, "Le Brandy" and "Le Lancier."

The show, reminiscent of early days when pioneers were scattered about the province and these gay steps were their only ties with the land they left behind, revived still another memory of "les bons vieux temps."

It was the costumes the group wore of outlying Charlevoix county, Island of Orleans, and Beauce county where touches of the Breton dialect of the 1600s still are heard among the farming populace.

The red, white and blue skirts of Beauce County and the white and blue striped costumes of Charlevoix offset the drab grey of the Island of Orleans as the group whirled and promenaded to the accompaniment of recorded square dance music.

AUTHENTIC COSTUMES

Costumes were designed after extensive research by Miss Madeleine Doyon of Laval University's folklore archives. Simonne Voyer, who directed the dancers, pointed out they were the authentic dress of early Canada.

Songs by tenor Raoul Jobin, formerly with the Metropolitan Opera and now with the Opera Comique in Paris, and Quebec's choir "Les Chanteurs de la Colline", and speeches by Laval chancellor Msgr. Maurice Roy and French Ambassador Hubert Guerin lent a solemn note to the celebration.

But it was "un vieux quadrille" which gave the right touch to a night the townspeople of Quebec picked to honor Laval and French culture.

Metropolitan Store Moving

Metropolitan Store on George St. is closing Wednesday, Oct. 1, for transfer to its new premises up the street where business will be resumed about the second week in November.

Maurice Rossingol has been appointed manager of this new unit of Metropolitan Stores Ltd. He came here last week from Rouyn, Que., branch, and has the responsibility of setting the new Metropolitan house in order. Mr. Rossignol has been twenty years with the company, beginning in Ottawa. He was moved to Glace Bay as assistant manager, and has been manager in Montreal, Victoriaville and Rouyn, after experience as assistant in Sherbrooke and Quebec, and at several stores in the Maritimes.

The present Metropolitan Store building has been sold to Allan B. Collis and Meyer Levine, according to the information received today. The Levine ladies' wear store at 369 George St. is under the same roof as the Metropolitan at 371, which is to be occupied by the Collis business when it is available.

The new store will be air conditioned, will include a 50-stool refreshment counter in U-shape, also a new department for ladies' ready-to-wear goods, such as a fine line of dresses and hats. The details of the design are gradually taking shape from the contractor's work.

"The Examiner came to my rescue last week," Mr. Rossignol said today. "I wasn't getting anywhere in a quest for a place to live. So I made up a special 'ad', and that produced immediate effect."

Veteran Member Chief Constable

WINNIPEG (CP)—After more than 50 years in and out of police uniform, 80-year-old Bill Wren of Montreal still hasn't had his fill of law enforcement.

Mr. Wren, who retired 14 years ago as chief of Montreal's Westmount district, keeps a fatherly eye on Canadian police work. He attended the recent annual conference of the Chief Constables Association here.

He's the oldest living member of the association.

IMPROVED CONDITIONS

"Police force conditions have certainly improved since I joined up in 1898," he said. "We used to work 30 days a month with few holidays. Now it's a picnic."

Ex-chief Wren joined a police force five years after coming to Canada from Hertfordshire, England. Within 23 years he had become chief constable of an 86-man force protecting the thickly-populated Westmount district.

Christian Faith Is Action Minister Says

The proper use of wealth was the theme of the sermon given at Trinity United Church Sunday morning by the Rev. Peter Gordon White of Toronto.

Mr. White is the assistant editor of Sunday School publications of the United Church of Canada.

The guest minister said that all Canadians are wealthy as compared with people in other countries of the world. He explained that Jesus never condemned wealth but said much about what should be done with it.

USE OUR TALENTS

The Christian faith is action even more than faith, Mr. White said. It is the action of the use of talents and possessions in the service of God and fellowmen.

He pointed to the advice given to the rich young ruler when he asked Christ the seeret of eternal life. Go sell all that thou hast and give to the poor and follow me, was Christ's answer.

The key of this answer was the word, give, Mr. White said. We really only have what we give away. Our possessions, from our talents to a new church hall are ours only to use to give in service to our generation.

A duet, Thou Art O God the Life and Light, by Mozart was sung by Mrs. L. Hale and Mrs. D. B. Gordon. The choir under the direction of Donald Kennedy sang the anthem, Glorious Is Thy Name, by Mozart.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETS

Before the morning church service Mr. White conducted a short service to celebrate the first meeting of the Sunday School in the new church hall. He spoke briefly to the members about the kind of letters written with their lives. He explained that the message could be blank, could be blotted and stained or could be clear and legible letter about how to live as a Christian.

The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Redmond, sang, Bless This House, by Brahe.

Argos Salvage Tie With Tiger-Cats

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Monday morning quarterbacks—untold thousands of them from Edmonton to Montreal—should have plenty to chew about today, climax to as spectacular a weekend of senior football the country has had this season.

There were record - breaking crowds, Merriwell finishes, tight squeezes and runaway victories and a continuation of the pattern also-ran clubs have set up of not being able to buy a victory. The heavy weekend schedule continues tonight in the west with Regina Roughriders at Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos at Calgary Stampeders.

Every senior league—the Western Canada Conference, Big Four, Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Intercollegiate circuit—had its quota of thrills.

ESKS MOVE UP

Leadership in the West and East remained unchanged, although there was a shuffling in the West when the Eskimos took over second place from Calgary.

Toronto Argonauts fought off a tough, rugged and ever-alert Hamilton Tiger-Cat outfit to salvage a 13-13 tie and remain two points up on the black and gold club in the Big Four. At Ottawa, the Rough Riders sent Montreal Alouettes reeling to their fourth straight Big Four loss 8-7 on a last-minute single.

The front-running Blue Bombers smashed Roughriders 18-7 to remain two points in front at the half-way mark of the Western schedule and the Eskimos spanked the Stampeders 35-18, replacing Les Lear's Stamps in the runner-up spot.

Sarnia Imperials swept aside the winless Rockets 24-11 in the O.R.F.U. for their fifth straight victory and the second-place Toronto Balmy Beach stayed in line with a 24-12 decision over Brantford Redskins. The Redskins, newcomers to the league this season, now have lost four straight.

Two Saturday exhibition games were played. Balmy Beach defeated Queen's Golden Gaels of the Intercollegiate Union 32-23 at Kingston and McGill Redmen spoiled the Intercollegiate debut of McMaster Marauders with a 25-13 victory at Hamilton.

Most of the week-end action was packed in the W.I.F.U. and Big Four.

RECORD CROWD

A crowd of 26,553—largest the Big Four has ever had—crammed into Toronto's Varsity Stadium to watch the Hamilton-Toronto clash and they stayed to the finish. The day belonged to Bernie Custis, free-wheeling Syracuse Negro flash who went over for two Tiger-Cat touchdowns, the second with time running out, and big Vince Mazza on the Tiger line who bulldozed his way into practically every tackle and spearheaded Hamilton's second-half drive that brought them the tie from a 13-1 deficit at one stage.

At Ottawa, the desperate Montreal Als spotted the Riders a first-quarter converted touchdown by outside Bob Simpson, tied it on a touchdown by Virgil Wagner at the half, went ahead on a single in the third and yielded two singles—one by Bruce Cummings with seconds remaining to play—in a battling fourth quarter

Another record-breaking crowd —14,922—at Edmonton saw the Eskimos strike early to take a plump 17-0 lead within minutes of the opening kick-off. Normie Kwong, former Stampeder, scampered over for three touchdowns against his old team-mates and the crowd whooped it up as the Eskimos almost doubled the score on their Alberta rivals.

Coach Glenn Dobbs of Saskatchewan now is faced with the unpleasant threat of his Roughriders sitting out the west playoffs this season. Grey Cup finalists in 1951, the Roughriders have won only two of their eight games this year and a loss tonight at Winnipeg would just about settle the issue.

CASEY AND FORD

The Bomber scores were set up by the sensational broken-field running of Tom Casey and Tom Ford. They scored only one touchdown each but their big gains set up the Bombers for the kill.

The Sarnia and Balmy Beach games weren't too surprising, but the showing of McMaster Marauders against McGill showed 6,000 fans at Hamilton's Civic Stadium that they have a potential Senior Intercollegiate contender.

The Marauders will play exhibition games with the Intercollegiate clubs—Toronto Varsity, University of Western Ontario Mustangs, Queen's Golden Gaels—this season and if they make good they have been promised a berth in the union.

They tossed a small scare into the McGill camp by taking a 7-6 lead in the second quarter, but the experienced Redmen wiped this out in a hurry and didn't look back.

DEMARET WINS TOURNEY

WASHIMNGTON (AP) — Jimmy Demaret, who didn't play a single practice round in getting ready for the $15,000 National Celebrities Tournament, won it yesterday with a 71 for a four-under-par 282. Demaret had to par the last hole to beat out three other golfers at 283, Byron Nelson, Ted Kroll and Sam Snead. But the 42-year-old playboy calmly did it.

"COOL CONTROL"

THROWING A FORWARD PASS

1 Grip ball with fingers across lacing, thumb under the ball. Spread hand as wide as possible. Proper grip gives throwing and handling control. Use left hand to press ball firmly into throwing hand. Throw is overhand for greatest accuracy.

3 Release ball at top of motion in front of face to prevent interception. A good pass is retrieved high. For spin draw fingers and hand downward and inward as ball is released. Body motion on 'follow-through' helps add distance to throw.

Yes, it's control that counts in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Real Push-Button War Blasts Foe...

When the U.S. Navy used guided missiles to bombard Korean enemy targets 150 miles away, it was the pay-off on hundreds of experiments in "push-button" warfare. Pictures below, taken during those experiments, show just how guided missiles are used. Essentially, the routine is simple. A deck controller manipulates electronic instruments to take the pilotless drone plane off the carrier's deck into the air. When the drone, guided from the deck, reaches 500 feet altitude, the "mother" plane, which has been circling above, takes over. It guides the missile plane onto the target, hovering safely above enemy flak range. On the drone is a television transmitter. TV receivers on the mother plane and the carrier enable officers to follow every second of the drone's flight. In actual combat, the drone was an obsolescent Hellcat fighter, carrying a 2,000-pound bomb. It was guided by two AD-2 Douglas attack planes, one on the deck of the carrier U.S.S. Boxer, the other aloft as the "mother" plane. Each was loaded with secret electronic equipment.

This is the heart of "push-button warfare. A pilot, manipulating buttons on electronic switch-boxes like the ones seen in the photo, above, guides a pilotless Hellcat fighter plane along a carrier's deck and into the air. At proper altitude, pilot of mother plane, with a similar "keyboard" before him, takes over the robot plane and guides it to its target. Robot piloter here is Lt. Cmdr. W. G. Maurer.

Here, as awe-struck crewmen watch, robot plane is catapulted into the air by remote control.

The drone plane, right, soars on course to the target, guided by the mother plane at its rear.

Four Newsmen Uncover Nixon Fund

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The disclosure of the Nixon fund was the result of digging by four newspaper men—one working at long range, the other three on the scene here.

Peter Edson, N.E.A. columnist, apparently was the first to get wind of the fund. He said he first heard rumors of its existence at the Republican convention in Chicago in July.

The letters NEA stand for Newspaper Enterprise Association, a news syndicate owned by the Scripps-Howard organization.

The other three—Leo Katcher, New York Post correspondent; Richard Donovan, Reporter Magazine staffer, and Ernest Breashear, Los Angeles Daily News reporter —each stumbled on to it while making separate inquiries in recent weeks.

JOINED TOGETHER

When each discovered the others had knowledge of the fund, they got together and jointly interviewed Dana C. Smith, the fund custodian, last Monday.

Edson, in the meanwhile, talked to Nixon last Sunday night.

"He told me the basic facts and said it was all right to use them," Edson said yesterday in Washington.

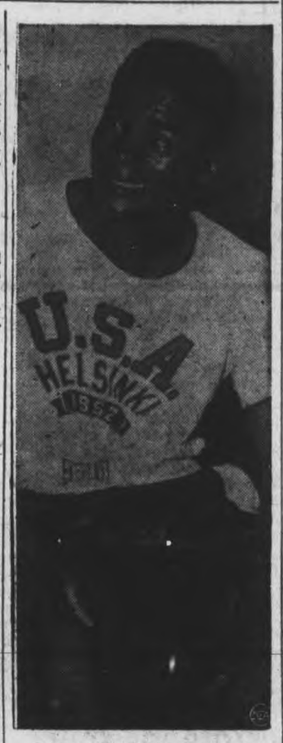
Piecemeal Gains By Reds More Likely Than War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Committe for Economic Development said Saturday that in the next few years there probably will be greater danger of piecemeal Communist gains than of a military attack deliberately launched by Moscow.

For this reason, the businessmen's group, in a survey of United States and foreign policies, pictured Southeast Asia and the Middle East as particular danger spots to the U.S. and the free world.



Calling for "continuous political support, technical and administrative assistance, and foreign capital on a large scale" for Asia and the Middle East, the group said also:

"There is need for the United States to assert vigorously, in the name of the whole free world, an interest in social and economic reform in free Asia and to support that interest with practical action through United Nations agencies and otherwise."

The report was prepared by the research and policy committee of the CED, composed of business leaders and educators, and is devoted to research and planning in economic affairs. The CED is headed by Marion Folsom, treasurer of Eastman Kodak Co.

MAY BE BARRED FROM U.S.—The Immigration Service has been ordered by Attorney General James P. McGranery to bar screen actor Charlie Chaplin from re-entering the U.S. until a hearing determines whether he is "admissible." Chaplin is now en route to England for a movie premiere. Above, he is shown with his wife, the former Oona O'Neil, in New York prior to his sailing.

Damage To Cars $250 In Hit-And-Run Crash

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A hit-and-run accident at Twin Lakes north of Havelock resulted Satdrday night in about $250 damage to the two cars involved.

One car was found at the scene of the accident, the other, driverless, some distance from the scene. Driver of the car found at the scene was Walter Givens of Oshawa. Ownership of the second car, traced through its license, was in the name of Joseph Little, St. Catharines.

After driving toward Havelock, the driver of the Little car drove his auto into the ditch, where it was found. Provincial Constable George Rose of Campbellford investigated.

Would Reduce Fees

Automobile Association has asked the provincial government to reduce automobile licence fees to a flat $10, instead of the present system of charging by weight with a maximum of $25.

Former King Of Egypt Bored To Death On Capri

By ANDREW J. NAHAS

ISLE OF CAPRI (AP)—A forlorn Farouk, once King of Egypt, appears bored to death with life on this flowered island.

The exiled monarch has nothing to do but play on romantic Capri, where a year ago he spent his honeymoon.

Like a caged lion, he shuffles about, his 285 pounds covered with loose-fitting sport clothes.

He smokes big cigars one after another. He easily out-eats all the rest of his family. One morning he put away 10 eggs.

Usually until noon Farouk can be found with his young former Queen Narriman, the baby King, and the two princesses at the pool of Gracie Fields' beach restaurant.

Narriman wears scantily cut bathing suits. The young Princesses spend hours in the water. Farouk sits and watches.

KEPT GUARDED

After lunch Farouk busies himself for some time with his extensive correspondence. The rest of the time he reads all the newspapers and magazines he can find or sits, silent and alone, gazing over the blue Mediterranean from his hotel balcony.

Evenings he goes with Narriman to one or another of Capri's fashionable restaurant night clubs.

Invariably present are his two swarthy Albanian bodyguards and an Italian policeman.

In public, Farouk demonstrates much affection for his young wife. Often he smiles and pats her on the shoulder.

But his smiles are rarer recently. Boredom and an unsettled future trouble him more and more.

Laval University Awards 59 Honorary Degrees

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Laval University, honored by the presence of delegates from many parts of the world during its centennial celebrations, will return the courtesy today by honoring men and women of learning in all fields of human endeavor.

Climaxing four days of celebrations, the university will award 59 honorary degrees during the largest convocation in its history.

The impressive list includes names of Rt. Hon. Francis Michael Forde, Australian High Commissioner to Canada, and Sean Murphy, Ambassador of Ireland to Canada; Canadian cabinet ministers C. D. Howe and Paul Martin; High Roman Catholic church dignitaries, prominent European university professors, Canadian industrialists, Canadian university officials, British scientist Sir Robert Watson-Watt, inventor of radar, and Dr. Charles Herbert Best of Toronto University, co-discoverer of insulin.

Governor General Vincent Massey will receive Laval's university degree, highest honor Laval may award. Sir C. Outerbridge, Lieutenant-Governor of Newfoundland, will receive an honorary law degree.

HONOR MUSICIANS

Also to be honored are two French-speaking musicians who gained renown, Raoul Jobin, tenor formerly with the Metropolitan Opera and now with the Paris Opera Comique, and Wilfrid Pelletier, Montreal-born conductor and formerly of the Metropolitan Opera.

Tonight the celebrations will close with a formal dinner for male delegates.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, Paolo Dore, rector of Bologne University, Europe's oldest, Hubert Guerin, France's ambassador to Canada, and Finance Minister Gagnon of Quebec will be the speakers.

Centenary celebrations mark the anniversary of Laval's charter signed by Queen Victoria in 1852. But as an institution of learning Laval goes back to 1663 when the "Seminaire de Quebec"—a college for training priests—was founded by Monseigneur de Laval, first Bishop of New France.

Yesterday historic Laval was momentarily forgotten when delegates from 42 countries travelled to Quebec's outskirts where a modern university has begun to rise.

"SECOND FOUNDING"

Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, rector of Laval, called official opening of the new university centre "a second founding" of Laval.

Gold medallions, struck to commemorate the centenary of Laval's medicine and arts — were presented.

Messages enclosed in a cylinder were placed and sealed in a 10-foot stele erected in honor of Rev. Louis Jacques Casault, first rector of Laval.

As the delegates stood in silence, facing the monument, the R.C.A.F. band of Trenton, played the "Lost Chord."

ROCKET STARS IN BRAWL

VALLEYFIELD, Que. — (CP) — Montreal Canadiens spanked Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 7-2 in an exhibition game yesterday but the result was almost incidental to brawls involving Montreal players and Valleyfield fans, with Maurice Richard in the starring role

Two outbreaks came just before the third period with the National Hockey League team leading 5-2.

Richard, who suffered a foot injury Saturday night in a game against Montreal Royals, played only the first period yesterday. In street clothes, he watched the remainder of the game from the end of a runway from the dressing room.

A fan behind him said he was "yellow and afraid to get on the ice." Then an usher grabbed Richard and began manhandling him. The Rocket threw a punch and the rumpus was on. Montreal players clambered over the boards and pitched in.

After a couple of cops barged in as peacemakers, the Montreal players returned to the ice but before referee Red Storey could get the game under way there was another flare-up.

From behind Canadiens' bench a fan began abusing Dickie Moore. Dickie's brother, Charlie, sitting nearby, went after the fan and got bopped in the eye—a beautiful shiner. That sent Dickie clambering over the seats. The fan ran. Despite his skates, Dickie took up the chase along the aisle. Butch Bouchard chased after Moore and caught him. That ended the fireworks and the game got going.

Coach Dick Irvin of Canadiens, ever ready to capitalize on events, commented on the brawling: "This should serve as notice to Conny Smythe and his Toronto Leafs that we have a fighting team."

CHOW TIME—A French soldier buys a meal in the market-place of a town in Indo-China. The woman is one of the 1,000,000 adherents of the Cao-Dai sect, one of the politico-religious bodies in the southeast Asia country, torn by six years of civil war. The 27-year-old sect is headed by a white-garbed "pope," a former Roman Catholic, and it has a college of cardinals and its dioceses are headed by bishops and archbishops. Canadian missionaries in Indo-China say Cao-Dai exercises a "terrible influence." Once a family joins the sect, it cannot leave without risk of death.

Four Major Private Armies Maintained By Sects Under Indo-China's Religion

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SAIGON, Indo-China (CP)—Winston Churchill is a "saint" in Indo-China. So are Lenin, Joan of Arc and Victor Hugo.

The religion which has canonized the British prime minister and the others is Indo-China's 27-year-old Cao Dai sect, one of the politico-religious bodies that help complicate the situation in this strife-torn southeast Asia country.

The reason for the complication is the private armies the sects maintain. They resist integration into the pro-French armed forces of Viet Nam and their leaders are local war lords.

ARMY OF 20,000

Cao-Dai, with 1,000,000 adherents, says its army numbers 20,000, though the French list it at 4,600. It is the largest of four major private armies in the country, and is strongest in the south.

Five student land-surveyors founded Cao-Dai after five years' spiritualistic experimentation in Saigon's Station Hotel. Their talkative ouija board propounded an omnibus religion embracing Christianity, Buddhism and statements by a "great spirit" which are supposed to comprise the "third and final revelation."

Cao-Dai's "great spirit" is still talking and makes statements for all. Since its beginning, Cao-Dai has worked in elements of Mohammedanism and has subscribed to Confucianist morals.

It is impossible to reduce its teachings to intelligible doctrine, but its liturgy and costumes are patterned on those of the Roman Catholic church.

"POPE" HEADS CHURCH

It is headed by the white-garbed "Pope," a former Roman Catholic, whose "Vatican" is at Tayninh, 80 miles northeast of here. The basilica of Cao-Dai's "Holy See" is supposed to be world headquarters of the sect, for it says it will not confine itself to Indo-China.

It has a College of Cardinals and its dioceses are headed by bishops and archbishops costumed like their Roman Catholic counterparts. But Cao-Dai's clergy are married.

To enlist support of the rapidly-growing sect before the Second World War, the French paid for the sect's huge basilica with two pulpits—one used by a male preacher, the other by a woman, for Cao-Dai has female "orders."

Canadian missionaries in Indo-China say Cao-Dai exercises "a terrible influence." They say that once a family joins the sect it cannot leave without risk of death.

VIEWED WITH SUSPICION

The Cao-Dai play a deep political game and in that sphere are trusted by no one, though they hold the ministry of health in the Viet Namese government.

During the Japanese occupation from 1940 to 1945, the sect worked with the Japanese. It worked for a time with Communist leader Ho-Chih-Minh when he was negotiating with the French for Indo-Chinese independence. It fought later with the Vietminh after Ho started open warfare against France. Finally it switched to the French side when the three so-called "independent" states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia were established in 1949.

The three other main private armies are the Binh Xuyen, a force of 10,000 which once was pro-Vietminh but now guards Saigon for the French; the Hoa Hao, a fanatical sect which fights the Vietminh with extreme brutality; and the Military Union for the Defence of Christianity, which has an iron grip on one province in Cochin-China in the extreme south.

Cao-Dai's army band uses Viet Namese instruments, string and tom-toms. Its march-pasts are to the tune of "The Isle of Capri."

TOO MANY ARMIES—Nearly 1,000,000 troops are negaged in a civil war in the rice paddies of Indo-China. The Red-organized Vietminh army is estimated to exceed 300,000 men. Against them are 600,000 French and Viet Namese troops. There are also private armies of religious sects which complicate the situation because although thay oppose the Communists they resist integration into the pro-French armed forces of Viet Nam and their leaders are local war lords.

Leading Moscow Tough Guy Comes To UN

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—

A leading Moscow tough guy has come to New York to be Moscow's spokesman at the United Nations.

Taciturn, robot-like and expressionless Valerian Alexandrovitch Zorin, 50, takes the place of sauve, talkative Jacob A. Malik as the Soviet Union's chief U.N. delegate.

Zorin is suspected of having pushed through the seizure of Communist Czechoslovakia, of bullying the ailing Czech Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk into bending to Moscow's will, and signalling the Communist purges in Czechoslovakia.

In the last days of the Second World War, Zorin was a member of the Soviety ministry of foreign affairs assigned specifically to the Czechoslovak department. Zorin's chief function was to brief special Soviet envoys to the European exile governments in London on Soviet policy.

THREAT GAINS POSTS

In March, 1945, when President Eduard Benes and his exiled government returned to liberated Czechoslovakia, Zorin became Soviet ambassador to Prague. He used the threat of Soviet arms to force the new Czechoslovak government to assign key posts to the Communists. Soviet armies had taken Prague, and Soviet authorities kept Benes from any close association with western envoys.

It was Zorin who pushed through the Czech-Soviet treaty ceding to the U. S. S. R. the Carpathian Ruthenia area. He also engineered the secret 1945 treaty granting the U. S. S. R. exclusive rights to exploit Czechoslovak uranium mines in the Jachymov region.

In 1947 Zorin went back to Moscow and was made a deputy foreign minister. But he returned to Prague soon after.

Zorin is a second-generation Communist who came up through the Young Communist League, in which he held a central committee post from 1922 to 1932. From 1933 until the Second World War began, he was a lecturer in the Institute for Communist Education. In 1941 he became deputy secretary-general in the foreign ministry, remaining in the post until 1943. Then he became chief of the ministry's European division.

End Of Shortages In Material For Industry In '53 Predicted

LINDSAY (Staff)—An early end of shortages in industrial materials in Canada was predicted today by Dr. Hugh Saunderson, Co-ordinator, Materials Branch of the federal Department of Defence Production. Speaking to the fourth annual Provincial Governments Trade and Industry Conference at Gilmar Lodge, Sturgeon Lake, Dr. Saunderson said that the over-all supply situation would catch up with current demand "early in 1953" with only a few special exceptions. Stressing that steel was still the most important single item in the metal material list, Dr. Saunderson mentioned the Marmora ore deposits along with Steep Rock, Wabana, Bristol and Vancouver Island as important factors in the future Canadian production economy.

One of the most significant factors supporting the current upsurge in the Canadian industrial picture was the trend in many primary industries to do more and more processing in Canada providing a wider range of employment and decreasing Canadian dependence on the export market.

DEFENCE PROGRAM

Following Dr. Saunderson, the 1952-1953 defence program in Canada was outlined by T. N. Beaupre, asistant deputy minister of the Department of Defence.

At today's afternoon session, delegates heard a report on The Industrial Development Bank

Wants Income Tax Cut Soon As Possible—Abbott

MONTREAL (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said today he feels personal income and corporation taxes should be reduced "as soon as conditions make it practicable." Corporation taxes of 22 per cent on the first $10,000 of earnings and 52 per cent on earnings above that are "pretty drastic taxation any way you look at it," Mr. Abbott told the convention of the Federation of Automobile Dealers' Associations.

"I have said publicly on more than one occasion that it is too high to be continued for more than a relatively short period. It should be reduced as well as the personal income tax as soon as conditions make it practicable."

DEFENDS EXCISE TAX

The Finance Minister defended sales and excise taxes, which he said are yielding close to $900,000,000 a year, as "an indispensable, and I think, pretty sensible part of our tax system."

"My position is that of condoning sales taxes and excise taxes. They are to be tolerated as the lesser of two evils or the least of several evils."

If the money had to be raised through additional income taxes the indirect results on personal incomes and corporate profits would be "pretty serious."

PROVIDE ENCOURAGEMENT

"No one should be discouraged from moving to a better job to get more money," he said. "It would be a sorry day for this country if brains and leadership in the business world decided that planning and working for bigger and better business was no longer worth the candle.

Milquetoast Cartoonist Dies

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Harold Tucker Webster, 67, the cartoonist who created the character, Caspar Milquetoast, died yesterday. He was aboard a railroad train travelling to his home here from Bridgeport.

Webster had been a cartoonist for about 50 years, starting his career in Denver, Colo. He also worked in Chicago before going to New York.

His widow, Mrs. Ethel Worts Webster, is his only immediate survivor.

Webster's "Timid Soul," Caspar Milquetoast, was not the only Webster invention to become a part of Americana.

He also contributed "Life's Darkest Moment" and "The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime"—the titles of cartoons which usually recalled childhood memories.

Other Webster cartoons bore the titles "How To Torture Your Wife (or husband)" "Bridge," and "And Nothing Can Be Done About It."

Talks To Resume

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations between three unions and 11 fine paper mills of Ontario will resume Friday.

Pearson Optimistic

Thinks Military Goals For 1952 Will Be Met

LONDON (CP) — L. B. Pearson, Canada's minister for external affairs, said today he thinks the military goals set by the North Atlantic Treaty countries for 1952 will be "substantially" met.

He acknowledged that the objectives laid down at Lisbon last February may not be fulfilled with arithmetical exactitude, but said too much emphasis should not be placed on paper totals.

"Very great progress has been made," he told reporters.

Asked about the flow of trained military reserves to N. A. T. O. forces, the Canadian minister said his information is: "We're getting stronger every week." He said N. A. T. O. generals are "encouraged but not satisfied."

WILLING TO SERVE

In a passing comment on the United Nations, Pearson forecast that the forthcoming General Assembly in New York will be a "very interesting" session. Questioned about reports that he may be elected president of the assembly, Pearson replied he would be "quite willing" to serve if called upon.

Pearson returns to Canada by air tonight.

The chief business of the meeting of the N. A. T. O. Council convened for Paris on Dec. 15 will be to plan the military program for 1953, Pearson said. The first objective of this program would be to complete the original 1952 targets.

It was generally hoped that ratification of the European Defence Community treaty linking France, West Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries in a single integrated military unit will have been achieved by all member governments by the time of the N.A.T.O. council meeting, Pearson said.

The question of whether German armed forces would be raised in the coming year will be studied. Officers will also discuss whether it would be necessary to share out among all member countries the cost of maintaining British, French and American forces in West Germany and if it would substantially effect the planning of next year's program, he said.

Ask Ottawa To Ease Housing Cost

Lower Down Payment Suggested By Labor Congress

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor today criticized federal housing policies and appealed to the government to reduce down payments and interest rates to help create a new housing boom in Canada.

Convention delegates agreed also that the 350,000-member body should seek the co-operation of provincial and municipal governments in its drive to provide more low-cost housing for Canadian workers.

A resolution to this effect was turned back to a committee for amplification and reintroduction to the convention floor.

RAPS FEDERAL POLICY

Donald MacDonald, C. C. L. secretary-treasurer, facing an election battle for the key Congress job with William Mahoney of the Steelworkers Union as his opponent, called the federal policy "sheer, utter stupidity."

"Appalling effects" had been "reaped by the worker," he said, because of the government's "abdication of responsibility in housing."

The housing shortage in Canada was becoming increasingly greater with more and more Canadians lacking the "fundamental rights to live as decent human beings."

Mr. Mahoney, in his first major address to the 900-delegates convention, said there is no question before the Congress "more vital" than housing.

Cheaper interest rates and lower down payments would not only help provide more homes but would also help maintain full employment, which is part of Congress policy.

At one point a radical Congress element threatened to upset the debate by criticizing the C.C.F. party, the C. C. L.'s political arm, for endorsing Canada's armament program.

Les Robson of the Vancouver International Woodworkers said the government is spending so much on arms it has no money for housing.

SAYS "COMMUNIST LINE"

Larry Sefton of the Steelworkers said the delegates should not listen when "some spew the Communist line."

A. R. Mosher, C. C. L. president, said he entirely agreed with Mr. Sefton. The argument that you could not have guns and homes too was wrong. There were about 175,000 unemployed workers in Canada. These could be put to work to build homes.

In other business, the convention:

Canada Meets Commitments

LONDON (Reuters) — L.B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister, said here today that Canada will have completed her commitments under the 1952 Atlantic Pact program by the end of the year.

Pearson told a press conference that three more Canadian Sabre jet fighter squadrons will fly from Canada to a new base in western Europe next week. They will fly over as complete squadrons to reinforce North Atlantic Treaty Organization troops in western Europe, he said.

Pearson said Canada has already contributed one air fighter wing and one brigade group on the ground strength of the N.A.T.O. forces.

The minister has been on a 10-day visit to London and Paris, where last week he resigned the chairmanship of the Atlantic Pact Council. He returns to Canada tonight.

Declares Canadians Have Endowed C.P.R.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian people have "heavily endowed" the Canadian Pacific Railway, Saskatchewan counsel M. A. MacPherson said today before the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Fighting a proposed freight-rate increase of eight per cent, Mr. MacPherson said C. P. R. stock has moved from $12 to $32 a share between 1946 and now despite company "lamentations" about rates.

It was in 1946 that the first of the railways' post-war rate cases was launched.

The most important reason for the rise in stock value, Mr. MacPherson said, was the manner in which the corporation was endowed by the people of Canada through natural resources."

"I wouldn't say so," replied C.P.R. assistant comptroller S.J.W. Liddy, under questioning by Mr. MacPherson.

LOSES HIS SEAT — Hon. John B. McNair, premier of New Brunswick for the last 12 years, lost his seat in York during the Progressive Conservative upset in the N.B. elections yesterday.

Requests Labor Use Restraint In Pay Demands

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg warned today that inflation still remains a possibility in Canada and appealed to labor to use "restraint" in demands for wage boosts.

But that didn't mean he was asking labor for a "no-strike pledge."

"It seems that in the not very distant past some remarks of mine were taken to mean that I was asking labor for a no-strike pledge," Mr. Gregg said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Canadian Congress of Labor annual convention.

"I did not ask it then and I do not ask it now."

PROGRAMS ON TRIAL

Referring to the world's armament race, Mr. Gregg said that Canada's ability to meet "rigorous" world commitments, and its resources development and social security programs at home was "literally on trial."

"Not a little effort and sacrifice are required," he said. "this is true of all groups within Canada.

"You and I see its application perhaps most clearly in the field of labor-management relations. Both labor and management have frequently been told they must exercise 'restraint.' But what do I mean by 'restraint'?"

"I want to say emphatically that it does not mean any abrogation of the right to strike or any break in the rights of free collective bargaining."

But it did mean that labor and management had to carry out collective bargaining with the full knowledge of the impact of the issues on industry, community and country as a whole.

"It means, further, that the best possible use should be made of all facilities for settling differences.

"Collective bargaining should be freely carried on, between labor and management, with the least possible interference by government. But where differences reach a crucial stage, the protection of the public interest may make it necessary for the government to provide tested procedure designed to assist the parties in arriving at a settlement."

List Percentage Of Popular Vote

FREDERICTON (CP) — Preliminary and incomplete tabulation by The Canadian Press of the popular vote in the New Brunswick election shows that the Progressive Conservative party won with 50.1 per cent of the vote, compared with the 31 per cent it received in 1948.

The Liberals, who had an overwhelming majority in the last Legislature, received 48.1 per cent of the vote. They had 58 per cent in 1948. The C.C.F. showed a drop from six per cent to 1.4. Other candidates dropped from five per cent to 0.4 per cent.

Queen Mother Plans To Visit Africa

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters) — Queen Mother Elizabeth will travel here next year to open the Central Africa Rhodes centenary exhibition, it was announced last night.

The exhibition will commemorate the centenary of Empire pioneer Cecil Rhodes, whose grave is in the Matopo Hills of Southern Rhodesia.

Sir John Kennedy, governor of Southern Rhodesia, said that though no date has yet been fixed for the exhibition, it will be after the coronation in June.

Proper Greeting Puts Singapore In Tizzy Afraid Deep Curtsy Will Split Gowns

SINGAPORE (AP)— A Chinese language newspaper said today Chinese women could not be expected to curtsy or bow low to the Duchess of Kent on her forthcoming visit—the act might split their tight-fitting gowns.

The Queen's widowed aunt will arrive in a week's time, making her first royal visit to Singapore since 1929. The event has society fluttering and the English newspaper Straits Times said Asian women might kowtow to her.

The Chinese Sin Pao explained that kowtow means getting on the knees and bowing forward until the forehead touches the ground. It added: "Good heavens! Is this not giving Chinese women greater inconvenience?" It said such action would stretch the Chinese sheath-like gown to the bursting point.

The Singapore public relations department said a lady can follow whatever is her national custom and if she can't curtsy—then she bows."

Examine Dock Before Trial Starts

Crown Says Suchan Fired Death Bullet In Tong Murder

TORONTO (CP)—The Boyd gang courtroom was checked for dynamite today 20 minutes before the trial of three alleged accomplices of Edwin Alonzo Boyd, bank robber and jail breaker, resumed.

Boyd himself pleaded guilty yesterday to four charges, including one of bank robbery, and actually is not now on trial. But he is in court with the three others.

Two court officials examined the prisoners' dock. They stooped down and felt beneath the bench where the four must sit handcuffed.

"No smell of gunpowder or sign of dynamite," said one official.

Boyd pleaded guilty before Judge Robert Forsyth to four of the 18 charges against him.

PROVE SUCHAN FIRED

In another courtroom Crown Attorney W. O. Gibson told a 12-man jury he will prove the bullet taken from Det.-Sgt. Edmund Tong's body last March was fired from the gun kicked from Steve Suchan's hand when he was taken prisoner after a gunfight in a Montreal apartment.

Suchan and Leonard Jackson are charged with Tong's murder.

Boyd pleaded guilty to charges he robbed a west end branch of the Bank of Montrela of $24,696, broke jail, escaped custody and stole a car. Suchan and Jackson also face these charges.

Along with Boyd were Joseph Jackson, Allister Gibson and Boyd's brother, Norman. Joseph Jackson and Gibson are charged with aiding Boyd in the bank robbery while Boyd's brother is charged with harboring the master criminal and receiving some of the bank loot.

SUCHAN'S PARENTS UP

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lesso, parents of Suchan, and Mary Mitchell pleaded innocent to harboring Boyd and William Jackson while fugitives from justice. They were remanded for a week.

It took five hours to pick the 12-man jury at the Suchan and Jackson murder hearing. In all, 64 persons were called before the dozen was decided upon.

Then Crown Attorney Gibson delivered an hour-long brief of his case against the two. He said he would call more than 40 witnesses, the chief of which would be Anne Camero. The 29-year-old woman is separated from her husband and the mother of a nine-year-old girl. She also has a baby of whom Suchan is said to be the father.

U.S. Must Share Atomic Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today that sooner or later the United States must give atomic warfare secrets to Allied military commanders in Eruope.

The chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff set no time limit for turning over atomic information but he let it be known he believes that eventually the U. S. is going to have to give some inside dope on atomic warfare to the military commanders.

Among other reasons Bradley listed at a military headquarters press conference was that some Allied countries have gained the false impression that mere U. S. possession of atomic weapons made it unnecessary for them to build up their own defences.

He said he found out about this on an 11-day trip to Europe from which he has just returned.

Conditions have changed, Bradley said, since enactment of a law in 1946 forbidding the sharing of any atomic information with any foreign government, no matter how friendly.

And, he told newspaper men, at least some tactical and operational information about atomic weapons must eventually be available to allied leaders, such as Gen. Alphonse Juin, Allied ground force commander in western Europe.

Bradley said Juin and other non-American commanders and leaders under Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's command know no more about atomic weapons and their capabilities than what has been published in the U. S. press.

PC's Sweep Vote In Surprise Upset, Win 36 N.B. Seats

FREDERICTON (CP)—Progressive Conservatives, after a sweeping surprise upset in yesterday's New Brunswick general election, started laying the ground-work today for their first government in 17 years. Hugh John Flemming, 53-year-old lumber dealer and son of a former premier, led his party through a vigorous campaign to win 36 of the Legislature's 52 seats. Restigouche riding, where three seats were in doubt last night, saw Progressive Conservatives make a clean sweep in the traditionally-Liberal constituency when returns trickled in from remote settlements today.

McNAIR DEFEATED

John B. McNair, premier through the last 12 years of Liberal rule, lost his seat in York but 16 party supporters were elected to form the opposition.

Here is the standing, compared to the result of the 1948 election:

	1952	1948
Progressive Conservative	36	5
Liberal	16	47
Total	52	52

At dissolution one seat formerly held by a Liberal was vacant.

The other 17 candidates in the field—12 C. C. F. and five Independent Liberals — lost their deposits. Among these was C. C. F. leader Claude Milton.

Promising efforts to abolish a four-per-cent sales tax imposed in 1950 and government "waste and extravagance," the Progressive Conservatives picked up strength across the province, winning back old strongholds and finding new ones.

Four McNair cabinet members fell before the sweep.

Mr. Flemming, a six-foot, 200-pounder, said it will be two or three weeks before he will be able to form cabinet although he hopes to meet party members within a week.

FORGET DIFFERENCES

Mr. McNair, in a post-election statement, asked his followers to forget election differences and said he hoped New Brunswick would continue its uninterrupted march of progress under the new government.

There was no immediate indication as to the Liberal house leadership. Because Mr. McNair had no seat it was assumed that a party caucus would be held before the next session of the Legislature at which time a decision will be made. If Mr. McNair, 62, wishes to continue leadership it is assumed that the usual practice will

Indict Martin's Sister In U.S. Visa Racket

DETROIT (AP)—A U.S. grand jury yesterday indicted eight persons on charges of helping Canadians obtain and use phony visas to enter the United States.

Two "visa expediters" in Windsor, across the Detroit River, were indicted, including Mrs. Nicholas Steigerwald, a sister of Paul Martin, Canadian Health Minister.

Mrs. Marguerite Prest, also an "expediter," and Roy H. McBride, former branch bank manager, also were indicted. None can be arrested or prosecuted on the U.S. indictment as long as they remain in Canada.

The government claims the "expediters" provided false bank statements and made false statements in helping Canadians obtain visas. Martin has been publicly critical of his sister's activities.

The other five indicted were accused of entering the United States on visas obtained through false statements. All now live in Detroit and were arrested.

A.F.L. Endorses Stevenson As Candidate

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today endorsed Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, for President of the United States.

The action was unanimous by the 800 delegates who acted on a committee recommendation.

It was the first endorsement by convention action since the A.F.L. was founded in 1881. Back in 1924 a special A. F. L. committee endorsed the late Senator Robert M. Lafollette of Wisconsin, who was running for the presidency on the Progressive ticket.

The announcement by A. F. L. President William Green of the outcome of the standing vote by delegates at the Hotel Commodore was greeted with thunderous shouts.

The C. I. O. already has endorsed Stevenson, thus putting the two big branches of labor firmly behind the Democratic candidate.

URGE VOTE FOR ADLAI

The executive council report urging members to vote for Stevenson was submitted by George Meany, A. F. L. secretary-treasurer.

It stated that the executive council held "in high esteem" both major candidates for the presidency. It characterized Eisenhower as "a loyal and patriotic citizen" who holds the respect and admiration of all Americans and millions of "other free people throughout the world for his military achievements."

"While we affirm the highest regard for Gen. Eisenhower's military genius," the report continued "it is as a civilian that he is seeking the highest civilian office in the land. There is little evidence available on record that Gen. Eisenhower possesses any intimate knowledge of, or experience with, the great domestic problems facing our nation."

Nixon To Give Radio Talk

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Republican candidate for vice-president steps before a jury of Americans tonight to tell his story of an $18,000 expense fund—and to plead for vindication.

The verdict of those who hear Senator Richard Nixon in his half-hour radio-television broadcast may decide whether he will remain on the Republican ticket with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Associates of his interrupted campaign denied that there is any basis for talk that he will resign. They said he will try to convince the United States that he did no wrong in accepting contributions from wealthy California friends to pay for "strictly political activities."

NBC television and two radio networks—CBS and MBS—will carry the unprecedented explanation from 6:30 to 7 p.m. PDT.

This is from 9:30 to 10 p.m. EDT.

Trying To Ride Out Storm

Wafdist Party Defying Naguib's Retirement Hint

CAIRO (Reuters)—The powerful Wafdist party today defied a government "suggestion" that veteran party leader Mustafa el Nahas retire from office.

Seventy-year-old Nahas, premier at the height of the anti-British campaign last year, was one of the few major opposition politicians not arrested by Premier Gen. Mohammed Naguib's government earlier this month.

An announcement after the Wafdist reorganization meeting said the party will continue to press for evacuation of the British from Egypt and the Sudan. It will reject any common defence plan sponsored by the western powers, the announcement said.

At home, the Wafdists said they will support Naguib's program for breaking up large estates and limiting landholdings to 200 acres.

Government officials disclosed, meantime, that ex-King Farouk, his sisters and mother must surrender 30,000 acres of farmland next month to comply with the land reform act. Dozens of other millionaire landowners were preparing to give up their huge acreages for the use of landless peasants and small farmers.

Court Jammed 3 Preliminaries Head Long List

There was standing room only both in the court room and the corridor outside today when Magistrate W. R. Philp began hearing a heavy schedule of criminal charges in police court at 10 a.m.

Three preliminary hearings were scheduled today. Toby Voth, of St. Catharines, charged with dangerous driving in connection with a fatal accident last July 9 elected to be tried before Magistrate Philp and pleaded not guilty.

Later today, Leonard Condon, 22, R.R. 4, Peterborough will appear for a preliminary hearing on a manslaughter charge. He is charged in connection with the death of Michael Heffernan, 37, 207 Stewart St., who was found dead in a car at the rear of a downtown hotel shortly after midnight September 2.

Mannis Frankel of Toronto, offered to waive the right of preliminary hearing for Lawrence Howell of Toronto, who faces 10 charges of stealing outboard motors. Magistrate W. R. Philp refused to permit this however. Mr. Frankel then agreed for the purposes of the preliminary to admit written and verbal statements given by Howell to O.P.P. Constable John Cawood in connection with the thefts.

After the statements were filed, and Constable Cawood testified that Howell had admitted thefts of two other motors, Howell was committed for trial at the next general sessions on all charges except one alleging theft of a motor from a Trenton man. Bail was fixed at $3,000.

FIVE CHARGES

Frances Gooley, 30, 35 Stewart St., faced five charges in connection with an accident on Highway 7 July 19. He was charged with dangerous and careless driving, joyriding, driving while his licence was suspended and having liquor in a place other than his residence.

After Gooley pleaded guilty to careless driving, joy riding and driving while his licence was suspended, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said he would offer no evidence on the other two charges.

For taking the car owned by his father D. J. Gooley, without his father's consent, Gooley was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or one month. On the charge of driving while his licence was suspended, he was fined $100 and $2.50 costs and on the third charge of careless driving he was fined $15 and $2.50 costs. If the fines are not paid the jail sentences are to run concurrently, the Magistrate said.

FOUND INJURED

O.P.P. Constable John Cawood said he found Gooley injured and unconscious in the front seat of a car on Highway 7 east of the city on the early morning of July 19. He said the car had travelled 268 feet after it left the highway. He said it scraped a hydro pole, hit a culvert, jumped a large boulder and landed up at the other end of the culvert.

D. J. Gooley testified that his son had never been the same, since he was badly injured in an explosion when he was serving in the army some years ago. Mr. Gooley suggested that his son was not responsible for his actions at times.

Gooley was represented by W. J. Arthur Fair who urged the Magistrate to consider the case in the light of the father's evidence. "You either should be in hospital on account of your mental condition, or in jail for driving" commented Magistrate Philp in passing sentence.

Sees His Son

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—William C. Jameison, a convicted lifer, saw his son yesterday for the first time in 29 years. The 56-year-old Negro, after 25 years in prison, won his freedom last week when a judge ruled that two previous convictions against him should not be counted because he was not advised of his rights.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

A weak disturbance situated in northern Michigan this morning has been behaving in a very erratic fashion and as a consequence the weather picture over Ontario during the night has been extremely variable. Showers and thundershowers occurred overnight at such widely separated points as Windsor, Rochester and Trenton, yet Toronto situated nearly in the centre of the area thus formed had clear skies for the better part of the night.

A major development off the southern Atlantic seaboard however appears to be rapidly becoming the more important influence as far as future weather development is concerned and a more stable trend in the weather is expected by Wednesday. A few showers at isolated points will occur today but overnight clearing is indicated.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Wednesday:

Northern Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara regions; Toronto and Hamilton cities: Cloudy with a few sunny intervals today, clearing about midnight tonight. Widely scattered showers with risk of a thunderstorm today. Sunny Wednesday. Cool tonight with a risk of frost in the low lying areas. Winds light. Low tonight and high Wednesday at Wingham 40 and 65, at Toronto, Trenton, St. Catharines and Hamilton 45 and 65.

Summary for Wednesday — Mostly sunny.

Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions; Sudbury and North Bay cities: Cloudy clearing about midnight tonight. Sunny with a few cloudy intervals Wednesday. Widely scattered showers today. Not much change in temperature. Winds light. Low tonight and high Wednesday at North Bay and Sudbury 40 and 60, at Muskoka 35 and 55, at Killaloe 35 and 60.

Charge Grain Embezzlements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agriculture committee said today it had found embezzlements totalling $10,000,000 in government-owned grain. It added that Agriculture Department employees had not profited personally by them.

The findings were in a 43-page report summarizing the committee's six-months investigation of shortages in grain and other farm products in connection with government purchases under price support support programs.

Although the report absolved the government workers who handled the storage program of profiting personally, it had sharp words for the government administration of the program.

"The evidence indicates as of May, 1952, there had been embezzcommodity credit corporation-owned grain inventories by 131 warehousemen, aggregating 10,000,000, but no evidence was presented to the committee that any C. C. F. personnel profited personally or was criminally involved in this connection," the report said.

The C. C. C. is the Agriculture Department agency hich buys and stores grain and other farm products under the price support program. Conversion is a procedure in which a warehouseman uses government-owned grain for his private purposes, expecting to replace it before the C. C. C. calls on him to make good on it.

Abbey Theatre Heads Plan New Building

DUBLIN (CP)—Directors of the Abbey Theatre have announced the appointment of an architect and a consultant to design the new theatre to be built on the site of its historic predecessor, raized by fire in July, 1951.

Michael Scott, the architect, is a former Abbey actor. Pierre Sonrel is the consultant from Paris.

The new theatre will incorporate the sites of adjacent buildings and while it will seat 700, compared with 500 in the old auditorium, the Abbey tradition of intimate drama will be maintained.

Major enlargements will be to the stage. The building will also include a smaller theatre to be used for the production of experimental plays. It will seat about 200.

She was a member of Keene Presbyterian Church.

She leaves one son, Frank, of Peterborough; two daughters, Mrs. James Dickson (Mary), Otonabee; Mrs. Albert Frick (Lila), St. Catharines; two sisters, Mrs. Bella Davidson and Mrs. Frederick Eason, both of Otonabee township; 21 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Would Donate Doors

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa city council last night decided to take an inventory of its recently-abandoned city jail. Principal items to interest councillors were three ancient jail doors judged to be at least 50 years old.

"Let's donate them to Toronto's Don jail," suggested one councillor.

Life Sentence Given Man 22 Attacking Child

SARNIA (CP)—Walter Willaert, 22, yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment for raping an eight-year-old girl.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow said in passing sentence on Willaert, a recent arrival from Belgium:

"I am convinced a short sentence will serve no purpose whatsoever. If the public is to be protected, I must pass such a sentence as to prevent repetition of these events."

Willaert was convicted last week of attacking the girl in the woods in nearby Moore township. His young wife is said to be expecting a child.

CAN'T BE TOLERATED

"This type of offence cannot be tolerated in Ontario, and I feel that a short sentence would be of no use whatsoever. The only proper sentence that I can hand out is life imprisonment."

Addressing the prisoner, he said: "You have been found guilty of the serious crime of rape after a fair trial.

"You have been ably defended, and everything possible brought out in your defense. Now it is my duty to pass sentence, and that is one of the most difficult matters . . . of a judge.

"It is a heavy and serious responsibility, and it was for that reason I deferred passing sentence on Friday. I wanted to consider the matter of sentence.

"There are two things of importance which must be considered. One is punishment for you, and the other is that of an object lesson for others.

"As far as punishment is concerned, it is the lesser consideration in this case. The main thing is to protect society and the public in general.

"This little girl was 8, and had come some distance to go to school along a country road. You picked the girl up and drove her to a lonely spot where you raped her and then left her to fend for herself.

"It is a type of offence which mustn't be tolerated.

"My responsibility to the public is very great, and I conclude that no short sentence will suffice."

be followed of making a Liberal seat open for him.

Meanwhile, either Works Minister Anderson or Agriculture Minister Taylor, both re-elected, could lead the party in the Legislature until the decision is made.

VAST DIFFERENCE

The win for the Progressive Conservatives brought them from their lowest ebb to their highest in 22 years.

In the 1930 election they won 32 of the 48 legislature seats. In 1935 they were decimated to a five-man opposition, jumped to 19 members in 1939, and dropped to 12 again in 1944.

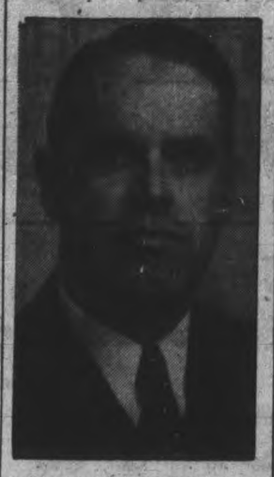
In 1948 they again were tossed back to five seats in a new enlarged house of 52 seats.

That election was fought under Hugh Mackay who retired because of ill health last year and was replaced by Mr. Flemming. Mr. Flemming's father, James K. Flemming, was New Brunswick premier from 1911 to 1914.

Mr. McNair called the election on what he termed a "first-class political issue"—whether an international union should be recognized as bargaining agent for a group of civil servants, employees of the publicly-owned power commission.

Mr. McNair said his government would not grant such recognition.

NOT REAL ISSUE



Mr. Flemming said this was not the real issue of the election; the real issue was government waste and the sales tax, imposed in 1950 as a levy for education and social services. Some of his cohorts declared "a vote for McNair is a vote for the sales tax."

Comparatively quiet in its early stages, the campaign was featured by rejection at nomination conventions of some former members and refusal of a few others to re-offer.

It was the first time that recognition of government employees' rights to join a union was claimed a major issue in a Canadian election, provincial or federal.

Planes Destroy 158 Red Trucks

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — United States planes pounced on Communist-supply convoys last night and pilots reported 158 Red trucks destroyed. This is the highest one-night bag since last February.

Ground action tapered off after several days of fierce fighting at both ends of the 155-mile-long front. The Reds jabbed at Allied lines with 20 patrols. All were beaten back.

The U. S. Eighth Army said 3,332 Communist troops were killed or wounded last week, the fourth-highest weekly toll of the year.

The bag of 158 Red trucks destroyed ran the September total to 1,461. Although a high mark for recent months, the figure is far short of the record 6,179 trucks reported destroyed between Sept. 27 and Oct. 27, 1951.

Ex-Education Minister Dies In London

LONDON (Reuters) — George Tomlinson, education minister in Britain's post-war Labor government, died here yesterday. He was 62.

Tomlinson, who ran Britain's schools from 1947 to 1951, left school at the age of 12 because he was too poor to take advantage of a scholarship.

He went to work in cotton mills for 13 years, learning politics and public speaking in his trade union branch. He was first elected to Parliament as a Labor member in 1938.

During the wartime coalition, he was deputy to Ernest Bevin, who then was serving as Labor Minister.

Canada Rolls Up $197,000,000 Favorable Bal.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada rolled up her biggest monthly world trading credit of the year in July and recorded a favorable balance of $197,000,000 for the first seven months of 1952.

The favorable position, reported yesterday by the Bureau of Statistics, was a reversal of the picture at the end of July last year. At that time Canada had a surplus of imports over exports that left her with an unfavorable balance of $331,900,000.

For the complete year of 1951 she had a world trading deficit of $121,000,000.

The bureau reported Canadian exports outstripped imports by $32,600,000 in July for a credit record in every month but May when the deficit was $700,000. In July, 1951, there was a $7,900,000 favorable balance.

IMPORTS SOAR

In trade with the United States, however, Canada continues to import more and more. In July she had an import surplus of $54,500,000 as compared with $29,800,000 a year earlier. But her cumulative trading deficit with the U.S. for the seven months was $380,200,000 compared with $374,000,000 a year ago.

Export surplus in trade with the United Kingdom rose in July to $35,300,000 from $30,800,000 in the corresponding month last year. This brought the cumulative seven-month total to $270,104,000, sharply above last year's total for the same period of $60,400,000.

At the Boyd trial, Mrs. Margaret Smith, a cashier, identified Boyd as the man who jumped into her cage during the robbery and also a number of bills from a decoy bundle kept in her cash drawer.

BILL NUMBERS KNOWN

The decoy bundle contained $50 and $100 bills of known serial numbers which were purposely kept in case of a stick-up. It was her job to see that they were included in the loot.

Robert McLennan, an assistant accountant who was in charge of the bank during lunch hour when the robbery occurred, admitted he was able to identify Boyd from newspaper pictures when he viewed a police line-up. However, he was not able to identify anyone connected with the robbery when shown a number of police photos at police headquarters on the day of the robbery.

Blame Feathers

LONDON (AP)—The feathers on the American women's hats were blamed today for a threatened shortage of fish in Britain. Too many fishermen are neglecting their fish, local fishery officials complained, for a white weed wanted by American milliners to trim hats. The fern-like weed is used to simulate feathers.

Marooned Fliers Build Icecap Runway

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—The 12 men stranded on a desolate Arctic icecap have managed to make a short runway for a rescue plane, Danish naval authorities said yesterday.

The men, marooned when their supply plane crash-landed in north Greenland last Tuesday, have reported that the snow is in good condition for a landing by a ski-fitted plane.

Bad weather during the week-end held up rescue attempts. The 12 men have now been joined by three members of the British north Greenland expedition, to which they had been dropping supplies when forced down.

Stock Market Prices Continue To Drop

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices continued to dip in moderate early afternoon dealings today.

Western oils slipped steadily during the session and lost more than 2½ points on the exchange's index in the first three hours. Base metals followed with a more-than-two-points loss. Industrials and golds slipped lesser amounts.

Trading picked up from recent slow sessions and volume for the first three hours totalled 1,383,000 shares.

Western oils losses ranged up to 50 cents and hardly any gains were recorded. Bailey Selburn Canada Southern, Del Rio, Federated Pete and General Pete each lost 35 and 50 cents in the first three hours.

The base metal picture was similarly gloomy as leading and lesser issues dropped as much as 75 cents. Barvue, Coldstream and Hudson Bay moved between 40 and 75 cents downward.

Senior golds weakened in afternoon trading after holding firm during the morning and junior golds also slipped. Losses were smaller than in base metals as Conwest, Little Long Lac and McIntyre traded lower. Berens and Cochineur made small gains.

Steels, agricultures, manufacturing companies and retail stores led the industrial decline as most groups slipped. Foods proved the only relatively firm spot as Fanny Farmer and Canadian Canners gained.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down 1.51 at 318.52, golds down 1.51 at 87.17, base metals down 2.18 at 185.89 and western oils down 2.83 at 124.55.

Hope Coronation To Save Art Of Silversmiths

LONDON (CP) — Twenty-five thousand goldsmiths and silversmiths are hoping the Coronation next year will save them from extinction, the National Jewellers Association reports.

An official said that crippled firms can no longer employ apprentices, although there is a waiting list of young men anxious to learn the ancient craft.

In one Sheffield firm there are 20 craftsmen left—the youngest is 65, the eldest 82. A year ago one Birmingham firm had six apprentices under 21. Today all six have been released.

A director of a silversmiths firm remarked: "The Coronation looks like being the swan-song of our existence after 400 years. Purchase tax has strangled us. Although we have made repeated appeals to successive governments, the tax has remained at 100 per cent since 1948."

Motorcycle, Car Hit, Rider Hurt

A motorcycle driver was injured slightly and an estimated $650 damaged resulted to the two vehicles when the motorcycle he was driving and a car collided Monday evening. The accident occurred at Hunter and Rogers Sts.

Bertrand Bowen, 22, 14 Cricket Place, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of bruises to his left hand and face. He was given outpatient treatment and later released.

Bowen was driving his motorcycle west on Hunter St., and the collision occurred as Jack Cummings, 836 Water St., was going through the intersection, travelling south on Roger St.

Cummings told Constable Harold Andrew who investigated he stopped at the intersection, waited for oncoming traffic, then started across Hunter St.

The motorcycle received an estimated $300 damage and approximately $350 damage resulted to the left front end of the car.

Besetting Hearing Adjourned One Week

WATERLOO (CP) — Hearing of a besetting charge against Mrs. Peggy Dick, Baden, today was adjourned for a week after four Crown witnesses were heard. Mrs. Dick, an employee of the strike-bound Sunshine Waterloo Co., Ltd., was one of 64 charged after the Company's general manager's car was allegedly prevented from leaving the premises Aug. 11. Charges against 47 others remain to be heard. The strike has been in progress since July 3, affecting 300 employees.

In a Canadian Press despatch yesterday from Toronto it was erroneously reported the charges of besetting were laid after an official's car was upset while crossing a picket line.

Monkey's Heart May Be Spare For Sick Baby

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Transplanting a monkey's heart and lungs to a human baby may be tried within a year, a surgeon predicted today.

The monkey heart and lungs would become temporary spares. They would sit on the outside of the baby's body, and be connected to the infant's arteries and veins to bypass his own heart and lungs.

They would pump his blood and do his breathing while surgeons opened the baby's heart to repair congenital defects which cannot be touched now.

This prospect is one of a number of bold developments described to the American College of Surgeons. Dr. Emanuel Marcus, of the Chicago Medical School, told of the monkey-baby possibility.

Canadian surgeons have used a monkey's lungs in combination with a mechanical heart to do surgery on babies doomed by heart defects. The infants have all died so far.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROLS went into action at King Edward School for the first time Monday afternoon. Two of the youthful patrol members are seen above, holding back children at Princess and George Sts., allowing traffic to pass. Children darting across busy intersections in ones and twos are liable to forget to look both ways to make sure it is safe to cross. After a line-up has built up, the patrol members step smartly down from the curb and hold out their STOP signs, to halt traffic so the children can cross safely. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

2 Face Charges Of Manslaughter In Fall Assizes

COBOURG (ENS)—The sittings of the fall assizes opened Monday with one jury action and three divorce cases on the docket. Mr. Justice Wilson presided.

Two motor manslaughter indictments went to the grand jury for consideration. Charged are Herbert Johnstone of Toronto and James Holtby of Bowmanville.

Johnstone was charged after his car was in collision with one driven by George Howard of Toronto. William Howard, age 72, father of the driver, was injured and died later in Port Hope Hospital. The accident occurred on July 20 on the outskirts of Port Hope.

James Holtby was the driver of a milk truck which figured in a collision with a car driven by Donald J. Smith of Cooksville near Newtonville last spring. George Oulds, passenger in the car, died after the accident.

The jury case is a $50,000 alienation of affection suit. Plaintiff, Frank Staples of Cobourg is suing Roy Howard of Cobourg, alleging that defendant alienated the affections of his wife.

Addressing the grand jury yesterday, Mr. Justice Wilson said that they served a useful function and that he couldn't agree with those who felt that the grand jury was an unnecessary part of the administration of justice. In these days of transition it was important to know the components which made up the administration of justice. The law was a bulwark of democracy but too few people knew enough about it to know why nothing should happen to shake its foundations. By the very method in which names were listed for jury duty and finally empanelled, it was impossible to "rig" a jury.

"Where the members of a jury carry out their duties in a proper manner, they render a distinct public service," commented His Lordship.

THOROUGH INSPECTION

Speaking of the function of a grand jury in making inspections of institutions operated by public funds, Mr. Justice Wilson declared that he hoped that this grand jury would not hand him a stereotyped report, such as would be compiled from grand jury reports that had gone before. He urged them to make a diligent and thorough examination. Very often public authorities were slow to act upon the recommendations of grand juries, but not always. He recalled a grand jury visiting a Peterborough institution in which the beds crowded into the halls but the place lacked fire extinguishers. The office of the fire marshal saw the report and took action.

In the absence of Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, called away by the serious illness of his mother, the work of the Crown at the assizes is being handled by Alex Hall, Q.C. of Oshawa.

US Administration Studies Criminal Statute For Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says today the United States administration is "studying the application of a criminal statute that might be used against Senator Nixon" and the contributors to his $18,235 expense fund.

A Washington dispatch to the Times says it was learned last night that Attorney-General James P. McGranery is awaiting Senator Richard M. Nixon's further explanation of the fund "with more than casual interest."

The story says "the political furor" over the Republican vice-presidential nominee's private expense fund as a senator "may take a grave turn."

"Thus far," writes correspondent Anthony Leviero, "the Democrats generally have given the appearance of letting the Republicans settle the campaign crisis themselves."

BRING UP AMMUNITION

"But behind the scenes the administration for a few months has been bringing up ammunition to use against Senator Nixon."

The story also says:

"While news of the fund broke explosively and suddenly, the administration, including White House sources, was long aware of it. Leading Democrats were aware of it at least soon after, if not before, Senator Nixon's nomination, but they deliberately held their fire until the campaign was well under way."

In addition to Nixon, the story said, the criminal law possibly might be used also against "the 76 southern California business men who contributed $18,325 to pay for some of the expenses of his activities since he became a senator in 1950."

Must Pass On Gifts From God To Needy

ROSENEATH (ENS)—"Seventy-seven million people are reported in the world without adequate food, clothing and shelter," said Mrs. P. T. Gardiner, Port Hope, as guest speaker at a special W.M.S. thankoffering service at Roseneath United Church or Sunday morning.

Mrs. Gardiner is the immediate past-president of the Cobourg Presbyterial W.M.S. She began her address by relating the early days of the church after the resurrection, continuing with the pioneers of our land who brought their faith with them and started churches here.

The first group of women organized for church work in Princetown, P.E.I., 1825. Tracing the origin of the W.M.S., Mrs. Gardiner said, "The Methodist W.M.S. was formed in 1881 in Hamilton; the Presbyterian W.M.S. organized in 1876; the Congregational W.M.S. formed 1886." The speaker's concluding challenge was, "Can we do less than our share? As long as God gives to us, we must give to others."

The speaker was introduced by the W.M.S. president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, who conducted the service with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe as pianist.

Misses Carole McMillan and Mary Halstead sang a duet "I Belong to the King." Mrs. Delbert Brisbin gave the scripture reading and offered prayer. The offering was taken up by Mrs. J. A. Nichol and Mrs. Andrew Brown.

Visitors attended the service from St. James' Anglican Church and the other appointments on the Roseneath charge.

EDMONTON (CP)—Mrs J. A. McAfee reports that visitors to her garden this summer deposited more than $70 in her Red Cross "wishing well." Money thrown into the well is turned over to the Red Cross Hospital for Crippled Children in Calgary.

Hockey Team Sponsors Operetta At Cavan

CAVAN —(ENS)— The popular operetta, "Sunbonnet Girl", put on by the members of the choir of St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook, was presented in Cavan community hall Friday evening sponsored by Scotts Corners hockey team. There was a good crowd in attendance.

Church Celebrates Anniversary

CAVAN (ENS)—Ebenezer United church, two miles west of the middle road of Cavan, on the twelfth line, was beautifully decorated with baskets and bouquets of late summer flowers and foliage on Sunday, Sept. 21, in honor of its eightieth anniversary.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. James Hampson, Bethany, gave a brief outline of its early history.

The earliest records were made in 1872, the recording steward being William Stewart, great greah grandfather of Arthur and Rae Stewart, who are carrying on farming on the homestead farms nearby.

Cost of building the church and its adjacent sheds, in cash was $800. Most of the labor of building was given voluntarily by the men of the community. The men from the west end of the line challenged the men from the east side in a race to see who could accomplish the most work in the shortest time. Those prominent in helping to build the church were David Sharp, Ephriam White, William Finnie and the Lee family and many others whose names are not recorded.

The little church is built high on a hill overlooking rich farm lands and stands of hardwood and pine.

On this eightieth anniversary occasion the church was filled to capacity with people. This summer the old horse sheds were taken down as their day of usefulness was over and a new fence was built around the church.

The congregation listened to the guest speaker, Rev. Heuston D. McCormack, pastor of St. James' United church, Peterborough, who took his text from the first part of the second chapter of Zechariah. It dealt with the man who set out with a measuring rod to measure Jerusalem. He pointed out that no measuring rod is of any use in the church only the one used by God himself and which varies according to the faith and ability of each individual.

Mr. Norman Lowes, Bethany, was the pianist for this occasion. Mr. Hampson and Mrs. H. Fallis sang a duet and Mr. Fraser Carr, Cavan, contributed two solos, "There Is a Beautiful Place on High" and "The Stranger of Galilee."

Norwood Union Meets With Cottesloe Y.P.U.

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Norwood Young People's Union met Sunday night at Cottesloe church. The president, Orland Brown, conducted the business.

Harold Stinson, Missions and World Outreach convener, had charge of the worship service. The Scripture reading was taken by Walter Clark. Harold Stinson led in prayer. Doris Brown favored with a piano solo.

The topic missions was taken by Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe of Hastings. Albert Thistlethwaite gave a reading. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

BE PREPARED

This of course, is the Scout Motto and we would like to see it extended into every heart and home in the city of Peterborough in readiness for the annual Boy Scout Apple Day being held on October 18th. Mr. Wholesaler has told us that our apples will be up in price this year, the usual cry we hear from every direction. But this does not help us any. For we are not tradesmen. Apple Day is, at present, the only means we have of trying to raise the funds to help Scouting, especially when the price of waste paper seems to be the only commodity to be running in the opposite way. So we would appeal to all you good folk to start saving your nickles, dimes or what have you and give everything you can to the grand cause.

PLANNING AHEAD

October brings along that annual event Fire Prevention Week. Every Cub and Scout, every Pack and Troop should start now to plan a thorough clean-up during the week of Oct. 5-11.

Then there is the Thanksgiving hike to help put that "Out" in scouting.

Plan achievement: Every Troop, Pack and Crew should lay plans now, on paper, as to their aims for the coming year. Plan that every boy in your unit will advance to some set standard, that every Pack will have its quota of two star Cubs, every Troop at least one Queen's Scout.

Have you read the Scout Leader? This publication should be in the hands of every Leader and assistant leader in the district.

PHOTOGRAPHIC COMPETITION

The Boy Scouts Association Dominion Headquarters in Ottawa has instituted a competition for the following:

Cover Subject Class A—Suitable for reproduction as cover pictures for the Scout Leader or for pamphlets. Outdoor pictures of Scouts, Sea Scouts, Senior Scouts or Rovers, against picturesque backgrounds of sky, water or landscape. Good indoor activity shots.

Class B—Cub subjects showing Cub activities or groups with interesting faces or illustrating any phase of the Cub program.

Class C—Scenes and portraits. Portraits of individual Scouts, Cubs or Rovers of any age, or of small groups engaged in activities or against suitable outdoor (particularly camp) or indoor backgrounds.

For particulars get in touch with your Scouter. All entries must be in by December 31, 1952.

ST. JOHN'S CUB PACK

The first fall meeting was a success in both numbers and action with 31 Cubs, many in full uniform, in the Parade Circle.

Mr. Trueman, secretary-treasurer of the group committee, assisted in the inspection and also outlined the Cub promise to all present.

Games of leap-frog relay and checker hop were thoroughly enjoyed. Then came one of those highlights of our Scouting life as a going up ceremony was held in the main hall of the Sunday school at which Blaine Calhoun, Tommy Gunn, Jim Baker, Ross Reid, Ken Druce, Ron Lockington, Garry Birkhoff and Winston Burford bid farewell to the Pack. The ceremony was opened around the Totem Pole at which Skipper Groombridge retold the story of the birth of "Cubbing."

The boys then renewed their Cub Promise and Akela Stan Purser led the boys from the Jungle Path out to the Scout Trail. Here the group was met by Scouter Fred Ford to whom the boys were introduced and Akela wished them good hunting and happy camping. As they walked this first part of the Scout Trail they were held at the Mouth of the Scout Hoseshoe by the gate of the Union Jack and Troop Colors. Here they were introduced to their prospective Patrol Leaders, the flags raised, and the boys accepted into the Scout Troop. The visitors present for this ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun. Mrs. B. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Druce and Mr. and Mrs. Lockington, parents of some of the lads.

Returning to the Cub Quarters a sing-song was held and test work started with Tommy Lewis, Ken McLaren and Bob Cumpsty passing leap frog.

Donald Ross was accepted in the Pack as a "New Chum".

ALL SAINTS' PACK

The first fall indoor meeting of the Pack shows progress during the summer months. Several boys have reached the age limit of Cubbing and are going to the Troop these being James Cook, Ralph Daniel, Ron Waters, Terry Downer, Gary Billingsley, Arthur Rose, Bobby Davies, Hugh Owen, Gordon Currier. The following boys received badges: — Frank Howard, Collector; Eric Carre, Gardener; Bobby Davies, Guide; Graham Sutton, Gardener; Derreck McKeever, Team Player and House Orderly; David Fletcher, Gardener; Bob Line, 2nd Star, House Orderly and Collector.

The opening night included in the program the following promotions: David Fletcher to Senior Sixer; Graham Sutton and Ken Carveth, Sixers; Dennis McKeever and Frank Howard, Seconders.

NOTE TO REPORTERS

It would be appreciated if those sending in news would kindly print the names of boys as it is sometimes hard to give a true writeup owing to writing. We want to get the names correct.

COMING EVENTS

St. John's Mothers' Auxiliary will be holding their annual fall tea in St. John's Parish Hall on October 1st from 3:00 to 5:30 p.m. We would like to see this worth while affair given every support. Sale of home cooking and candy will be on the agenda.

ST. PAUL'S CUB PACK

The regular meeting of the Pack was held in the Sunday School Auditorium at which the opening ceremonies took place. Here it was that Jimmy Anderson, Terry Steedman, Ronald Danyluck, Ron Earle and Clifford Endicott were accepted into the Jungle as New Chums.

The boys then adjourned to the school grounds to take part in games and exercises.

THE REV. W. E. KIBBLE-WHITE ROVER SCOUT CREW

Well, last Monday night saw the Crew down to some serious work on the Den. With a little more work putting up the insulation, we will be ready to put on the walls and ceiling on the inside.

The Skipper and the fire inspector looked the Den over very carefully last Saturday, and the latter ecided that we must build a chimney from the ground up for every stove in the Den. So, one of the first things in the program of the building committee will be to get the Crew busy on building a chimney.

Squire Lorne Robotham turned out last Monday night, after quite a long leave of absence during which be has been establishing himself in the used car business in Bancroft. We certainly do hope that we shall be seeing more of "Honest Ed", or "Smilin' Jack," or whatever he calls himself now.

Squire Ron Hatton will be away for the weekend with his sponsor, Dave Hatton, on his 18 mile overnight hike. This is one of the requirements laid down in P.O. & R. that a Squire must undergo in order to become a Rover. Here's wishing you lots of success, Ron.

Student Tells Of Life In Northern Ontario

CAVAN (ENS)—Cavan United church had as their guest speaker at their service Sunday evening, Mr. George Ingham, Millbrook, who is a theological student at the University of Toronto.

He spent the summer months on a mission field in Northern Ontario and gave an interesting account of his work there. He pointed out that there is a great need for us to put a weekly offering in the side of our envelopes marked with red.

He told of helping a young ordained minister on his seven point charge who before he came held four Sunday services and three through the week. He said there was great talent among the children of the north, but through lack of guidance was not being developed.

Fraser Carr was at the organ and led in the service of song.

Politics Is No Laughing Matter

Adlai Stevenson, in his campaign speeches as a U.S. presidential candidate, has shown himself a man of pleasing wit. He has touched off some of the foibles of his opponents very neatly, and he has made millions of people laugh with him. Dwight Eisenhower, on the other hand, appears to have little humour (though plenty of good nature, which is a different thing) and there does not seem to be a humourist among the "ghosts" who prepare his speeches. But does this give Governor Stevenson an advantage? We are inclined to say that it does not.

* * *

In matters of politics, the plain people mistrust a witty man. If he appears to juggle too easily with ideas and words, they fear that he is not earnest, and earnestness is one quality which virtually everybody can understand and appreciate. Wit, on the other hand, is not. There have been witty politicians; our own Sir John A. Macdonald, and Disraeli were both wits of a high order; but upon the whole it is the solemn man, who looks as though destiny rode upon his back and as if his shoes were hurting him, who appeals to the majority. The Ottawa Journal points out that the drudging Campbell-Bannerman triumphed over the brilliant Arthur Balfour, and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's phrase-making was of little avail against the ponderous oratory of Sir Robert Borden. Yet we think that the Journal has loaded the dice in proposing its argument; after all, Neville Chamberlain did give place, in the hour of need, to Winston Churchill, who is witty in the grand eighteenth century manner. And Asquith, who spoke nobly but without humour, gave way to Lloyd George, whose speeches sparkled with bitter-sweet Celtic wit. There have been merry men in politics who have triumphed over sober-sided opponents.

* * *

When all else is equal, however, it is likely that the public will prefer the unamusing man to the amusing one, and it may be that General Eisenhower has an unsuspected advantage in his lack of ready wit. We do not pretend to a deep knowledge of the presidents of the U.S.A., but we cannot recall one who was noted for his wit, though Lincoln had a great deal of humour which found its escape in reading the works of Josh Billings to his cabinet. And Eisenhower's campaign assistants have not been slow to suggest that Stevenson is an unstable fellow, simply because he has a quick mind and a ready tongue. Such arguments carry weight in the U.S.A., where sections of the electorate cherish odd beliefs. We have not forgotten that some of his followers implored Mr. Truman to conceal the fact that he played the piano, for fear that this would convince some voters that he was a sissy or a "long-hair." What anthropoidal section of the populace would be so convinced we do not know, but the fear was apparently a real one. Already Eisenhower has publicly rebuked Stevenson for levity on grave matters. And there are plenty of people innocent enough to believe that a man who jokes about grave matters cannot possibly be serious under any circumstances.

* * *

Perhaps Eisenhower will frighten Stevenson out of his wit. But we hope not. Canadians hear a great deal about the presidential contest—more, perhaps, than they would choose to hear if they had any say in the matter. We like a few jokes to leaven the lump.

Curiosity About Criminals

When the Boyd gang was captured in North York large crowds very quickly gathered in the hope of having a look at them; indeed, the crowds hung about the district for some time after the criminals had been taken away. We do not see anything very remarkable or reprehensible about this, for since the beginning of recorded time people have been curious about criminals, just as they are curious about kings, beautiful women, prophets, clowns and other exceptional persons. Such curiosity is natural; one cannot every day get a look at four men who have broken out of jail. But Mr. H. L. MacPherson of the Windsor Star, takes a different view of the matter. Once, he says, people made a picnic of a public hanging; "in recent decades they are presumed to have developed such delicacy of feeling that a public hanging would repel them . . but that North York carnival shows the drift to fine sensitivity hasn't been as extensive as suspected."

Mr. MacPherson's opinion does not greatly disturb us, for he has been writing in the same morose tone for many years; we long ago decided that he was a man of excessively romantic and delicate spirit, displeased with a world which does not meet his high standards. But in this matter we agree with the Toronto Star in thinking that he is too hard on the human race.

We no longer have public hangings, but we have the most appalling wars in history, and more and more people are involved in them, and see the destruction and misery which they bring. We have traffic accidents of a kind which would turn the stomach of many an old-time hangman. And every newspaperman knows that wherever something horrible has happened, a crowd will gather to see all it can see.

The crowd does not gather because it is depraved and vile, but because mankind is insatiably curious. It was curiosity, rather than a desire to watch a fellow-creature in agony, which took crowds to hangings in the days when they were public shows. Most of the crowd, we think, pitied the man on the scaffold, but if he was going to be turned off in a spectacular way, they saw no reason why they should miss it. Human natures loves sensation.

A great deal of useless discontent is caused nowadays by people like Mr. MacPherson who expect human beings to behave like angels. There is no surer way of making yourself miserable than to expect more from humanity than humanity intends to give. It is a fact of history that during the last century great humanitarian advances have been made which have improved the lives of all of us in the Western World. Even in our horrible wars evidences of this finer spirit are to be found. Let us be grateful that this is so, and do what we can to continue this improvement instead of grumbling sourly because several hundred people hurry to North York in the hope of getting a look at four bank robbers.

Schacht, German Wizard

Hjalmar Schacht, once Minister of Finance in Hitler's Reich, has turned up again. He has left Iran, which he visited for a week on the invitation of Premier Mossadegh, and he has announced that he will prepare a full report on the economic situation in that country.

Since his acquittal at the War Crimes trial at Nuremberg Schacht has been in steady demand as a financial "wizard." He spent some time in Indonesia advising the leaders of the infant country how to get it on to its feet again. He is said to have told newsmen on his departure from Iran that the Iranians were "lazy" and that the government should give more encouragement to private enterprise. He was careful to avoid comment on the nationalization of Anglo-Iranian, which was decidedly discouraging to private enterprise, and stated simply that he was "not a politician.'" Evidently he has no wish to become embroiled in political questions again after his narrow squeak in 1946 before the allied tribunal.

Undoubtedly Schacht is one of the most brilliant intellects that Germany has produced in recent years. It was generally agreed at the Nuremberg trial that he towered head and shoulders mentally above his fellow-defendants. Although it could not be proved that he was guilty of any of the accusations brought against him the fact remains that his ability kept Germany solvent during the period of her rearmament. Without him Hitler's government might very well have collapsed from within. Thus he carries a heavy indirect responsibility for the war.

A typical example of his mentality is shown by an incident that happened immediately after his acquittal in 1946. On his release from custody he was surrounded by eager autograph hunters. With no prospects, having narrowly escaped a heavy sentence, with his erstwhile associates under sentence of death or life imprisonment, he might have been expected to run away and hide his head in shame. Instead the man who had juggled with millions signed his name for a small fee.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Minnesota couple have been married in a canoe. The report does not say whether anybody stood up for them.

Nobody doubts that honesty is the best policy, but of course if you want to get your name in the headlines . . .

There's this to be said for drive-in theatres: they provide one place where it is safe to sit behind the wheel and let your mind wander.

In Ohio a girl of 14 is suing her husband, who is 21, for divorce. Ah well, those May and December matches rarely work out.

Asked by a correspondent to name some of the world's leading organists and the places where they can be reached, the Brantford Expositor heads its list with the name of Dr. Fricker, conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir, Toronto. We were under the impression that for some years Dr. Fricker has been exercising his talents upon the Heavenly Choir.

THE AMERICAN SCENE:

Nudes In The Cemetery

By KENNETH HARRIS

A GOOD DEAL has been said about it since it leaped to fame at the Democratic and Republican Conventions last July: but few people realise that the famous "Teleprompter" is not a gadget improvised by an ingenious television studio hand, but an electronically operated system devised and patented by a corporation.

The three members of Teleprompter Inc. admit that their business is built on forgetfulness. They realised that the desire of a person being televised to appear to his audience as though he is not reading his speech from a script is outweighed by the fear that if he memorises his lines he may forget them. So they decided to invent a machine that would feed words to the speaker by means of a script printed in letters big enough for it to be located well away from him, and so out of range of the camera.

The idea first came to Fred Barton, a Broadway actor, who thought that a gadget of this kind would be useful to film studios. He tried to get Fox Film Studios interested in it. He succeeded, however, in getting two Fox executives interested in it—so much so that they resigned from Fox and went into business with him.

✧ ✧ ✧

FIRST THEY GOT the Underwood Typewriter Company to produce a specially large machine capable of beating out prose in extra big letters; then they had to devise an instrument which would not only pass a roll of script over a drum at variable speeds, but could be synchronised by remote control with several other machines—so that an actor in a studio could, in the course of moving about in front of the cameras, pick up his lines from wherever he happened to be looking and not merely from one or two accepted spots.

The machine now in use is rather like a music stand, except that it is almost as deep as it is long and broad, so that it can house the script. About five or six lines appear in the window at a time, with two or three words in each, depending on the lengths of the word, in letters seven-eighths of an inch high, the script being typed in these mammoth letters by the Teleprompter typing staff. The speaker being televised or filmed reads off a machine in front of his platform, or fitted behind the ledge of his desk or lectern; the speed at which his script passes across the window is regulated by an operator who sits in front of another machine, reading a script synchronised with that of the speaker.

CONNOISSEURS of Swedish culture will be relieved to hear that, despite reports to the contrary, there are to be no fig leaves on the nude statues created by the famous Swedish sculptor Carl Milles which are now being put up on the fountain of faith in the new cemetery just outside Washington. A newspaper report said that though a hundred million pounds worth of naked imagery had raised no eyebrows in broad-minded Sweden, there had been such gasps in America at the thought of decorating a cemetery—or anything else—with such decolletage, that a man was leaving Sweden immediately with a bag of fig leaves with which to cover up the offending objets d'art.

Mr. Marlowe, founder and president of the cemetery, however, has now squashed this story. "These statues do not need fig leaves," he says, "they are works of art. Besides, fig leaves cause more curiosity than nude nudes." Denying that the average American cannot take his nudes as straight as the average Swede, Mr. Marlowe adds that there have been no complaints at all about the nudity of the work—just praise.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT HAPPENED deep down in the deep South—in Natchez, to be precisely deep enough about it, on the great Mississippi river, in the state of Mississippi. The boys of Neville High School, the "Tigers," were playing football against Natchez High School. Behind the Neville High goalposts were one hundred and fifty teen-age Southern belles, Neville High's "Tigerettes," marching up and down in high white boots, white skirts and purple tunics, singing and cheering for their menfolk.

At halftime Neville was leading by ten points to three. The Tigerettes opened the second half with a tremendous volley of cheers, calls, and songs, led by their corps of drum-majorettes.

Then came tragedy: Mrs. Bert J. Heinburg, mother of Tigerette Joe Ann Heinburg, said "everything was going fine, then the girls started dropping out like flies". Dozens fainted, others were sick, others grew pale. Five ambulances, having the time of their lives, shuttled the girls from football-field to hospital. One doctor diagnosed mild food-poisoning—too much ice cream and hot-dogs, following overheating in the bus. Another diagnosed "mass hysteria", and added: "it's a wonder it doesn't happen at every football match."

Except for eight who stayed in overnight, the one hundred and fifty Tigerettes made swift recoveries. Some even got back to the football field before the end of the game. But, too late, alas, too late: despite its splendid lead at half time, Nelville High, deprived of its female exhorters, lost by twenty-one points to eighteen.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE MAY BE AMONG readers of this newspaper some who are wondering whether General Douglas MacArthur is happy in his work, now that he has left the army and is jogging along on his pension, plus $100,000 a year, which he gets paid as Chairman of the board of the Remington Rand Inc., the typewriter and business machine company.

A friend of mine has just been up to find out: he tells me that the General has his offices in a Tudor castle standing on forty green acres near a little village on Long Island Sound. This castle is an "executive club" for the Remington Company.

Mr. Rand, who runs the company, likes his top associates to work in this castle, rather than in his city offices, so that they can think without being bothered. "We call them office studies," he says, "because that's what we want them to be."

General MacArthur who has now, I gather, exchanged his famous corncob pipe for a highly polished briar, is driven out to his "study" every day in a limousine from his suite in the Waldorf Towers, in Manhattan. He arrives at the castle at about eleven a.m., knocks off about four p.m.—unless he is taking the afternoon off. He does not need to bring his own sandwiches, since lunch is served in the big vaulted dining-room, where the executives can relax from their thinking against a background of heavy Gobelin tapestries, solid Tudor chairs, Crown Derby china and Rhenish crystal.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MacARTHUR STUDY is a long room furnished in Elizabethan style, with a sandstone and walnut fireplace and walnut panelling. The General sits at a huge and beautiful walnut desk, from which he can gaze out on to the front lawn through high dormer windows. Within earshot is the indispensable Major-General Courtney Whitney, who as General MacArthur's public spokesman on the occasions when the General wasn't speaking in public himself, has probably caused more public interest to be taken in the conduct of a campaign than anybody since the man who ran home to announce the result of the Battle of Marathon.

The General's job as Chairman of the board is to lay down the broad policies of the Company, which he might do very well judging by the number of broad policies he has laid down in the past. However, a spokesman for Remington Rand said recently that the General had not come up yet with anything sensational, though "he shows an amazingly broad grasp of the Company's problems." A few months out of uniform, therefore, seems to have made a complete alteration in the General's thinking: for in the army he was always coming up with something sensational; and though he often amazed us, it was not as a broad grasper of problems.

Letters To The Editor

WANTS MORE LOCAL FLAVOUR IN EXHIBITION

Sir: You ask for comments on this year's Peterborough Exhibition.

As this year was my first visit to the "Ex." I am not in a position to compare it with other years, but I feel that it fell far short of my expectations.

Too much emphasis was laid on the Agricultural side of Peterborough life whilst Industry (especially local Industry) seemed to be left out in the cold.

Apart from paying his admission, the average citizen took no part in the Fair at all.

I feel that if said "average citizen" could really get into the Exhibition—to show-off his achievements (both of work and play) for the past year—then he would get far greater enjoyment from it. Let a program of events be drawn up quite early in the year—let us have competitions of all kinds—whether it be pushing peanuts along a pole, or a solemn chess match, but above all, let it be a Peterborough Exhibition and another extension of George St. If we have to rely on imported Midway and an imported Grand Stand for our main attractions, then we haven't achieved enough to even love an Exhibition.

Yours truly,
D. S. JOHNSTONE

PUTS IT UP TO "HORSE LOVER"

Sir; Would you please print the following reply to a letter written by "Horse Lover" which appeared in your excellent issue of September 19th.

First: If "Horse Lover" had taken the trouble to get the number of the offending driver and report the same to the Humane Society Inspector stating his willingness to appear as a witness against said offender, he (the offender), irrespective of the fact that he belongs to the 'sect' of race horse owners, would have been summoned and fined under Section 542 of Laws in Force in Canada.

Second: For the enlightenment of "Horse Lover" may I state that in the year 1950 the Humane Society prosecuted 7 offenders for cruelty, ill-treatment, etc., under this Law which states:—"Anyone who wantonly beats, binds, ill-treats, abuses, overdrives, tortures or abandons etc., any animal, cattle, poultry, etc. is liable to a maximum fine of $500.00 with one year imprisonment, with or without hard labour."

Third: One of the cases in the year 1950 was an offender who, because his horse lost the race, beat it over the head unmercifully, he was summoned, fined and—through the efforts of the Peterborough Humane Society—the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (with which the Society, along with 31 others, is affiliated) contacted the Ontario Jockey Club with the result this offender is barred from again appearing on Ontario Race Tracks.

Humane work shows no discrimination of person or persons—be they farmers, race horse owners, dentists, lawyers, judges, etc.

If within 30 days of the offence "Horse Lover" will contact the Humane Society Inspector and do his part, the offence he writes about will be dealt with promptly; this is what Humane Societies are for—they speak for those who cannot speak for themselves.

A TRUE HORSE LOVER

BUSINESS IS THE VILLIAN

Sir: I have no desire to lecture on methods of breaking the "vicious circles"; those economic gyrations are as much a feature of "our way of life" as the helical wrinkles are part of the set-screw; but I do want to protest the editorial falsification of both the issue and the evidence as given in your "Breaking The Vicious Circle" editorial, Sept. 9. Your suggestion "that labour cannot affort its own wages" is right in line with standard business propaganda: if labour wants more of the goods, that it can't have anyhow, it should be persuaded or forced to take less wages so that in some fantastic way it could buy more.

I submit: It is quite evident from the statements of competent financiers, bankers and the distressed complaints of small business men as well as the fairly audible wail of the public, that Business is our worst social proposition. Business is built on the profit idea which acquires all sort of exploitation methods; it is "our way of life" and shall probably continue to be until we can devise and develop or accept a more degenerate method of exploiting the mass, because: the majority of people of all classes are in favour of a profit system although most everyone would welcome or suggest some modification; but the evils that are generated by business practices should be blamed on business methods, not dumped onto the back of the victim.

Any school-boy in the early stages of arithmetic should be able to figure the fact that, whether wages and prices are high or low, the great body of exploited workers cannot buy what it has produced, and that the greater the differential the sooner the consumer comes to grief. The great business machine, running on inflated tread, is often subject to economic puncture and must be jacked-up and vulcanized with war and rumours of war, and treated with give-away operations to get it back into action.

The ponderous intellect of mankind, agitated to impulsive action by sun and storm and aggravated by its inability to cope with its social environment, is very credulous and easily enticed by the intoxicating and confusing sensations of the "vicious circles". There was a time when it seemed there was a feeble hope that the scientific faculty could help to steady the senses, but in recent decades the sciéntific mentality has been caught-up in the organized endeavour of the vicious circles to serve the baser instinct of man.

If your editorial suggestion could have any effect to destroy the "vicious circle", it could be only by indicating it to greater fits of energy, which could conceivably hasten the eventual collapse of the wobbly social structure; result: Chaos.

Respectfully,
W. H. ROSEBUSH

DISPLEASED

Sir: In regard to your write-up on Friday night's football game it was lousy. This is the first time Peterborough has been able to defeat Cobourg and what do you do about it? Nothing! We are trying to promote football and you are knocking it down with your write-up on the games.

People were saying that this was a better game than the big-four, but still you don't seem to do anything about this. It is about time they smartened up and gave the team a write-up for a change.

Hoping you will do something in the future. Thank you.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly.

Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me. . . . My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me: and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand. . . .

I and my Father are one. (John 10:24, 25, 27, 28, 30.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. (Matt. 7:21.)

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect. (Matt. 5:48.)

Finds Canadians Like To Travel

REGINA (CP)—How do Canadians look to a visitor from India? M. N. Kaul, secretary of the Indian Parliament, gave his observations here yesterday.

Mr. Kaul said the major objectives of the average Canadian include a $2,000 car, a $10,000 house and the opportunity to visit the United States every now and then.

Mr. Average Canadian works hard because there is little domestic help in the country. He doesn't worry too much about eating and food in general, and has little feeling for furniture, being interested instead in limited, simple furnishings.

Mr. Kaul, on a country-wide tour with a group of Commonwealth Parliamentarians, said he has been unable as yet to distinguish any difference between eastern and western Canadians.

Canadians in general seem happy and possess a high standard of living. There are no steep graduations of income.

They like to travel.

Their whole country is "overshadowed by the United States." Mr. Kaul said most Canadians don't like this.

But they realize "there is no escape" from the American influence. Material ties with the United Kingdom—trade, mutual defence and the like—were loosening.

Deny Trieste New War Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain and the United States have rejected Russia's charges that they are converting Trieste into a permanent "war base."

In terse notes delivered at Moscow Saturday and made public last night, the two allies denied they are violating Italy's peace treaty by an agreement giving Italians a bigger role in governing the British-American zone of Trieste, which lies between Italy and Yugoslavia.

The U. S. note ranked as one of the shortest ever sent Moscow. In 190 words, stripped of the usual diplomatic pleasantries, the U. S. turned down a formal Moscow note of nearly 1,000 words sent last June 24.

Russia had accused Britain and the U. S. of flagrantly violating the Italian 1947 peace treaty by the deal with Italy.

SETS OFF BLAST—One of Canada's biggest construction jobs, the $22,750,000 Strait of Canso causeway from Cape Breton to the mainland, was officially set in motion at Auld's Cove, N.S., when Transport Minister Chevrier pulled a switch. He set off eight tons of dynamite which tore away 40,000 tons of rock and earth from centuries-old Porcupine Mountain, the source of supply for the causeway fill.

United Church Holds Rally Day

SELWYN (ENS).— Rally Day was observed in the United Church on Sunday morning, when the Sunday School joined with the Church for a combined service.

The story was read by Beryl Rosborough, and a choir composed of some of the members of the Sunday School sang a children's hymn, led by Mrs. C. Fitzgerald at the organ. The Rev. D. P. Morris gave a short talk in keeping with Rally Day, and spoke of the Church Extension plan being carried out in all the churches.

The regular service will be cancelled next Sunday, Sept. 28, so as to allow this congregation to attend the anniversary service at Fairview. On Oct. 5th a special Thanksgiving service will be held in Selwyn United Church at 11 a.m.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Removal of Chief Constable A. E Knight from office and appointment of A. J. Rush, now mayor of the city, as chief of police, will be demanded of city council by Ald. George Beedle. The alderman made this known last night in a statement, in which he charged the citizens of London are not receiving proper police protection.

No Bill Returned Against Bank Clerk

HAMILTON (CP)—A Supreme Court grand jury yesterday returned a "no bill" on a charge of murder against Reginald Sloman, 28-year-old bank clerk, charged with the slaying of his wife

The jury then retired to consider an indictment of manslaughter against Sloman. The jury will return its decision today.

Sloman is charged in connection with the slaying of his wife, a former model, in their home June 12.

Senior "B" hockey opens here in slightly more than a month, Oct. 31 to be exact. Bill Hanley of the O.H.A. has drawn up the group schedule and it is in today, at least the part which concerns the Petes' home and away games. A six-club setup of Kingston, Belleville, Petes, Oshawa, Orillia and Stouffville. Actually two groups but playing an interlocking schedule. So, we'll see three new teams here this year, along with Kingston and the Quinte crew. Which is all to the good. One team will be missing, the Eagles' application being turned down by the group as several of the clubs didn't want to travel here twice as often as they would for one club.

* * * * * *

It will be better for this city to have but one senior hockey squad in action. It means one strong team instead of two fair ones, and it unites the fans. The better players of the Eagles will be absorbed by the Petes, and the poorer ones on the latter club will be dropped. The only part we don't like is that D. A. McGillis may drop out of the picture as a puck sponsor. We have too few good sports' sponsors like Mr. McGillis—who spent thousands of dollars freely on the Eagles—and we hope he retains his interest in the local winter game in some capacity or other. That is why we advocated for two years now a combined senior hockey club in Peterborough.

* * * * * *

Some Will Drop Out

Some of the veteran players on both last winter's senior clubs may retire from the game, as they have been threatening to do. Ray Harding and Drake Jopling have both said they were through after many fine years with the Petes. So have two aces of the Eagles, Joe Rochetta and Dootch Vitarelli. These fellows may call it a day now, and some others might follow suit. Can't be sure, though, once puck drills commence next month. Meantime, the Petes have called a players' meeting, open to all prospective players, for eight p.m. tomorrow at the Peterborough Golf Club to discuss matters. The club should line up a potent pack for this coming campaign.

* * * * * *

There's always a first time, and yester eve saw the local Timbermen absorb their first lacrosse loss at home this year—they lost but one at home last season, also. Toronto Yorks played a sound game to yank out a 10-8 win to keep the Petes from any chance of sweeping the Eastern Canada finals in four straight. It's 2-1 now for the Thorpe men and they'll have to dig in Mimico on the morrow of it'll be all square when they return to Miller Bowl on Friday. A rugged but fairly clean contest for a playoff number with Russ Slater, Nip O'Hearn, Curly Mason, Ross Powless and Harry Wipper our main point-getters. Kapasky, Jim McNulty, Croft, Scott and McPhail led the winners' attack. Some nifty goaltending seen at both ends.

A Penalty That Hurt

What really hurt was a major penalty to Don Ashbee in the third quarter. He and Stew Scott mixed it and the latter was given a minor for roughing and Don a five-minute sentence for fighting. Stew was back but Ashbee was still in the cooler when Yorks roared through for three goals. More than enough to win as it turned out. The fans gave Ref Piper Bain quite a ride over that one. However, the Petes didn't flash their best passing in the last half, pressing too much in over-anxious manner, while Yorks slowed it down in canny fashion to hang desperately onto their margin. They'll be tough enough yet, but the Peterborough pack should erase 'em ere it goes the limit.

* * * * * *

Lot of folks will be leaning their ears toward the radio tonight as 28-year-old Rocky Marciano tries to dethrone colored Joe Walcott, who is 38, in Philadelphia. The champ scales 195 to Rocky's 185, but the latter is the betting favorite. Orville Loucks of Lakefield, Mark Lonsberry of Warsaw and Aubrey Wood of Westwood will sit in at the scrap. They won the all-expense trips to the fight—with a ball game in New York tossed in—after Katie Edwards of Norwood made the draw for the Norwood Lions Club. A raft of ducats were sold around the district, we're told, and these three were the lucky winners. If it were raining silver dollars all we could put the snatch on would be a pail with the bottom out of it!

TOUCHDOWN PASS — Fullback Don Lord (71), of Edmonton Eskimos, jumps high and reaches far but fails to knock down a touchdown forward pass to Calgary Stampeders' Paul Salata (86) in a Western Conference game at Edmonton. The pass was fired by import quarter-back Dave Anderson of Stampeders in the first quarter. Despite this completion, Eskimos won 35-18 before 15,000 fans.

Rookies Leave Rangers

VANCOUVER (CP)—It looks as if Larry Popein, sensational rookie with Vancouver Canucks last season, will play another season in the Western Hockey League.

Larry and four others from the National League New York Rangers' farm club at Guelph, arrived here yesterday.

Others arriving from Guelph are: Ian McIntosh, centre and right winger; Vic Powers, centre, Louis Frontenac, defenceman, and Aldo Guidolin, right wing.

Canuck owner Coley Hall said he decided to bring Popein back from the National League workout after he injured his elbow.

It is reported Frank Boucher, Rangers general manager, still wants Popein.

AS YORKS PULL AN UPSET—Some keen action is shown in the above shots as Toronto Yorks upset the Timbermen 10-8 here last night to prolong the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals. Top photo depicts Joe McNulty, of Toronto, about to blaze a shot in the second at goalie Moon Wootton, referee Piper Bain having his back toward the camera. Moon made the save that time. Toronto Yorks Beat Petes By A Score Of 10 To 8 To Prolong Playoff Series

Toronto West Yorks pulled an upset here last night before more than 2,000 senior lacrosse fans by yanking out a 10-8 win over the Petes' Timbermen. It was the first loss at home for the local squad in more than a year, and it narrows their margin in the best-of-seven Eastern Canada finals to 2-1. Fourth fray is in Mimico on Wednesday night with the fifth back here on Friday. While play was rugged enough, it was comparatively clean, with but nine penalties handed out, four to the Thorpe team. Don Ashbee drew a major for fighting, and Tommy Banks a major for cutting Harry Wipper, but no other damage was done. However, the crowd rode the referees hard toward the end and after the joust.

TIED AT HALF

Peterborough had a 3-2 lead in the first quarter, but Yorks made it 5-all at the halfway mark, then going on to outscore the Petes 4-1 in the third. The homesters fought back hard for a 2-1 margin in the final heat, but time ran out on them. They appeared over-anxious toward the last to miss passes and take shots wide of the goal, while the Yorks played it in canny style in the late stages as they nursed their narrow lead. That third-period drive by the visitors did the trick with Ashbee in the penalty box in the tight tilt, a fairly speedy and hard-checking game.

There was little to choose between the goalies, both making some fine saves. However, the Yorks did get in close without being covered closely to snipe away repeatedly at Wootton in the last half of the contest. Johnston kicked aside a flock of hot thrusts, too.

LED THE YORKS

Jim McNulty, though a bad man, scored a pair and aided on two more for the winners, with Jack Kapasky, Kenny Croft and Stew Scott also two-goal men. Bruce Webster and Nick Ferri had one apiece. Scotty McPhail aided on a pair, single assists going to Webster, Bill Timpson, Hewitt, Leo Teatro, Ferri and Scott.

Russ Slater slapped in three each for the Timbermen, Curly Mason and Harry Wipper getting a pair each, and Ross Powless one. Nip O'Hearn was good for three assists, as Ike Hildebrand, Wootton, Wipper, Powless and Mason each helped on one.

Mason scored early with a blazer on O'Hearn's pass, and Curly made it 2-0 shortly with Hildebrand's pass back from a corner. Jim McNulty was back from a slashing penalty when Kapasky roared in close to tally on a play with Scott and Ferris. Slater got that back on a whistling shot from an angle, but Hildebrand drew a slashing penalty and Croft took Jim McNulty's forward pass to deke Moon out of position.

PENALTY HURT

Kapasky tied the count early in the third with a rebound shot. Jim McNulty put them ahead then from Teatro, shortly before Jim hit the trail again for tripping. O'Hearn followed him for slashing and Wipper sewed up the score on a breakaway with Wootton's long pass up. Scott put Yorks up once more with a one-hand shot after battling in close through defence. The sinners were back when Banks drew a major for cutting Wipper, and Powless tied it at 5-5 on a fast solo thrust.

Slater slapped a hot screened shot in from Wipper to open the third, but Scott got that back on Hewitt's shovel pass. Ashbee drew a major for fighting and Scott a minor for roughing then, Scott returning as Ferri whipped in McPhail's pass from an angle. Two more scored with Ashbee off, Webster from Timpson at close quarters, and then Jim McNulty on a quick rush with Webster. It was 9-6 when Ashbee returned and when the quarter concluded.

Banks went over for slashing to start the fourth and Wipper scored on a neat passing play inside with O'Hearn and Powless. But Croft got it right back from McPhail and Jim McNulty to take the steam out of the Petes' drive. Slater managed to get one more from O'Hearn and Mason, but they couldn't click again, as the Yorks played it close to their chests to protect the lead. Hildebrand was chased for slashing in the final minute of play. Teams:

Toronto: Goal, Johnston; defence, Banks and Webster; centre, Jim McNulty; wings, Teatro and Croft; rover, Ferri; alternates, Joe McNulty, Scott, Hewitt, Digby, Timspon, McPhail and Kapasky.

Petes Open Puck Schedule At Home On Oct. 31 As Lone City Senior Entry

The Peterborough Petes—representing the P.H.C.—will be the only senior "B" hockey entry from this city in the O.H.A. this coming winter. With the drawing up of the Central Ontario group schedule by secretary-manager Bill Hanley of Toronto (using dates submitted by the six clubs concerned) the door was closed on the local Eagles' application for entry for the 1952-53 season. A recent meeting of the group decided against two clubs from Peterborough, as Kingston, Stouffville and Orillia objected to so many trips to this city. Oshawa and Belleville are the other clubs in.

EAGLES LEFT OUT

Eagles' officials, who are presently under O.H.A. suspension for failure to play a game in Kingston last spring, expressed hope up until this week that difficulties would be ironed out and the club's application accepted. However, the schedule was drawn up over the weekend and sent to the six clubs, leaving the Eagles out.

The Petes will play a 30-game schedule, with 15 home games, before group playoffs commence. They open with Belleville here on Oct. 31 and finish up Feb. 20. Kingston, Belleville and the Petes are actually Group 1 of this area, with Stouffville, Orillia and Oshawa in Group 2, but they play an interlocking schedule, with a short round-robin effort thrown in midway through the season. At the end of the schedule, the top two teams in each group play off, survivors then meeting in a best-of-seven series to end March 21.

Following is the official O.H.A. schedule for this area, as it concerns the Petes' team of the Peterborough Hockey Club:

Oct. 31—Belleville at Petes.
Nov. 7—Petes at Belleville.
Nov 12—Petes at Stouffville.
Nov. 14—Oshawa at Petes.
Nov. 20—Petes at Oshawa.
Nov. 21—Stouffville at Petes.
Nov. 28—Orillia at Petes.
Nov. 29—Petes at Kingston.
Dec. 1—Kingston at Petes.
Dec. 3—Petes at Orillia.
Dec. 10—Petes at Kingston.
Dec. 12—Belleville at Petes.
Dec. 15—Kingston at Petes.
Dec. 19—Petes at Belleville.
Dec. 29—Orillia at Petes.
Jan. 2—Petes at Stouffville.
Jan. 8—Petes at Oshawa.
Jan. 9—Oshawa at Petes.
Jan. 12—Stouffville at Petes.

TCS Gridders Try Out For Princeton Team

PORT HOPE — Two of the best players in the Little Big Four football league the past two seasons are now at Princeton University trying out for the freshman team.

Halfback Bob McDerment and centre Hugh Wats, co-captains of Trinity College School's league champions last year, have enrolled at the university, which was the leading U.S. eastern football power last year.

T.C.S. Coach Bernie Hodges reported Monday night that he had heard they have fairly good chances of making the frosh squad. "Princeton uses a single wing formation, as we do, and I don't think the boys should have too much difficulty catching on."

Brampton Wins Junior Lacrosse Title

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Brampton Excelsiors retained the Canadian junior lacrosse championship last night as they edged Vancouver Kerries 10-9 on a fourth quarter goal by forward Jack Sibbald.

Brampton took the best-of-five series for the Minto Cup three games to one. Kerries were swamped 27-9 in the opener came back to take the second game 13-10 but lost 16-3 Saturday night.

The score was tied at the end of both the first and third quarters with Brampton leading 5-4 at half-time. Vancouver went into the lead 9-8 on a goal by Bill Barbour at 3:20 of the fourth quarter

However, Joe Caruso scored for Excelsiors at 4:41 and Sibbald smacked in the winning goal on a solo effort at 11:15. Excelsiors played a stalling game for the remainder of the contest, witnessed by a crowd of 800.

Irvin Praises Forward Line

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens gave forth yesterday with words of commendation for one of his forward lines, the threesome of Ken Mosdell, Floyd Curry and Dick Gamble.

The trio worked as a unit at the start of the last National Hockey League season, and, following a week's training and two exhibition games by his squad, Irvin said he thinks the three will work together again because they have been the steadiest line in practice.

The coach said the veteran Mosdell, who suffered a broken shoulder last season, should be his efficient self at centre again, along with the hustling Curry and Gamble playing his sophomore year. Last season Gamble potted 23 goals.

At the same time Irvin said "A couple of the veterans still aren't showing much foot." He didn't name them.

RACE DRIVER BANNED

MILAN (AP)—Piero Carini, Italian auto racing driver, yesterday was banned from national and international competition for using delaying tactics against Argentine ace Juan Froilan Gonzales in the Grand Prix of Modena. Gonzales, driving a Maserati, placed second behind Luigi Villoresi of Italy who won the Sept. 14 race in a Ferrari.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

A school of sports thought, that has developed since our nearly pointless efforts in Olympic Games track-field, would eliminate our competition therein until such time as we develop athletes of a calibre, reasonably certain of points, and meantime, devote our funds to sending forth trap-shooters, paddlers, boxers, in which diversions we might show to better advantage.

It's a sound practical thought, all right, but though it makes no difference, I don't agree. The view-point can't very well be disputed, if you adhere to coldly practical grounds. But amateur sport isn't founded, necessarily on coldly practical grounds. There's a sentimental side to it. Every country doesn't send track-field winners to the Games. Indeed, such entries are limited to a very few nations. And it would be putting the final killing blow on the ambitions and hopes of young Canada if the Olympic standards were set so high, in the Trials, that practically none could make them. There must be some sporting tolerance in these things, and the goal of Olympic competition and, perhaps, Olympic victory, must be kept alive for the future, even if we haven't done so well in the last couple of Games.

The Olympic goal must remain, beyond the Empire Games. So we must in Canada reach a compromise between the practical and the sentimental in our Olympic outlook. Shall victory be the only consideration, with none but reasonably certain winners sent to the Games, which would mean reducing the team to non-existent proportions, or shall we maintain the attitude that the Olympics are a goal worth retaining, but that if victory is not achieved, then the competition itself has been worth while?

We must take either attitude or abandon the fruitless endeavor to distinguish between the two in a world where athletic success becomes the hall-mark almost in the grade school with little or no toleration for lack of it. Perhaps the attitude would change if Baron deCoubertin's thesis was hung on every school-room wall.

When he succeeded in restoring the Games, back in 1896, Baron deCoubertin wrote: "The important part in the Olympic Games is not to win but to take part in them, just as in life the most essential thing is not so much to conquer as to have fought well!"

Nations greater in population than Canada didn't fare so well in the Olympic track-field competitions. There must be heart-burning and disappointment in many nations, as fond hopes were dashed, by amazing performances that sent former records rolling brokenly into the past.

So let's look ahead. We've had a Kerr, a Williams, a McNaughton, a Sherring, a Hodgson before. Why not again?

Brooklyn Set To Celebrate Pennant Win; Yanks, Indians Battling

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Bedlam was expected to reign sometime today in the clubhouse of Brooklyn Dodgers. But while the Brooks prepared to celebrate the clinching of the 1952 National League pennant, New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians quietly continued their scrap for American League honors. The Dodgers, leading New York Giants by six games with six games to go, need only one more victory or Giant defeat to nail down their first flag since 1949.

Manager Charley Dressen's eager beavers could clinch the title without lifting a bat. The Giants meet Boston Braves in a twin bill this afternoon while the Dodgers tangle with Philadelphia in a twi-night bargain engagement. Should the Giants split with Boston the champagne will flow in Brooklyn. If the Giants hang on, it will be up to Billy Loes and Johnny Rutherford, scheduled to start against the Phils, to bring home the bacon.

YANKS MEET BOSOX

Meanwhile, the Yanks, nursing a one-game lead over the Indians, invade the Boston Red Sox lair for a three-game series while the Indians entertain Chicago White Sox in a two-game set.

The Indians narrowed the gap yesterday to one game as Early Wynn pitched the Tribe to a 6-3 decision over Detroit Tigers in the only activity in either league.

Boston's best—Ellis Kinder, Sid Hudson and Mel Parnell—are scheduled to face the New Yorkers. After this series, the Yanks invade Philadelphia for three games where they will face Bobby Shantz, Harry Byrd and Alex Kellner, the cream of the Athletic pitching staff.

Manager Casey Stengel plans to shoot Johnny Sain, Vic Raschi and a second-line pitcher against the Red Sox with Ed Lopat, Allie Reynolds and Raschi working against the A's.

The Indians have only four games remaining and their three 20-game winners, Wynn, Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia will start all four games.

CLOSE ON WEEKEND

The Indians, idle Thursday and Friday, close out the season in Detroit with single games Saturday and Sunday. If the Indians and Yanks wind up in a tie Sunday, Lemon will be ready to go against the Yanks in the sudden-death game for the championship in Cleveland the next day.

Wynn limited the Tigers to five hits yesterday in posting his 23rd victory. The Indians broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth, Wynn scoring from second base as rookie shortstop Harvey Kuenn fumbled a grounder by Bob Avila. Cleveland wrapped up its 15th victory in 17 starts with two runs in the eighth on a triple by Avila, single by Larry Doby and double by Luke Easter. Virgil Trucks went all the way for Detroit and suffered his 18th defeat.

BOIVIN TO GO WITH LEAFS

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Leo Boivin of Prescott, who balked at a major league hockey contract last year, has changed his mind. The 21-year-old defenceman, now at the Toronto Maple Leaf training camp, said yesterday he wants a pro career with the National League Leafs.

Boivin, told that no member of the Toronto team received less than $6,000 last season, said: "Where else can a fellow who has just reached 21 make that kind of money?"

Hoping Rain To Hold Off For Big Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Dynamic Rocky Marciano anxiously peered at glowering skies today as they marked off the long hours for their heavyweight title clash at 10:30 p.m. EDT in Municipal Stadium.

A light drizzle dampened the city last night and early today and the forecast was for rain through most of the day.

If it rains late today and a postponement is necessary, the 15-round bout will be put on tomorrow. The fight will be beamed via a closed circuit to a record number of 50 theatres in 31 cities coast to coast.

MANY TO SEE BOUT

Some 120,000 to 140,000 spectators are expected to view the "youth vs age" struggle in the theatre at prices ranging up to $4.80.

The unusual starting time was described by a promotion spokesman as the "best time for satisfying all conditions of the big event." Most top fights begin at 10 p.m. EDT.

If the bout goes on it will be the richest heavyweight promotions since the Joe Louis-Walcott return June 25, 1948.

Co-promoters Jim Norris and Herman Taylor look for a crowd of 50,000 and a gate of between $550,000 and $600,000. Walcott will collect 40 per cent of the net while the 28-year-old challenger will receive 20 per cent. They will get the same percentage of the theatre-TV and movie money.

The challenger, from Brockton, Mass., remained the favorite to dethrone the 38-year-old Negro. Latest odds boosted Rocky up to an 8-to-5 choice.

EXPERTS PICK ROCKY

Boxing writers plumped for the youngster by better than 5 to 1.

Jersey Joe is supremely confident he will hand the crude but dangerous challenger the first licking of his career.

Trainer Dan Florio says: "Joe will knock him stiff in the first round."

Red Wings Clip Montreal 6-2, Take 2-1 Lead

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Rochester Red Wings scored five runs in the third inning before a man was retired to defeat Montreal Royals 6-2 last night and take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven final series for the International League's Governors Cup.

Preacher Jack Fazholz, right-hander who won 15 games during the regular season, went the route for the second time in the playoffs to bag his second straight win. Faszholz yielded 10 hits, nine of them singles, and did not walk a man.

Faszholz started the five-hit, five-run outburst that saw rookie right-hander Ed Roebuck blasted off the hill. Faszholz led off with a triple, and before the Royals were able to get a man out three singles, a triple by Steve Bilko, a walk, wild pitch and error brought in five tallies.

Three reliefers blanked the Wings the rest of the way, but could not deny them their sixth victory in seven playoff starts this season.

Boston Needs Good Defence

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP)—Give Boston Bruins some good defencemen and they must be chalked up as the darkhorse in the coming National Hockey League race.

That was the big talk yesterday as 45 members of the Bruin squad got down to some real training. Most of the squad reported Saturday.

A surprise to many was the return of Woody Dumart. The veteran star, who played his first hockey in Kitchener, was supposed to have hung up his skates for good at the end of last season.

The Bruins have two defencemen to start. Al Lado and Bill Quackenbush are sure bets.

But Patrick needs more defence material from such men as Bob Armstrong, with Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League last season, and Warren Godfrey of Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League.

Chicago Edges Red Wings 5-4 In Exhibition

SCHUMACHER (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks, making a pre-National Hockey League season tour of Ontario with Detroit Red Wings, defeated the Red Wings 5-4 here last night.

It was the Hawks' first victory in four games. Detroit took two games, 4-2 and 3-1, and tied the other 3-3.

Ray Hannigan, a native of Schumacher recently traded to the Hawks by Toronto Maple Leafs, scored the tying goal for Chicago and Pete Babando of South Porcupine fired the winner.

Eighteen penalties were called and the Hawks showed they were opportunists by scoring three times while Benny Woit of Detroit was off for interference.

Detroit led 1-0 in the first period and 3-1 going into the third. The Hawks came to life in the final 20 minutes to score four goals to Detroit's one.

Other goal-getters for Chicago were Roy Conacher with two and Gerry Couture.

Detroit scorers were Ted Lindsay with two, Metro Prystai and George Sinclair.

First Negro Player To Join Mohawks

CINCINNATI (AP)—The first Negro to play in organized hockey in the United States may be a member of Cincinnati Mohawks of the International League, Alex Sinclair, general manager of the Cincinnati Garden, said yesterday.

The player is Ray Leacock, who performed last year with the Montreal Junior Canadiens and who now is working out with the Mohawks in Montreal.

Cincinnati joined the International League this year after withdrawing from the American Hockey League. The team was in the A.H.L. for three seasons.

Fighter Facts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, 38, will be the oldest heavyweight champion ever to defend his crown when he steps into the Municipal Stadium ring tonight against 28-year-old Rocky Marciano. Walcott's listed birth date is Jan. 21, 1914.

Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson defended at the age of 37.

Exactly 26 years ago tonight, Jack Dempsey lost his heavy weight crown to Gene Tunney in a tremendous upset. They drew a record crowd and gate of 120,757 and $1,895,733 to Municipal Stadium.

The next time they met Gene and the Manassa Mauler lured a gross gate of $2,658,660 to Chicago's Soldier's Field. That's still the all-time financial record. The crowd was 104,943.

Marciano is the first undefeated heavyweight since Jim Jeffries to fight for the title. Jeffries won the crown from Fitzsimmons in his 13th pro bout but two draws marred his record. Marciano is the only one with a perfect record to get a crack at boxing's most prized crown. Winner of all 42 of his pro fights, Marciano never has been floored.

Walcott started his pro career 22 years ago, Sept. 9, 1930. His listed record is 49-15-1. Challenger Marciano's first official pro bout was held July 12, 1948.

Pulp Industry Operations Swell Canadian's Earnings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

This may come as a surprise to the average Canadian but operations of the Canadian pulp and paper industry contribute substantially to his earnings.

This is the word from the association in its booklet, "Canadian Wood Pulp Date 1952," which says that the operations of the industry affect and are of primary importance to all Canadian commerce.

HAS GREATEST VALUE

The booklet says pulp and paper is by far the largest contributor to the national income; the value of its exports is vastly greater than any other commodity; it is the largest industrial buyer of goods and services in the country.

Thus, directly and indirectly, the industry contributes substantially to the earnings of all Canadians.

The booklet sets forth facts and figures to back up its statements too:

In 1951, gross production value totalled more than $1,000,000,000, covering only value of pulp and paper made for use at home and abroad.

This came from the operation of 130 pulp and paper mills across Canada which had an estimated capital investment of more than $1,500,000,000. The mills employed an estimated 60,000 permanent workers with an average capital investment per employee of $25,500.

BIG WAGE BILL

The industry's annual wage bill ran to $270,000,000; other hundreds of millions are spent annually for the purchase of fuel, electricity and chemicals and other materials used in the manufacturing process.

Transportation charges amounted to $200,000,000 as the industry accounted for one of every eight freight cars loaded in Canada.

With the ever-increasing demand for paper throughout the world and under the impetus of two global wars, Canada's wood pulp production expanded rapidly.

At the start of the First World War, production was around 1,000,000 tons but by 1939 annual production increased to 4,500,000 tons. Between 1939 and 1952, production more than doubled and in 1951 totalled more than 9,200,000 tons.

Before 1939, Canadian wood pulp output was used chiefly in Canadian paper mills and exports amounted to only 700,000 tons or 16 per cent of output. In 1952, however, exports were more than 2,200,000 tons, nearly one quarter of the pulp produced, with a value of more than $365,000,000.

Domestic use of wood pulp in 1951 totalled nearly 7,000,000 tons, compared with 3,800,000 tons in 1939 and 3,400,000 tons in 1929.

Tobacco Farmer Cares For Land

DELHI (CP)—A group of 60 representatives of Ontario conservation authorities was told yesterday the tobacco farmer no longer takes from the soil without putting anything back.

This defence of the tobacco farmer was made by L. S. Vickery, superintendent of the experimental sub-station, when the group made its first stop here on a five-day tour through southern Ontario.

Mr. Vickery explained that at the experimental station and on farms in the district, a careful crop-rotation plan is followed.

Tobacco is succeeded by rye with only a two-week period when the land is bare in the fall. The rye, a winter cover crop, is allowed to mature before being plowed under and then more rye is planted. The only other time when the land has no cover crop is the following spring when the tobacco is getting a start. In two years, tobacco land is exposed for only about six weeks.

Ministers, Newspapermen Lack Mutual Understanding

Lack of understanding between ministers and newspapermen is affecting the coverage religious news gets in Canadian newspapers.

This is the theme of an article in the current issue of Saturday Night — Our Preachers and the Press — written by the Rev. A. C. Forrest, minister of First United Church, Port Credit.

Ministers frequently complain that when a minister gets into difficulties or there is a row in a congregation, it gets front page coverage, but the results of hard work and the accomplishments of religious men and women working in local parishes and mission fields are often overlooked.

MINISTERS BLAMED

In Mr. Forrest's opinion, ministers themselves are largely to blame for this situation. "I have often been chagrined by the way my brethren of the cloth treat my brethren of the press," he writes. "They (ministers) believe in the printed word, they will push the circulation of their denominational papers, even subsidize them heavily, but remain suspicious of any method to secure more and better publicity in those papers which go out to great numbers of non-church as well as church people."

The answer to better church-press relations is for churches to improve their public relations—In other words, for ministers to wake up to the fact that "the press can do a lot for the work of the church" and that since a minister is "a preacher and a teacher, he has a responsibility to help mould public opinion for good . . . he needs the press as well as the pulpit."

"In small towns, you will hear the preacher speak of the weekly paper as 'the local rag' and perhaps question the integrity and ability of the editor, when their name gets spelled wrongly, or some meeting date gets mixed up. Actually, a small town editor can be the preacher's greatest ally," Mr. Forrest continues.

CARELESSNESS

At the same time, Mr. Forrest gives the press a verbal slap on the wrist for carelessness in their treatment of religious news.

He recalls overhearing one reporter comment to another at a religious conference, "Maybe if I turn in a lousy story on this, they'll put me back on the police beat." He was bored. He couldn't understand what was going on in the debates and there was no one to give him much help. So, he had been reduced to prowling along the corridors in search of a human interest angle. Such reporters come up with the trivia about what an unknown delegate from Nova Scotia thinks of Toronto's bars or women in the ministry."

A good public relations committee at such conferences which can obtain mimeographed copies of speeches, or summaries of important resolutions or legislation can help reporters immeasureably, Mr. Forrest continues. "Preachers, or heads of committees who take the trouble to drop into the press room, or stop at the table, leaving a few copies of the committee's findings will have good coverage. A few preachers take the trouble. Others think it is undignified, but it is good public ministry.

Propaganda budgets, public relations officers and boards of information are not the answer to the question of how churches can obtain better coverage of religious news, but rather, Mr. Forrest thinks, "the basic requirement is to get rid of some of the misunderstanding."

CEASE SUSPICION

"Preachers must cease to be suspicious of reporters because of the antics of the few. They are decent, intelligent and to be trusted. A preacher can talk off the record to a reporter with no fear of his remarks being quoted. No reporter is going to slant religious news because of his or his publishers' views. The preacher should know that editors are very anxious to give good coverage.

However, the reporter has to get color into his news and he has to be left to decide what is worth reporting and what is not. The newspaper public won't be as patient as the morning congregation who listen as though they were interested, even to dull sermons."

Mr. Forrest conclues with the suggestion that ministers might well profit by a lecture or two by a good newspaperman at one of their annual conferences and theological students "might well forego an hour's Greek or Hebrew, in the final year, in order to have a good reporter give his views on Preachers and the Press."

Opposes Church Union

TORONTO (CP)—The Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches and the regular Baptist Church are opposed to union with the United Church of Canada, Dr. W. Gordon Brown, dean of Central Baptist Seminary, said yesterday. He was referring to an invitation last week by the General Council of the United Church to join in conversations toward church union.

The rabies outbreak was said to have broken out among foxes and wolves.

Campbellford Man Thrown From Seeding Machine, Dies Almost Instantly

Seeding Wheat In Rain On Nephew's Farm Believe Machine Hit Stump, Horses Bolted, Man Fell, Struck Head

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—A retired farmer, 68-year-old Charles L. Bland of Campbellford, died almost instantly late Monday afternoon from injuries received when he was thrown from a seeding machine. He was working his nephew's farm, on the northern outskirts of the village, when the fatal accident occurred. Mr. Bland was seeding wheat during a heavy rain when it is believed that the machine struck a bump, the horses bolted, and he struck his head on the seeder as he was thrown to the ground.

Coroner Dr. J. R. Anderson of Campbellford said death was caused by a combination of injuries: Concussion, hemorrhaging of the brain, and chest injuries. There will be no inquest.

WORKING ALONE

Mr. Bland, though retired from farming, liked to keep his hand in by assisting his nephew, Percy Bland, whose farm is in Seymour Township on the northern outskirts of Campbellford. He was by himself when the seeder is believed to have hit the bump tossing him from the seed bags he was using as a seat.

Some workers on the Campbellford fair grounds adjoining the wheat field were the first to have an inkling that anything was amiss. They saw the horses, unattended, standing in a far corner of the field, and they notified Percy Bland who was working elsewhere on the farm.

C. J. Bland

With him they retraced the route of the runaway seeder and found the elderly man dead on the ground.

Dr. Anderson said Mr. Bland died almost immediately.

He was born in Haldimand Township, son of the late William Bland and Mary Knight. At the age of 15 he moved out to Saskatchewan and farmed there successfully for the greater part of his life.

His first wife died several years ago and two years ago he moved back to Campbellford where he married the former Bessie Hinton. Mrs. Bland teaches school in Campbellford.

The immediate members of the family are being notified.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Dennistouns Wed In Peterborough 60 Years Ago

Residents until 1905 of Peterborough, Justice and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in Winnipeg recently.

They were married September 6, 1892, in St. John's Anglican Church here, while Mr. Dennistoun was connected with the firm of Hall, Dennistoun and Peck.

Thirteen years later, they left with their three sons for Winnipeg, where they have lived for the past 47 years. For some years, Mr. Dennistoun practised law in the Manitoba capital, until he was named a justice of the province's supreme court, shortly after the First World War.

The Bishop of Toronto performed the wedding service, assisted by the Ven. V. Clementi and the Rev. C. B. Kenrick. Mrs. Dennistoun was the youngest daughter of the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, for more than 30 years rector of Peterborough.

Mr. Dennistoun was a son of Judge and Mrs. Robert Dennistoun, whose home was at Inverlea.

Mrs. A. O. McBean of Vancouver, B.C., a daughter of Justice and Mrs. Dennistoun, wrote The Examiner recently to tell of her parents' anniversary and said she had been told that the crowd at the church on the wedding day was so great that someone had the misfortune to break a leg.

There is no mention of that fracture in The Examiner's account of the wedding, but the story did tell that the church was packed an hour before the service, and the lawns were "overflowing."

Lakefield Man Ronald Emery Killed In Korea

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—A former resident of Lakefield, Lance Corporal Ronald Emery, 21, died in Korea Sept. 18 of wounds he received the day before.

His grandmother, Mrs. Christina Edwards, Lakefield, received the news Monday. For many years Ronald Emery lived with his grandmother in the village.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Weller Emery of Sudbury. His mother was formerly Olive Edwards of Lakefield.

L.-Cpl. Emery enlisted in the provost corps in May, 1950, and served five months in Korea before being wounded.

He is survived by his parents, his grandmother and several brothers and sisters.

Window Cleaner Slips Lands On Hospital Roof

A window cleaner had a close brush with death Monday afternoon when he slipped while cleaning a window on the third floor of St. Joseph's Hospital and fell.

Instead of dropping the three storeys to the ground, however, Heinrich Matt, 26, 77½ Park Hill Rd., landed on a roof of another part of the building several feet below.

His only injuries were multiple bruises. Dr. J. R. Epping, who attended Matt, said today he was "very fortunate" in escaping with such minor injuries.

Hold Meeting On Store Hours

Store hours in Peterborough is becoming a controversial issue among the members of the Retail Section of the Chamber of Commerce.

Some members are not satisfied with the present store open and closing hours and several suggestions have been made to James Fraser, manager of the chamber.

The main issue at present is the suggestion that stores remain open on Friday evenings.

The chamber has decided to hold a meeting Oct. 1 for all retailers in the city, whether they are members of the retail section or not, to discuss this proposal.

Before the meeting the chamber is planning to conduct a survey of approximately 20 cities of comparable size across Canada whose stores remain open on Friday evenings. They will be asked if this plan has proved a profitable one. The results will be given at the meeting.

Another proposal that will be brought before the retailers will be an all-day Wednesday closing.

Drag River For Man At Home Asleep In Bed

LINDSAY — While a Lindsay man enjoyed a late Sunday morning snooze, the police and fire departments were dragging the Scugog river for his body.

The search was touched off at 9 a.m. when Clarence Hancock reported finding an overturned canoe, shotgun, outboard motor, hunting jacket and lunch box, at the north end of the town.

Police were notified and it was feared that the owner of the equipment had drowned in the river.

The fire department was called to assist, and after the river had been dragged for nearly an hour, constable Gordon Eberts learned that the boat belong to Irvine Little. He drove to Mr. Little's home where he found him still in bed.

Mr. Little explained he had upset his canoe the previous evening and intended recovering it and his equipment Sunday morning but he had slept in.

Street Becomes Just Parking Lot, Residents Protest

Robert Pulford of Braund Place appealed to the council Monday night to exclude Canadian General Electric Company employee cars from that street.

Braund Place is a short stub of street, branching off Chamberlain St. Its houses are built almost in a circle around the widened street which provides a turning place for traffic.

Mr. Pulford told the council that workers at the C.G.E. park on this street allowance, and especially at its narrower entrance, which they prefer in their speed to get away fast.

City snow-plows have had difficulty in getting access to the street, and the parked cars leave little space for them to turn and get out again. The garbage service is interfered with, and Mr. Pulford said the residents were uneasy about fire protection.

JUST A PARKING LOT

"If these cars are to continue to block the entrance, the fire department would not be able to get in there," Mr. Pulford said. "Our street has become just a parking lot to accommodate the C.G.E. employees."

City Clerk Outram, a member of the special parking committee which has not yet been set up as a standing committee of the council, said that various parking complaints were being studied, and he expected that a meeting of the committee would take place this week.

SECURED RESULTS

In the meantime, the informal committee of residents of Romaine St. look down both sides of their street with a high degree of satisfaction that their protests to authority accomplished results. And they are telling the neighbors from other streets about it.

Said one of them Saturday: "As long as the people are willing to put up with such unfair parking conditions there'll be no change and improvement. The idea of cars coming in here from Cordova or Mariposa and camping all day in front of my house, paying not a cent of taxes or anything else to the city, leaving no place for business cars at your own place, it was absurd. Our people on Romaine St. did something about it, and the council agreed that we were right in our claim."

This man said: "We didn't find fault with Outboard Marine, but with employees. The company provided parking space, but workers weren't satisfied to take their time in leaving the lot. They have to leap away, so they were camping in front of our houses. Council simply told them to get back on the parking lots of the company."

Presbyterians Form Second Congregation

Plans for the organization of a Presbyterian congregation in the south end of the city have been completed. This announcement was made today by the committee from St. Paul's church which has been in charge of the plans. Services are scheduled to commence on Sunday, Oct. 4 in the Confederation school on Park St., and a Sunday School will also be held.

It is expected that a minister will be named to the congregation at a very early date and then plans will go ahead for the erection of the building. The site for the new church is on Park St., almost opposite the school.

Grant Authority For Hydrants Civic Hospital

Authority to the Utilities Commission to set up three more hydrants, and lay the water main, for fire protection at Civic Hospital, was conveyed in a motion by Aldermen Burrows and Young by city council Monday night.

Cost is estimated by R. L. Dobbin, general manager for the Commission, at $6,000.

Ald. T. D. Miller said he was not objecting to the extension of the water service, but was wondering where the money was to come from. The motion directed that the Commission's bill for the work be submitted to the council for payment. Ald. Miller suggested that the Commission might agree to withholding their account until next year.

POSSIBLE DEFICIT

Ald. Miller said the council might be concerned before the end of the year about a possible operating deficit. He said the time to begin anticipating that financial prospect was now. "I don't think it would make very much difference to the Commission if they did not get their money until the new year."

Ald. Burrows commented that if it was not for the pressure that had been placed on the council urging this work at the hospital, it might have been passed for this year. But, the reports of the Fire Marshal and Fire Chief George Smith endorsed the hospital's Governors.

ASKS ABOUT MEETING

Ald. Miller said it was his understanding that there was to be a meeting of representatives of the Commission and the council, "and I thought there would be a report from that meeting." Instead, it transpired that the discussion was with the general manager of the Commission, Mr. Dobbin, who was not an elected member.

Mayor Waddell said that the main issue was chiefly technical, which Mr. Dobbin was in a position to discuss. The only question he could not answer was in connection with the paying for the work.

The Burrows-Young motion carried, but it was understood that some further consultation about payment would be made.

Two-Way Radio For Firemen Shows Value To Department

A piece of fire department equipment that has really proved its worth since it was installed last April is the $2,840 two-way shortwave radio. Fortunately, there have been no major fires in the city during this five-month period so the radio has not yet received its most exacting tests for usefulness. But already it is cutting valuable minutes off runs and cutting down on gasoline consumption and wear and tear on the rigs when there is only a small fire or even a false alarm.

SAVES TIME

"The radio has been a great improvement," said Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster. "We have two-way sets installed in the Chief's car and Number Four pumper. These two can communicate either with each other or with the main station in the fire hall.

"When we're at a fire and, say another piece of equipment is needed, we don't have to dash around any more looking for telephones; we just call up the fire hall direct. It's the up-to-date method of dispatching and communicating.

"In a big fire that extra couple of minutes that it takes to phone can make a big difference."

Finding a phone used to be a big worry for the firemen when an emergency arose. If they were fighting a big fire and wanted to call the station for more help they had to guess which was the nearest house with a phone.

Chances were that the people would be out looking at the fire or, if it was after midnight, in bed. But it all added up to the same thing: lost time.

If only a small fire, such as a chimney fire is reported, the officer in command generally sends just Number Four pumper. When the pumper pulls up to the house the firemen may see that somehow the chimney fire has spread and the roof is ablaze. Before they even hop off the pumper they can call the main station for help.

Again, if the Chief and all the equipment is out at a big fire, the dispatcher can contact the Chief immediately should a second fire break out. Fire fighting apparatus can then be dispatched directly from the scene of the first fire to the second.

CALLING FOR HELP

Other uses of the radio include calling for an ambulance at a near drowning, summoning another respirator in a hurry, informing the fire hall that a fire truck has broken down, and asking the dispatcher to pinpoint the location of the nearest hydrant so no time will be wasted in laying hose.

Earlier this year the firemen made extensive tests with a "walkie-talkie" set that would give greater mobility to their radio communication. Weighing only a few pounds it can easily be carried by a fireman.

"The 'walkie-talkies' were quite a success—some of them had very good range," said Alderman Arthur B. Burrows, chairman of fire,

Tractor Wheel Rolls Over Man's Chest

Injured Monday afternoon when a tractor wheel rolled over his shoulder and chest, Byron Leggott, 42, 593 Patterson Ave., is recovering in Civic Hospital from six broken ribs and a broken right shoulder. His condition is said to be satisfactory today.

The accident occurred on the farm of A. C. Douglas, R.R. 1, Peterborough. Leggott and his son Terry were drawing earth with the tractor and a trailer, near the Douglas farm home.

The tractor went over a stone fence, throwing Leggott off, and the one wheel ran over him. His son Terry ran to the farm house to summon aid and the injured man was taken to hospital by ambulance.

Inflammation Of Heart Blamed For Death

A post-mortem has revealed that Mrs. Donald Hull, 23, of R.R. 1 Norwood died Sept. 2 of "acute myocardities, etiology unknown" —in layman's language, an inflammation of the heart the cause of which is unknown.

It was previously believed that she died from the effects of childbirth. Her son, David Michael, died eight days later.

The post-mortem was carried out on the instructions of Coroner Dr. Herbert Young, after consultation with Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, physician attending Mrs. Hull. It was performed by Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist.

Mrs. Hull, the former Glenna Kempt, died in Havelock Hospital.

Left are her husband, Donald Hull, a daughter, Judith Anne, two sisters and four brothers.

58-Year-Old Bylaw Not Explicit Enough

LINDSAY—A charge against a Lindsay jeweler under a bylaw passed by Lindsay Town Council in 1894 has been dismissed by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

The bylaw provides that there must be no wholesale or retail trade in the town after 6 p.m. The proprietor of Johnson Jewelers was charged recently with violating the bylaw by carrying on an auction sale after six in the evening.

Arguing that there was nothing in the bylaw concerning auction sales, defence counsel H. E. Richardson pointed out that there was nothing in the bylaw stating when the stores could re-open. Mr. Richardson urged an acquittal because he said it was a restrictive bylaw and therefore its provisions must be defined explicitly.

In giving his judgment Monday, Magistrate Gee agreed with the points of Mr. Richardson's argument and dismissed the charge.

The number of deaths at 353 was eight fewer than in 1951.

As previously reported, the fire department was able to report the entire month of August without a cent of fire loss. Twenty-six alarms were received, 21 of them by telephone, three from alarm boxes, one verbal and one from a sprinkler system.

Chaplin Plans To Return To US Home In Six Months

CHERBOURG, France (AP)—Charlie Chaplin, in a jovial, holiday mood, said yesterday that threats to bar him from the United States had not altered his plans to return there in about six months.

The movie comedian told reporters aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth here he was "very much surprise" by U.S. Attorney-General James P. McGranery's announcement last Friday that he had ordered Chaplin barred from re-entering the country until a hearing determines his fitness to return.

The name of Chaplin has been associated with leftist causes for several years and he once was investigated by the House of Representatives Committee on un-American Activities. In 1944, Chaplin was indicted and acquitted on charges of violating the Mann Act, which forbids transporting a woman across state lines for immoral purposes.

TALKS TO NEWSMEN

Chaplin told reporters:

"I am not political. I have never been political. I don't want to create any revolutions. I just want to create a few more films."

Asked why he had never taken out citizenship during his 40 years in the U. S., the man who made millions with his character of the wistful, baggy-trousered tramp, replied:

"I am not a super-patriot. I think super-patriotism leads to Hitlerism and we have had our lesson from that. I assume that in a democracy one has a right to a private opinion."

McGranery's announcement was made while Chaplin was at sea with his wife and four children en route to London for the premiere of his new film, "Limelight." The Queen Elizabeth touched here before going on to England.

South Smith Women To Buy School Flags

FAIRVIEW — (ENS)— South Smith Women's Institute held the September meeting at the home of Mrs. George Lockington with a fair attendance. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Henry Sharpe, the meeting was led by Mrs. Edison Kimball.

Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Elmer Milburn and Mrs. Robt. Fowler were appointed as delegates to the convention in Toronto November 4 and 5.

The ladies decided to purchase new flags for the two schools in the vicinity. Committee appointed to purchase flags was Mrs. Clarance Mann, Mrs. George Lockington and Mrs. Leo Allen.

A social evening will be held in the school house No. 4 on Oct 3. Mrs. Fred Brown assisted by Mrs. E. Kimball gave an address on citizenships.

The homemakers club of Fairview which was led through the year by Mrs. clarence Mann received an "A" grading at the Peterborough Exhibition on Junior Farmers Day.

Eisenhower Has Engineer Trouble Too

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is having trouble with railroad engineers, just as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had in 1948. Eisenhower's engineer is a brother of Dewey's engineer.

Four years ago Dewey created a political incident when he called the engineer who backed his special train into a crowd at a whistle stop a lunatic.

At Henderson, Ky., Eisenhower apologized to the crowd because he said the engineer on his special had not pulled the train far enough forward to clear all of the listeners. Then the Republican nominee complained because the noise of escaping steam was drowning out his voice.

This train's engineer was Cecil A. Tindle of Evansville, Ind., brother of Lee Tindle, the engineer Dewey had dubbed a lunatic.

Back From Arctic

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian government supply ship C.D. Howe returned to Quebec yesterday after a 12,000-mile voyage in Arctic waters to equip northern outposts with everything from badly-needed supplies to family allowance cheques. Among passengers on the return trip were three Eskimo women suffering from tuberculosis

CAPTURED—Bank robber Elmer Schuer sits a captive in a New York police station after he was caught in a hide-out apartment where his partners, the Nolan brothers, were cut down by police bullets in a spectacular gun battle. Schuer and the Nolans, Joseph and Ballard, escaped from a Pennsylvania federal penitentiary ten days ago. In the raid on the fugitives' hide-out, one detective was killed, another wounded.

Allies Land In Denmark During Mainbrace Exercise

OSLO (Reuters)—United States marines yesterday made a beachhead landing at Skagen on Denmark's northernmost tip in Allied Mainbrace manoeuvres given an air of reality by the "spying" of a Russian freighter.

The 1,500 marines waited 18 hours aboard three transports until heavy weather passed and the landing signal was given. Originally they were due to take Torup, a few miles down the west coast of Jutland.

As they waited, the Soviet ship Cooperatia, sheltering from the turbulent seas on her trip from East Germany to Murmansk, was warned away from her anchorage near the landing party.

A second Iron Curtain vessel was spotted poaching on the "Operation Mainbrace" exercises during the morning. A Danish patroller escorted her away after she had come close enough for a good look.

The landing went without a hitch.

Latest official statement from the headquarters here of Britain's Admiral Patrick Brind said the eight-country exercise, testing the west's abilities to defend Scandinavia from an eastern attack, is entering its last stage.

Canadian ships taking part are the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the light cruiser Quebec.

File Amended Application

WASHINGTON (AP) —An amended application asking power commission authority to construct the United States half of the proposed St. Lawrence River power system was filed Monday by New York State.

The commission, after extensive hearings, denied the original application in December, 1950. It held the development should be delayed until congress acts on the dual St. Lawrence seaway and power proposal.

Since then Congress has again turned thumbs down on the seaway and Canada has gone ahead with plans to construct the waterway on its side of the St. Lawrence.

NEED PARTNERSHIP

The power project, however, cannot be constructed without U.S.-Canadian partnership. New York, through its power authority, seeks to be the U.S. half of the partnership.

Willard Gatchel, federal power commission lawyer, said the new application is virtually the same as the original.

"It mainly brings matters up to date," Gatchel told a reporter. He guessed it would be at least a month before the commission assigns a hearing date.

The application, if approved would give New York a license to construct the U.S. part of the estimated $$400,000,000 project in partnership with the Province of Ontario.

SHARE IN COST

Ontario and New York would share equally in the cost and the power yield, estimated by engineers at more than 13,000,000,000 kilowatts hours a year.

The works would be constructed on the river in the vicinity of Massena, N.Y., and Cornwall, Ont.

The International Joint Commission announced today it would hold a final hearing here Oct. 20 on the proposed power development

Crash Toll 4

QUEBEC (CP)—Death toll in a train-car collision Sunday night at nearby Ste. Anne de Beaupre rose to four last night with the death of Jean Paul Guerin, 25, of Murray Bay, Que. Guerin's brother, Remi, his wife and one-year-old baby were killed when their automobile was struck by a trolley-train at a crossing in the famed pilgrimage centre.

Seeks Amalgamation

NIAGARA FALLS (CP)—City Council last night voted to apply to the Ontario Municipal Board for amalgamation with neighboring Stamford township. Niagara Falls has a population of 24,000 and Stamford, a rural and suburban community, 19,000. Stamford and Welland county, in which both municipalities are located, oppose the merger.

Unloads Record Cargo

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—The largest cargo in tonnage ever to be unloaded at the National Harbors Board elevator here was discharged during the weekend by the S.S. Scott Misener of Colonial Steamships Ltd. The Misener had 652,700 bushels—19,570 tons—of wheat.

Laval Saluted By Dignitaries At Ceremonies

QUEBEC (CP) — Laval University was saluted by state, church and universities last night as its centennial celebrations closed.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto, Msgr. Pietro Parente of the Pontifical College for the Propagation of the Faith in Rome and Vatican delegate, Paolo Dore, rector of the University of Bologne, Italy, spoke on behalf of all universities. They extended their best wsihes to North America's first French-language and Roman Catholic university.

Mr. St. Laurent said: "The unity of thought which universities can help create in our country . . . must be broad unity absolutely distinct from uniformity, and a unity in which all trends, legitimate aspirations and recognized rights can exist harmoniously side by side."

Archbishop Roy of Quebec, Chancellor of Laval, said the university's tradition bound it with French culture. But it was a difficult task to maintain this tradition in an Anglo-Saxon continent.

Msgr. Roy said the Anglo-Saxon culture had produced great literature, art and some of the finest men of science. It was not easy for Laval to remain true to its calling and yet keep pace with modern developments all around.

Finance Minister Gagnon of Quebec, speaking on behalf of Premier Duplessis, said relations between Laval and the provincial government have been intimate for many years.

Mr. Gagnon, a graduate of the university and professor of law there, said: "There exists between the university and the political world a close relationship. This is not prejudical to the freedom of the university and it elevates a government who is part of it."

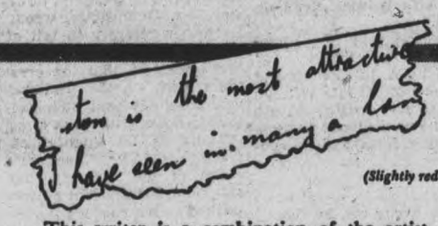
Lonesome Male Sea Cow Has Mess Of Mates Caught

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Winston, the lonesome sea cow at South Daytona Beach's sea zoo, is getting more than he bargained for.

Instead of just a mate, he has a family.

Because Winston, a bachelor, was lonesome and falling off his feet, Dr. Perry Sperber, zoo director and biologist, got permission from county commissioners to try to capture a female manatee.

The law allows the capture of only one sea cow, or manatee, for scientific purposes.



Dr. Sperber got permission. His scientific purpose, he explained, was to see if a baby sea cow could be raised in captivity.

So the sea zoo cowhands put to sea Saturday on a roundup. They netted five full-grown manatees, one being a female with a baby sea calf weighing 75 pounds.

"We couldn't let the little one go," Dr. Sperber said. "It would be inhuman."

Dr. Sperber says he will appeal to the county commission to keep the baby.

Industrial Teams Pay Off For Great Britain

LONDON (CP) — Sixty-six British industrial teams went to the United States in 3½ years, says a report of the Anglo-American Council on Productivity, and here are some of the results:

In steel founding productivity has been increased by 15 per cent. Since 1949 in some foundries it has gone up 30 per cent.

In iron founding improvements in British plants went as high as 30 per cent.

In the internal combustion industry results improved up to 50 per cent.

Changes in lay-out and handling, says the report, increased output up to 30 per cent without additional labor.

Total cost for each member of the British teams was £584 of which the United States paid half. Three United States teams visited Britain.

The report says understanding and will to increase productivity by improved methods of work, both on part of management and employees, must be generated.

N.B. Election Results Known In 3 Hours

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswick's daily newspapers and the two national telegraphs systems co-operated—through The Canadian Press—in giving the result of yesterday's New Brunswick election.

Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telegraphs carried the constituency returns into the compiling centre at Saint John.

Deputy returning officers telephoned the total vote in their polls to constituency returning officers at government expense thus assisting in an early availability of results.

NO CHINESE — French and Indo-Chinese troops are building a strong line of defence against the Red threat to Southeast Asia. So far the Chinese Communists, busy fighting in Korea, have not put military units into Indo-China's six-year civil war. Spokesmen for France and the independent state of Viet Nam, military and political key to all of Indo-China, say they expect no armed intervention. The United States has supported the anti-Communist cause with millions of dollars in military aid. The helicopter shown coming in to pick up a wounded Viet Namese was U.S.-contributed.

French, Indo-Chinese Build Defence Line Against Reds

By BILL BOSS

SAIGON, Indo-China (CP) — In mountains looking northward to China, French and Indo-Chinese troops are building a strong line of defences against the Red threat to southeast Asia.

So far the Chinese Communists, busy fighting in Korea, have not put military units into Indo-China's six-year civil war.

Spokesmen for France and the independent state of Viet Nam, military and political key to all of Indo-China, say they expect no armed intervention.

But they keep their fingers crossed. Capture of the Indo-China bastion against world communism would open the Red road to Thailand, Burma and Malaya, put communism on the flanks of India, Pakistan and Indonesia.

MONTHLY SUPPLIES

Chinese aid to the Vietminh army of Red leader Ho-Chi-Minh has been only 1,000 tons of supplies monthly, French officials claim. It has a propaganda value out of proportion to its worth.

United States assertions that 10,000 Chinese ground troops are engaged in Indo-China against the French and anti-Communist Viet Namese are contradicted by the French.

No Chinese soldiers have been killed or captured. The French say they doubt any have been used in fighting, though the Chinese Communists have provided advisers and instructors to the Vietminh. Divisions in reserve and training are believed to have such instructors down to the brigade headquarters level. Vietminh officers and N.C.O.s are trained across the border in China.

The Vietminh divisions are expected to launch a new offensive next month or in November, when the rainy season ends. These attacks are expected to be concentrated on the far-north Tonkin delta though guerrilla activity will be stepped up through the country.

FRENCH OPTIMISTIC

French army sources claim the offensive can be smashed—unless the Chinese come into the war.

The French give five reasons for their belief the Chinese will stay out:

1. World reaction would be unfavorable;

2. The Korean war is straining the economy and resources of trained manpower in Communist China;

3. The Reds fear Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist forces on Formosa might choose such an opportunity for attacking the mainland;

4. The Viet Namese are traditionally unfriendly to China and might rally to the French cause in event of a Chinese attack;

5. The Vietminh have been holding their own with limited assistance and China might more profitably step up Communist agitation in Burma and Malaya.

Janet Blair Does 1,000th Performance

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the easiest jobs in show business is understudy to Janet Blair in the road company of "South Pacific."

Janet this week celebrates her 1,000th performance without a miss as Ensign Nellie Forbush. Considering that she is pneumonia-bait every time she washes her hair during the show, that's quite a record.

Rodgers and Hammerstein tell her she can stay with the show for ten years. They expect it to tour that long. The road company makes millions more than the Broadway version, often playing auditoriums filled with 5,000 people. Janet doesn't think she will play the show that long, though. She'd like to get back in pictures and she admits to a few nibbles during the run of the show here.

"I gave up pictures," she says, "because I was always getting parts where I'd be the girl who said 'oh, Red' in a Red Skelton picture."

She tried for heavier roles but always got the stock answer. Too young or too much the All-American Girl type. Then she went back to Broadway to test for the lead in Irving Berlin's "Miss Liberty."

At the audition the producers did cartwheels. They told her she was set for the leading part of the French girl.

"I walked out of the theatre and up Broadway like something out of a B movie," she recalls. "Then I got to my hotel room and the phone rang. They had reconsidered. I was great but too much the All-American Girl type. Sorry."

Next came a call from Hollywood for a Bing Crosby movie. Athough it had only been months since she had been told she was too young, she was turned down for the Crosby part because someone decreed she was too old for the part.

At a theatrical crisis in her life, she gambled her whole bankroll and created her nightclub act with the Blackburn Twins. It went over and led to her success in "South Pacific."

Does she ever suffer from comparison with Mary Martin who created the role?

"Mary Martin is Nellie Forbush so I was bound to be compared with her at first. Then, too, we are somewhat alike in personality. But after a few shows I decided to stamp my own personality on the part. Where the Little Rock characterization was a natural for Mary, it rang phoney for me. I gave the role an Altoona, Pa., inter-relation and everything has been fine since."

The department said that evidence against the 12 other persons taken into custody on the same day is now being presented to other federal grand juries in St. Louis, Mo., and Seattle, Wash.

Warns 'Bomb' Not Miracle

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Caution against over-optimism founded on "extravagant claims" for the cobalt bomb was urged yesterday by the man who is directing treatment with the powerful anti-cancer weapon, Dr. Stuart Lott.

Dr. Lott, speaking to the Forest City Kiwanis Club, said much that has been written about the bomb "over-dramatizes and sensationalizes."

The cobalt bomb, he said, is simply a weapon 10 times more powerful and two times more effective than current X-ray equipment.

Because of its greater pentration the bomb's radiation is suited to deep-seated cancers.

"Some people have been led to believe that although a cancer is widespread the bomb will still cure it," he said. "This is almost always not true. If it has spread beyond its original site, it is almost certain that cure is impossible."

It was a double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews. Organist Mr. Charles Allen played the wedding music and Miss Dorothy Connell was soloist. She sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and at the signing of the register she sang "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Keith McElroy, the bride was beautifully gowned in feather white taffeta with imported Chantilly lace. It was a strapless dress and falling from a peplum at the waistline was a lace overskirt which swept down from the skirt front to train-length panels in the back. A cut-away style bolero of the same lace, fashioned with a high, turned back collar, and long, petal-pointed sleeves was worn with the gown. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle was caught to a matching petal cap and she carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and streamers of button 'mums.

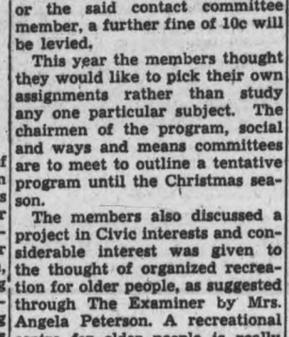
XI IOTA CHAPTER

The first meeting of the Fall season of XI Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. B. Kearns, Kenneth Ave. Mrs. Grant Clark presided, and only three members were absent.

New ideas were discussed and suggestions to improve the calibre of the meetings were adopted. Meetings are to begin at 8:15 p.m. sharp the second and fourth Mondays. A fine of 10c is the penalty for being late. Also, when a member is telephoned by the contact committee and she promises to attend a meeting, but doesn't, without notifying the president or the said contact committee member, a further fine of 10c will be levied.

This year the members thought they would like to pick their own assignments rather than study any one particular subject. The chairmen of the program, social and ways and means committees are to meet to outline a tentative program until the Christmas season.



The members also discussed a project in Civic interests and considerable interest was given to the thought of organized recreation for older people, as suggested through The Examiner by Mrs. Angela Peterson. A recreational centre for older people is really needed in Peterborough, they agreed, and the members present felt they would like to make a beginning for such an idea. At least, they felt this Chapter could serve as a nucleus and possibly other organizations would offer their assistance at a later date. Mrs. Clark offered to make inquiries from Mr. Alex Sinclair, recreation commissioner and Mr. Jas. Fraser of the local Chamber of Commerce, and will contact Miss Gene Clark of the Soroptimist Club, sponsors of the Golden Mile Club of Peterborough.

Mrs. D. Anderson was appointed convener of an "exchange" to be held at her home Oct. 21st. It was stressed this was not only an exchange of clothing, but also of any valuable "white elephant" in one's possession. Mrs. M. Caccaveli and Mrs. G. Matthews were asked to assist Mrs. Anderson. The social committee will look after the arrangements of the tea which will follow. Members and three friends only of each member are invited to attend.

Following the closing ritual, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Each meeting night the member having a birthday that month donates a birthday cake and the members pay 10c for their share. This money swells the bank account for various projects.

Canadian Poetess At First Lecture Draws Crowd 200

Edna Jaques, Canadian poet and lecturer, drew a crowd of more than 200 women and some men to the Trinity Church Hall Monday night. She was presented for the first time here by the Girls' Work Committee of the church. Proceeds will be used to buy furnishings and equipment for the new hall for use by the Canadian Girls In Training and the Explorer groups.

The committee chairman, Miss Olive Armstrong, in introducing Miss Jaques, called her a "self-made woman." This is true because this woman realized that she had the gift of "putting into words the lovely things I see around me." She is endowed also with a charming personality and platform manner and seems able to establish almost at once an intimate atmosphere which keeps the attention of her audience to the end.

Her verses, too, are intimate. The first poem she recited was titled "My Neighbor's Clothesline." Another was "My Daughter." She also gave a set of verses written to her grandmother and followed with those written to her great-grandfather who had come to Canada in 1835 and settled himself near Cobourg. Between each poem she told incidents from her own family life and associations with others, each tinged with the humor which seems so ready to her.

Because her verses picture scenes from everyday life as she has known it, living in Ontario and then in the bleak Saskatchewan prairie, until she became a lecturer and travelled an average of ten thousand miles a year in Canada, Miss Myrtle Sargent called her "an inter-provincial ambassador."

Miss Sargent was conveying the thanks of the listeners, many of whom identified themselves as former westerners. She said "Miss Jaques has woven into her verses the warp and woof of Canadian life."

However, Miss Jaques is now living at Clarkson, Ontario, and she seems to think this province is outstanding for she said, "Do you know that Ontario is the very backbone of Canada?"

She prophesied that "there will not be a third world war" and explained that while she did war work in a government office at Ottawa from 1941 she gained faith in the men in charge of this country's policy and believes they are working intelligently for peace and will be successful.

Before the lecture, there were songs by C.G.I.T. girls of the city. The evening closed with the singing of "Blesssed Be the Tie That Binds," at the request of Miss Jaques.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Has Nine Beaux, Likes All

DEAR MISS DIX:I'm 19 and rather a novice at "playing the field." I've never actually gone steady but never dated more than one or two boys in the same period of time until recently. I'm average in every way except that I'm always very happy and can't help showing it. I have a wonderful time no matter where I go.

Now I think my exuberance has gotten me into trouble. In the past month or so I've dated nine different boys with very different personalities—and they all keep coming back! I like them all, but am in love with none. Somehow I've managed to interest each one of them. I've never kissed any of them or let them become at all familiar. Four, especially, have me perturbed. They seem to be getting too serious, and have suggested that I go steady. That I am not ready for yet. Still, I don't like to keep dating them on the chance that they'll think I'm holding out encouragement. They are too nice to treat lightly.

This letter may sound terribly conceited, but it is all true, and I am just as surprised as anyone at my sudden acquisition of so many boy friends. A. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Seldom do girls of popularity have problems, but your letter is proof that no state in life, no matter how desirable, is without its thorns. The facts in your letter certainly could have been presented in a most conceited manner, but you write with so much charm that I am sorry indeed that the entire epistle could not have been printed.

NOT YOUR FAULT

There is no way you can prevent boys from being attracted to you if you have the personality to draw them. Naturally, you don't want to cut yourself off from dating altogether, and you are being completely fair with all the boys by letting them know you believe in multiple dates. More you cannot do. If they want to continue dating you for the sake of your friendly companionship and good humor, that's their privilege. It involves no commitements on your part. Just be careful not to make rash promises until you are sure you have found the "one and only."

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My son is married to a shrew, and my husband and I are heartbroken over him. He hasn't a word to say in his own house and can visit just whom and when she permits. R. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Unfortunately, there isn't a thing you can do to relieve the situation. If your son hasn't the gumption to stand up for his own rights, no one can give it to him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The other night I had a date with a boy I have admired for a long time. We went on a double date to a movie, and then to the beach. The other couple began petting, and I let the boy kiss me. Now he isn't even friendly to me when we meet. I would like very much to be friends, and win his respect again. S. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are learning early that boys can be very contradictory characters. They use all their charm to urge a girl onto a petting spree, then are disappointed because she yielded too easily. It's a wise policy to reserve petting until you meet a boy you really care about. Since you ordinarily don't reach this state on a first date, it's best to save your kisses for later occasions. A girl who yields too easily never earns the respect accorded the lassie who has learned the value of resistance.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Strictly For Readers With Diabetes

I feel so selfish when I fill the column with glamorous-sounding foods, and then receive your patient letters saying you love the column—love reading about the mouth-watering food BUT since you can't eat most of it do I have a few crumbs to offer you?

You bet I do. No more preamble—let's get at it. Be sure to see the last recipe for a Sugarless Cake.

SUGARLESS PEACH JAM . . . .

Four cups, well-packed, chopped fully ripened perfect peaches. (Peel peaches by dipping for 2 minute in boiling water.); 16 sucaryl tablets, 4 ounces glycerin. Simmer peaches over low heat for 30 minutes, then add remaining ingredients and simmer 10 minutes, stirring frequently if not constantly. Using sterile spoons and all other equipment, pour into pint jars which have been sterilized by boiling in water for 20 minutes, with rubbers, tops and rings all sterilized. Seal tight. When these sugarless jams are opened they should be kept refrigerated.

SUGARLESS LOMBARD PLUM JAM

(This recipe may be used for prune plums too or any variety that is large and sweet and fully ripened.) Six cups washed Lombard plums, well-packed and after they have been stoned and cut up. Do not peel the plums. Boil gently over low heat for 35 minutes, stirring often to prevent sticking. After 35 minutes add 12 tablespoons (¾ cup) glycerin, 32 to 36 sucaryl tablets and boil gently 15 minutes longer, stirring constantly. If not thick enough for jam consistency in this time, stir 5 minutes longer over low heat—but it thickens a little more when cold. Pour into sterilized pint jars, with sterile tops and rings and seal.

SUGARLESS CHILI SAUCE

Eighteen medium-large fully ripened perfect tomatoes, 3 cups chopped celery, 3 medium-sized onions chopped, 4 cups spirit vinegar, 24 sucaryl tablets, 1 teaspoon each ground allspice, black pepper, and cayenne pepper (reduce these last 3 spices to ½ teaspoon if you prefer mild chili sauce), 2 tablespoons salt. Peel tomatoes after scalding in boiling water 1 minutes. Cut them into quarters. Let excess juice drain off for ½ hour and do not use it in the chili sauce. Peel and chop onions. Wash and chop celery in ¼ inch pieces; add them and all remaining ingredients except sucaryl and boil over medium heat for 1¼ hours. Add sucaryl tablets, stir for 5 minutes over low heat. Pour into sterile pint jars and seal with sterile tops.

IN MAKING SUGARLESS PRODUCTS YOU MUST WORK WITH THE UTMOST CARE — BEING SURE ALL EQUIPMENT IS STERILE, and that you do not contaminate the lips of the jars or the rubbers by handling them with your fingers.

SUGARLESS CAKE

(Especially for diabetic patients).

Two cups stirred but not sifted flour (OR 1½ cups flour and ½ cup soy flour), 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 or 8 sucaryl tablets, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 3 tablespoons butter, and, if desired or allowed, ¼ cup each raisins and currants OR raisins and dried apricots or dates. If these fruits are allowed and used steam them for 10 minutes, then dry them before adding to the batter. Mix and sift the flour, baking powder and salt. In ¼ cup of the milk dissolve the sucaryl tablets over hot water. Beat egg and add the remaining ¾ cup milk to it and mix. Make a depression in the flour, pour in the egg and milk, then the melted butter, and the sucaryl and milk mixture. Stir as quickly as possible — just enough to mix. Turn into 2 very small buttered loaf pans OR into buttered muffin tins. Bake at 375 deg. or 400 deg. Fahr. for about 25 or 30 minutes. If small loaves bake at 375 for 30 minutes; if muffins bake at 400 for nearly 25 minutes.

My personal friends who have diabetes claim that this cake with the above peach jam is so good it makes them forget their ailment.

Britain Irked At Exclusion From Talks

LONDON (Reuters)—Complaints against Britain's "exclusion" from the Honolulu meetings of the Pacific Defence Council grew here today, with some quarters suggesting the matter might be raised at the forthcoming conference of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Representatives of Australia, New Zealand and the United States opened their discussions in Hawaii yesterday. Britain's request to be represented by an observer was turned down.

Both Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were reported to be irked by this closed-door policy on the grounds that Britain would be involved if the Pacific became the scene of war.

(Today in Canberra, Australia's external affairs minister, Richard Casey, promised "immediate consideration" of an opposition suggestion that a British observer be allowed to attend ANZUS talks.)

Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook's mass circulation Daily Express, which voices a strong imperialist policy, said editorially that Britain had been "snubbed" and criticized Australia and New Zealand for keeping her away from the conference.

Sports Editor Mansell Dies

TIMMINS (CP) — N. R. (Dick) Mansell, former sports editor of the Timmins Press, and well known in the Toronto and Northern Ontario sporting worlds, died today after a long illness.

He was connected with amateur and professional baseball in Toronto, hockey during his time with the Canadian Army in the Second World War and baseball and bowling in Northern Ontario. He held the position of sports editor from last January until illness forced him from his desk several months later.

He was elected president of the Timmins Progressive Conservative Association in 1951.

He is survived by his widow, one son and one daughter, all in North Bay.

Conversion Dates Have Been Announced

TORONTO (CP) — Conversion dates for a 563 square-mile section of Waterloo county from 25 to 60-cycle equipment have been announced by the Ontario Hydro Commission. Conversion is expected to start in November, 1953, and to end by October, 1954.

Included in the changeover are Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Preston, Hespeler, New Hamburg, Baden, Bridgeport, St. Jacobs, Wellesley and Elmira. There are 22,165 domestic and 2,661 commercial customers in the 563-square-mile area.

Takes $800 For Bender Toronto Man Says

TORONTO (CP)—Wilfred Deschamps, 36, of Toronto, walked into a Sherbrooke, Que., Police station on Sunday and was quoted as telling an officer: "You'd better arrest me, I've done something wrong."

Today the assistant manager of a downtown Toronto branch of a chain groceteria was charged with theft of $800 from the store safe.

Police said Deschamps used the money for a two-province "bender" which lasted five days. They said the spree ended when Deschamps gave himself up to police.

Must Stand Trial For Woman's Murder

HAMILTON (CP)—Harry Lee, 37, must stand trial for murder in the shooting last June of Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt.

A grand jury at the fall assizes today returned a true bill, requiring him to face trial on the murder charge.

The body of Mrs. Rosenblatt, Hamilton housewife, was found in an automobile in the Galt area June 2. Lee, suffering from bullet wounds in the chest and arm, was in the same car when it pulled up to a service station.

The trial will probably start later this week.

City Endorses Money Request For Civil Defence

Government grants for civil defence expenditure are sought in a resolution from St. Catherines which Peterborough endorsed Monday night.

The preamble noted that the Federal government had now announced a policy where "it is prepared to provide matching grants for civil defence with each of the provinces, and with provinces and municipalities.

Core of the resolution is: "That this council requests the government of Ontario to enter into the necessary agreement with the federal government, and make provision for its share of these matching grants in order that a more adequate program for civil defence may be developed in this municipality without placing an undue financial burden on this municipality; that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Hon. Leslie Frost, the Hon. Arthur Welsh, provincial secretary, and Hon. H. R. Scott."

That endorsing motion was in the report of the finance committee, presented by Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman.

Approval of the Catharines resolution was moved in committee by Ald. J. A. Dewart and Mayor Hugh Waddell.

Ald. Dewart commented that civil defence organization was being held up generally throughout the province, waiting for the government's action to facilitate co-ordination of defence planning. The western provinces have set up civil defence authority, but Ontario and Quebec had not yet followed that example.

M.P.P. Badly Hurt In Quebec Crash

QUEBEC (CP)—Philippe Cossette, 54, Union Nationale member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Matapedia, is unconscious and in critical condition in hospital here today, following a highway accident last night at St. Jean Port Joli, Que.

Mr. Cossette, a notary in Causascal, Que., his daughter, Isabelle, Causapscal, were injured when their automobile, driven by Miss Cosette, apparently went out of control and overturned.

water and light committee. "However we didn't buy any because there was not sufficient money in the estimates. Perhaps this coming year we can do something."

With a "walkie-talkie" a fireman directing firefighting operations at the rear of a block of buildings can communicate with the others, probably at the front of the building. He can order hose, more men, or any of the equipment without having to run around the building—or even the block—and deliver his message personally.

If the large area in Smith township is annexed by the city there may be a sub-station there and it will need to be in radio communication with the main firehall. Another sub-station in the south end; also in the radio hookup is anticipated by firemen.

Acting Chief Foster would make no comment of these developments but he did drop a hint of what he was thinking.

"A modern city needs modern firefighting equipment; there's no doubt about that. And radio is the communication link in any expansion."

Firestone Strike Ended In Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP)—The 16-week strike at Firestone Tire and Rubber Company ended last night and employees reported back for work today.

The strike ended when some 1,200 employees roared approval of an agreement. Only 20 voted against the recommendation of the negotiating committee of Local 113 United Rubber Workers. (C.I.O.-C.C.L.)

The agreement was reached last Friday after meetings between company and union negotiators with labor conciliation officer Louis Fine in Toronto.

Under the settlement, employees will get an eight-cent-an-hour increase and each worker will receive $50 in retroactive pay. The increase brings the common labor rate up to $1.45 an hour, one of the highest in the city.

Main feature of the new contract is the pension plan which pays $80 a month to employees with 25 years service when they reach retirement age. They will be eligible for retirement at the age of 65 and compulsory retirement at 68 years.

The new agreement runs to Jan. 24, 1954, but wage negotiations can be opened May 1, 1953. The pension section of the contract will run for five years.

Australian Warships Head For Test Site

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters)—A powerful Australian naval force steamed out of harbor today and headed, apparently, for the site of the imminent atomic weapons tests at the Monte Bello Islands.

The ships, headed by the 14,000-ton carrier Sydney, will patrol the island area to keep out unauthorized craft. A security curtain has been rung down around the group of islands off the Australian west coast over a wide sea area for the tests—Britain's first atom explosion.

The tests are thought likely to get under way any day now, probably within a week.

Trial Traversed To Next Assizes

WELLAND (CP) — Trial of Lloyd Frank Cross, 33, on the charge of murdering Sam Delibasich, Welland taxicab operator on Dec. 9, 1949, was traversed to the next assizes by Mr. Justice J.L. McLennan here today.

Justice McLennan agreed to an adjournment on grounds that the Cross trial might be affected by an appeal entered by James Alfred Kelsey, Cross' brother, who was convicted last week of murdering Delibasich.

500 New U.K. Tanks Fight In Exercise

SENNELAGER, Germany (Reuters)—About 500 Centurions, Britain's latest and best tanks, fought the final battle of exercise "Holdfast" in the Ruhr yesterday.

About 155,000 British, Canadian, Belgian and Netherlands troops took part in the week-long exercise, toughest ever staged by the British forces in north Germany.

The end of "Holdfast" was also the end of a month-long series of Germany involving more than 300,000 Allied exercises from north to south troops, including the United States exercise "Rosebush" and the French exercise "Equinox."

The "Blueland" defending forces in "Holdfast" yesterday staged an apparently successful counter-attack from three "hedgehog bastions" to hurl back the invading "Greenland" forces, which had advanced across the River Weser from the east.

Chamoun President Of Lebanon Now

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Parliament overwhelmingly elected former Foreign Minister Camille Chamoun President of Lebanon today. He succeeds veteran independence fighter Bechara el Khoury, who resigned last week.

Chamoun, 51, was the candidate of the opposition Socialist National Front which spearheaded the country-wide reform drive that forced El Khoury from the office he had held since the French relinquished control of the country in 1943.

Report Payrolls Higher At Beginning Of July

OTTAWA (CP) — Industrial employment and payrolls were higher at the beginning of July than the previous month or a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Average weekly wages dropped slightly over the previous month but remained well above the level at July 1 a year ago. Wages paid hired male help on farms increased on the average of mid-August over a similar period a year ago.

The bureau's general index of employment, based on 1939 equalling 100, increased to 184.5 at July 1 from 182.5 June 1 and 183.6 at July 1, 1951. The payrolls index rose to 423.5 from 420.2 the previous month and 392.5 a year earlier.

Weekly wages and salaries averaged $53.90 compared with $54.08 June 1 and $50.17 a year ago.

On the farm front, average daily wage rates with board rose to $5.60 from $5.20 and daily rates without board to $6.70 from $6.30. Monthly rates with board increased to $105 from $101 and without board to $139 from $135.

For monthly wage rates with board the range was from $91 in Ontario and the Maritimes to $119 in Saskatchewan and without board from $122 in the Maritimes to $155 in Alberta.

Record Number Students Enrol For Teaching

Only two Normal Schools in Ontario failed to increase their enrolment this year while the over-all total for the province's teacher-training schools is a record high. Among the schools reporting increases this year is the Peterborough Normal school with 146 students as compared with 129 last year. The Peterborough enrolment is the highest in the past decade.

Attendance at teacher training schools is up in Ontario this year an average of 16 per cent over last year to a total of 1,887. The biggest surge came in Toronto where the enrolment climbed to 32 per cent over 1951-52 term's 467 to a peak of 617.

Department of Education officials are exultant over the statistics, since a drop in the enrolment or even no change over last year would have had serious consequences when schools reopen next September. Another increase of 31,000 children is expected then.

MAKE UP GAP

Education minister Dunlop said Monday that the supply of teachers will just about bridge the gap and a serious shortage will be averted, although more qualified teachers could be used to replace those teaching on letters of permission.

In addition to the students in Normal schools this year there are 500 new teacher trainees out teaching after a six-weeks course, bringing to 759 the increase in new teachers over last year's 1,628.

These 500 "teachers" will teach and attend summer courses for two years before attending Normal school for a year and being given their permanent certificate. This plan was devised to avert a teacher shortage and will be continued each summer. Trainees have completed Grade 12 only.

One reason for the big increase in Normal school this year was that it was the last year Grade 13 students were able to enroll with only five upper school papers. From next September on they will need eight papers.

Only centres failing to gain more students this term were North Bay, 136 students, seven fewer than last year, and University of Ottawa school, 145, nine less.

Other Normal school figures are: (last year's in brackets) Hamilton, 224 (217); London, 289 (249), North Bay, 136 (143), Ottawa, 149 (140); Peterborough, 146 (129); Stratford, 181 (129); University of Ottawa school, 145 (154).

Grandmother's Meet Held At Lakefield

SELWYN (ENS).—The annual Grandmother's meeting of the Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening in the hall.

The president, Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting, was in charge for the business period. Mrs. Evans Blewett and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols were appointed as delegates from this branch to the convention in Toronto in November.

Plans were made for the Institute banquet to be held in October, when Mr. Alex Kay of Peterborough will present his pictures on "Bird-Life."

Thurdsay evening., Oct, 2, this Institute will go to Apsley, where they will be guests of the Apsley Institute and also supply the evening's program.

The meeting was turned over to the convener, Mrs. Bruce Fitzgerald, and a sing-song was enjoyed, with Mrs. C. Fitzgerald at the piano. Following this, poems were read by Mrs. George McIymoyle, Mrs. Evans Blewett and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols; and a comical playlet entitled "Do Women Play Cards Better Than Men?" was presented by Mrs. Irvin Tully, Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyle, Mrs. Chalmer Sweeting and Mrs. George Geisel.

The prize for the grandmother weighing the most was won by Mrs. Willis McIlmoyle; for the one weighing the least, by Mrs. Orr Sage.

Cards of thanks for flowers received while ill were read from Mrs. Lebeau, Ann Wilson and Carl Wilson.

Refreshments brought the evening to a close.

Youth Today Has Greater Chance For Good Or Evil

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Divisional Commander in charge of youth work in the Salvation Army, Brigadier Reginald W. Gage of Belleville, was guest speaker at the Monday noon meeting of the Rotary Club here.

The speaker was introduced by Captain Muttom of the local corps who said that the brigadier, with an impressive record of 31 years in the Salvation Army, is well qualified to speak on the subject of youth, since he had been engaged in youth work in several provinces. She also thanked the local club for their help in sending six children to the Army summer camp.

Subject of the talk was "Brigades for Tomorrow," and in introducing his subject, the speaker said that tomorrow belongs to the youth of our day. To build a creditable future for the coming generation is a task which must be done by the young people.

MORE FREEDOM

Youth has more freedom today than ever before, he said, and therefore, there is a greater opportunity for good or for evil than at any other time. "Youth is not always counted in years," he said. It has been said that we are as young as our faith, and as old as our doubts. To the young, however, goes the task of building the future of the nation and the world.

"The well-being of man is not achieved by laws or acts of parliament alone" he said. "Laws provide a zone of safety where one is free to develop natural rights and to grow up to recognize the rights of others. Freedom must go hand in hand with responsibility. The greatest teacher of youth is example.

"Good citizens will only be made by good example on our part. As we work hand in hand with the young, each will contribute to make the other a better, more desirable member of the community. This is the challenge youth presents to us today," said the speaker.

Past president Franklin S. Linton expressed the thanks of the club to Brigadier Gage.

Announce Names Of Players Bolstering All-Star Teams

MONTREAL (CP)—Names of players who will bolster the first and second All-Star Teams when they meet at Detroit Oct. 5 in the sixth annual All-Star Game were announced today by the National Hockey League office.

Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit Red Wings, who will master-mind the First Team, has chosen 11 additional players. Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens, who will handle the Second Team, has named 10. Ivan was restricted to American teams in the league for his choices and Irvin to Canadian teams.

Ivan picked four from his Red Wings, three from New York Rangers and two each from Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks. They are wingers Marty Pavelich, Tony Leswick and Reg Sinclair and defenceman Bob Goldham of Detroit; goalie Chuck Rayner, defenceman Leo Reise and centre Don Raleigh of New York; defenceman Bill Quackenbush and centre Ed Sandford of Boston, and defenceman Gus Mortson and winger Bill Mosienko of Chicago.

Irvin, whose club was beaten by Detroit in the Stanley Cup final last spring, named six Canadiens and four Toronto Leafs. The Montrealers are goalie Gerry McNeil, defencemen Butch Bouchard and Tom Johnson, centre Billy Reay and wingers Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Paul Meger.

From the Leafs Irvin named defenceman Fern Flaman, centre Max Bentley and wingers To Sloan and Harry Watson.

Last year's All-Star Game, played in Toronto, ended in a 2-2 tie.

The 1951-52 team and second teams, announced last spring, are:

FIRST TEAM—Goal, Terry Sawchuk, Detroit; defence, Red Kelly, Detroit, and Doug Harvey, Montreal; centre, Elmer Lach, Montreal; wings, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, both of Detroit.

SECOND TEAM—Goal, Jim Henry, Boston; defence, Jim Thomson, Toronto, and Hi Buller, New York; centre, Milt Schmidt, Boston; wings, Maurice Richard, Montreal, and Sid Smith, Toronto.

Calgary Stamps Beaten 10-9 By Eskimos

EDMONTON (CP) — Calgary Stampeders suffered probably their worst disappointment and Saskatchewan Roughriders their worst drubbing when Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos last night each gained victories in the Western Football Conference.

The Stampeders, leading most of the game, were beaten 10-9 by the Eskimos on the strength of a last-quarter surge by the Edmontonians. The Roughriders, lodged securely in last place, were at the mercy of Winnipeg's quarterback Jack Jacobs and ended up on the wrong end of a 35-6 score.

Last night's results left Winnipeg still in first place with 13 points. Edmonton stayed right on Winnipeg's tail, only two points behind. Calgary, with one win in the last five games, slipped three points behind Edmonton. The Roughies have only four points.

JACOB'S NIGHT

At Winnipeg, Jacobs enjoyed a terrific night. He completed 21 passes for a gain of 320 yards and four of Winnipeg's six touchdowns. After a scoreless first quarter, the Bombers led 12-0 at the half and 29-0 by three-quarter time.

The Roughies finally managed to score on a spectacular run by Maruska on the kickoff after Winnipeg's last touchdown. He took the ball on his own 11, cut back on his interference and then ran all the way. Del Wardien converted.

At Calgary, the Stampeders were beaten out in the final minute when a kick for a single by Rod Pantages broke a 9-9 tie.

The Stampeders scored a touchdown after four minutes of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Joe Aguirre put Edmonton on the score sheet when he kicked a field goal from a difficult angle.

The roof fell in on the Stamps in the final minutes. Frank Filchock went into the game with his team on their own 15. The Eskimos moved to midfield and then Filchock connected with a pass to Jim Chambers on Calgary's 25. The speedy backfielder ran the rest of the way and Aguirre converted to tie it up.

Stamps were pushing the Esks back steadily when Dave Anderson fumbled near the centre stripe. Edmonton recovered and on the next play Filchock threw a pass to Chambers who ran it down to Calgary's five-yard line. From there Pantages kicked the ball out of the park. With less than a minute remaining, Calgary was unable to come back.

ARGOS LEAD GRID SCORERS

TORONTO (CP)—Three Toronto Argonaut imports, paced by the speedy Ulysses Curtis, former Florida A and M back, hold down the leading spots in the Big Four Football Union scoring race.

Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press show Curtis with 35 points on seven touchdowns, a clear 15-point margin over big Al Bruno, formerly of Philadelphia Eagles, and 19 over Bob Heck, glue-fingered outside formerly with Purdue University.

Curtis scored a touchdown in Argonauts' 13-13 thriller with Hamilton Tiger-Cats at Toronto Saturday to extend his scoring streak to four straight games. Bruno was held scoreless but Heck made two converts to go one point up over team-mate Doug Pyzer, Hamilton's Hal Waggoner and Montreal's Virgil Wagner in a three-way tie for fourth position.

Curtis also is tied with Corky Duchene of Sarnia Imperials in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union for Eastern Canada honors. Duchene went on a five-touchdown spree the last two games to take the lead from Archie McAffer, also of the Imps, who has 31 points.

In third place in the O.R.F.U. is Dutch Davey, another Imperial who has 15 converts to his credit, the highest in Eastern Canada football.

Police said Barattia apparently stabbed himself twice in the stomach and then took the poison.

Don't Believe Nixon Will Be Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican vice-presidential candidate today goes before a multi-million United States radio-television jury to tell his story of an $18,000 expense fund and plead for his political life.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, has said he will reserve making a public decision until after Senator Richard M. Nixon has explained how he used money donated by California businessmen.

Although technically Nixon's half-hour on the air (9:30 to 10 p.m. EDT) may decide whether he remains on the Republican ticket, seasoned politicians say the fact the national committee is spending $75,000 on the broadcast is indication he will not be dropped.

STEVENSON HITS BACK

Meanwhile, Democratic presidential candidate Gov. Adlai Stevenson hit back at what apparently was an attempt to start a similar fire in his camp.

He said it was true, as Chicago businessman Kent Chandler said in a telegram to him, that he had created a special fund in Illinois, and has used it to supplement the salaries of some of his public employees.

But, Stevenson said, none of the men who benefited was an elected official or an office seeker, and there was no question of improper influence.

The big news for Stevenson today could come from the American Federation of Labor: It is expected to endorse him for the presidency, even as the rival C. I. O. already has done.

WOULD REPEAL T-H ACT

The Democratic standard bearer addressed the A. F. L. convention in New York yesterday and stirred a storm of applause with his statement that a new labor law should be written to replace the Taft-Hartley Act.

Eisenhower spoke before the same convention last week. There was a significant lack of applause when he said he was against repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, although he favored changes.

Both presidential candidates had full schedules today: Eisenhower, after a sweep through Indiana and Kentucky yesterday, campaigns through Ohio with a major address at Cleveland; Stevenson has a nationally broadcast and televised speech from Baltimore, Md.

With Eisenhower was Sen. Robert A. Taft, showing Ohioans there is unity between the general who won the Republican nomination and the home-state senator who lost.

SIMILAR TO TAFT'S

The general's offensive, strikingly similar in some ways to Taft's of recent years, essentially consisted of the charge that the Truman administration is drifting from one emergency to another. He said that its "program to bits and pieces" is permitting Stalin to call the tune for world diplomacy.

Senator John Sparkman, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, said in Lincoln, Neb., yesterday that the "whole question" of expenses of congressmen ought to be studied by a congressional committee.

He has been under criticism, too, because Mrs. Sparkman is a member of his office staff. He explained that she went to work for him in 1942 during the war, "at a time when I didn't have a single person in my office." He said it is still difficult to get adequate help.

Weed Juice May Be Means Of Birth Control

LONDON (AP)—A British researcher said today the juice of a common weed which can be drunk like coffee may yield a successful means of birth control.

Dr. B.P. Wiesner, a London specialist on human fertility, identified the weed as gromwell, also known as gray millet, a botanical relative of the forget-me-not.

He said liquid extracts of the weed, which already had proved effective in preventing conception by mice, had been given experimentally to three women and a man who suffered no physical ill effects.

FREDERICTON (CP)—A record total of visitors at the Fundy National Park is expected to be shown when the tourist season ends Oct. 31. At the end of August the total was more than 85,000, already 25 per cent higher than the total for all 1951.

B. Castle Rolls High

Betty Castle rolled high in the opening night of the Girls City Bowling League schedule at Duffus' this week. She hit 250, 200 and 306 for a 756 total. J. Pammett's 600 won the 598 blind score. Black's beat Austin's, Aces won from Collis, and Cardinals took Sevenaires by 2-1 counts, as Marines won 3-0 from Bassel's and Arcos beat Curtin's 3-0.

Good singles included: M. Hawthorne 253 and 301, B. Castle 250 and 306, M. Timm 251 and 289, D. Martin 290, B. Morrow 289, J. Moore 272, E. Basciano 279, J. Brockley 269 and 250, H. Hunt 268, M. Nixon Explosion Brings Demand For More Help With Expenses

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK (CP) — One of the offshoots of the political explosion over Senator Richard Nixon's private expense allowance is a renewed demand that legislators get more public money to help them do their jobs.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate's acceptance of $18,235 to help him pay his expenses as a senator from California is the current sensatoin of the campaign.

Aside from the question of Nixon's ethics in accepting the money, a number of lawmakers from both sides of the political fence have jumped in to urge some action to prevent the national legislature from becoming a "rich man's club."

A U. S. senator gets $12,500 a year in salary and a $2,500 tax-free expense allowance.

"No Senator can maintain a separate home here, raise a family, do necessary campaigning and maintain contacts back in his state on that," said Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.) in an interview.

Aiken said some senators are wealth. But others must supplement their incomes by practising law, making speeches for pay, writing "or putting the wife or some member of the family on the office pay roll."

One who supplements his income by making speeches and lectures and writing articles is Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem. Minn.).

SPECIAL ASSISTANCE

Humphrey said in a radio debate on the Nixon affair that "congress ought to provide enough money for its legislators to do their jobs" without their having to seek special assistance from other people

"Sooner or later," he said, "the American people are going to have to realize that the costs of public services are big."

A senator gets 20 cents a mile travelling between home and sessions of Congress. This usually is paid only twice a year although sometimes special mileage allowances are voted.

As Aiken put it, "if a senator did not get home often to see his constituents he would not be in the Senate long."

In addition to his salary and tax-free expense allowance, each senator receives a basic allotment for hiring clerks and other aides. Its size depends on the population of his state. In Nixon's case the amount is believed to be about $60,000 a year.

TO BOOST SALARIES

In addition to the major allowances, U. S. senators receive such benefits as:

Special cash funds for stationery, postage, official telegrams and long-distance calls; free franking of all mail that the senator considers official business; free office space and office furniture; free haircuts at a private barber shop. They also receive up to $900 a year for office space in their home states.

Next Jan. 1 will see the end of the senators tax-free expense allotment. Then senators' salaries will go up to $15,000 with no specific expense provisions.

"COOL CONTROL"

CARRYING A FOOTBALL

One-Arm Carry: Extend fingers over one end of ball. Rest other end of ball in armpit, high up and tight against the body. Avoid carrying ball low, on ribs. Prevent fumbling by placing free arm on ball when tackled. Carry ball in arm away from play.

Two-Arm Carry: When plunging, hold both forearms horizontally in front of body; spread each hand over one end of ball. Keep forearms extended along length of ball. If break-through is successful ball can then be placed under either arm.

Shifting the Ball: Place free hand across point of ball so that ball is now supported by both hands on lower end. Draw upper end from armpit; move it across chest and place securely in other armpit. Perfect control is a must here.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport—control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Hullabaloo Over Ike, Adlai Overshadows Other Races

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK (CP)—The hullabaloo over Ike and Adlai tends to overshadow the importance of the 32 governorships, 35 senatorships and 435 seats in the House of Representatives at stake in this United States election year.

Whether it is Dwight Eisenhower or Adlai Stevenson who gains the presidency, the winner will have to deal with the Congress made up of 96 Senators and 435 Representatives. And the state governors are the controllers usually of the political machines in each state which wield strong influence on national affairs.

There also is an army of state officials to be elected.

CLOSE IN SENATE

In the Senate, the Democrats now hold 49 seats and the Republicans 47. There are 32 Senate seats to be filled every two years because the Senate is elected for a six-year term with one-third of the membership elected biennally. Three extra places this year result from deaths.

Most politicians concede privately that the odds favor the Democrats retaining their Senate majority unless there is a great Republican sweep election day, Nov. 4.

So Republicans must make a net gain of two seats to obtain minimum control and organize the Senate through a majority leader and committee chairman. That means they must win 23 of the 35 senatorial contests.

In the House of Representatives Democrats now have 233 seats and Republicans 201. There is one independent.

NOTABLE DIFFERENCE

The struggle for control of the Senate and the House points up the basic difference between the parliamentary system as known in Canada and Britain, and the U.S. set-up. While the executive power in the British system always has a majority in the Legislature, such a majority is not always the case in the U. S. This may lead to deadlocks between the executive and legislative functions as shown in the battle between President Truman and the 80th Congress.

One state has already held its elections for governor and Congress—Maine always holds them two months before the other states which combine their presidential, congressional and state elections.

Maine, traditionally Republican, returned a Republican governor, a Republican Senator and two Republican Representatives. But the old political saw, "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," it should be noted, hasn't turned out right since 1928 when Republican Herbert Hoover went to the White House.

Believe Nixon Kept As Candidate For Vice-President

CLEVELAND (AP) — Republican national chairman Arthur E. Summerfield said today "I am certain that Senator Richard Nixon will remain the Republican candidate for vice-president." Summerfield made this statement in reply to a reporter's question at a press conference. He said he had talked with both Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the party's presidential candidate, and Nixon by telephone this morning. Nixon, he said, will meet with Gen. Eisenhower at 9:30 p.m. EDT in Wheeling, W.Va., tonight.

The face-to-face conference seemed almost certain to insure Nixon's retention on the Republican ticket.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE

The final say on whether Nixon is to remain as vice-presidential candidate remains with the Republican national committee.

Summerfield said he has asked the committee members for their opinions on the case.

The question they must answer is:

Should Nixon be permitted to stay as the party's vice presidential candidate in view of a disclosure that he accepted an $18,235 expense fund as a California senator?

Summerfield said he sent this telegram to all members of that committee:

"Knowing that you heard Senator Nixon's broadcast last night and his request that the Republican national committee consider the future status of his candidacy, will you please wire me your personal decision immediately marking your telegram 'urgent' so that it can penetrate the deluge of messages now being wired to our national headquarters."

Summerfield said that judging from the response to Nixon's speech last night "the smear attack on Senator Nixon has backfired. This is the turning point of the 1952 campaign."

"The Democrats are probably sorry they ever started this thing," said Summerfield.

20,000 TELEGRAMS

Already, he said, at Washington Republican headquarters 20,000 telegrams were received by this morning, almost all in favor of retaining Nixon.

The telegrams still are pouring in at the western union capacity rate" of 1,500 to 2,000 an hour, he said.

Eisenhower has also hinted that he is prepared to keep Nixon as his running mate.

Eisenhower told a tumultuous audience of 16,000 persons last night that Nixon had given "an example of courage" in his report on his financial affairs.

The grim-faced presidential candidate declared:

"I happen to be one of those people who, when I get in a fight, would rather have a courageous and honest man at my side than a whole boxcar of pussyfooters."

But he added:

"It is obvious that I have to have something more than one single presentation — necessarily limited to 30 minutes, the time allotted to Senator Nixon."

Canada Expects 9,000 Seats For Coronation

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada expects an allocation of close to 9,000 seats for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in London in June, almost double the number she had for the last coronation ceremonies 15 years ago.

A source close to coronation planning here said it has been proposed by London that Canada be given about 300 seats in Westminster Abbey, about 500 in stands to be erected in front of Canada House on the coronation route and about 8,000 along other parts of the route.

The spokesman emphasized, however, that no definite decision has yet been made. The London proposal now has to be considered by the Canadian coronation committee made up of members of the cabinet. It will meet shortly.

In the coronation of the late King George VI in 1937 Canada had a total of about 5,000 seats

DECIDE ALLOCATION

The spokesman said when the exact number of seats is finally worked out, there will remain the question of deciding how they will be allocated to the various Canadian parties.

It is expected that all the chiefs of staff of Canada's armed forces will attend and Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force contingents will be much bigger than in the 1937 ceremonies.

The army probably will send one of the crack formations of the 27th brigade now stationed in Germany along with a reserve formation from this country.

The R. C. M. P. is expected to send a troop of about 32 men and horses. It is also possible that the crack R. C. M. P. band may make the trip.

Get Bigger Slice Of Income Now

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian transportation industry is getting a "bigger slice" of the national-income pie than it did 25 years ago, provincial counsel said today before the Board of Transport Commissioners in opposing a rail-freight increase.

The suggestion came as opponents of rate increases cross-examined Fred V. Stone, Canadian Pacific Railway research chief, on Stone's statement that railway transportation services now are getting a relatively smaller share of the gross national product than they did in 1926-29.

M. A. MacPherson, Saskatchewan counsel, said that Canadian transportation as a whole was getting a bigger share than previously

Mr. Stone replied he could not say whether that was right, but he added that would not invalidate his own argument concerning railways only.

Mr. Stone also said the railways have to handle all types of traffic — including the low-rated commodities — while the competitive trucks could pick and choose among the freight offered.

3 Injured Fliers Taken Off Icecaps

LONDON (Reuters) — Three injured men marooned for seven days on a desolate Greenland icecap have been rescued and nine others huddled in a crashed R.A.F. plane are safe for the time being, the air ministry reported today.

A United States amphibious Albatross from the American airbase at Thule, western Greenland, rescued the three men yesterday, the air ministry said. Two are British and the third a U.S. Air Force captain. The three were flown to Thule.

Eight Cars Derailed On Freight Train

NORTH BAY (CP)—Eight cars of a Canadian National Railway Toronto to Winnipeg freight train were derailed early last night 20 miles north of Parry Sound.

No one was injured.

The line is expected to remain blocked until near noon today. Trains from Winnipeg east and Toronto west have been detoured via North Bay.

Most of the derailed cars were loaded with new automobiles. A C. N. R. official said they did not appear to be badly damaged by the derailment.

Report 100 Injured At Elevator

11 Taken To Hospital After Blast, Fire Breaks Out

PORT ARTHUR— (CP) — Three men were reported killed and between 15 and 20 trapped in an explosion and fire that ripped through part of the Saskatchewan pool elevator No. 4 at noon today.

One body was recovered soon after the explosion rocked the waterfront at 12:55 EDT. Two sailors were reported trapped under a wall as it toppled onto a lake freighter alongside the dock.

At Winnipeg, the Red Cross said it had been informed that 100 persons had been injured. It was sending 1,000 pounds of blood plasma by plane.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Eleven persons were treated at the Port Arthur General hospital within a few minutes after the blast.

Waterfront workers compared the explosion to a bomb blast.

It ripped the roof off the work shop connecting the main section of the 3,000,000-bushel terminal with an annex.

FIRE FOLLOWS BLAST

Fire followed the explosion and all Lakehead firefighting equipment was rushed to the scene.

The freighter S. S. Bayton of Colonial Steamship Lines was reported tied up alongside the terminal loading grain when the explosion, of unknown origin, ripped through the plant.

Allied Troops Driven Back

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Tank-supported Allied infantrymen battled to the crest of Kelly Hill on Korea's western front today, but were thrown back after bitter hand-to-hand fighting with entrenched Chinese Communists.

AP photographer Fred Waters at the front said the battle then developed into a furious artillery and mortar duel.

United States Eighth Army said the Allied attackers were Puerto Ricans attached to the U.S. 3rd Infantry Division.

Savage fighting also erupted on the extreme eastern end of the battle line. North Korean Communists failed in attempts to capture two Allied-held hills south of Kosong.

B-26 Invader bombers again pounded Communist supply convoys. Pilots reported 118 Red trucks destroyed.

THIRD ATTEMPT

The dawn attack was the Allies' third attempt to recapture Kelly Hill, a strategic height captured by the Reds last Thursday night. It is seven miles southwest of Old Baldy.

The two hills attacked by North Koreans in the east are the northernmost positions held by U. N. forces. The sector had been relatively quiet for weeks.

Howe Out Of Hospital In 24 Hours—Ivan

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Gordie Howe, ace winger of Detroit Red Wings will be released from hospital tomorrow, Coach Tommy Ivan said today. Howe was injured in a pre-season game last night with Chicago Black Hawks.

Ivan said 10 stitches, five inside the wound on his right leg and five outside, were required to close the wound inflicted by a skate.

Chicago and Detroit both left this community today. A game scheduled for tonight was cancelled and the squads left shortly after for their regular training camps.

Challenges Government To Oust Him As Leader

CAIRO (CP) — Bluff, one-eyed Mustafa El Nahas, seven times premier of Egypt in the last 25 years, today challenged government authorities to oust him from leadership of the powerful Wafdist Party.

The 73-year-old leader declared: "No power, Allah and the Egyptian people excepted, can oust me."

His outright defiance produced two government statements. Vice-Premier Soliman Hafez announced he had "evidence" which had entitled the government to object to Nahas' continuing in office in the reorganized Wafdist Party.

Gen. Mohammed Naguib, the country's "strongman" premier, adopted a more cautious line.

"So long as the name of Nahas is clean, he will always receive our respect," he announced. "But should anything be found against him, the law will be applicable to him as to any other citizen."

TOOK OVER IN JULY

Naguib, who seized power last July after forcing King Farouk from the throne, has arrested the majority of Egypt's political leaders for allegedly corrupt practices. Nahas was one of the few not to be held in a roundup earlier this month.

The independent newspaper Al Ahram said today it learned that "grave actions" on abuse of power had been attributed to Nahas.

Two days ago, government authorities suggested that Nahas resign for "health reasons" and in "the public interest." But when the Wafdist Party announced its reorganization in conformity with Naguib's anti-corruption laws, it kept Nahas as leader.

All Wafdist leaders, representing the nation's largest political party, pledged their support of Nahas in a joint statement. There would be "no Wafd without Nahas," they said.

CANADA'S 27TH BRIGADE have completed the most ambitious training exercises they have carried out since arriving in Germany almost one year ago. The exercise involved all units in the Brigade and was a complete success. Troops of the 1st Canadian Rifle Battalion are shown above crossing a pontoon bridge across the Weser River erected by the Canadian Sappers during the final phase of the scheme.

Hotels Picketed, Sudbury Folk Left Thirsty

SUDBURY (CP) — While 130 striking waiters and tapmen took turns picketing 14 Sudbury hotels, the thirsty headed into McKim township, and to private clubs. The latter included the union hall of International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers, with which the striking Local 902 of the Sudbury District Workers Union is affiliated. A separate contract has been signed to cover waiters and tapmen working at the hall.

The union workers, seeking a $5 weekly increase, went on strike Tuesday after turning down an offer of a $2 raise for waiters and $2.50 for tapmen.

The Canadian Legion, the city's two social clubs and two golf clubs have instituted strict checks on membership as a result of the heavy trade resulting from the hotel strike.

CLEAR TRAFFIC JAM

Provincial Police were called to neighboring Gatchell to clear up a traffic jam in the vicinity of the two hotels there last night.

The brewers retail store, however, reported no big jump in sales yet, but expected the strike to reflect on sales today.

Meanwhile, E. J. Battison, president of the Sudbury Hotel Owners Association, said hotelmen are awaiting decision of the Ontario Labor relations board on the legality of the strike. If it is declared illegal they will seek an injunction against picketing.

Battison claimed wages are the highest in the province, adding that tips average more than $600 a year for waiters. Basic pay is $46 for waiters and $56 for tapmen.

Cliff Mathieu, union president, challenged Battison's statements, saying Windsor beverage room employees have higher wage rates and that Toronto men have better fringe benefits.

Speculation Follows P.C. Win

OTTAWA (CP)—A wave of speculation today followed in the wake of Monday's Progressive Conservative victory over the Liberal government of New Brunswwck.

Some of the speculation touched on the question of whether the New Brunswick defeat, sixth consecutive setback for the Liberals in the provincial field, will have any bearing on the date of the next federal election.

Prime Minister St. Laurent followed his practice of not commenting on the outcome of a provincial campaign. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, now is in Europe. There was no comment from his office.

However, those in close touch with affairs of the Liberal party discounted the possibility of a snap federal election.

Mr. St. Laurent is committed to attend the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London in November. Winter will have set in by the time he returns to Canada and winter elections are almost unheard of in this country.

The possibility of a spring election appears remote.

Duplessis Called Fascist Dictator

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec today was labelled a "Fascist dictator" by two delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor. "Duplessis is a Fascist dictator," George Jones of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees said. "I fear for that remark. My home in Montreal will be raided." P. J. Lamoreux of the Montreal Labor Council, chairman of the C.C.L. anti-discrimination committee, made the same charge.

Mr. Jones said there were great dangers for labor in Quebec. The 350,000-member C. C. L. had to concentrate on that province for Fascism was threatening every union in that area.

"You saw the use of the Gestapo at the asbestos strike at Asbestos, Que. That is just an example."

ASKS AID STRIKERS

The issue of Quebec's labor relations came up after Alex McAuslane of Toronto, Canadian director of the Oil Workers' Union appealed for C.C.L. aid for strikers at the Canadian Copper refineries at Montreal.

McAuslane said the company management was "ruthless." The Quebec government was doing nothing to help the worker. Mr. Duplessis had promised to put a C. C. L. member on the Quebec Labor Relations Board but he had broken his promise.

Mr. Lamoreux said there might be changes in the Quebec government in the future. He asked Mr. Duplessis to look at what happened in New Brunswick, where the Liberal government was defeated because it tried to "defeat organized labor."

ALSO CRTICIZED

The British Columbia Labor Relations Board also came in for criticism.

The board had refused in some cases to allow B. C. workers to join an international union.

William A. White, Vancouver Marine Workers, said the board had in one case turned over three C.I.O.-C.C.L. packinghouse locals to the Trades and Labor Congress merely because the T.L.C. held a majority of workers in the Okanagan valley.

SAYS WORST IN CANADA

He said the B. C. board is the worst in Canada. What it had done was the most "dastardly" thing it could do. But this handover would not have happened if there had been complete unity in the C.C.L.

The Congress passed a resolution condemning the board for failure to allow freedom of association among B.C. workers

Walcott Decides To "Unretire"

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Jersey Joe Walcott "unretired" today 14 hours after losing his heavyweight boxing championship and announcing he was quitting the ring.

In prepared statements, Walcott and his manager Felix Bocchicchio, said they will go through with the contracts for a rematch with Rocky Marciano, who won the title from Walcott last night on a dramatic kayo in the 13th round.

"We won't quibble about the 90-day clause," said Bocchicchio.

Al Weill, manager of Marciano, told reporters that he too is willing to go through with the return bout agreement, but does not want to fight until after the first of the year.

Invite Russia To Conference

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain, the United States and France disclosed last night they have called jointly upon Russia to sit around a conference table, perhaps next month, in a "single-minded effort" to deal with free elections in Germany.

Their views were incorporated in a joint note delivered in Moscow yesterday. The note replied to the Soviet one of Aug. 23 which insisted that Big Four discussions of a peace treaty and formation of an all-German government come before talks on how to hold the elections.

The Allied note said the division of Germany could not be solved by "premature discussions about a peace treaty with a Germany not yet united and lacking an all-German government."

French Navy Fears Submarine Lost

PARIS (Reuters)—The French Navy announced today it is "seriously worried" about its submarine La Sibylle missing on exercises in the Mediterranean.

Ships and aircraft are searching the coastal area, the announcement said.

La Sibyville is a 715-ton vessel with a normal compliment of 44. She is the former British Sportsman, one of several submarines lent by the British to France for training purposes.

Perry Tells Story Of Shooting Of Detective Tong

TORONTO (CP)—Det.-Sgt. Roy Perry today told how his working partner, Det.-Sgt. Edmund Tong, was fatally shot last March 6 when the two officers tried to question two men in a car stopped for a traffic light at a west-end intersection. Perry, wounded in the arm in the same shooting, testified at the murder trial of Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson. He said he and Tong spotted the car, which they identified as belonging to Ann Camero, and tried to find out who were its occupants. The car pulled to the curb as the traffic began to move again and Tong walked over to it.

"The door on the driver's side suddenly opened. I heard a report just as Tong approached the car. Tong made a half-turn and fell to the roadway.

OBSERVED DRIVER

"With that, I put on the foot and emergency brakes. I observed the driver of the car, who by this time had turned and had both legs dangling over the side of the seat and over the runningboard

"At this time I saw a flash of fire from a pistol or a revolver from the hand of the driver of the car. There was a bullet hole in the right windshield of the car."

"That's the car you were in?" asked Chief Justice J. C. McRuer.

"Yes. I opened the door and attempted to get out. As I was doing so, I could see the driver of the car raising his arm again and I put my right arm up to protect my head.

"There was another flash of fire from the revolver or pistol in his hand and, as the gun went off, I could see another man emerge from the car. He was standing on the curb side of the car in question."

Perry said the second man also had a revolver or a pistol in his hand and he saw a flash of fire from it.

FELT SHARP STING

"I felt a sharp sting and my arm went numb."

Crown Attorney W. O. Gibson asked:

"With relation to the flash, could you determine whose bullet hit you?"

"No, I couldn't, sir. I blacked out. How long I was that way I don't know. Someone came to the door of my car and gave me a shake and asked me if I was all right."

Perry testified at the third day of the trial of Suchan and Jackson.

Both are charged with the murder of Tong and the attempted murder of Perry.

PAIR IDENTIFIED

Highlight of yesterday's evidence was the identification of the pair by Anne Camero and Betty Huluck as men who had visited their house and the admission of a bullet-riddled head and bust of a tailor's dummy. The Crown claimed these holes were made by Jackson and Suchan when they had target practice in the basement of the house with air pistols.

Hearing For Sailors Delayed Till October

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—A hearing on the appeal of two British sailors from a Japanese court sentence of 2½ years in prison today was recessed until Oct. 8—a week after Japan's general election.

The sailors were convicted by a Kobe court of robbing a taxi driver of his cab and about $5 worth of yen in Kobe June 28.

Their case grew to international proportions when the British government demanded they be turned over to British military authorities and the Japanese courts refused. It also has been injected into the campaign of candidates for House seats in the Oct. 1 election.

Churchill May Ask Truman Help Get UK Into Anzus

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill may ask President Truman's help to get Britain into the Australian-New Zealand - United States Pacific defence pact, informed sources said last night.

Churchill was said also to be thinking of approaching Prime Ministers R. G. Menzies of Australia and Sidney G. Holland of New Zealand to end the simmering row over Britain's exclusion.

This information came out after the Foreign Office made it known that a second British bid to sit in at meetings of the Anzus Defence Council had been rejected. Meetings of the Anzus military committee began in Honolulu Monday.

Some reasons given here for the refusal of the Anzus powers to admit Britain to their meetings right now:

Other countries like France. The Netherlands and the Philippines would want to come in.

Asian countries in the region might associate the little Pacific pact with British "colonialism." Until Anzus is broadened to take in Asian partners it is held unwise to have the alliance look too much like a "white man's" show.

The Anzus treaty was signed in San Francisco a year ago and came into effect April 29.

Stevenson Says Won't Reveal Fund Names

BALTIMORE (AP) — Governor Adlai E. Stevenson said today he will not reveal the names of those who contributed to or received money from a special cash fund he set up to supplement the pay of some Illinois state officials.

"There is no point in revealing any names," the Democratic presidential nominee said.

"It would be publicity they do not deserve and a breach of good faith on my part, too."

Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, and several other Republicans have demanded that Stevenson reveal details of the fund. Nixon talked about it in his report to the nation last night on his own $18,000 fund for political expenses.

The governor discussed his fund at a breakfast of 550 Volunteers for Stevenson which wound up a week's campaigning in the east.

GIVES UP SECURITY

He said he chose the method of raising the income of "key state employees" because the positions were filled by men who not only took the jobs at less money than they had been receiving "but gave up security for the hazards of government."

He said one official had at least three times turned down offers from private enterprises at more than three times his public salary.

"This loyalty and devotion is very hard to attract, and once attracted it is very hard to treat lightly," Stevenson said.

He maintained adequate compensation for public officials is "one of the most pressing needs of good government."

Hundreds Battle B.C. Forest Fires

VICTORIA (CP)—Forest fires on Vancouver Island today were turning rich timber stands into wasteland.

Hundreds of men battled the flames at Copper Canyon in the Duncan area, at Lake Cowichan and Port Alberni.

The Copper Canyon fire, fought by 600 men, continue to advance along a 3½-mile front.

"You will be able to walk for miles, almost a whole day, without seeing a living thing," reported hunter Dolf Holman who returned from the Canyon fire, at the headwaters of the Chemainus River. "There will be nothing to support plant or animal life."

Tito Accepts Offer To Pay Britain Visit

BLED, Yugoslavia (AP).—Premier Tito tentatively has accepted Prime Minister Churchill's invitation to visit Britain.

This was disclosed by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at a press conference concluding the Briton's five-day visit to Yugoslavia.

Eden gave no date for the expected visit. However, the Yugoslav Communist Party congress originally scheduled to be held Oct. 19 was postponed suddenly last week until Nov. 2 and there has been speculation Tito might make the trip before the later date.

Crown Closes Case Against Carl Bell

WELLAND (CP) — The Crown today closed its case in the trial of Carl Alexander Bell, 17, of Niagara Falls, Ont., for the Aug. 28 murder of his stepmother Mrs. Dorothy Bell.

Bell is accused of stabbing his 32-year-old stepmother in the back with a kitchen knife.

Yesterday's testimony to determine his mental fitness to stand trial was repeated as the defence opened its case.

CCL Endorses Left Wingers On Strikes

Will Widen Drive Against Racial Discrimination on Jobs

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor has decided to widen its campaign against racial discrimination in Canadian industrial and labor movements.

In a three-pronged move, the 350,000-member labor body yesterday criticized federal and provincial governments for failing to write anti-discriminatory clauses into labor legislation and took this action:

1. Called on all affiliated unions to include a "non-discrimination" clause — including non-discrimination against women—in all contracts with employers.

2. Urged the federal government to adopt a comprehensive policy of fair employment practices, including the writing of anti-discrimination clauses in all government contracts.

3. Endorsed national and local joint labor committees combatting prejudice and discrimination.

PLENTY OF DEBATE

Wading deeper into the 150 resolutions, the Congress moved from one labor problem to another, sparking debate and controversy from the 900-delegate convention floor.

Biggest development yesterday appeared to be a strategic victory by left-wing elements who apparently wanted some strike-action tie-up between Congress unions and those expelled because of Communist activity.

These elements obtained convention approval to have a resolution dealing with Congress support of union wage-increase demands sent back to committee for combination with two other resolutions.

One dealt with a 1953 conference to prepare plans to aid unions striking to win demands. The other favored united strike action at the local level "regardless of affiliation."

STRIKE CO-OPERATION

This latter resolution, combined with wage-demand support policy, would in effect allow a C.C.L. local to line up with any other local for strike purposes, even if that local had been expelled from the Congress for Communist and other reasons.

Three Restigouche Seats Taken By Conservatives

FREDERICTON (CP)—Premier John B. McNair and Premier-elect Hugh John Flemming will confer today on the formalities of Progressive Conservatives taking over the New Brunswick government. The administrative change resulting from Monday's sweep by Mr. Flemming's party is expected to be made in two or three weeks.

In ending the 17-year period of Liberal rule, Progressive Conservative candidates took 36 seats. The other 16 were retained by the Liberal party, which in 1948 won a 47 to 5 majority over Progressive Conservatives.

When ballot-counting halted early yesterday, the three Restigouche seats remained doubtful. But later returns assured wins over the Liberal candidates including Labor Minister S. E. Mooers.

The next tightest contest was in York, where Premier McNair and his three running mates met defeat. Mr. McNair led the Liberal vote there, and, with one poll still unreported, lost by only 157.

WON'T TAKE SEAT

The premier spiked a rumor that a seat might be found for him to lead the Liberal opposition.

"I have no plans at all for seeking a seat in the Legislature," he said. "After all, I've served for 17 years and feel I have done my bit."

The incoming government party is long on color and short on Parliamentary experience. Only two members, Mr. Flemming and Dr. E. T. Kennedy, were in the last Legislature. Only two others, J. Arthur Moore, Queens, and Robert A. McAllister, Saint John county, have had legislature experience.

On the Progressive Conservative benches will be a war paraplegic, Lorne B. Groom, Charlotte, and Norman Buchanan, also of Charlotte, Canada's only triple Military Cross winner in the First World War.

Brothers were among the winning Progressive Conservative candidates — George E. McInerney, Saint John lawyer, and Dr. J. F. McInerney, Fredericton.

CELEBRATIONS HECTIC

The decisive triumph aroused prolonged celebrating. It was especially hectic in Fredericton. As an aftermath, several persons appeared in court here yesterday on charges of throwing bottles. One landed on a policeman's head.

Donald D. Patterson, who led the winning Progressive Conservative ticket in Saint John city, had no opportunity to celebrate yesterday. He was summoned for jury duty.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The American dollar was at a discount of 4 1-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 95 29-32 cents. The pound sterling was $2.67¼, against $2.67⅛ on Tuesday.

DENIES USING FUND

Nixon, in an emotional recounting of his financial affairs, denied that he ever used one penny personally of an $18,000 fund raised by wealth Californians to pay what he said were "political expenses."

Nixon offered to leave to the Republican National Committee the question of his retention on the ticket, although he said he was not a "quitter."

"Wire and write the Republican National Committee whether you think I should stay or whether I should get off," Nixon exhorted, "and whatever their decision is, I will abide by it."

'DID NOTHING WRONG'

He denied any moral wrongdoing, reiterating: "Every penny of it was used to pay for political expenses that I did not think should be charged to the taxpayers of the United States."

His wife, Patricia, appeared with him on the program carried on a network of 62 television and 750 radio stations at a cost estimated at more than $75,000. The Republican National Committee and the Republican Senatorial and Congressional Campaign Committees paid for the time.

The main Los Angeles Western Union office reported handling 5,000 telegrams regarding Nixon within four hours after his speech. The NBC switchboard in Hollywood was jammed for 2½ hours.

HIT OPPONENTS

Nixon gave details of his own financial status and challenged his Democratic opponents, Governor Adlai Stevenson and Senator John J. Sparkman, to do likewise. He hit Stevenson's reported fund for Illinois officials and Sparkman's employment of his wife.

Senators receive $50,000 annually for office and operational expenses over and above a $15,000 salary. Nixon did not give a break-down of his $50,000 allowance.

He did not give the breakdown of expenditures of the controversial $18,235 fund in his talk. But he released an audit report from Price Waterhouse and Co., accountants, showing:

Total disbursement of $18,168.87 of which $5,102.15 went to Nixon directly, $12,876.72 to persons other than Nixon, from Nov. 15, 1950, to Aug. 20, 1952. The balance remaining was given as $66.13.

The legality of the fund was upheld by a Los Angeles legal firm engaged by Dana C. Smith, Pasadena lawyer and fund trustee.

IKE LAUDS NIXON

At Cleveland, after he viewed the Nixon presentation on TV, Eisenhower announced he was throwing away a prepared speech on inflation.

"I have been a warrior and I like courage," the general told the audience. "Tonight I saw an example of courage."

Although he said he is reserving his decision until he hears more facts from Nixon in their conference, Eisenhower left little doubt of his verdict, saying:

"When a man, in further answer of what he believes to be correct and right, stands up in front of all the American people and bares his soul — brings his family with him and tells the truth and brings in every bit of evidence he can get hold of, to substantiate his story to bare the secrets of his economic and financial life — he is a courageous man."

HEAT GOES ON

Heat was turned on in the county buildings for the first time since summer, Tuesday morning. It is the latest date for the first post-summer heating of the building in more than 20 years. For the last two days there has been "spot firing" at the new city hall, as well.

Future Uncertain Cheese Men Told

STRATFORD (CP)—J.D. Hunt, of Dorchester, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, last night told Western Ontario Association members at their annual meeting here that stocks of surplus cheese now on hand with no promise of a definite guaranteed price at the end of the year would not permit him to "paint any rosy picture of the future."

He gave the producers one ray of hope, however. He said there is a possibility of resumption of exports to Britain next year.

Some cheese makers reported a considerable quantity of Quebec cheese coming into Ontario at a lower price than the home product and said buyers in London, Kitchener and Toronto are taking it.

2 Communists Win Acquittal

NEW YORK (AP)—Two second-string Communist leaders won acquittal yesterday in the midst of their conspiracy trial. Thirteen others were continued on trial.

The freeing of Simon W. Gerson and Isidore Begun was the first setback to the government in three years of prosecuting Red leaders under the Smith Act which outlaws any conspiracy to teach or advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Judge Edward J. Dimock did not specify his reasons as he broke in on two days of arguments to announce:

"I direct a verdict of acquittal as to Begun and Gerson and deny the motion with respect to all the others."

Lindsay Reports Busy Tourist Season

LINDSAY —(ENS)— Lindsay Chamber of Commerce Secretary Harold Pollock said Tuesday that the past tourist season was the busiest ever for the C of C information booth in the heart of Lindsay's business section. More than 1,300 inquiries for route information or accommodation were placed with the Chamber during the two summer months, to average almost 25 requests for assistance a day during the tourist season. Most of the requests were for information of itinerary and accommodation in and around the town, said Mr. Pollock, and came from every state in the union and every Canadian province, as well as Mexico.

The hardest questions for the workers at the booth to answer came on Lindsay history and historical sites. The most amusing one—a traveller who inquired what he could do with an hour's free time in Lindsay, without spending any money. He was sent to Victoria Park for a rest.

Testimony Of Son Completed At Trial

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Testimony of Lyle Riley and the young woman who shares his home was completed this morning as trial of Archie Seneca, 33-year-old Muncey Indian who is charged with murder, went into its second day.

Riley, 23-year-old son of Mrs. Lydia Riley, told the Ontario Supreme Court yesterday that his mother was in the car driven by Seneca at 5 a.m. May 11, the day her bullet-wounded body was found in a lonely wooded gully near the Indian reserve.

Seneca is charged with the murder of three Muncey residents, Mrs. Riley, 65; Herman Henry, 32 and his wife, Beatrice, 30.

Trial before Mr. Justice Ferguson involves the death of Mrs. Riley to which Seneca pleaded not guilty. No plea was taken on the other two murder charges.

Louis McDonald Dies Week Before Refiring

TORONTO (CP) — C. Louis McDonald, 66, died last night. He was within a week of retiring from the Otis Elevator Company after 47 years service.

He was Vancouver district manager of the company from 1926 to 1945 and was one of the organizers and a past president of the Vancouver Builders' Exchange. Since 1945 he had been field representative for the company in Toronto.

He played lacrosse with the Orillia Terriers when they won the Mann Cup in 1907 and was a defenceman with the Hamilton Tigers hockey team when it captured the Allan Cup in 1907.

Surviving are his widow, two sons and a sister.

Mansion Burned

FARINGDON, England — (Reuters)—Coleshill House, 300-year-old mansion near here, was burned out yesterday. The house, one of Britain's finest country homes, was owned by Ernest E. Cook, an original partner in the world-wide travel agency of Thomas Cook and Son. Most of the art treasures inside were saved.

Firestone Strike Ended But Workers Still Out

HAMILTON (CP)—The strike is over at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company plant here but the workers who went on strike 16 weeks ago still are not back at work.

The men decided Monday night to return to their jobs at 7 a.m. yesterday.

However the strike-settlement agreement has not yet been signed. Some details of the pension plan remain to be worked out. The United Rubber Workers Union is awaiting the return from Washington of Paul Bowers, director of pensions for the international union, as members want his signature on the contract.

Harry Yeomans, president of the union's Local 113, told reporters: "The picket lines will be maintained until both parties have signed."

He said there is no possibility of the men resuming work before tomorrow.

For Firestone, C.A. Robin, personnel manager, said today in a statement:

"The points on the pension plan that caused the disagreement are points that were agreed to by the Local's committee and there have been no questions regarding these clauses until the international representative from the U.S.A., Mr. Bowers, re-entered negotiations yesterday morning.

"We are meeting today to attempt a final settlement.

"We can see no reason why the employees should be prevented from returning to work while details of this pension program are being discussed."

Saw Gunfire

Six witnesses were called by the Crown and 22 exhibits were entered before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer by Crown Attorney W. O. Gibson in support of the murder charge.

In another court in Toronto's City Hall, the trial of Joseph Jackson and Allister Gibson, charged with armed bank robbery, continued. At that trial Suchan's name was coupled with that of Edwin Boyd, described by police as a master bank robber who has pleaded guilty to the bank robbery charge and three others.

Boyd's brother, Norman, is accused of receiving the $24,696 stolen from a west-end branch of the Bank of Montreal.

"A QUIET PLACE"

George Stoddard, a Toronto lawyer who owns the Heath Street apartment where the two Boyds were caught last spring, told the court that Norman told him he was a missionary from Cuba and wanted a quiet place in which to write. Norman told him his wife would move in and he expected his brother would come and stay with them for a few days.

The policeman in charge of the Boyd gang investigation, Det. Sgt. Adolphus Payne, described the detailed police work that led to the capture of Edwin and Norman Boyd two days after they had rented the Heath Street apartment.

Another witness, William Downing of Toronto, testified that Suchan was with Edwin Boyd when the sale of Downing's 1951 coupe to Boyd was completed. It was the first time that Suchan had been linked with this case.

At the murder trial of Suchan and Jackson, Miss Camero identified the pair as the two who riddled the dummy with air pistols while target shooting, the day before Tong was shot while accosting a car in mid-town Toronto March 6.

Miss Camero and Miss Huluck, a roomer at the house, also identified Suchan and Jackson as the men who had visited the house the day of the shooting.

Miss Camero, 28-year-old blonde, said she met Suchan, whom she knew as Val Lesso, two years ago. She said that in the fall of 1951 Suchan brought a friend he called "Fred" to her home and identified "Fred" as Leonard Jackson.

VISITED IN HOSPITAL

She said Suchan visited her every day when she was in hospital in January after she had given birth to a child which Suchan had fathered.

Camero is her maiden name. When sworn in to give testimony she gave her married name—Ann Bosnich. However she answered to her maiden name throughout her evidence. She has been separated from her husband for about six years.

Prices Stay Firm On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Prices continued firm in early afternoon stock market trading today although western oils which led today's early recovery lost some headway.

Industrials fluctuated between gains of .75 and one point on the exchange's indices while golds climbed slowly. Western oils slipped from a gain of more than 1½ index points to about three-quarters of a point.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,008,000 shares in selective trading.

Western oils recorded a majority of advances although a few index stocks slipped slightly as profit-taking skimmed the advance. Cal. and Ed., Calvan, Canadian Atlantic, General Pete A, and Husky gained strength.

Higher-priced base metal issues held firm during the day and a number of other issues advanced. Barvue and Noranda gained while Hellens slipped.

Senior golds gained in afternoon trading and junior producers also improved as Barnat and Broulan Reef advanced.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials up .85 at 319.02, golds up .36 at 87.53, base metals up .61 at 186.05 and western oils up .74 at 125.09.

Two Boys Hit With Pick-Ax At Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP)—Two small children were attacked with a pick-ax yesterday while playing in front of their house. Their 84-year-old great grandfather, John Patterson, was arrested on a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

Bruce Treacher, 3, was admitted to hospital with multiple fractures of the skull and shock. His brother, Keith, 4, suffered a cut on his head and shock.

After Patterson was arrested, he was taken to the Ontario Hospital.

The attack took place early this afternoon at the Tisdale St. home. A witness said a man attacked the two children as they were playing at the front of the house.

Alex Brown of 681 Wellington St. S., an employee of Evel Casket Co., across the street from the home, said he was just eating his lunch when he noticed a man walk along the side of the house. He entered a shed and then walked to the front of the house where the children were playing.

He had a pickax in his hand," said Mr. Brown. "At first I didn't know what he was doing."

"The older boy was standing at the railing, while the little boy was on his kiddie car on the verandah," said Mr. Brown. "It appeared as though he shoved the kiddie car with his foot and then turned to the older boy and hit him with the pick.

"I ran across the street and grabbed hold of the old man before he could strike the older boy again," he said.

Mr. Brown said he held the man until police arrived. The little boy was lying unconscious on the verandah, but the older boy was standing by the gate of the railing in a dazed condition.

Parents of the two boys, Mr. and Mrs. John Treacher, were both away working. The children had been left in the care of their grandmother.

Morality officers J. McRae and E. Lade are investigating the attack.

Victim's Father Sues Constable

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Constable Thomas Whittle of Teck township police force is being sued by the father of William Bosak, who was fatally shot July 25, 1950, while attempting to escape custody.

The case began yesterday in Haileybury court and will continue today.

It is understood Mr. Bosak first intended to sue for $25,000 but the sum has now been decreased.

Evidence at a coroner's inquest which exonerated Whittle stated Bosak was walking towards the police van when he suddenly broke away and ran.

One shot was fired and he dropped with a bullet in his head.

George H. Wilson Publisher Dies In Lindsay

LINDSAY.—George H. Wilson, 93, founder, president and publisher for 60 years of the Lindsay Post, died at his home here on Tuesday.

One of the oldest newspaper publishers in Canada, Mr. Wilson received his early training in the printing business with his father in Port Dover, where he was born. His parents were the late George and Sarah Wilson.

He started with the Port Hope Guide, which his father founded and published throughout his lifetime. From there he went to Winnipeg and Toronto where he was connected with the printing and publishing field.

BOUGHT CANADIAN POST

He purchased the Lindsay Post, then a weekly known as the Canadian Post, from the late C. D. Barr in 1892. In 1895 he founded the Lindsay Daily Post which was augmented by the Thursday Post, a weekly publication serving the rural districts of surrounding counties.

He relinquished active management of the newspaper several years ago and was succeeded by his son, R. P. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson was an elder of Cambridge United Church for many years. He was a charter member of the Rotary Club.

FAVORED GOLF

An outdoor enthusiast, he spent much of his leisure time hunting and boating. He was one of the early summer residents at Sturgeon Point on Sturgeon Lake and watched with interest its development into an extensive Kawartha Lakes tourist resort. Golf was his favorite game.

Mr. Wilson was married twice. His first wife, the former Andrina Bruce died in 1915. His second wife, the former Annie West, predeceased him in 1937. One son, Bruce, also predeceased him in 1918.

He leaves one son, R. P. Wilson, one daughter, Miss Jean Wilson and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from his late residence. Dr. H. B. Neal of Cambridge United Church, Lindsay, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Lindsay.

Good Find

NEW YORK (AP)—Ninety cents worth of old stamps found in an attic sold for $4,675 in an auction. The proceeds went to Willard R. White of Ogdensburg, N.Y., who had them as a gift from Louis Hasbrouck of the same town. A stamp auctioning firm said they were issued by the New York postmaster in 1845, before the federal government issued its own stamps.

DOWAGER QUEEN MARY, now in her 86th year, appears in the best of health as she travels by car from Liverpool station to Marlborough House, her London residence, after a holiday at Sandringham, Norfolk.

Campbellford Fair Entries Reported Heavier, Better

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Entries in almost all classes at the Campbellford Fair were heavier this year than last, with entries in the Domestic Science and Home Baking sections especially heavy.

Judging the various classes of school work, baking, needlework, and handicrafts continued until nearly midnight on Tuesday, but Wednesday is really the big day.

On Wednesday the livestock entries will be judged and the roadster and carriage horses will have their day.

The youngsters in the calf and pig clubs also hold their achievement day on Wednesday. Running races will be featured in the afternoon, and a new innnovation will be a slow race, during which drivers must change horses, and use no saddle. The horse that goes slowest around the track will be the winner.

The R.C.A.F. band from Trenton is a feature of the afternoon attractions.

A new entry this year is a "Let's Go To Market" exhibit on the second floor of the women's building. This class features entries of every description, and gave the judges much trouble in declaring the winner.

A particularly large number of entries from the public schools kept the judges of that section busy until long after dark.

Jennie Montgomery, judge of the school exhibits, said the work this year was exceptionally good.

The results of Tuesday's judging are as follows:

Toronto Man Jailed 1 Year Dangerous Driving Charge

COBOURG (ENS) — Herbert Johnstone of Toronto was sentenced to one year in the reformatory on a dangerous driving charge reduced from motor manslaughter at Tuesday's Assize Court. The assizes came to an abrupt ending early Tuesday afternoon, although the grand jury had brought in its indictment findings at 10 a.m.

The criminal docket folded when Crown Attorney Alex Hall of Oshawa informed the court that due to illness of the main crown witness in Queen vs. Johnstone his evidence would not be available at the time.

Defence counsel J. C. M. German advised his lordship that, rather than have the case go on to a later Assize Court, his client would be willing to plead guilty to a charge of dangerous driving if it were reduced from the manslaughter charge on which the grand jury had brought in a true bill.

By consent, the case proceeded on the reduced charge, and the only evidence taken was that of Chief of Police C. W. Graham of Port Hope, who related that a car driven by the accused was in a head-on collision with one driven by George Howard of Toronto in which his father, 72-year-old William Howard, was a passenger. The father died a few days later in Port Hope hospital.

The accident happened at the west end of the town on July 20 of this year. The chief gave evidence as to skid marks which he said indicated that the car of the accused skidded into the traffic lane of the other automobile.

SUIT DELAYED

The grand jury brought in a true bill for dangerous driving against James Holtby of Bowmanville, and this case was transferred to the county court.

The civil action, Frank Staples vs. Roy Howard, an alienation of affections suit, was moved on to a future sittings of the Supreme Court due to the fact that the sudden end of the criminal docket left matters in the air. A solicitor for one of the parties in the alienation of affections case had been called away due to the death of his mother and had arranged substitute counsel for later in the week when the case was expected to go on.

The grand jury was on its inspection tour Tuesday afternoon and will report later to the county judge, Judge M. A. Miller.

Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson reemphasized his opinion that the grand jury served a useful function in the administration of justice. Speaking of their duties in regard to inspection of public institutions, he declared that the public welcomed the impartial investigation of a grand jury inspection.

He declared that the forefathers of the present generations built with imagination for the future, but now the buildings which they had erected had finally been taxed to capacity by the growth of the province. He said that it was time to stop tinkering with old buildings and build for the future with the same imagination of those in the past.

Public opinion had been aroused by the Don jail-break, and he suggested to the grand jury that they keep that in mind in their inspection of the county jail. Some counties expected to see the Government create centralized jails and were loathe to spend money fixing up the jails until they saw what was going to happen.

His lordship commented that one county had a jail with a wooden gate of such flimsy construction in the outer wall that a prisoner getting out of the building could almost poke his finger through the wooden door in the wall.

Mistaken On Insult

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A man who confused a dog's name with an insult was sentenced yesterday to 15 years in prison for homicide. The Supreme Court confirmed the sentence against Guadalupe Chavez for the fatal shooting of Antonio Castro. Chavez' appeal said he shot when he heard Castro shouting "fierabras" (tough guy). He said he thought Castro was insulting him and it was only after the shooting he learned the man was calling his dog.

Note Sent To Russia

LONDON (AP) — Britain has handed Russia a note demanding to know why the Russian Navy detained a British trawler, a Foreign Office spokesman said last night. The 369-ton fishing vessel Equerry was reported halted last week by a Soviet naval ship in Arctic waters and escorted toward the Soviet port of Murmansk.

Enrolment At Normal Schools

The Peterborough Normal School has the largest enrolment this year it has had since the Depression thirties, and generally in Provincial Normal Schools the registration has been the largest in years. This is a necessary and good change. There is a shortage of qualified teachers in Ontario and the demand will continue to be heavy. In this so-called enlightened Province, it is shocking and disgraceful that this year boys and girls possessing only minimum Junior Matriculation standing are teaching school—after a six-week course this summer in the rudiments of teaching techniques. They have neither the academic qualifications nor the technical training to be safely entrusted with this important work.

* * *

Another change, imposed by Departmental decree, is to require eight Upper School subjects for Normal School entrance next year and thereafter. In recent years only five were necessary. As a result of this and the temporary teaching permits issued to almost anybody who would take the work, many teachers in our schools today are not academically equipped to do a teacher's job. It is not good enough to have half-literate teachers, or ones just able to "keep a jump ahead of the class."

* * *

Higher salaries have been the chief means of filling our Normal Schools again, and of bringing teaching requirements back to the higher standards of fifteen years ago. Fifteen and twenty years ago salaries were very low indeed ($500 a year became normal in many rural districts) but then jobs were scarce. Teaching offered the security of a job as well as its inherent rewards. Today teaching offers security and good salaries. Witness of the latter is the car that stands outside most rural schools today. And so the Normal School classes are full; young people have come to realize that the profession is not only a good one but a paying one.

Taxes Spell The N.B. Verdict

In all four Atlantic provinces there have been only a handful of Conservatives in provincial legislatures. Like the administration of Premier John McNair of New Brunswick, Liberal governments were solidly entrenched. The Liberal defeat in New Brunswick at Monday's polls was therefore a major political upset and a surprise to many central Canadian observers with an eye on the Maritimes.

What put the New Brunswick Liberals out of their trench? New Brunswick political comment, based on an intimate knowledge of local constituencies and provincial issues, will no doubt provide detailed explanations, but it is clear from this distance that the sales tax imposed in 1950 by the McNair government was its undoing. The Conservatives under Premier-designate H. J. Flemming made this their election issue.

People vote with one hand in their pocket. The four percent. sales tax, to provide revenue for education and social services, affected his pocket every time a New Brunswicker bought anything. Unlike an indirect tax, such as Ottawa cunningly uses, the New Brunswick tax was evident all the time at retail counters, and not hidden at producers' level. The New Brunswick Conservatives promised to make efforts to abolish it. The pledge was to try to do away with the sales tax; whether the effort will succeed remains to be seen, and thereon may hang the fate of the administration which Mr. Flemming will form.

Do the New Brunswick election returns hold any warning for the Ottawa Liberals? Like by-elections, provincial elections can rarely be taken as an indication of the way a Federal general election will go. The New Brunswick electors were expressing their dissatisfaction with the McNair regime, not that of Mr. St. Laurent. However, straws went into the wind from other provincial elections this summer, and Ottawa Liberals must sit up and take notice, particularly of a defeatist issue like the tax in New Brunswick. Finance Minister Abbott's statement in Montreal yesterday was neatly timed. Ottawa imposes disliked direct taxes, too, and Mr. Abbott said that he feels that these—personal income and corporation taxes—should be reduced "as soon as conditions make practicable." Is it presumptuous to suggest that these conditions will be considered right and practicable next year, before the Federal general elections?

Guided Missiles Best Ten Years Ago

Since before the day of David's sling, all missiles have been guided; it is the essence of a weapon that it be directed. Thus the fretful future of the "guided missile," the subject of so much speculation now, is that of any other weapon undergoing technical improvement. The guided missiles which have been used by the United States navy in Korea were nothing but obsolete fighter planes controlled by a radio instead of by a pilot. The Germans had much more advanced robot air weapons in production in 1944, and used them.

The "Hellcat" used by the U.S. navy is a lumbering fighter, carrying a two-thousand-pound bomb. In place of the pilot is a radio receiver system at its controls. It also carries a television camera, so that the guiding plane and the aircraft carrier launching the Hellcat can tell whether it hits its target. There is really little newly formidable in this "guided missile" arrangement used in Korea.

What will stir the dust of the world and the plans of military strategists are the rockets and pilotless jet aircraft which Britain and the United States are in the course of producing. These are improved versions of the German V 1's and V 2's—probably as highly improved as the German improvements of these weapons which the conquerors seized on drafting boards and testing areas in Germany. However, the British and American missiles can have atomic war heads as well as conventional explosive war heads, and their rockets should be able to pin-point targets at ranges up to five hundred miles.

It is a weird and wonderful age, this, but neither the millenium nor the cosmic cataclysm. We may steady our nerves by reminding ourselves that these fancy new pilotless atomic weapons are very costly (therefore not too many will be popping off around the universe for a while yet), that the course of the guided missile must be maintained by two control stations sited miles from the launching platform and by mechanism which takes a long time to adjust and is so delicate that a spot of bad weather will completely unnerve it.

The most successful guided missile yet used in warfare was the Japanese suicide plane. It was very successfully guided by elaborate but common equipment—a Jap dedicated patriotically to the Emperor and his ancestors. At this time of writing we need be no more fearful of today's guided missiles than we were of that excellent robot, the Jap suicide pilot.

The Gaiety Of Nations

When David Garrick died his friend Samuel Johnson said that the event had eclipsed the gaiety of nations. He was reminded by Boswell that Garrick was not known outside England, and that therefore his remark was extravagant; Boswell never knew when to keep his mouth shut. But the remark has a fine generosity about it, and when someone dies who has contributed largely to the amusement of mankind we may still say, without too pedantic a heed for accuracy, that their demise has eclipsed the gaiety of nations.

Let us say so, then, of the death of Harold Tucker Webster, who died on Monday. He created many cartoon figures, but the most famous of all was Caspar Milquetoast, "the timid soul," whose modest grapplings with an unfriendly world amused the public for a quarter of a century. Most of us have shared Milquetoast's emotions at one time or another; we have all played a craven role in order to avoid trouble. Webster made gentle fun of the Milquetoast in all of us, and because his humour was rooted in life itself, it never failed to amuse us, and the word Milquetoast, for a timid and ineffectual man, has passed into common speech. This is in itself a memorial to Webster, and one which we know he appreciated during his life.

Another death which will cause regret to hundreds of thousands of people who have been amused by his work is that of Major-General J. H. Beith, who wrote under the name of 'Ian Hay'. His most famous play was The Middle Watch, which is still frequently performed, and as lately as 1936 he was a popular dramatist. He wrote over a score of amusing novels, and as many plays, some of them in collaboration with P. G. Wodehouse. Like Wodehouse, his humour seemed to exist in a world of its own, founded perhaps upon the Edwardian world of his youth; it was 'escape' literature that he wrote, and the public was numberless which was happy to escape with him.

NOTES AND COMMENT

It has been demonstrated that a pig's eye can be used as a camera lens. And the hideous result shows how we probably look to a pig, and explains why pigs are so unfriendly. Perhaps a picture taken through a skunk's eye could clear up another long-standing disagreement.

The Kitchener Record says that Canadian TV "should have a background of sane and solid thinking." What we have seen looks as though the thinking were not merely solid, but impenetrable.

BIBLIOMANIA:

The Growth Of Boswell

BOSWELL IN HOLLAND 1763-1764 (British Book Service).

IT HAS BEEN said by people who have not considered the matter carefully that Dr. Samuel Johnson would be little heeded today if he had not had the good luck to find a biographer in James Boswell; this is untrue, for Johnson's position in English letters is a safe one; but it is true that we should have missed the greatest literary portrait we possess. And it has been said with equal injustice that Boswell lives only as an appendage of Johnson—as an assiduous taker of notes. This was never true, for Boswell's genius as a reporter is to be seen on every page of his great Life of Johnson, and it is utterly untrue now, when we have two volumes of the Boswell Papers on our library shelves. Already Boswell emerges as a striking character, and by the time the Papers are all edited and published he may have won, after so long a time, a place as one of the great self-revealers in the world's literature.

Boswell's friend Johnson is reported to have said that nobody but a fool ever wrote except for money. If that is true, Boswell was unquestionably a fool, for he seems to have been incapable of thinking anything without making a note of it, or doing anything without recording it. In the "London Journal" we have read his account of his first excursions into the world of fashion and letters. In the volume now under review, "Boswell in Holland 1763-1764" we have his notes of what he did and thought during a sojourn in Utrecht, where he had gone at his father's bidding to study law and where he stayed from August until the following June. He wrote a journal of his adventures and his thoughts, which he presumably intended to show to some of his friends, but it has been lost; what we have in this volume is his notes for that journal, and the letters which he wrote to Belle de Zuylen, a young lady with whom he almost fell in love. It is as full of interest as the earlier volume, and some readers may like it better.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL HIS LIFE Boswell yearned to excel as a man of the world. He would have been transported with joy if he thought that anyone looked up to him as a model of manners and polite conversation. He was by nature an excessive, mercurial, impulsive and emotional man, and it was his ambition to be taken for a high-born Tory mediocrity; the battle between what he so richly was and what he so meanly sought to be was fought first in London, and was continued in Utrecht. He reproaches himself for having been too free in conversation, for having lowered himself by loud laughter—for having behaved as his nature dictated. He draws up a sad, yet laughable document which he called "an inviolable plan" which, if followed, would make him what he yearned to be. Reading it, we love Boswell for the innocence of his heart, but we cannot escape a feeling that he was young for his age.

His near-romance with Belle de Zuylen makes delightful reading, as we peruse the letters which they exchanged. She was a girl of 23, highly born, attractive in person, and of a witty and distinguished mind; Boswell, yearning for we know not what, says in his notes that he was "shocked or rather offended by her unlimited vivacity" she, on her side, thought the solemn young Scotsman, so anxious to impress, rather funny. But in time they surmounted these difficulties, and in his more unguarded moments he was very nearly himself in writing to her.

A century and a half after it was written Boswell's bundle of notes from his Dutch sojourn makes wonderful reading. It is good to know that we have may more volumes from his hand to look forward to in the years to come. How he would have loved the fame he enjoys today, and how troubled he would be to know that it rests upon just those traits in his character which he fought hardest to suppress.

ROSE AND CROWN, by Sean O'Casey (MacMillan)

FROM BOSWELL'S volume of self-revelation we turn to this one, by a writer as greatly gifted as any living today; this is the fifth volume in Sean O'Casey's autobiography, and perhaps we may be permitted to say that this biography is now too long; even a man who can explain himself so well should show some sense of moderation. But there is no moderation in O'Casey. His loyalties and his hatreds are all excessive; too many of the people he meets emerge as angels or devils. And it is hard not to feel that he is wallowing in self-pity, much of the time; it is expressed with an eloquence which is magical in its effect for a few pages, but self-pity is the cheapest of emotions, and even golden prose cannot disguise it for long. O'Casey is a great man, and we find it painful to see him at a disadvantage, even when he has chosen it himself.

O'Casey has mighty grievances, it is true. He has been ill-used by the world. He is certainly one of the greatest of living dramatists, but his plays are rarely performed, for they call for the finest kind of imagination and poetry in their direction and acting; unhappily such imagination and poetry are rare, and then they do not appeal to people who think of the theatre as a place to go for "a good laugh". Further, his plays have suffered from persecution, for there are too many Irishmen, both in and out of Ireland, whom they do not please. O'Casey calls himself a Communist, but that is bosh. He would not last for ten minutes in Russia. He is an anarchist, as all great artists are anarchists in one way or another, but he has labelled himself a Communist, and thereby he has given his enemies a stick with which to beat him. He strikes back, and his invective against the Church of Rome must surely rank very high even in the great Irish school of abuse. But O'Casey's enemies and the people who cannot understand or value O'Casey have kept him poor and have kept most of his plays from the stage. He undoubtedly has his troubles, but he undoubtedly likes to complain about them.

O'Casey is a great writer, and posterity will find it out. By then it will be too late to do O'Casey any good, but in the eyes of posterity his enemies will look very stupid and cruel. But this long autobiography—this rich mine of complaint—will also show posterity what a very hard man O'Casey was to live with. Here, if ever it was exemplified, is Edmund Wilson's theory of the wound and the bow of Philoctetes: who takes O'Casey's strength and magic must also take what is unbearable and repellent.

LET US END WITH one of O'Casey's descriptions of W. B. Yeats: "Sean noticed how stiffly Yeats slid into the comfortable chair by the cosy fire. He was bright, though, and aimed at gaiety; had he nested sooner here and longer, letting restlessness ooze out of him, he'd have had a chance of a longer life. He couldn't for there was in Yeats an irresistible leaven of childlike desire for glitter and imagination and masqued activity. He loved to pace upon the battlements and stare on the foundations of a house."

Letters To The Editor

CANON JUDD CORRECT?

Sir: In your editorial "Loose Talk on Immigration" you suggest that Canon W. Judd should be more careful before accusing the Canadian Government of failing to encourage immigration from the British Isles because of pressure from Quebec. It is the declared policy of the present government not to disturb or alter the fundamental character of the Canadian population, and since the French have little or desire to emigrate, it would appear highly probable this policy was formed in deference to French Canadian wishes, which makes it look as though Canon Judd was correct.

Alternately the Canadian Government does not discourage British immigration other than demand a health examination and evidence of self support together with payment of fare. So far as desire to emigrate from U.K. is concerned, some newspapers have recently referred to hundreds of thousands of wishful emigrants.

Under these circumstances it would be useful and interesting to see a breakdown of immigration under nationality and "encouragement" or subsidy. How much does the Canadian Government spend on subsidizing emigration, and on which countries is the money spent? Is any spent?

Yours truly,
C. W. HOLMAN

Ed. Note: In the six years from 1946 to 1952, inclusive, Canada admitted a total of 624,780 immigrants. According to country of last permanent residence, they were divided as follows:

Country	Number	Per Cent. of Total
British Isles	216,164	34.6
Poland	83,040	13.3
United States	50,792	8.1
Holland	44,869	7.2
Italy	43,484	7.0
Germany	35,797	5.7
France	11,592	1.9
All others	139,042	22.2

These statistics show that the British have been by far the largest single group among post-war immigrants. Of the 624,780 immigrants admitted in the six post-war years, 216,164, or 34.6 per cent. of the total were British. Here is a tabulation according to years:

Year	No. from British Is.	% of Total for year
1946	54,673	76.2
1947	40,401	63.0
1948	49,188	39.3
1949	23,965	25.2
1950	13,147	17.8
1951	34,790	17.9

Canon Judd cannot have been correct in his imputation of the Government's applying a "certain quota" to Anglo-Saxon immigration to appease French-Canadian opinion. What kind of quota would permit entry of 13,147 in one year and 54,673 in another?

We are attempting to get information on the sums the Canadian Government has spent in various countries to encourage and subsidize immigration to this country, and will publish this information when it is available to us.

FAIR IS FOR LIVE STOCK

Sir: Permit me to express a few thoughts re the recent fair from a Director's viewpoint. From the beginning of Fairs, the chief thought of those in charge has been the betterment of live stock. The people who instituted this means of competition, did so in the belief that the live stock industry of a country is its basic industry. They believed that to stimulate better animals in all live stock's varied activities, was the primary thought to always keep in mind.

In the fairs of the Old Land and in all lands to-day, this thought is still uppermost in the planning of fair directors. Our prize lists are built around this theme. To-day the Royal of Toronto and the International of Chicago are outstanding examples of this planning. The C.N.E., although a fair of entertainment, is also firmly behind the thought of helping the live stock man. The smaller fairs, to which we of Peterborough belong, are builders for these larger ones. In our fair just closed we had champions at the major shows in competition.

Through the years our Peterborough Exhibition has followed the same pattern. From the lowly but useful hen to the weighty Clyde our lists have offered prizes which are the highest outside the major fairs. Our breeders have co-operated in that year after year the quality of our live stock has risen. They have fitted and eliminated until this year the show was a quality one throughout. The prize list this year provided $17,000. We feel that the public are justified in criticizing us, if we have failed in the main objects of a fair. If not, they should show their appreciation by their attendance at the ring side of the various classes. As a director of the cattle classes looking back over the years our ringside is not what it used to be. Nothing helps an exhibitor more than a large and interested group of people before whom he parades his or her animal.

On behalf of the directors of the cattle classes we wish to thank Mr. Butcher and his entire staff of the Board of Works for their co-operative efforts this year. In the cleaning of the stables, preparing our ringside, installing the P.A. system in all our stables, and in many other ways, they played a willing part.

To you, Mr. Editor, we also express our thanks for your interest in our Exhibition and in opening your columns for this discussion. May I hope that next year's board with the assistance of rural and urban people, will accomplish the task of presenting a worthwhile fair.

Signed,
A DIRECTOR

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee: so that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding . . .

If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God. For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding. He layeth up sound wisdom for the righteous: he is a buckler to them that walk uprightly. (Prov. 2: 1, 2, 4-7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Doth not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice? . . .

I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgement: that I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures. (Prov. 8: 1, 20, 21.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Please, Mr. Smith," the little girl said to the butcher, "we want three rations of steak and we want it tough."

"Tough?" said the butcher. "Most people want it tender."

"Yes, but if we have it tender, daddy eats it all."

"I've got a rather distasteful job," remarked the genealogist. "A woman employed me to look up her family tree, and I've got to inform her that one of her relatives was electrocuted for murder in the U.S."

Comparing Careers Of Two Men In U.S. Presidential Campaign

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Political partisans can find plenty of differences to point up between the careers of the two leading presidential candidates in the quickening United States election race.

Before the campaign became hot there was a widespread view expressed by Americans of varied political creeds that they could be happy in the fact there were two good men vying for the highest post in the land.

Today the emphasis is on the dissimilarities between Adlai Ewing Stevenson and Dwight David Eisenhower.

SOLDIER'S CAREER

Eisenhower, 62 and 10 years older than Stevenson, has been a soldier throughout his career although that has included two years as president of Columbia University and two years as the top administrator of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Stevenson has been a newspaper man, lawyer, farmer, bank director, government official and diplomat. Since 1948 he has been governor of Illinois.

Both men's reactions towards the first suggestions that they become nominee for president were to dismiss the proposals. But slowly they came around to accept nomination although Stevenson could be considered the "laggard" in this case since he was still apparently thrusting it away only hours before his nomination.

SPRIGHTLY ORATOR

On the speaking platform Stevenson, in the opinion of most political observers, has had the edge in oratical sprightliness. His speechmaking is flecked with incisive, memorable phrases and neat witticisms.

Eisenhower's approach is with rolling phrases and heavy sarcasm.

But some observers have expressed belief that Stevenson often talks over the heads of his audience and that his listeners may grow weary of continued humor.

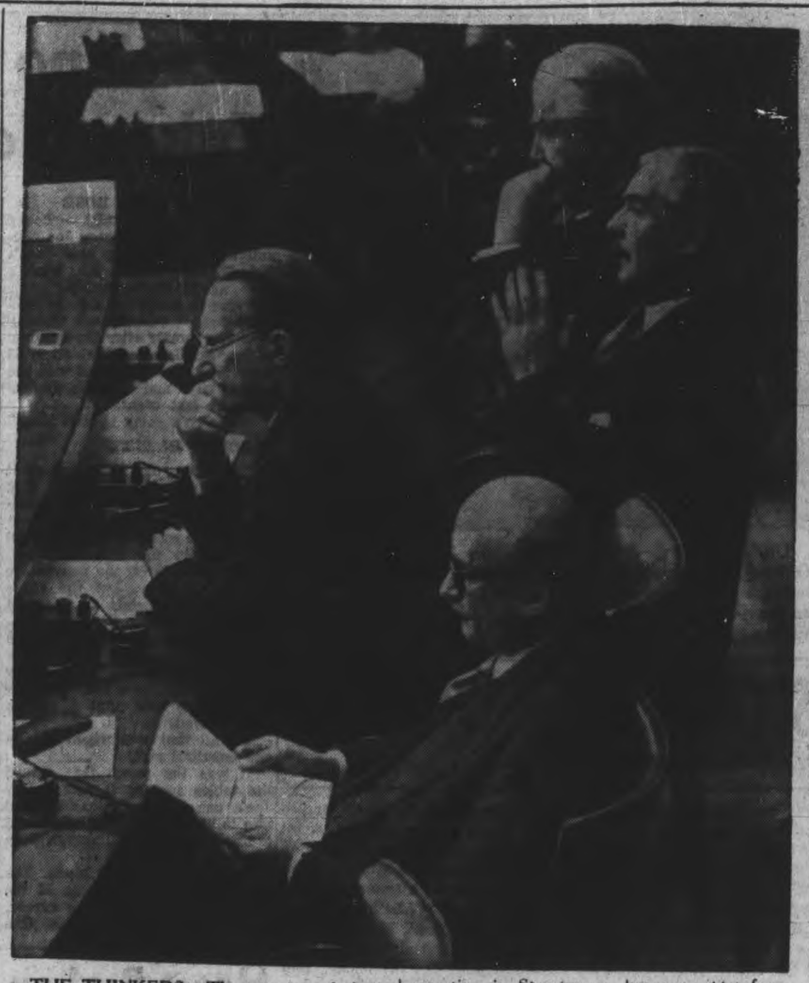
Eisenhower has adopted the theme that the campaign is no laughing matter and the general has been blasting away at Stevenson's light treatment of serious subjects.

POLITICAL NEWCOMERS

Both men are comparative newcomers to professional politics, but Eisenhower, at least when the campaign began, was far out in front in terms of being a public figure. His leadership of Allied forces in Europe in the Second World War made him one of the best-known men in the world. Before the campaign little of the public outside Illinois knew Stevenson's name.

When Stevenson was born in Los Angeles, his father at the time was managing gold and copper mines. He spent his childhood in Bloomington, Ill., and later went to Princeton University, Harvard Law School and Northwestern University.

Eisenhower tells of his father, originally of German stock, failing in a general merchandise store and then becoming a mechanic in a milk plant. His parents were staunch pacifists but he entered West Point where he graduated 61st in a class of 164. Before the Second World War he served as an aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur for seven years.



RELIGIOUS CONNECTIONS

Eisenhower, whose parents belonged to a sect named the Brethren of Christ, an offshoot of the Mennonites, has no regular church affiliation but frequently attends the Presbyterian Church. Stevenson, who quotes widely from the Bible in his speeches, is a Unitarian.

Stevenson's status as a divorced man was a point of speculation early in the campaign as to his chances of election. But that appears to have slipped into the background. Ellen Borden, a Chicago social figure, divorced him in 1949 on grounds of mental cruelty. They have three sons.

Eisenhower has been married since 1916 to Mamie Doud. They have a son, now in Korea.

Lowly Black Peat Bogs Will Play Important Role

DUBLIN (Reuters)—The lowly black peat bogs that cover one-seventh of the Emerald Isle will play an important role in a development program for which the Republic of Ireland is setting out to raise the largest loan in her history.

Finance Minister Sean Macentee announced yesterday that lists will be opened next Monday and closed Oct. 3 for a loan of £20,000,000 at five-per-cent interest.

Much of the money will go into a five-year electrical-development program aimed at more than doubling Ireland's power output. One-third of the power is to be provided by burning peat.

Peat, the soggy substance formed by centuries of decomposition of plant life in marshy ground, has been much looked down upon in this age of more modern fuels. But it is gaining prestige rapidly in this country, which has to import every lump of coal and every gallon of oil.

At the turf experimental and research station at Newbridge, 25 miles from here, a team of engineers, chemists and scientists headed by an Englishman, Horace Miller, is developing new methods of digging, treating and utilizing peat.

Youth 16, Has Exciting Year

WATERLOO (CP)—David MacLean, 16, ran away from his Waterloo home a year ago because he didn't like school. But now he is back again after working as a lumberjack and with drilling companies, one of them north of the Arctic Circle.

He said yesterday that once during his travels he fell through lake ice and nearly lost his life. He twisted his ankle in falling, but managed to crawl out. Unable to walk, he said, he fell unconscious with wolves only 50 yards from him. He was found with an ear and an arm badly frostbitten. Doctors wanted to amputate his arm, but he would not agree, MacLean said.

In the Arctic, he joined a firm drilling for nickel and the coldest temperature he experienced was 76 below. He decided to return to school because he felt he needed more education for the job he wanted. He is in grade 11 at the Kitchener-Waterloo Collegiate.

Hamilton Bank Clerk Pleads Guilty To Manslaughter

HAMILTON (CP) — Originally charged with murder in the strangulation of his wife, Reginald Sloman, 28-year-old bank clerk, yesterday pleaded guilty to manslaughter. He will be sentenced later.

A grand jury rejected the murder charge earlier and returned a true bill on the lesser count.

The body of Sloman's wife, Kathleen, was found in their bedroom here early June 12. Sloman, in a statement to police and presented in court yesterday, said he had been out drinking the previous night.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sloman, his parents, came here from Bournemouth, England, to attend the trial.

Sloman said:

"I didn't mean to do it. We had been very happy together."

His wife had taken to staying out as late as 6 a.m. without telling him where she was, he said. They had a 16-month-old baby.

He said:

". . . All of a sudden she was across the bed and the tie was around her throat. I didn't mean to do that. I loved her. But I couldn't stop myself. There was a bunch of ties on the night table. The tie around her neck wasn't knotted, it was just pulled tight."

All-Out Drive Good Thing—Rocky

OTTAWA (CP)—Perhaps the best thing that could happen in Korea would be an all-out Communist offensive, Brig. John M. Rockingham suggested yesterday.

Such an assault might well take a savage beating. It certainly would be held and it could send the Chinese commanders back to their leaders saying "Ah nuts! or its Chinese equivalent" about carrying on the war.

That way, said the original commander of Canada's 25th brigade in Korea, lies the hope of a break in the prolonged Korean stalemate.

Now director-general of army training and slated to go to Britain's Imperial Defence College this winter, Brig. Rockingham told Ottawa's Canadian Club that nobody now seriously thinks the Chinese intend to negotiate a truce.

Raybestos Gains Crown Against The Marines With a 1-0 Fastball Win

Winding up a grand playoff series at Quaker Park last evening, Raybestos edged Outboard Marines 1-0 in nine innings to capture the Industrial Fastball League championship for the 1952 season and officially end softball and fastball here for this year. Following the thrilling encounter, the G. K. Fraser Trophy was presented to Rays' team captain Ray Crary by league president Bill Gunn, as Manager Ken Crampton and Coach Cack Rogers of Rays, and Manager Archie Hall of Marines looked on.

This was the sixth game of a listed best-of-five final series, but the deadlocked teams—with two wins each after four games—came up with a scoreless 11-inning humdinger last week to force a sixth game. That 1-0 score indicates how well these finalists were matched and what fine ball they served up in playoffs.

WALK DID IT

The only run of the contest came in the third inning. Al Northcott led off with a walk and it proved the payoff. He moved up a base on a passed ball, took third on Crampton's infield out, and raced home when pitcher Don Batley banged a safe hit over third base. Each side threatened a few times, even getting a runner to third occasionally, but there was no other scoring in the joust.

Don Batley of Raybestos and Bob Halliday of Marines turned in a real twirling duel, though there weren't too many hits. They were stingy with walks and hits, Batley allowing but five safeties and Halliday six. Their support was almost perfect as the rival fielders hustled every minute to keep a hundred or so fans on the edges of their seats.

LED THE HITTERS

Batley banged out a triple and double for the winners at bat, Toodie Greenlaw had a triple and a two-baser, Caccavelli hit an extra base blow, and Crary came through with a single. Halliday clouted a double and single for Outboards, Mongraw got two safe bingles, and Gordonier got the other one.

The Fastball League ran all summer with Raybestos and Marines meeting in finals after Norwood, Quakers and Woollens had earlier been eliminated after a fine season of competition, with many nifty numbers served up at Quaker Park. Last night's teams:

Marines: Gordonier, 1b; Plumpton, 2b; Downer, 3b; Halliday, p; Corrigan, cf; Blakely, lf; Wellwood, rf Mongraw, c; Broadhurst, ss.

Raybestos: Crampton, cf; Batley, p; Giles, c; Crary, 3b; Caccavelli, ss; Greenlaw, 2b; Fennell, lf; Northcott, 1b Greenhalgh, rf.

Howe Injured As Hawks, Red Wings Tie

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings played to a 1-1 tie last night in a pre-National Hockey League season game in which Detroit star Gordie Howe was injured.

Howe was taken to hospital suffering from a gouge on the back of his right leg. Red Wing coach Tommy Ivan said he was "quite worried" about the injury to the right winger.

Alex Delvicchio scored Detroit's goal in the first period unassisted. Pete Conacher evened it up in the second with Gus Bodnar assisting.

The first period was marked by fights. Red Kelly, Glen Skov, Fred Glover and Ray Hannigan all received majors for fighting in the first two minutes of the game.

At the 19-minute mark Ted Lindsay and Glover mixed it up with Lindsay getting five minutes for fighting plus a 10-minute misconduct. Glover got a five-minute penalty for fighting and two 10-minute misconducts.

So far in the seven-game series, each team has won two and tied one. The sixth game is here tonight.

3-Run Homer Gives Rochester 4-2 Victory

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A three-run homer by shortstop Wally Lammers last night carried Rochester Red Wings to a 4-2 victory and a 3-1 series lead over Montreal Royals in their best-of-seven finals for the International League's Governors' Cup.

Lammers, who had homered only twice during the regular season, pumped a 330-foot line drive into the left field bleachers with two aboard and two out in the second inning.

The shot came off the delivery of lefthander Johnny Podres, the starter and loser who gave up five hits. Another homer by Rip Repulski in the fourth with the bases empty provided an insurance run for the Wings.

GOES THE ROUTE

Veteran knuckleballer Al Papai went the route for his second straight playoff victory. Papai gave up six hits, walked four, and hit one, but stranded 11 men.

Shortstop Jim Pendleton walloped a lead-off homer in the second for the losers, who picked up another tally in the eighth on a two bagger by Walt Moryn and a pair of infield outs.

Montreal put the potential tying runs on second and third with two out in the ninth, but Lammers threw out Pendleton to end the game.

2 Lightning Passes Give Sarnia Victory

SARNIA (CP)—A pair of lightning passes by Jack McKelvie and two sparkling runs by John Sells and Archie McAffer led Sarnia Imperials, unbeaten leaders of the Ontario Rugby Football union, to a 35-8 victory over the University of Western Ontario Mustangs last night.

More than 2,500 fans watched Sells run 100 yards from a kick-off through the entire Mustang team for a touchdown in the third quarter.

McAffer, second leading scorer in the O.R.F.U., broke through the centre of the Mustang line and galloped 44 yards for a major in the third quarter.

In second place with a three-under-par 69 was Rudy Horvath of Windsor.

Banish Hirsch Permanently From Baseball

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, announced yesterday he has permanently banished Walter Hirsch of Dayton, O., from minor league baseball for his part in the 1949-50 University of Kentucky basketball scandal.

Hirsch played first base this season for Danville, Ill., in the Mississippi-Ohio Valley League. He batted .333, led the club in runs batted in with 95 and was voted the most popular player by Danville fans.

Reached at his home in Dayton, Hirsch said he will appeal.

Trautman said the banishment was based on a New York District Attorney's report which he quoted in a letter to Hirsch. He declined to make public the contents.

Hirsch was never charged in the Kentucky basketball gambling scandal although he went to New York voluntarily to testify before a grand jury last February.

Hirsch and other Kentucky and University of Toledo players were accused by a judge of participating in a conspiracy to fix games.

Toronto Swamps Aggies 57-0

TORONTO (CP)—University of Toronto Blues, playing their first exhibition game of the 1952 college football season, loped to a 57-0 win over O.A.C.-O.V.C. Aggies in Varsity Stadium yesterday.

The Blues, defending champions, kept to the ground almost throughout and didn't throw a pass until late in the second quarter and only seven in the final 30 minutes.

Varsity needed only nine plays for their three first-quarter touchdowns.

Bill Bewley scored two touchdowns, converted five and booted a 30-yard placement for 18 points. Danny Nelson picked up two majors, Oneschuk collected one touchdown and a single. Bill McFarlane, Bob Pinkey, Bobby Dale and Don Harrison scored the other majors.

Faulty Totalizator Goes Broke At Race

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The totalizator at the Balaklava race track went on the blink the other day and went broke.

The tote paid off at all sorts of queer odds. On one race it paid 5-2 to win and 14-1 to place and show on the same horse. It ran out of money at the fifth race.

Huge queues waited all afternoon to get their money. Hundreds had to leave the track without collecting.

The manager said the trouble was in setting up the machine. He promised it wouldn't happen again.

'Great' Says Dressen After Pennant Win

BROOKLYN (AP) — "Great, great."

That seemed to be the only word that could express manager Charlie Dressen's feelings and those of his players last night as Brooklyn Dodgers stormed into the dressing room following their 5-4 victory over Philadelphia Phillies. The win brought them the 1952 National League championship.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Don Ashbee and Nip O'Hearn have been told to report for pro puck training again, we hear, though they may pay no heed. A bit early to be sure yet what they'll be doing in hockey this winter. Bob Thorpe served his year of abstinence from organized hockey—playing last winter in the T.V.L.—so he's okay now as a free agent. Red Creighton would like to affiliate the Norwood T.V.L. team for an O.H.A. intermediate "B" bye this coming campaign. Meantime, the Petes' prospective players have an open meeting at eight tonight out at the Peterborough Golf Club to discuss plans for the season. Ben Swartz, club prexy, will provide transportation for those requiring it.

Preparing for their four-point grid fray in Kingston this Friday, the Orfuns exude confidence. After finally cracking the Cobourg Ghosts' jinx, the big-shouldered guys from here feel that this is their year. The Ghosts were packed to the hilt and bragging of making the race a runaway. Not so today. Give a listen to some printed walls from the borough: "The stunning surprise in Peterborough reverberated around Cobourg all day Saturday and the Ghosts were on the pan individually and collectively. One officer said 'no brains', another said 'no kicking', and so it went. Those lights in Peterborough could mean the whole issue.

* * * * * *

M'sieu Dufton Worried?

"Fred Dufton, club president, was grimly quiet but did say that the whip would crack this week. Oshawa beat Peterborough last year but it's doubtful if they do it this season. It could be a dogfight between the Ghosts and Petes. In Peterborough the Ghosts were bad but Petes won by a single point. In Cobourg the Ghosts were good but they also had a lot of luck on their last touchdown. If that second touchdown were discounted then the score would read 6-5. Peterborough is a real danger to this Ghost squad and one more local loss could put the Gallopers in the position of looking for a miracle in early November. Even Fred Dufton, Ghosts' greatest fan, says Peterborough is the team to beat." We quite agree.

A grim gang of Petes' Timbermen are off this eve for Mimico and the fourth fray of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals. They lead 2-1 but know the Yorks will be tought in the Mimico setting, and might well sew up the series ere 11 bells tonight. Weather permitting, of course. However, the Thorpe team didn't win the O.L.A. title by being bashful or afraid—they'll battle anyone anywhere, and hope to dump Yorks on the seats of their pants right before the Toronto fans who crowd Mimico's bowl. In any case, there'll be a fifth playoff here Friday p.m. and we think maybe local fans—to the tune of more than 3,000—will see our crew take the series which puts 'em into the Mann Cup finals once more.

* * * * * *

How They Were Named

Official list of O.L.A. all-stars, as voted by the coaches, arrives. First team has Moon Wootton in goal, Merv McKenzie and Chuck Simpson on defence, Fred Sandford at rover, Leo Teatro in centre, and Jack Dorney and Bob Dobbie on the wings. Chuck Davidson was named coach. Don McPhail got the verdict as season's most valuable player. Second all-star squad had George Johnston in goal, Harry Wipper and Nip O'Hearn on defence, Scotty McPhail and Bob Thorpe tied for the rover position, Curly Mason in centre, with Denny Peterson and Max Woolley on the wings. Joe Cheevers was chosen coach of this team, and if they'd just swap goalies we think the second team would take that first one any time.

A lot of us were disappointed to learn there was no radio broadcast of the heavyweight fight in Philadelphia last night. TV was piped to certain paying outlets, but the rest was a blackout. It's becoming quite a racket, but quite legal, and one just has to wait till the next day to read about such scraps for the details. Marciano cashed in on his youth and power-laden punches to gradually wear down the old champ, knocking Walcott stiff in the 13th round. The veteran Negro made it a real fight and dumped the surprised Rock early in the fight for his first pro knockdown. They'll meet again, but this time the new champ will get more mazuma out of the deal.

Bruins Have Two Lines Set

HERSHEY, Pa. — (CP) — Lynn Patrick, coach of Boston Bruins, appears to have two forward lines pretty well set for the National Hockey League opening.

The Bruins and Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League worked through some torrid scrimmages yesterday.

Patrick said: "You will remember we had a pretty fair club by the end of last season. The kids are a year older and wiser. All things considered, I think we'll have a flag contender."

Two combinations appear to be clicking. Captain Milt Schmidt, Real Chevrefils and Leo Labine make up one, Dave Creighton, Johnny Peirson and Jack McIntyre the other.

But the Bruins still need a good defence.

One of the newcomers to the Hershey camp is Frank Toyota, believed to be the only Japanese hockey player on the continent. He played with Kitchener Green Shirts last year.

Marciano Flattens Walcott Takes Heavyweight Title

By MURRAY ROSE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rocky Marciano, the guy Jersey Joe Walcott and many others said "can't fight," today held the world's heavyweight championship.

"They'll probably say he still can't fight," said trainer Charley Goldman shortly after the dynamic 28-year-old flattened Walcott in 43 seconds of the 13th round with one perfect right and sent him into retirement last night.

"But who's going to beat him?"

FLOORED IN FIRST

The 38-year-old Walcott gave it a gallant try. A stunned crowd of 40,379 saw him floor the new champion for the first time in his career in the first round with a beautiful left hook to the chin.

Rocky stayed off the canvas the rest of the way, but the cards of all three officials showed him trailing the crafty Camden, N.J., veteran on points up to the fatal 13th. And when it was over, it took eight stitches to sew up an ugly gash on Marciano's head and another six to look after a cut on his forehead.

But all that was wiped out by one beautiful right.

It was the punch that turned the tables just as it was Jersey Joe's one left hook that enabled him to knock the crown off Ezzard Charles' head in Pittsburgh July 18, 1951.

Walcott's eyes went blank. The old guy, who put up one of the greatest fights of his long career, sank slowly to the canvas. One knee was twisted under him and his forehead rested on the floor as referee Charley Daggert tolled the fatal 10. Then Walcott stretched out on his back.

CROWD RUSHES RING

Marciano's supporters in the huge throng went wild. A horde of wild-eyed rooters pushed past the police, swarmed through and over the press rows and stormed into the ring to pay homage to their hero. For more than 15 minutes they jubilantly acclaimed their idol until the police cleared them away.

The swarthy, modest, solidly-built Brockton husky thus became the first heavyweight to achieve boxing's most prized crown without a defeat or draw to mar his record.

Rocky had never been floored until Jersey Joe sent him to the deck with a terrific left hook on the chin in the first round. Rocky clambered to his feet at four, held on and then fought back. Another left hook wobbled Marciano near the close of the round.

He had answered the questions the critics had asked. Could he take Walcott's feared punch and go on? He showed he had the stuff of which champions are made.

"It didn't feel so bad," said Rocky. "Carmine Vingo's punch hurt me more. This really didn't hurt me—no kidding. But here I was on the floor. I was mad at myself. I remembered what Charley (Goldman) told me. 'If you get knocked down, take eight. Don't be brave—take the eight.' But I wanted to get up in the worst way. I just couldn't wait."

FIGHT A HARD ONE

Up he came and it was a dilly the rest of the way. Walcott didn't show his age as he fought a brilliant battle—until the payoff punch. He boxed beautifully, traded blows with his younger rival and often made Rocky break off the exchanges.

Thus, as he won the title, Jersey Joe lost it—with one blow.

Asked about Marciano, whom he had derided in the past, Walcott said almost inaudibly:

"He's a good puncher, a good puncher. He hurt me several times. No, I wasn't tired. I was setting the pace when, bang! I don't know what he hit me with. I just don't remember anything."

The old guy said he thought he had Rocky in the first round when he dropped him.

"But I lost him. I just lost him. I should have finished it then, but he got away from me."

BETTING HEAVY

Probably millions of dollars traded hands in what was one of the biggest betting fights in years with Rocky winding up as the 9-to-5 favorite. Walcott, oldest champion ever to defend his crown, outweighed Rocky 196 to 184.

The fight grossed $504,645 at the gate and theatre-television probably will add another $125,000.

On his 40 per cent, Walcott earned approximately $188,000. Rocky, cut in for 20 per cent, reaped about $94,035.

Heart-Broken Jersey Joe Will Retire

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rocky Marciano, the cut, bruised and bleeding new heavyweight champion of the world, last night proclaimed his willingness to defend his title and termed Jersey Joe Walcott a "good, tough guy—a helluva fighter."

His dressing room after the bruising, dramatic fight was a scene of confusion. Men shouted, glaring lights brought sweat to everyone's faces and in the midst of it all, the new titleholder looked small and subdued.

Finally Marciano was hoisted up on a bench and he said in a low voice:

"I hit him with a right up against the ropes. His head was at one side and I hooked with a left and he went down."

COULDN'T SEE

"For four rounds he couldn't even see," said Al Weill, his chubby manager. "We thought it was because of some stuff on Walcott's shoulder but we're not accusing anybody and we aren't saying that's what it was."

After the fourth round, Rocky seemed to peer uncertainly and blinked frequently but finally his eyesight cleared up.

He had a bad cut on his scalp, a big mouse under his left eye and a jagged gash on his right eyebrow.

TAKING ADVICE

A heart-broken Jersey Joe Walcott said last night he is taking his manager's advice and quitting the ring.

The 38-year-old veteran of the prize fight ring sat dejectedly on a dressing room table following his knockout defeat by Rocky Marciano.

"I don't remember anything," said Walcott as he was asked where the knockout punch landed.

"He caught me open and that was it. I don't know if it was a right or left. I just don't remember anything."

The Camden, N.J., jolter took the loss of his title hard. He didn't want to talk to anyone, but every bit the gentleman in defeat that he was in victory, Jersey Joe answered every one of the questions tossed at him, either with a nod of his head or a half-murmured reply.

Before the press was allowed into the Walcott dressing room Jersey Joe's manager, Felix Bocchicchio made a statement in the hallway outside the room.

"As far as I am concerned, Jersey Joe has retired. He looked pathetic against the ropes and I don't want him hurt. He still has his faculties and has money in the bank. He's retiring. Joe has been a great champ and that's the way we want people to remember him."

Walcott said that was okay with him.

SHANTZ BREAKS WRIST

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bobby Shantz of Philadelphia Athletics suffered a broken bone in his pitching wrist yesterday, ending prematurely the southpaw's greatest major league season. He had won 24 games and lost seven.

Shantz, smallest pitcher in the major leagues—five feet, six inches—was injured while batting in the second inning against Walter Masterson of Washington Senators. A Masterson pitch caught Shantz before he could jump back from the plate.

Masterson knew the pitch was bad and shouted, "look out" as the ball headed for the plate.

After the A's were retired Shantz was unable to bend his fingers and manager Jimmy Dykes ordered him to hospital for X-rays. Bobo Newsom relieved on the mound and became the winning pitcher in a 4-3 Philadelphia victory. Shantz had allowed two hits in his two-inning trick and was leading 3-0 when he left the game.

The loss of Shantz is a blow to the A's who are battling for a first-division berth in the American League.

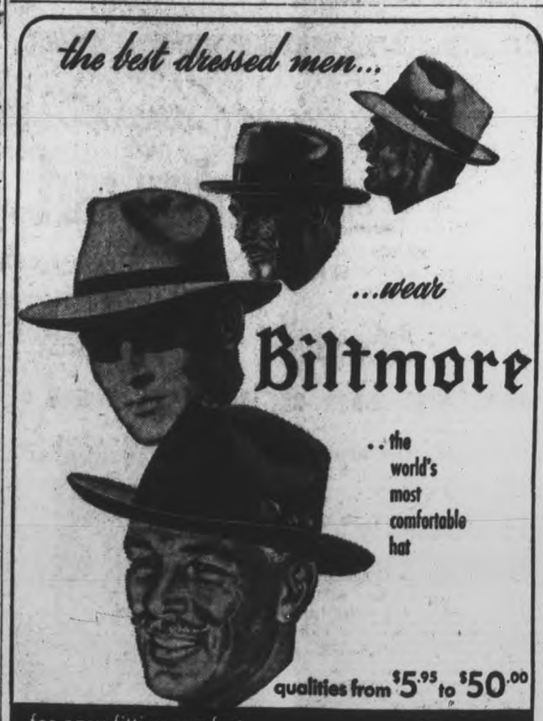
Scribe Pays Tribute To R. C. Matthews



The following tribute was paid to the late R. C. Matthews, an uncle of Gordon Matthews of this city, by columnist Ted Reeve of the Toronto Telegram:

Our old friend, R. C. Matthews, passed away yesterday. A leader in the business world and an advisor to cabinet ministers, it was in the field of sport that we knew him and learned of his generous aid to so many teams. He liked all games but cricket was his great love. There is something about the old English pastime that men cherish if they take to it at all, and in the passing of this dean of the game, the lines of Francis Colgate Benson's "The Field" come to mind:

"Can you imagine this whole world could yield
A spot more beautiful than our old cricket field?
Ring'd round with immemorial elms, it lies
A fair green lawn,
Where at the break of dawn
Grey squirrels play
And robin redbreasts herald the coming day . . .
Blue sky and sunshine, white sheets unfurled and wickets set,
Now comes a flannel'd host to battle, yet . . ."

It is too long to quote in full, but anyone reading it through would have the thought of R. C. Matthews in his mind. "The Field" meant much to him and he shared his joy in it with others.

Brooklyn Nails 1952 Pennant In Twin Bill Split

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

The prospect of New York's 10th "subway" World Series since 1921 was bright today with Brooklyn Dodgers "in" and New York Yankees pounding on the door. Brooklyn last night provided the long-suffering fans of Flatbush their first restful sleep in three years as they clinched the 1952 National League pennant, their ninth since 1890. True, the Brooks won the bunting in 1949. But during the last two years, the Faithful experienced countless nightmares.

In 1950, the Phils nipped the Brooks for the pennant in the final game of the season on Dick Sisler's homer in the 10th inning.

And who can forget last year, when Bobby Thomson's almost-unbelievable homer jolted the Dodgers as no team in baseball history has been jolted?

ALL OKAY NOW

But it's all different now. The sun shines bright in Brooklyn once more, and Dodger fans walk around with heads high.

The Brooks nailed it last night as Johnny Rutherford pitched Dressen's Dandies to a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. The Phils won the anti-climactic second game 1-0 in 12 innings.

Rutherford's seven-hit victory made it impossible for the second-place New York Giants to pull another miracle.

The Yanks, meanwhile, moved 1½ games ahead of Cleveland in the American League struggle without lifting a bat. While the Bombers were rained out in Boston, the Indians were ambushed by Chicago White Sox, 10-1.

New York can assure itself of no worse than a tie for the flag by winning only three of its remaining six games. Both the Yanks and Indians each have won 90 games but the Indians have lost three more.

SHANTZ OUT

Another factor favoring the Yanks is that they won't have to face Bobby Shantz of the Athletics. The star Philadelphia pitcher suffered a broken left wrist in a game against Washington yesterday and is out for the rest of the season.

Vic Raschi will pitch the opener of a double bill against Boston today and probably Tom Gorman or Ewell Blackwell the nightcap. Allie Reynolds figures to close out the Red Sox series Thursday and Ed Lopat, Raschi and Reynolds will hurl in that order against the Athletics during the week-end.

Joe Dobson, a member of the Indians many moons ago, choked off his former associates on six hits while the White Sox flayed Mike Garcia and three firemen for 14 assorted blows. Chicago climbed on Garcia for five runs in the first inning with Ed Robinson's two-run single the big blow.

The A's nipped the Senators 4-3 with old Bobo Newsom gaining credit for the victory. Shantz was struck by one of Walt Masterson's pitches in the second inning. The little lefthander was ahead 3-0 at the time, thanks to a three-run homer by Gus Zernial in the first inning.

BROOKS RALLY

Brooklyn was forced to come from behind to beat the Phils before 24,408 screaming fans who showed up at Ebbets Field for the kill. Gran Hamner rocked Rutherford for a grand-slam homer in the third to give the invaders a 4-1 lead.

The Dodgers got one back in the fourth on a four-bagger by George Shuba and locked it up against Karl Drews with three in the fifth. Pee Wee Reese singled home the first run and Duke Snider followed with a pennant-winning two-run double.

Pinch-hitter Johnny Wyrostek doubled home Ed Waitkus with the winning run in the marathon nightcap.

In other games, St. Louis Browns defeated Detroit 3-1 behind Bobby Cain and St. Louis Cardinals nipped Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings. A doubleheader between the Giants and Boston Braves was rained out. Pittsburgh and Chicago were idle.

Miss Canada III, driven by Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont., won the 13th annual President's Cup motorboat race at Washington 13 years ago today. Notre Dame, his only competition in the final, finished a quarter of a mile back. Wilson later made unsuccessful attempts to win the Harmsworth Trophy with Miss Canada IV.

MOVIE MAKERS—After three years of satirizing detective and western movies, a group of Nova Scotia home movie producers and amateur actors are preparing to make their first sound movie. The group, called the Pictou County Cine-Arts Club, draws most of its membership from the New Glasgow and Stellarton districts. Directors and producers are shown discussing a problem.

Nova Scotia Group Plans To Produce Movie In Sound

STELLARTON, N.S. (CP)—After three years of satirizing Hollywood's cowboy movies and detective films, a group of young people here are preparing to produce their first movie in sound.

Like the others, it will be a satire, although perhaps a little more subtle.

The Pictou County Cine-Arts Club, comprising home movie producers and Little Theatre enthusiasts, has turned out two short films in three years.

TRIAL AND ERROR

The two produced so far by trial and error were only the raw beginnings. For their first sound film they are using company directors, script writers, lighting and property men, set designers and well-rehearsed actors.

Dave Nickolson, a Stellarton photographer, organized the group. The first short on bar room brawls and wild west antics sparked keen interest in the area and soon the club began the more technical aspects such as dollying, wide-angle lens, fades and dissolves.

Mechanically-minded members worked on methods of producing counterparts of expensive equipment used by professional studios. The first problem was the dolly, a huge crane-line device holding director, cameraman and camera which moves from long- to short-range and from aerial to ground-level positions without breaking continuity of the film.

INGENIOUS "DOLLY"

An engineering student finally designed a device resembling a saw-horse supported by four bicycle wheels, with a beam of wood attached which acts like a see-saw.

The "horse" was used when the club produced the "Killer Dillers." They were successful in shooting street scenes in nearby New Glasgow and the contraption proved invaluable during interior work.

To cut down time wasted between filming and sending films to developing plants, they built what they believe to be the only complete processing plant east of Montreal. Now they are working on a contract printer.

They plan to make a tape recording with their films and transpose it to a master tape which would be synchronized with the projector at the time of showing.

One-Year Period In Germany Said Too Short

EDMONTON (CP)—Archbishop W. F. Barfoot of Edmonton said yesterday the present one-year period of service for Canadian troops in Western Germany appears too short.

The Anglican Primate of Canada has just returned from a visit with troops of the 27th Canadian brigade at Hanover.

"It was my impression," he said, "that their term of service is too short to enable them to settle down to their job.

BRITISH DO BETTER

"In contrast with ou.s, the British troops have a longer term to settle down, have their families and appear to be contented.

"Moreover, it is difficult without a more concentrated indoctrination than was possible in the circumstances of their enlistment, for the Canadian troops to have a very clear picture of their reasons for being there. . .

"It is quite evident that Canadians do not take readily to barrack-room soldiering. They are at their best when at work or fighting."

FBI Gets Fugitive

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Federal Bureau of Investigation agents last night arrested Thomas Edward Young, 34, one of its "10 most-wanted" fugitives, and his wife in Boise, Idaho, Director J. Edgar Hoover announced Hoover said Young and his wife, Margaret Rita, 32, had been sought since they escaped Dec. 27, 1951, from the Fargo N.D., jail. They were being held there after arraignment on charges of robbing two North Dakota post offices.

Tangled In Net

KAUB, Germany (Reuters) — Three women and a man became enmeshed in a fishing net in the dark and were drowned last night. Their rowboat had hit the net and capsized. Two other women struggled free.

Protest Release Of 11,000 Koreans

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — Gen. Nam Il, senior Communist truce delegate, today protested to the United Nations Command against the release of 11,000 South Koreans held as Allied prisoners of war.

The U. N. Command announced Saturday that the Koreans had been improperly classified as prisoners and would be released.

Nam Il, in a note delivered to Panmunjom, said the release was a provocative action and an attempt "to dispose of 11,000 of our captured personnel unilaterally."

NON-STOP TRIP—Louis Matter, left, checks the gasoline feed line from the trailer tank to his famous auto before starting to attempt a 6,100 mile non-stop trip from San Diego, Calif., to New York and back to Los Angeles in one week. Joe Mitchell, also making the trip, stands on the refueling catwalk. Matter bought the car new in 1947 and has added such gadgets as electric refrigerator, stove, shaver and shower. Pumps automatically inflate the tires, keep radiator full and change the oil.

Russ Propaganda Effort Written Off As Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's efforts to stall West German rearmament by making propaganda on German unity is being written off by United States diplomats as a failure.

Authorities summarizing the results of an eight-note exchange between the western powers and the Soviets on Germany's future said today they are convinced the Soviets have not succeeded in creating any serious new obstacles to plans for adding German forces to the West European defence set-up.

The treaty establishing the European Defence Community has still to get Parliamentary action at both Bonn and Paris, but there is strong expectation here that the West German Bundestag will approve after sharp debate. There is less optimism about French approval — not because of the Soviet diplomatic drive out because of strong French fears about the recreation of German military forces.

The British, U. S. and French embassies in Moscow yesterday delivered identical notes on the German issue to the Soviet Foreign office. The western powers assert that if Germany is to be unified now it must be under an all-German government which must be chosen in free elections, and that therefore the initial step is to determine that conditions for free elections exist.

Yesterday's note said "the Soviet government has evaded this clear issue."

Coal Settlement To Boost Steel Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—The coal wage settlement of northern coal producers with the United mine Workers will cost steel plants from 50 to 60 cents a ton finished steel The Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today.

The publication added that the steel industry will have to dig deeper into its pocket to pay an added 37 to 40 cents a ton for the coal it uses.

The trade weekly predicted talk of decontrol of steel will again become a lively topic of debate toward the end of this year.

MAY EASE CONTROLS

"By the first quarter of next year the industry expects supply of some items to be sufficiently abundant to permit lifting of controls over them," it said.

The Iron Age reported: "Steel people expect to start gaining in the long race to fill supply pipelines during the fourth quarter. By the first quarter of next year they expect a number of products to be in ample supply."

Steel-making operations this week were placed at 102.5 per cent of rated capacity, up one-half point from the preceding week.

NATO Fighter Squadrons Inspected By Claxton

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's main air fighter contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization got its official blessing yesterday in a ceremony at Uplands Airport.

Inspected by Defence Minister Claxton, the three-squadron wing of F-86E Sabre jets will take off at daybreak Sept. 29 for Gross Tenquin, France, near Metz. It was set up for inspection at the largest Canadian show of fighter air power since the Second World War.

Sixty-three planes will make the trip, flying the North Atlantic under their own power to make it the largest flight of Canadian planes overseas in history These planes were lined up on the runway yesterday while a flight of nine others—from No. 413 squadron at Bagotville, Que., flew a salute as Mr. Claxton reviewed the air and ground crews who will make up the overseas party.

The minister announced that the commander of the air division of 12 squadrons Canada is to field in Europe will be Air Vice Marshal Hugh L. Campbell, now chief of the joint military mission in Washington.

Air Vice Marshal Campbell, 44, of Salisbury, N.B., will take over later this year from the present head—Air Commodore Keith Hodson, 37, of London, Ont., who will serve as his chief of staff. The latter has been serving as head of the air division planning team since last January.

Would Re-Enter The Battle Against Price-Fixing

TORONTO (CP)—A representative of the Quebec (English) branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers asked yesterday that the association re-enter the battle against price-fixing practices since "the public has a short memory and tends to accept the latest idea offered it."

Mrs. G. V. George of Montreal urged in her report as provincial president that the C.A.C., in convention here, "clearly restate" the facts condemning price maintenance, "facts that the interests concerned have been assiduously obscuring since the law was passed."

The Quebec branch felt that the battle against resale price maintenance was not totally won "and that the continuing attacks against the law banning this practice need to be answered to prevent the misinformation, or strongly slanted half-information being offered the public, from creating serious confusion in the consumer's mind."

Sixty women, among them representatives of national women's groups, are attending this two-day convention of the C.A.C. which speaks for 13,000 individuals and 500,000 others through the 15 member organizations.

In her report as national president, Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Oakville, chided consumers for spending too freely. She warned that the pressures of inflation still are "dangerously" close to the surface.

Consumer spending was beginning to "march forward once again." Any great increase in spending could make the situation "very precarious."

Nova Scotia Swordfishermen Battling Lower Prices In '52

By ALAN ROGERS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Nova Scotia's swordfishermen are battling lowering prices as well as the wily broadbill this year.

Preliminary figures from the Federal Fisheries department show that to the end of August this year the swordfish catch increased 479,000 pounds over the 2,233,900 mark made in the same period last year. But the lowest prices in the history of the seasonal industry have meant so far $32,000 less in the pockets of the province's 1,200 swordfishermen.

Virtually all of the swordfish landed in Nova Scotia are marketed in the eastern United States and the price drop is most often attributed to the increase in the value of the Canadian dollar.

The drop has been startling. The average price last year was 39 cents with a high of 45. This year the average is 26 and the price has plunged as low as 23.

CAPE BRETON HIT HARD

Hardest hit this year are the inshore fishermen, who work the coastline of Cape Breton from Louisbourg, on the eastern coast, to Dingwall on the northern tip of the island. Foul weather and a scarcity of swordfish have combined with the low prices to give them a bad year — a "broker" in the vernacular of broadbill men.

But offshore, from Georges Bank to Sable Island, graveyard of the Atlantic, the harpoon lines sang a merry tune. The large boats, some converted fishing schooners, accounted for this year's big catch. Carrying a crew of about five men, these specially-equipped craft stay on the grounds for a week or more, heading home only when the hold is full or the fish are gone.

Fisheries officials say water temperatures may have driven the swordfish to the grounds offshore this year.

AVERAGE 250 POUNDS

The broadbills, averaging about 250 pounds are in Nova Scotia coastal waters from mid-June to mid-September. During the summer months the swordfishing fleet —some 300 strong—flocks to Cape Breton ports from points as far away as Yarmouth on the southwestern shore of the mainland. Glace Bay, Ingonish, Port Bickerton and Louisbourg are the principal swordfishing centres.

The gutted fish are shipped to American markets fresh in ice or frozen, with heads, tails and fins cut off. In calculating the weight to figure the payment due the fishermen 10 per cent is lopped off the final figure to account for meat cut away from "dart holes"—harpoon scars.

An added source of income to the fishermen is the swordfish liver. Sale of livers brought $15,000 to fishermen last year and $12,000 up to the end of August this year.

Pleads Guilty, Fined

William Murphy, 175 Rubidge St., pleaded guilty to a drunk charge in police court Tuesday and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days.

4 Found Guilty Of Damage Must Pay $74.50

Four youths were ordered to pay a total of $74.50 in fines, costs and to repair damage when they pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday to charges of willfully damaging the bathing house at Lakefield beach.

A fifth youth, under 16, will face the same charge in juvenile court later this week.

Police Chief Leslie Fowler testified that after investigating how windows in the dressing room, operated by Lakefield Red Cross were broken on July 24, he questioned Walter Soules, 16, of Lakefield.

He said Soules admitted breaking the windows, causing an estimated $3 damage. Soules offered no explanation for causing the damage and Magistrate W. R. Philp fined him $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days and ordered him to pay an additional $1.50 to repair the damage.

CLOSED EARLY

As a result of the damage caused by Soules, the other teen ager arrested with his and three Peterborough youths who damaged the inside of the building on August 17, Chief Foster said the beach was closed two weeks earlier than had originally been intended.

Albert Crowley, 19, 17 Cricket Place, Paul Rose, 17, 213 King St., and Robert Jacque, 20, 17 Cricket Place, each pleaded guilty to willfully damaging the building on August 17.

Chief Foster said that on questioning the trio they admitted damaging curtains and tearing down the rods and pins used to hold the curtains in the dressing room. He said the damage would amount to about $5.

They were each fined $15 and $3.50 costs or ten days plus $1.66 each to repair the damage.

Witness Sick Trial Delayed

Illness of a crown witness resulted in a dangerous driving trial being enlarged until Thursday, after Magistrate W. R. Philp heard some of the crown evidence Tuesday afternoon.

In the morning, Ross Fair of St. Catharines, counsel for Toby Voth, 21 of Virgil, elected summary trial on the charge when it was expected that Voth would be appearing for a preliminary hearing.

The charge was laid against Voth after a coroner's jury on August 6 brought in a verdict that faulty brakes, excessive speed and fatigue of the truck driver (Voth) were responsible for a head-on collision in which Mrs. Bernice Hardy, 52, of Bowmanville was killed.

HEAD-ON CRASH

The accident occurred about three and a half miles west of Peterborough on Highway 28 on the afternoon of July 9.

Mrs. Hardy was a passenger in a car driven by her son Ronald Hardy, 21. The Hardy car was travelling toward Peterborough when the head-on collision with the truck driven by Voth occurred.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that the case be enlarged, because he said Herbert Christie, driver of an Ontario hydro truck which was just ahead of the truck Voth was driving, was ill and unable to attend court.

Admits Theft Jailed 15 Days

Gilbert Jones, 56, no fixed address was sentenced to 15 days in jail Tuesday after he pleaded guilty to a theft charge.

Constable Dennis Traynor testified that in answer to a complaint he went to a George St. clothing store and found Jones inside with one of the employees. Jones had four pairs of men's stockings which he had not paid for, Constable Traynor said.

Jones said he did not remember going into the store, because he said he had been drinking. It was the same with three other convictions for theft, two in Lindsay and one in Kingston he said. When he gets drunk, he goes into stores and steals socks he said but claimed he does not know why he does it.

Garson Says Canada Needs Multilateral Trade

TORONTO (CP)—Canada could maim her tremendous economic progress by swinging sharply to a let's-make-it-ourselves economy, Justice Minister Garson said last night.

Mr. Garson, in an address to the Toronto Young Men's Board, chronicled the story of Canada's progress since 1939. He said her development is merely beginning and that there is nothing "false or inflated" about it.

But trade policy "is the ball on which we must keep our eyes." Multilateral trade was and should continue to be the basis of Canadian policy. She should avoid trading blocs.

Canadian industry was efficient and capable of meeting competition.

Some persons argued that Canada should process and finish more of her own raw materials. The government felt Canada should develop her industries to the full but did not feel Canada should process all her own raw materials.

Big Paper Mill

CAPETOWN (CP)—One of South Africa's largest industrial projects, a huge paper mill costing £3,500,000, is rapidly taking shape near Durban. In full production the mill will be capable of about 150 tons of paper a day, helping to make South Africa self-sufficient in most paper products except newsprint.

1. Choose slightly under-ripe grapes, wash, remove from stalks. Place in saucepan.
2. Add water to almost cover grapes. Mash and simmer over moderate heat until soft.
3. Pour into moistened jelly bag, allow to drip. To prevent crystals, let juice stand overnight, then pour juice off sediment.
4. Measure sugar. For every cup of juice, allow ¾ to 1 cup of sugar, depending on pectin content.*
5. Boil juice 5 minutes, then add sugar slowly.
6. Boil briskly, uncovered, and test for jelly stage. For jelly test, allow liquid to run off edge of spoon. When two drops form a "sheet", the jelly stage has been reached.
7. Remove from heat, let stand 1 minute and remove scum.
8. Pour into hot sterilized jars, leaving ½ inch headspace.
9. When partially set, cover with layer of hot melted paraffin wax. Allow to harden, then add second layer, rotating and tilting jar to form a good seal.
10. Cover with paper or metal lid. Store in a cool, dark, dry place.

*To determine pectin content, measure 1 teaspoon hot fruit juice and 1 teaspoon rubbing alcohol into flat dish. If a jelly-like mass is formed after standing 3 minutes, pectin content is adequate. 1 cup sugar may be added for every cup of juice. If noticeable liquid is present, add ¾ cup sugar for every cup of juice.

MIDGET CATTLE, although a year old and virtually full grown, are dwarfed by two hogs in a pen shared by the animals. The midget cattle were among six which turned up in western Nebraska herds and were brought to Lincoln, Neb., for slaughter. The cattle average about 140 pounds each and were to be butchered in the usual manner. Cattlemen say such dwarfism occurs every once in a while in large herds.

Acquit Soldier Of Murder

MARQUETTE, Mich. — (CP) — Lieut. Coleman Peterson stood acquitted today of murder in the slaying of a bar owner whom the army officer accused of raping his wife. But Peterson was still under arrest pending his examination by a sanity commission.

A jury of one woman and 11 men Monday night found the 38-year-old Korea veteran not guilty by reason of insanity in the shooting last July 30 of Maurice Chenoweth, tavern owner and former state trooper of nearby Big Bay.

Peterson's attractive 42-year-old wife Charlotte said on the witness stand that Chenoweth attacked her in an automobile July 30. When she told her husband of the attack, she said, he made her swear on a rosary she spoke the truth.

Police said Peterson went to the tavern and shot Chenoweth to death while a dozen stunned patrons watched.

Rule Tribal Elder Leader In Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—A high court ruled yesterday that a 62-year-old tribal elder is a "leading member" of the anti-white Mau Mau secret society, spelling probable exile for him in the remote northern district of this territory.

Jesse Kariuki, an organizer of the Kenya African union, had denied membership in the outlawed terror society.

The Mau Mau is devoted to driving the white man from Kenya.

Kariuki will remain in custody until Governor Sir Evelyn Baring arrives to decide his fate.

"COOL CONTROL"

PUNTING THE FOOTBALL

1 Stand about ten or twelve yards behind your centre. Wait with hands held out relaxed, about waist high, palms up. After catch, keep ball waist high; hold with right hand covering rear of ball, fingers around side, thumb on top. Left hand lightly guides ball from slightly under left side.

2 Timing and control are essential. End-over-end punt comes when ball is dropped on instep of foot, with length of ball pointing ahead. Left foot should point in direction of kick. Spiral punt results from pointing front end of ball slightly to the left.

3 Toe turns slightly inward and instep of foot strikes belly of the ball for properly controlled kick. Power and control come with 'follow-through' — kicking leg swings high, often carrying kicker completely off ground. Always keep your eye on the ball until kick is away.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Actress Admits Stupidity Getting Mixed Up With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actress Judy Holliday told Senate investigators that in getting mixed up with various Communist fronts she was irresponsible and more than slightly stupid.

When she had her eyes opened to what was going on, she said, she herself hired people to investigate her.

"I wanted to know what I had done," said the actress who won the Academy Award in 1951 for her portrayal of a dumb blonde in "Born Yesterday."

The Senate internal security subcommittee disclosed today that, at closed-door sessions last spring, it had questioned Miss Holliday, comedian Sam Levenson, actor Philip Loeb and singer Burl Ives.

All were asked about Communist-front organizations or activities with which their names have been linked. They swore they had never knowingly taken part in any Communist movement.

Levenson and Ives appeared before the sub-committee at their own request.

The senate group has been probing for any subversive infiltration of the radio, television and entertainment industries.

Miss Holliday was questioned last March 26. She said she had let her name be used by Communist-front organizations without knowing what they were.

WAS 'SLIGHTLY STUPID'

"I have been awakened to a realization that I have been irresponsible and slightly — more than slightly — stupid," she said. "When I was solicited I always simply said, 'Oh, isn't that too bad. Sure, use my name.'

"The few things that I actually participated in were things that I couldn't possibly have thought were subversive."

Think Hormone Cancer Cause

NEW YORK (AP)—Maybe cigarets aren't the cause of lung cancer—maybe it's the hormones that drive people to be chain-smokers.

The suggestion came from Dr. Brian B. Blades of George Washington University in an address to the American College of Surgeons yesterday.

He said some doctors studying lung cancer "have furnished frightening testimony against the cigarette."

But many persons who get lung cancer have never used tobacco, in any form, Dr. Blades said.

"One wonders if the endocrine (hormonal) drive which makes for chain-smoking might be the explanation, rather than tobacco itself."

Some scientists report evidence that cancer may result from an upset in the balance of body hormones.

Ceylon Planning To Recognize China

COLOMBO (Reuters) — Ceylon told Communist China last month she was prepared to enter into diplomatic relations, Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake said Tuesday.

He told a Communist questioner in the House of Representatives that it was up to China to take the next step.

In reply to another question, he said the Ceylon government mission now visiting China would discuss buying rice from China and trade between the two countries generally.

Both India, Pakistan and Burma have ambassadors in Communist China.

Youth 17 Fit To Stand Trial

WELLAND (CP) — Alexander Bell, 17, yesterday was found mentally fit to stand trial on a murder charge by an assize court jury. He is charged with the knife-slaying of his stepmother, Mrs. Dorothy Bell, 32, Aug. 28 in their Niagara Falls home.

Most of the day was devoted to an inquiry arising out of testimony given Monday by Allen Bell, father of the accused. Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan ordered the inquiry to find out whether the accused is capable of instructing his counsel to conduct his defence.

Dr. A. M. Doyle, psychiatrist at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, testified that Bell is mentally ill. He admitted that he believed the accused appreciated that he was on trial for murder and that he knew what his counsel was doing.

Dr. Charles S. Tennant of Toronto, called by the Crown, said after an examination that there is no degree of mental defect to prevent the accused standing trial.

3 Polio Deaths Reported From West

EDMONTON (CP)—Three polio deaths and 100 cases were added yesterday to Western Canada's 1952 toll but all indications were the disease was slackening off after setting records in three of the four western provinces.

Eighty-five of yesterday's cases and all three deaths were in the weekly report issued by the Saskatchewan Health Department. Alberta had eight new cases, Manitoba four and British Columbia three.

The figures showed increases of 159 cases and seven deaths over a week ago. Again Saskatchewan's formed the bulk of the increase. Manitoba, the only province that has not exceeded its previous annual high, had 64 cases in the last week. British Columbia's boost is 19 cases and one death and Alberta's 17 cases and three deaths.

Saskatchewan's 85 cases in the last week compared with 113 in the previous week and the 1952 weekly high of 143 reported three weeks ago.

Dr. George Kinner, Saskatchewan director of health services, said there seems to be some slackening in the number of cases reported.

Strong Evidence Of Intoxication Magistrate Finds

When he was arrested September 13, Wilbert Wildman, 51, 571 Romaine St., refused to get out of his car because he said a policeman had stolen his car keys, Constable Andre Dalton said in police court Tuesday.

Then, when Wildman was asked to walk down the centre crack in the middle of Parkhill Rd. he was unable to do so and kept falling down, Constable Dalton said.

Arguing that there was no such offence as "attempted drunk driving," Norman Crook, who defended Wildman, said it was more a case of impairment, and that Wildman's story that he had not moved the car should be believed.

O.P.P. Sgt. Stanley Palmateer said his attention was drawn to a man assisting himself with both hands in getting from the one side of a car to the driver's side. The car was parked on the north side of Park Hill Rd., just west of Armour Rd., he said. Stopping his car, Sgt. Palmateer said he watched the man get into the car, start the motor and start moving slowly away.

He said he shouted for the man to stop and ran alongside the car. Wildman was behind the wheel, he said, and smelled strongly of liquor. His eyes were glassy and his speech was thick, Sgt. Palmateer added.

TOOK KEYS

The sergeant said he took the keys of the car when he had to leave to answer another call and ordered Wildman and two other occupants of the car to remain in the car until the city police arrived.

Wildman did but insisted in court that the motor had not stopped running when it was decided to change drivers because he could drive better in the city than the man who had been driving. He said he had broken both his legs at different times several years ago and merely put out his hands when objects were near to steady himself. He said he had not moved the car when Sgt. Palmateer stopped him.

Evidence of intoxication is "strong," said Magistrate W. R. Philp in finding Wildman guilty and sentencing him to seven days in jail. The magistrate ordered his car impounded for three months.

Spice Going Out Of Living In Flat Canadian Meals

By JOANNE STODDART

The spice is going out of Canadian living, so claim food epicures and gourmets.

"It's this apartment living," they claim. "People can't grow herbs because they have no garden, so they have gradually cut them out of their diet."

The result, the epicures assert, is plain, dull food on most Canadian tables; wives who don't know how to prepare dishes to inspire jaded appetites and husbands who don't even see anything to complain about.

Opened in Toronto recently are several food specialty shops which aim at a gastronomical revival. Their customers, so far, they admit, are mostly new Canadians or native born who have travelled a great deal. But eventually, they hope to educate all Torontonians into trying the new, the exciting and the different in food and food preparation.

For instance, have you ever tried hickory smoked salt rubbed on meats? This preparation imparts to oven cooked steaks or chickens a true charcoal burned or barbecue flavor. It tenderizes at the same time, too. Or have you used cardoman in sweet pastries or cakes? This little known spice adds an elusive, light flavor to practically any dessert.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

Or how about poppy seed chocolate cookies for the children? A half-cup added to any rich chocolate cookie batter is guaranteed to be a real mouth waterer.

There's a spice especially created for every dish, food specialists claim. "Many people wonder why their salmon doesn't taste like the best restaurant salmon steak," said one amateur chef. "It's because they don't use rosemary in the cream sauce. Any chef worth his salt knows it's a must—few housewives have ever heard of it."

Of course, there's a high price to pay for cooking with spices. The best varieties are imported from the war torn far East. Despite communism, even China is still exporting most spices, but the price is up. White pepper costs 50 cents an ounce these days, and pure Indian black pepper is almost $1.

Oddly enough, Russian caviar is slightly cheaper these days. But it's still $3.15 for a four-ounce tin. The Russians sell it indiscriminately to east and west—so it's plentiful, but even a gourmet will admit, "it isn't really worth the price."

Genuine Spanish rice isn't recommended either, these days. The indispensable saffron which goes with it costs from $7 to $12.80 an ounce for the real Spanish article. Which makes it just about the most expensive condiment peddled.

CAN OPENER AIDS

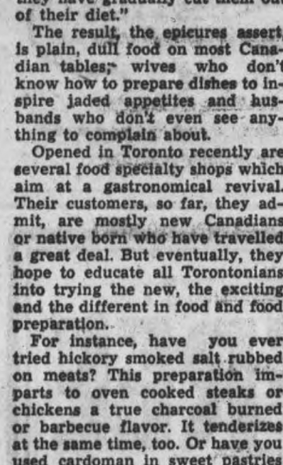
If your cooking is done mostly with a can-opener, the food shops can meet your needs, too. The famous French soups have been canned exactly as the chefs make them in Paris. You can buy cream Vichysoisse, tomato bisque, cream of curry and a host of others that you can't tell from the genuine hotel specialties.

Also canned now, are some of the sauces made famous by the French chef, Escoffier.

For real variety, why not add sea slugs, or dried shrimps to the menu? Or at least a dish of pickled walnuts or canned water chestnuts. How about Highland Sweet at teatime, an apple jelly flavored with sage?

You might try a taste of Mexican abalone, bamboo shoots or smoked ells. The latter are a Canadian-packed delicacy, cost only 49 cents for an eight-ounce tin. Perhaps you might serve perfumed black China tea or Queen Mary's personal blend, Darjeeling China tea with a Muscatel flavor.

"There's no excuse for a diet of mutton and cabbage varied only by hamburgers and French-fried potatoes," say the gourmets. "And far too few Canadians ever discover the kick a little seasoning can give to mealtime."



Did you ask for the ketchup?

Queen's Printing Bureau Storehouse Of Knowledge

OTTAWA (CP)—If it's information you want, try the Queen's printer, Edmond Cloutier

The head of the Printing Bureau in Ottawa can supply information on topics ranging from the cure of an ailing goat to the British North America Act—Canada's constitution.

The bureau is Canada's largest and least publicized mail-order publishing house. It stocks some 18,000 different books, pamphlets and periodicals, in English and French. Of these, 1,500 were issued in 1951.

STORE OF KNOWLEDGE

In this storehouse of Canadian knowledge are some of the best-sellers in the country's book trade: The Massey report on Canada's arts and sciences, "The Canadian Army," "The Far Distant Ships," and "Canada, 1952."

Prices of items are fixed to cover costs, not to make profit. They range from five cents for a pamphlet to $10 for a massive work that would sell for much more in the retail trade.

Sales in 1951 jumped 60 per cent over the previous year to more than 2,000,000 pieces of literature. More than 100,000 letters of inquiry were received.

To extend the distribution of worth-while items, the bureau is preparing a catalogue. It will be circulated to libraries and elsewhere so that the many valuable reference works, technical and practical books will come to the attention of those who want them.

For the student on constitutional history, complete volumes are being prepared on all Imperial and Commonwealth conferences with emphasis on decisions affecting Canada. Another collection is being made of records of Dominion-provincial conferences.

But there is still plenty of light reading—books telling how shut-ins can learn hobbies, illustrated descriptions of Canadian historic sites, a variety of cook books, and practical works on radar, electronics and prospecting.

And, of course, an ample stock of the Acts of Parliament.

OLD BALDY—An armored tracked personnel carrier loaded with logs and escorted by two soldiers starts the long climb to the top of "Old Baldy," battle-scarred Korean hill ripped barren of trees by constant-artillery pounding. The logs are used to reinforce bunkers on the shell-packed hill which again last week became the scene of fierce fighting when the Communists launched a major attack. United Nations forces retained a firm grip on the hill and fighting now has diminished to occasional artillery fire.

Chaplin Denies He's Communist

LONDON (AP) — Comedian Charlie Chaplin last night declared, without being asked, that he is not a Communist and never was.

Chaplin, who earlier shed tears at a joyful welcoming by a crowd of about 1,000 of his fellow British citizens, volunteered his remark about communism at a press conference with about 100 reporters. Before anyone could ask a question, he said:

"I am not a Communist, nor have I ever been a Communist."

Chaplin told reporters he plans to return to the United States after his visit to Britain—his first in 21 years.

13 Technicians Sail For Canada

LIVERPOOL (AP) — Thirteen skilled aircraft technicians sailed yesterday for Canada where one explained he can earn three times as much money for the same work.

The 13 are believed to be the vanguard of a large number of aircraft workers, including jet-engine experts, expected to move to Canada for the same reason.

They said they have been engaged by the Montreal aircraft factory of Canadair, Ltd. They went first class—paid for by the Montreal company—and they said they were allowed $300 each for their first month in Canada while they seek homes.

"We do not want to leave Britain short of technicians," said Arthur E. Mayes, 29, of Belfast, who was accompanied by his 23-year-old bride, Mina. "But, after all, we have to think of the future. For instance I will earn nearly £30 a week, about three times what I earned at Belfast."

May Overhaul Narcotic Act

VANCOUVER (CP)—An overhaul of Canada's Opium and Narcotic Drug Act may be the outcome of a federal-provincial conference here.

Recommendations from the closed conference are expected to call for stiffer penalties for offences under the Narcotics Act, especially those dealing with selling and distribution of drugs.

Vancouver, with hundreds of known addicts, was chosen as the conference site by British Columbia's Health Minister Cris Martin.

One suggestion under consideration is to have the provincial government set up clinics at which drug addicts could obtain narcotics free or at cost. Its advocates claim such clinics would banish the drug peddler from street corners and known dives

In Victoria, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday establishment of free clinics might make B.C. a mecca for drug addicts from all over the continent.

Youth On Bail Charged Had Explosives

Arrested In Oshawa Faces Trial On Charge Of Attempted Breakin

William Rudyk, 19, of 283 Monash Ave., Oshawa, appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp today charged with having possession of explosives under suspicious circumstances.

Rudyk has been free on $2,000 bail since he was committed for trial in May on a charge of breaking and entering Duffus Motors the night of April 13.

Rudyk was picked up in Oshawa on a warrant Tuesday and was not asked for a plea or election when the charge was read today. He was remanded until October 1 with bail fixed at $2,000.

TWO ATTEMPTS

Two unsuccessful attempts were made to blow the safe in the office of Duffus Motors the night Rudyk was arrested as he attempted to leave the building.

Rudyk was the chief crown witness at the breaking and entering trials of two other Oshawa youths, John F. Meagher and Joseph Rzamy who were charged with Rudyk in connection with breaking into the garage. Both Rzamy and Meagher were convicted and given reformatory sentences.

Car Rolls 3 Times Woman Thrown Onto Keene Road

A Peterborough woman was thrown out onto the roadway and her companion was also knocked unconscious and injured Tuesday afternoon when their car turned over three times, six miles southeast of Peterborough.

In St. Joseph's Hospital, their condition today satisfactory, are:

Mrs. Edith Frizzelle, 38, of 566 Chamberlain St., a badly wrenched back, cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Isabel Jackson, 28, of 114 Stewart St., injuries to her head and neck, cuts and bruises.

The two women were hurt when their car skidded in some loose gravel on the Keene Road, a mile east of Bensfort Bridge and went out of control. It rolled over three times and received about $1,000 damage.

Mrs. Frizzelle, the driver, was thrown out onto the roadway and knocked unconscious. Mrs. Jackson was tossed from the front seat into the back seat and also stunned. When Mrs. Jackson came to and saw Mrs. Frizzelle on the road she at first thought her friend was dead.

A passing truck driver assisted them and called the police.

They were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Kaye's ambulance. O.P.P. Constable Jack Ricard investigated the accident.

The two women are employees of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Frizzelle, who is in charge of the canteen, had prepared a luncheon for a board of directors meeting at the company cottage in Hiawatha. Mrs. Jackson was helping her.

On their way home Mrs. Frizzelle lost control of her 1950 sedan when it skidded in the gravel as she was making a sharp turn.

John B. Parkin Named Judge

One of the three judges in the forthcoming competition among Canadian architects for the Massey medals for architecture is John B. Parkin of Toronto. The firm of which Mr. Parkin is senior member has designed most of the Board of Education schools in recent years in Peterborough.

Pietro Belluschi, dean of architecture and planning at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and John A. Russell, director of architecture at the University of Manitoba, are the other two judges.

The purpose of the competition as outlined by the Governor-General, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, is for the benefit of the public of Canada to recognize outstanding examples of Canadian achievement in the fields of architecture and thus to give encouragement to the members of the architectural profession and to promote public interest in their work.

SECOND COMPETITION

Competitors have been asked to send their entries to the National Gallery in Ottawa. The entries will be placed on display and judged Nov. 14 and 15. It is the second competition since 1950; at that time Mr. Massey was a private citizen and he announced a plan for the award of the medals. A series of silver medals for various categories of architecture, and a gold medal for the best entry regardless of category, will be awarded.

The Royal Architectural Institute of Canada helped formulate the plans for the awards.

Longer Voting Hours In Lindsay Elections

LINDSAY.—Hours of voting for the Lindsay municipal elections have been changed.

A bylaw passed by the Lindsay council at the meeting Monday night authorized that the polls be kept open until 6.30 p.m. instead of closing at 5 p.m.

The bylaw was the result of the complaint that the early closing hour kept many of the townspeople from voting. There is no regulation which forces employers to allow their employees voting time during working hours as is the case in the federal and provincial elections.

The bylaw also authorized a change in the advance poll. Now all eligible voters who have to leave town on election day for usual business duties will be able to vote at the advance poll. Formerly only persons in certain occupations had this opportunity.

Canadian Research Workers Do First Class Job Adapting Native Resources

By JIM ENGLISH

LINDSAY.—Industrial researchers in Canada are doing more and better work than they are given credit for, O. J. Firestone, economic adviser to the department of trade and commerce, said Tuesday. Mr. Firestone was speaking to the afternoon session of the provincial governments' trade and industry council, holding their fourth annual conference at Gil-Mar Lodge on Sturgeon Lake.

Mr. Firestone quoted Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board: "Experience has shown that we in Canada do first class research and development in almost any field, provided we limit the scope of the job to the scale of our resources."

While he said that the government may not be doing all it could to promote more industrial research in Canada, Mr. Firestone said he would leave the answer to that up to members of the trade and industry council.

TACKLE SPECIFIC PROBLEMS

He felt it might be more constructive to find answers to such specific problems than "to continue bemoaning our dependence on foreign research and development work."

"This is the point I want to make: if we welcome foreign industries to Canada, why not also welcome the large amount of scientific information and technical know-how that these firms are able to bring with them and draw on in the future?" he asked his audience.

He said that as long as Canadians concentrate on problems that are appropriate to their own resources, climate and needs, there will be forthcoming a "continuous flow of scientific information of the highest calibre."

Industrial research, said Mr. Firestone, was not all of a scientific nature. Market analysis and economic research must also be considered part of it.

MUST BE APPLIED

"Scientific discoveries by themselves have little economic value. It is only through their application to meet human wants that scientific discoveries achieve economic significance. Economic research and market analysis . . . are designed to explore benefits that might accrue to an individual, a business firm or the nation from the adoption of new production techniques, the use of new materials, and the expansion of markets for existing commodities," he said.

As examples of Canadian progress in the scientific end of industrial research, he pointed to two pulp mills in British Columbia now operating solely on waste products from other phases of forest operations.

In conclusion, Mr. Firestone complimented the council on their work. "The days have gone when you were simply trying to sell a commodity; today you are providing a highly skilled service."

Diesel Shovel Rips Down Part Of Tree

A diesel shovel downed a maple tree accidentally shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday. No one was injured, and no hydro or telephone lines were damaged.

The accident took place at the corner of Armour Rd. and Woodbine Ave. when the diesel shovel was turning on to Armour Rd. The shovel caught a limb of the tree, which was on the north side, and tore down a large limb and part of the trunk.

Residents of the neighborhood heard the crash, but only a few children saw the actual accident. One man missed the fall of the tree, but looked up a fraction of a second later to see the driver of the shovel crawl out from beneath the leaves.

Neighbors feel it was probably a good thing the tree was partly flattened, as the heart of the tree was rotten.

Little Opposition To Canvassers

The majority of Peterborough retailers have no objections to door-to-door canvassers according to a survey conducted recently by the Chamber of Commerce.

The survey, which was conducted by mail, contained the following two questions: Is your business affected by competitive products being sold on a house-to-house basis, and, Are you in favor of a city bylaw licencing all door-to-door canvassers?

Of the 64 replies received 28 retailers answered yes and 31 no to the first question and 54 yes and five no to the second.

The questionnaire was sent to 275 stores.

Mrs. Helen MacPhail Cafeteria Supervisior

Mrs. Helen MacPhail of 53 Alfred St. has been appointed supervisor of the cafeteria at the new Kenner Collegiate. She will be assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Kiff of 683 Montrose Ave.

During the war years Mrs. MacPhail was supervisor of the cafeteria at the Genelco plant.

The Kenner Collegiate cafeteria is expected to open some time toward the end of next week. Food will be sold there as close to cost price as possible. A price list is now being drawn up.

Manslaughter Charge Adjourned Six Days

A heavy schedule of criminal and traffic cases in police court Tuesday forced the adjournment of a preliminary hearing on a manslaughter charge.

Leonard Condon, R.R. 4 Peterborough, charged in connection with the death of Michael Heffernan, 37, 207 Stewart St., will be appearing for preliminary hearing on September 29.

Heffernan was found dead in a car at the rear of a downtown hotel shortly after midnight September 2.

To Plant 75,000 Trees

A tree planting program will take place within a few days on the Washburn Plains of Methuen township, Lots 23 and 24, Lands and Forests officials, Lindsay, say today.

One planting machine and ten men will plant 75,000 trees in that area. Mostly red pine, some white and a few spruce are the species chosen for this reforestation project. The planting area is directly north of the Methuen fire tower where the Blue Mountain range levels off.

Following this program the crews will move to the Northumberland Forest north of Cobourg.

Kingston To Vote On Sunday Sport

Kingston ratepayers will go to the polls in December on the issue of whether or not they want Sunday sports.

Though there was no petition submitted by any pro-Sunday sport group the Kingston city council has decided to let the people decide for themselves. The council rejected by a vote of 11 to 10 a recommendation from the administration and legislation committee that no plebiscite be held.

Alderman K. Grant Crawford, chairman of the committee, said council would be establishing a precedent if it ordered a vote without a petition being first brought to council.

"This has been kicked around," said Alderman Ross McMahon. "It is up to the people."

Here in Peterborough there has been no indication that any group is advocating Sunday sport.

Auction Sale To End History Of 120-Year-Old Farm

A widow's struggles with the unrelenting labor of operating a farm are ending Friday with the sale of the livestock and implements on the old Pengelly place at Rice Lake. It begins at 1:30 p.m. with Gordon Hancock as auctioneer.

The property of about 115 acres has been in the Pengelly family for 120 years. It is about three miles east of Bailieboro. Once it was designated in the navigation of local waters as Pengelly's Landing. The concrete wharf is still in good condition, but a nearby margin of weeds indicates the absence of cutting edges of propellers and the pulling effect of the paddlewheels of years ago.

ROYAL NAVY CAPTAIN

Captain Robert Lamport Pengelly acquired an expansive property along Rice Lake and in Somerville township in Victoria county after the Napoleonic wars. He was a retired Captain of the Royal Navy.

James Pengelly, grandson of the naval officer, died in 1949 and is buried in the family plot which was set aside for a cemetery long ago before public cemeteries were established in the South Monghan countryside.

Sale of sheep, cattle, horses, and implements has been forced upon Mrs. James Pengelly by circumstances that gradually overcame her spirit. Farm help was too often indifferent and incompetent and unreliable. The bulk of the work became too heavy for a mother and daughter, after the husband was gone.

Mr. Hancock said today he understood that Mrs. Pengelly had not yet decided whether she was going to remain on the farm or offer it for sale. The Pengelly front, associated with Rice Lake for more than a century, has nearly three-quarters of a mile of open and unoccupied water line. It was preserved from summer cottage invasion. The view of the lake, from the house and knoll behind it, is a grand vista. Across the water to the left and east is Grape Island, with the graceful and delicate outline of a distant atoll, and behind it is Long Island of the Nurse family.

Most of the water front of Rice Lake that is inviting to cottagers is now occupied. The Pengelly lakefront is one of the few exceptions.

42 Wartime Houses Vacated Crews Move Out 38 Clearing Hatton Property

Belleville Man Buys 11 For Housing Block Army, Airforce Depots Get 17 Shipped In Halves On Two Trucks

Forty-two of the Wartime Houses on the Hatton property at the west end of Charlotte St. have become vacant, and 38 of them have been disposed of, John Wocker, manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation here informed The Examiner today. Eleven houses have been sold to a Belleville man who put in a bid for twenty, but found his property was not spacious enough for that contemplated block. That means the Belleville area is accepting houses which Peterborough and its bordering townships rejected as unsuitable to their housing ideals.

Distribution of 17 of the buildings has been arranged as follows "on our own account," Mr. Wocker said, signifying that they were to be re-assembled and improved at Canadian Army and Air Force camps: Clinton, R.C.A.F., 4; Cobourg, Army depot, three; Barriefield, Army, two; Centralia, R.C.A.F., two; Picton, Army, two; North Bay, R.C.A.F., two; Petawawa, Army, two.

SHIPPED ON TRUCKS

One of the houses was carted off to Cobourg on two trucks Tuesday afternoon. Like the others for transport, it was divided into two parts, each of which was loaded onto a truck. A pilot car preceded them down No. 28 Highway.

Of the west end houses built to accommodate families moving to Peterborough for employment in wartime production, 33.6 per cent are already listed for disappearance. Some of them are gone, others are sold for removal. The boarded windows are evidence of vacancy.

Their tenants have yielded to the city's notice to Ceneral Mortgage, asking that the agreement between the Crown and the municipality be carried out by the end of this year. By that agreement the Crown company, originally Wartime Housing Limited, promised the city to clear off the Hatton property at a specified time after the war.

DEMOLISH HOUSE

Some of the outgoing tenants have bought houses, others are renting elsewhere. There was a dwelling on the property at the time of purchase for the wartime houses, making actually a total of 126. That building is being demolished.

Policy of Central Mortgage has been to assist ex-servicemen in obtaining houses for rent. On that list are those who have made their monthly payments regularly and have shown an interest in the houses by trying to keep them in good condition and order.

Houses that are being transferred to military establishments are being improved to a standard of permanence, showing what can be accomplished with them in retaining an essential value of accommodation and use.

DIRECTIONS

Believe it or not a farmer's wife said to me, after I enquired the prospects and prices of turkey for Thanksgiving, "The turkeys aren't ripe yet."

So naturally, thinking she ought to know her business, I respectively suggest using chicken or lamb. Who wants an underripe turkey, anyway?

Succotash is a favorite with me and looks so pretty when you lift the lid of the vegetable dish: half and half fresh kernel corn cut from the cob and baby fresh limas mixed with a little chopped pimiento. Boil the limas until tender, drain; add to the corn which has cooked in top of double boiler with cream and butter for about 10 minutes. Add the pimientoes and salt and pepper to taste.

Take your nerve in hand and try this salad. For those who like distinctive flavors it is a great favorite: one-half head of lettuce, pulled apart with fingers, one-quarter cucumber cut in wafer thin half-slices with skin on, ½ cup wafer thin slices celery, ½ cut little shoe string pieces of cheddar cheese, ½ cup sardines cut in ½-inch pieces, 1 tomato cut in wafer thin slices. At the last moment before dinner is announced moisten this with French dressing in which a clove of garlic has stood over night. (Do not let the garlic get into the salad though.) Put in wooden salad bowl, and put a generous border of tomato wedges around, and between them tuck a sprig of parsley.

If, to save time, you use canned tomato soup, it makes it interesting if you add some curry powder, just a little, and if you have a half cup of leftover cooked rice, toss it in too, and heat through.

✧ ✧ ✧

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES

Put pared and halved sweet potatoes in well buttered baking dish. Add mixture of ½ cup corn syrup or ¾ cup brown sugar and ¼ cup hot water and 2 tablespoons butter. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. covered for 1 hour, turning and basting occasionally.

✧ ✧ ✧

PHILADELPHIA PUMPKIN PIE

Two cups strained pumpkin, 3 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon each salt, nutmeg, ginger, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ⅛ teaspoon each cloves, allspice, 3 cups scalded whole milk. To pumpkin add yolks, sugar, salt, and spices and mix. Add milk and fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour into pastry-lined deep pie plate. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then at 320 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes or until custard is set and slightly golden. Serve cooled a little with a small mound of whipped cream on each piece with 1 teaspoon honey dropped in centre.

There's much conversation these days about the new at-home fashions. Here, we see a two-piece black leotard (left) in a completely elasticized cotton knit. It has slip-over turtle neck top and long, skinny sleeves. Ankle-length pants simply pull on. Frosty pink felt is clipped into circular apron that flairs from the waist and ends above the knee. Flannel jumper pajamas (right) are for lounging or sleeping. Fire-engine red shirt with checked collar has bib front, long sleeves, is worn with red flannel trousers with adjustable waistband. Both are Harry Berger designs.—By Gaile Dugas, NEA Woman's Editor.

Wedding Reception Entertains 80 Guests

By MARY MOORE.

This wedding reception menu is totally different from any I have given you this year, and I am describing it because one of our readers whom I met, asked me to describe it in the column, for she knew I was to be a guest the following Saturday.

I am so glad it was well managed for it does make good reading for prospective bride's mothers.

When the 80 guests arrived at the club where the reception was held, the bride's party was photographed in a private apartment, and guests milled around and greeted long-lost friends.

The fun proper started when the receiving line formed.

The bride's mother, a dear and long-time friend of mine, was first in line and like the good leader she is introduced every guest without a hitch to the bridegroom's father and mother, when it was necessary.

The bride was lovely, cool and composed and smiling, offered to let her young girl friends be kissed once by the groom. They made great fun of this. The young men, of course, once they had kissed the bride, a habit easily acquired, kissed the bridesmaids too.

The tables were set with quite adequate cold supper—that could be called salad plate, but they were ample enough to take the place of suppers and because it was a sit-down meal, the gentlemen were all happy.

Reception Supper Menu

Tomato Juice
Cold Salad Plates (see below)
Rolls and Butter
Celery Curls
Ice-cream Variegated Cookies
Wedding Cake
Coffee Orange Punch

The plates were pretty. Each one contained three lettuce cups—these were filled with chicken salad, potato salad, and a little pile of daintily shredded carrots. These, and the dishes of celery curls, tomato juice, and variegated cookies made the long table so pretty, only the bride's table had flowers.

The bride's table was banked with mauve sweet peas and some yellow daisies with yellow centres, the botanical name of which I could not learn. The three-tiered wedding cake was the centre of interest among all this beauty.

When the first course was finished, plates were cleared, and ice-cream served.

At this stage the minister asked for our attention while the bride cut the cake, in pretty confusion.

Soon the largest cake had been cut into strips and these were passed to us before our ice-cream was finished.

Then coffee was served.

After this had been cleared a glass of delicious orange punch was given to everyone to drink the toasts, and this interesting scene was "emceed" by the minister with masterful co-operation from the 21-year-old groom.

He was a charming young man who remembered to thank four of his parents, old and new, and to eulogize the bride "just right."

The father of the bride could do no wrong for us, but his toast was a joy.

After a few more toasts the bride retired to a private apartment and changed to her navy suit with flamingo pink organdie head-hugging hat, and same shade of sheer nylon gloves.

She was a dream, as in her most winsome manner, instead of throwing her bouquet, she gave it to her 83-year-old paternal grandmother, whose smiling eye held one tear. Was she remembering?

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white lace over nylon with lace jacket, long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. She wore a pearl necklace worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her finger-tip veil of tulle was caught by a tiara of lace and tulle, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses.

Miss Regis Calnan, R.N., of Kingston, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of mauve lace and net, with matching headdress. Miss Rita Doyle, R.N., also of Kingston, was bridesmaid, gowned in yellow lace and net with matching headdress. Both carried cascade bouquets of mauve and yellow chrysanthemums.

Little Marion O'Connor, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Connor of Copperciff, was flower girl. She was frocked in pale green net over taffeta, with matching bonnet and she carried a tiny basket of Sweetheart roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Leo White of Kingston and ushers were Lorne Forestell of Peterborough, brother of the bride and Michael Breen of Kingston.

A reception and dinner was held in Sacred Heart Hall, with groups of the Catholic Women's League catering.

The bride's mother received in a gown of lapix blue shot taffeta with rhinestone trimmings. She was assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. Robert Patterson of Kingston, dressed in navy and white.

A reception was also held later at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were from Montreal, Gananoque, Kingston, Belleville, Stirling, Madoc, Perth, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Peterborough, Toronto, Coniston, Sudbury and Copperciff.

For a trip to Montreal and other eastern points, the bride wore a grey wool suit with navy velvet hat and matching accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. LaLonde will take up residence in Kingston.

Mrs. W. Pakenham convened the tea, assisted by Mrs. W. Preston, Mrs. A. Millard, Mrs. J. Morley, Mrs. James Fraser, Mrs. V. Ridley, Mrs. G. White, Mrs. A. W. Pooley, Mrs. A. Pearcy and Mrs. S. Daniel.

Navy Doubling Wren Complement In Reserve Force

OTTAWA (CP)—The Navy announced today it has authorized a doubling of the number of reserve-force Wrens at naval divisions across Canada. The new complement is 948.

An additional number of Wrens will also be signed up for continuous duty at naval divisions and other shore establishments, Naval Headquarters announced. The number to be added for continuous service was not made public.

It is expected that the new objective will be easily met, the announcement said, since most divisions have a long waiting list of applicants.

Reserve-force Wrens enlist for five years and train at least once a week. Continuous naval duty will in most cases mean full-time employment in the Navy for three years, with the option of serving an additional term if required.

Six-week basic training classes open this month at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis, near Digby, N.S., for Wrens starting continuous naval duty.

Women To Offer Trophy For Bands At Music Festival

In order to stimulate a greater interest in the boys' and girls' band class at the annual Kiwanis Music Festival in Peterborough, the ex-service women's branch of the Canadian Legion will offer a trophy for this competition.

Members of Branch 452 decided on giving the trophy at their meeting Monday evening. They will see that all bandmasters in the district are advised of the offer and ask them to co-operate by entering their bands. The various legions in the district will be contacted in the hope that they may also assist in creating a greater interest in band music among the boys and girls of school age.

The ex-service women were unanimous in their decision to hold a second Remembrance Day dinner this year. It is hoped to have dinner in the Y.W.C.A. green room on November 11th. A guest speaker is to be secured. Other coming events for the branch include a card party on Wednesday, October 22nd, and a beauty lecture some evening in October.

President Irma Allen extended a warm welcome to a new member, Mrs. Celia Dalziel-Smith, formerly of England (ex-A.T.S.).

Mrs. Kate King gave a verbal report on the meeting regarding rehabilitation of discharged prisoners which she attended. Mrs. Dorothy Grady reported on work done and articles collected during the summer for the Christmas cheer projects. A number of beautifully knitted articles, done by Miss Edna Rule, were on display.

A delicious lunch was served after the meeting, under convenership of Miss Helen McFarlane.

Sunbeam Class Holds Reunion

A reunion of a Sunday School class of St. James Church, formed about 20 years ago and called the Sunbeam Class, was held at the home of a former teacher, Mrs. Cecil Searles, River Rd., on Monday evening. Main source of entertainment for the evening were the reports of the class meetings of the group which had been clipped regularly from The Examiner, and reminiscences.

Class member Miss Grace Woodcock also entertained by showing colored pictures on the screen which she had taken in Bolivia, South America. Miss Woodcock was working with an interdenominational mission there and has been home on two years leave. She expects to return to Bolivia in about two weeks time.

The other class members present were Mesdames Gladys Latchford, Jean Davis, Edith James, Florence Brinson, Freda Ainslie, Hilda Dunlop, Mary McCreery, Martha Kennedy, Kay Wells, Gladys Meredith, Thelma Simmons and Misses Eva Johnson, Frances Allen and Jessie Martin.

What's Right?

You send a wedding gift to a bride-to-be, and several weeks later you have not had a thank-you note from her.

WRONG: Write and ask her if she or her mother received the gift.

RIGHT: Give her more time, since brides are often slow in getting all of their thank-you notes written.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Advised To Let Suitor's Education Be Incentive

DEAR MISS DIX: I am an attractive divorcee of 28, with three children. The divorce was obtained because of unbearable treatment on the part of my husband. Now I have met a fine man who wants to marry me. He loves my children and they are very fond of him. The problem is that he is a college graduate, is widely traveled and I have only a high school education and have never travevlled to any extent. Also, he lives in a large city and I prefer a small town. Do you think there is a chance of happiness for us?

A. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The question is up to you to answer. If two people of completely different living standards marry, obviously one of them must give in to the other. A family cannot live in the city and country both. Your friend's business probably keeps him in the city, so it will be up to you to make the adjustment to urban living.

BRIDGE THE GAP

The question of difference in education is more simple. The gap between you is not too great and can be easily bridged by a little effort on your part. Reading will do more to raise your own cultural level than any other medium. With three small children to care for, you haven't much time available for other work, but even a short period each day spent in worthwhile reading will accomplish wonders. Radio and television cannot be overlooked either as sources of information. In fact, both media have special programs designed for schoolroom use, which could be quite nicely used for your purpose.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have known a very nice boy for several months and he has been dating me for the past few weeks. Our difficulty is that when he calls to take me out, I don't know what to suggest for the evening.

MIDGE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is up to the boy to suggest plans for a date. That's his masculine prerogative. Also, since his finances are involved, he is in a better position to judge the extent of the entertainment. Why not inveigle him into a couple of double dates? In that way, he'll probably learn from the other couple just what his own responsibilities are.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of a child who has a chronic illness and requires constant medical attention. My husband, who has never been able to make a good living here, has been offered a fine job in another city. I'm afraid to go with him as I don't like to take my son away from his doctor, yet I fear the result of a long separation from my husband.

V. N. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Taking all circumstances into consideration, it would certainly be much better for your family to stay together. With a sick child, you need the comfort and help of your husband and he, in turn, needs the companionship of you both. Unless the child's case is an extremely rare one, your physician can recommend a qualified doctor to care for him. Follow your doctor's advice and instructions, and I'm sure you won't go wrong.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 16, and for seven months I went with a boy of 21. Two months ago he stopped coming to see me. I know he has been seeing another girl but would like to get him back. Can you suggest a method?

S. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When a boy tires, it's usually hopeless to try to win him back. And why bother? Surely you know lots of other boys as nice—if not nicer—than this one.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Stuffed Green Peppers On Special-Purpose Menu

The country seems to be overflowing with sweet green peppers. I bought a six-quart basket in our market for 25 cents—and only Pete and myself home to eat them! I can never resist a bargain.

But you see I wanted to make Stuffed Peppers according to a fine-sounding recipe I found (Peperone Ripieno no less) so I could try them, and, if good, pass it on to you people. It was. I am.

I've gone pretty ritzy on you, but I don't do this often.

POSH DINNER

Citrus Cocktail; Caviar or Anchovy Canapes; Veal New Orleans; Stuffed Green Peppers (Peperone Ripieno); Saffron Rice (or Riced Potatoes or Mashed); Small Lettuce Cups filled with thin slices Tomatoes, Cucumbers and Radishes with French Dressing; Large Ripe Dessert Pears and Seedless Green Grapes; Danish Blue Cheese; Delicate Crackers; Coffee.

Directions:

VEAL NEW ORLEANS

I think I should remind you to clip this—for it is a way of doing veal you will want to repeat.

Buy a cushion (top of leg) of veal or shoulder, either with bone in, weighing 4 pounds. Into 4 tablespoons fresh good bacon fat mix ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper, ½ clove of garlic finely chopped, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon each pepper, mace, cloves, ¼ teaspoon allspice, ½ teaspoon each thyme and sage crumbled, ¼ of a bay leaf well crushed, ¼ cup flour. Rub this well mixed paste well into the cut surfaces of the meat, and spread thinly over the sides. Brown this in hot butter or cooking oil in heavy iron frying pan, searing all sides and surfaces until golden brown. In another heavy kettle meanwhile brown in 3 or 4 tablespoons butter, 1 finely chopped onion, 4 finely chopped medium-sized carrots, 1 cut-up turnip, 2 large celery stalks finely chopped, 1 minced sweet red pepper. When vegetables are limp and slightly gold, transfer the meat to their kettle, add 1 cup boiling water, cover very tightly, reduce heat to simmer and cook 2½ hours or until meat is tender. You may have to peek during last hour to see if it needs more water—but you should have the burner very low all the time. If desired, vegetables and remaining juice may be slightly thickened by stirring in paste of 1 tablespoon flour and ¼ cup water until thick. Pour this thick vegetable sauce over or around the meat on hot platter. These amounts will serve 8.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

(Peperone Ripieno)

Cut the top slice from 6 green peppers (if you want to increase these to serve eight add ¼ as much more stuffing), remove seeds. Stuff each pepper with a mixture made by combining 3 cups 1-day old breadcrumbs and 2 anchovy fillets chopped, ½ cup chopped and stoned ripe olives and 2 tablespoons chopped capers. Butter a baking dish and stand peppers in it, pour 1 tablespoon melted butter or olive oil on each pepper, sprinkle with salt and pepper and paprika and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 40 minutes or until peppers are tender. These are sometimes served cold as an antipasto.

SAFFRON RICE

As you may know, the saffron gives the rice a slightly medicinal flavor but the color is lovely and I for one love the flavor. Wash 2 cups rice (to serve 6) in sieve under cold running water for at least 2 minutes. Add this to 3½ cups boiling water in pot with tight-fitting cover, and add 2 teaspoons salt, 4 tablespoons butter and about 6 1-inch strands Spanish saffron. You buy this at the drug store by the scruple. Cover tightly, bring to hard boil, if electricity is used turn off heat for 10 minutes. If gas or other fuel reduce heat as low as possible. Rice absorbs all liquid, but sticks to bottom a little, but every kernel is separate. This must be stirred once when heat is lowered to mix saffron in.

6—In Memoriam

HEFFERNAN—In loving memory of a dear sister (Violet Watkins), who passed away Sept. 24, 1951.

Her thoughts were all so full of us,
She never could forget,
And so we think that where she is
She must be watching yet.
As angels keep their watch up there,
Please God just let her know
That we down here do not forget,
We love and miss her so.

—Always remembered by Mother, sisters and brothers.

HEFFERNAN—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Violet Heffernan, who passed away Sept. 24, 1951.

There are things death cannot take away,
Nor age, nor tears, nor pain, nor cruel care
Can harm her now or enter memory's hall;
She that we loved, so beautiful and fair,
From all life's dangers now secure is she;
Lovely she was and lovely she shall be.

—Ever remembered by husband David and daughters Margaret and Eileen.

INNES—In memory of my mother, Mrs. Gordon Innes, who passed away Sept. 24, 1925.

My thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
I seem to see in the soft dim light
The face I loved the best;
I think of her when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.

—Ever remembered by her daughter, Mrs. and Mr. George Ellis and grandchildren.

LONG—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. Rowland George Long, who passed away one year ago today, Sept. 24th, 1951.

—Ever remembered by her family.
